EARNS FIRST-DEGREE BLACK BELT – Sydney Colaw recently received his first-degree black belt during a demonstration ceremony in Centreville. Awarding him the belt was Patrick McMullen, master instructor and owner of Self Defense America. Sydney, a 10-year-old from Queenstown, has been training in tae kwon do and combat hapkido for the past five years. He is one of the youngest students to attain a black belt in Queen Anne's County, noted a family spokesperson. Sydney plans to continue his training in tae kwon do, Xtreme martial arts, and weapons, with the goal of achieving the rank of fifth-degree black belt. He also plans to begin training to attain his certification as an instructor. Sydney is the son of former Garrett County resident Jeff Colaw, and the grandson of Fred and Annis Colaw of Oakland.

Flodysha Peterson, who scored a quadruple-double against Howard, almost did it again by scoring 18 points, grabbing 17 rebounds, blocking nine shots, copping eight steals, and dishing out six assists.

Peterson led a defense that Allegany coach Jerry Rice said shut them down offensively. "With their size they just dominated the boards, especially the offensive glass," he said. "They were getting second and third shots a lot of times.

Three other Lakers scored in double figures. Tegra Hillman tossed in 13 points, dished out eight assists, and made six steals. Brittney Jackson and Yolanda Anthony hit 11 points apiece.

Allegany's Lindsay Holliday hit four three-point shots and had a team-high 17 points. Leah Gonzalez had 15 points, 11 rebounds, and four assists. Stephanie Gibbons scored four points, hauled down eight rebounds, and copped four steals, and Janessa Shambaugh had four points and four steals.

It was a hard-fought game, according to Rice. Garrett's defense made the difference by blocking numerous shots and forcing the opposing players to alter many others.

Garrett is scheduled to play three games in the upcoming week. This Saturday and Sunday, they go on the road to play Clinton Community College in North Carolina at 1 p.m. and Louisburg Community College at 2 p.m. This Wednesday, the Lakers return to the area to play Montgomery Rockville on its campus.

Fourth-Ranked Rams Demolish Fort Hill, 61-31, For 12th Win

The area's fourth-ranked Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team (12-2 overall, 4-1 in the league) picked up the pace after a slow start and defeated the Fort Hill Sentinels 61-31 in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League game Monday evening at home.

Torie Bosley, who hit two three-pointers, led the Rams with a game-high 16 points, and Sarah Stephens added 13 points and five assists.

The Rams took a 12-10 first quarter lead, then slowly started to pull away, before taking a 34-20 lead into the halftime locker room. Southern continued its dominance in the third quarter and entered the fourth period with a 47-24 lead. They clinched the game by outscoring the Campers 14-7 in the final quarter.

Becky Miller led the Sentinels with 12 points.

The Rams will play Allegany at home this Monday at 7:30 p.m. and will play Beall next Wednesday on the road also at 7:30 p.m. Northern hosted Southern last night. See separate story.

Legislators Renew Push For Increasing The Cigarette Tax

by Sharahn D. Boykin
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Despite opposition from Governor Martin O'Malley, some lawmakers said they will still push for a $1-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax – doubling it – to raise money for expanded health care and to curb teen smoking.

"That's good that he won't initiate this," said Delegate James W. Hubbard, D-Prince George's, chair of the Public Health and Long-Term Care Subcommittee. "We'll initiate it for him."

Even though health care expansion is on O'Malley's legislative agenda, he is opposed to the cigarette tax increase because declining cigarette tax revenues would be an unattractive funding source, according to the governor's office.

"He's not inclined to support it," said Rick Abbruzzese, a spokesman for the governor. As health costs continue to rise, income from the cigarette tax will continue to decline, Abbruzzese added.

At a press conference called to announce another try at boosting the tax, the advocacy group behind the legislation, Health Care for All, said it expects the bill to pass this time, based on the number of favorable endorsements by nine of 11 new senators and five House committee chairs.

"It's the state of Maryland versus big tobacco," said Vincent DeMarco, president of the Health Care for All Coalition. "They're the only one to lose. Everyone else gains."

But the lawmakers and advocacy groups gathered at the news conference faced more than just opposition from the governor. They said they also anticipate objections from the senate president, Thomas V. "Mike" Miller Jr., D-Prince George's.

But "there's always room for negotiation," said Senator Verna Jones, D-Baltimore, a member of Budget and Taxation Committee and a lead sponsor of the bill.

Tobacco lobbyists said the tax increase is discriminatory.

"It's grossly unfair that every time someone is looking to fund some program they look at Marylanders who smoke," said Bruce Bereano, a lobbyist for the Maryland Tobacco and Candy Wholesalers. "There's been a pattern and mentality of taxing smokers."

The Maryland General Assembly raised the cigarette tax from 36 cents to 66 cents in 1999 and to $1 in 2002.

Health Care for All reports that the increase in cigarette tax should generate about $211 million the first year, $170 million the second year and consecutively decrease by 2 percent each following year.

The money would be used to expand the Medicaid program, fund smoking cessation programs and drug treatment, provide tax credits for small employers who provide health benefits, and reduce health care disparities.

MedChi, the Maryland Medical Society, said it backs the bill because it wants to encourage the decline in cigarette smoking that would be expected with the increase in the tax. Health Care for All anticipates that the tax increase would slash the number of teen smokers by 50,000.

"We're concerned about curbing tobacco use," said Martin Wasserman, executive director of MedChi.

But despite disagreement among legislators on how to fund health care expansion, some legislators say Marylanders don't mind the increase.

"It's the kind of tax people in Maryland don't mind paying," said Delegate Sheila Hixon (D-Montgomery County), chair of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Md. Legislators Propose Banning Use Of Cell Phone While Driving

by Jonathan N. Crawford
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Drivers who use hand-held cell phones are once again the target of Maryland legislators who say they want to improve highway safety.

"I think this is a really important public safety measure," said Michael G. Lenett, D-Montgomery, the primary sponsor of legislation that would ban use of hand-held cell phones while driving.

"I think everybody has at one time or another observed people driving unsafely, maneuvering through traffic while clutching a cell phone to the ear with only one hand on the wheel," he said.

The measure would encourage drivers to use head sets or other devices that free the user's hands for driving. Law enforcement officials would be exempt from the measure.

Recent studies suggest that distractions are a major cause of car crashes. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, an estimated 25 to 30 percent of motor vehicle crashes, or about 1.2 million accidents, are caused by driver distraction.

And of those distractions, NHTSA found in a 2006 study that the most common distraction for drivers is cell phone use, which increases the risk of a crash by 1.3 times.

Lt. Ronald Smith of the Montgomery County police, who is in support of the ban, said the bill is a step in the right direction toward achieving safer roads.

"If you went to a hands-free-type set-up it would improve safety somewhat. It's still a distraction," he said.

While Lenett acknowledged that cell phone use is a distraction for drivers with or without the use of hands, he said the bill is an attempt to find the middle ground. "What we're looking for is to strike a balance. And I think that's a reasonable balance to just prohibit the

Bartlett Backs Energy Bill As Small Step Toward A Big Goal

by Hallie C. Falquet
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Frederick, joined a bipartisan group at a news conference Wednesday in support of a revised energy bill designed to "lead the world into an economy beyond oil."

The bill's introduction was timed as a response to the energy initiatives outlined in President Bush's State of the Union address delivered Tuesday night.

"Oil is not limitless," Bartlett said. "The world faces an acute shortage of liquid fuels." Countries like China already focus on a post-oil society and America needs to catch up to compete, the congressman added.

Bartlett, the first member of Congress to purchase a hybrid vehicle, is an original co-sponsor of the DRIVE Act, Dependence Reduction through Innovation in Vehicles and Energy, which presents a refined version of the Fuel Choices for American Security Act from the 109th Congress, which did not pass the House last year.

The purpose of the bill is to achieve liquid fuel independence through alternative energy sources. Some of the key points include incentives for the auto industry to produce flexible fuel, hybrid and electric vehicles; the conversion of gas stations to "fuel stations," where consumers can plug in an electric car or fill up on ethanol; as well as tax credits for Americans who buy flexible fuel cars.

Reps. Wayne Gilchrest, R-Kennedyville, C.A. Dutch Ruppersberger, D-Cockeysville, and Albert Wynn, D-Mitchellville, join Bartlett as Maryland co-sponsors along with about 60 other House members from both parties who "perhaps agree on little else," said Rep. Eliot L. Engle, D-N.Y., one of two authors of the bill.

The bill focuses on issues that unite the parties and excludes divisive issues that blocked the bill in the past, particularly offshore drilling, said the other author Rep. Jack Kingston, R-Ga.

The legislation also works to get consumers on board.

Rep. John Campbell, R-Calif., noted that "the bill doesn't pick a winner," but instead "lets the marketplace decide."

Consumers will judge what size and performance they want, he continued, in terms of a hybrid, ethanol or other type of flexible fuel vehicle.

The bill shows similarities to the president's energy policy in that it outlines methods to reduce dependence on imported oil by 2.5 million barrels per day by 2015 and 5 million barrels per day by 2025.

Engle said the president was supportive when Engle ran it briefly by him after his speech Tuesday night.

The bill's references to national security also aligned with the president's speech.

"Last year, the United States bought $103 billion worth of oil from non-democratic countries," Kingston said.

Engle added that the result of such large spending abroad is "in essence funding the terrorists."

Bartlett added a reality check to the enthusiasm of the other speakers at the end of the conference.

"I want to tone down what you can expect from this," he said.

"We use an incredible amount of energy... as the Chinese proverb goes: 'A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step,' and this is a single step."

Large automakers and oil companies, who don't take mandates from Washington well, are expected to oppose the bill, Kingston said after the news conference.

But Campbell emphasized the unbiased architecture of the bill that prevents favor of one technology over another, thus keeping all affected parties on a level playing field.

"We have to change," Engle said, "and it's good common sense to know we have to change. It's unacceptable to sit idly by."

Community Parks & Playgrounds	$2,000.00

Mountain Maryland PACE Conference – Mountain Lake Park is being represented at the annual PACE conference today and tomorrow at the Loews Annapolis Hotel. This conference provides, among other things, an opportunity for representatives of the town to meet with state and federal agencies in order to discuss funding opportunities for planned town projects. Possible projects to be discussed at this year's PACE Conference will include: Phase III of the Sewer Rehabilitation Project; Lake Rehabilitation Project; Crystal Spring Trail – Phase II; and Route 135/Scenic Byway Enhancement Project.

Town Council Meeting – The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Mayor and Town Council will be held next Thursday, Feb. 1, at 6 p.m. in the meeting room at Mountain Lake Park Town Hall, located at 1007 Allegheny Drive.

Looking Back
by Karen Wooddell

Oct. 8, 1886 – "The Association agreed to make roads and drives as indicated by the stakes set by the superintendent from Crystal Springs to I Street at the junction of Wheeling and Deer Park avenues. Superintendent Davis was instructed to employ hands and make the road as he thought best."

Rep. Bartlett Has Perfect Attendance

Congressman Roscoe Bartlett (R-6-MD) was one of 15 House of Representatives members with a perfect 100% attendance record for the 541 recorded votes during 2006, according to Congressional Quarterly Weekly.

"Just like Cal Ripkin, I didn't set out for a perfect voting attendance score, but I believe that it's my job, and the good people of the 6th district expect me as their representative to have as perfect or as near perfect voting attendance as is humanly possible," said Congressman Bartlett.

Propose Banning

hand-held [phones]," Lenett said.

He added that prohibiting all cell phone use while driving would be too much of an imposition.

Should the bill pass, Maryland would join four other states, the District of Columbia, and 23 countries in banning the use of hand-held cell phones while driving. Various forms of a ban on cell phone use while driving have been pushed since 1999. However, support of the bill was never strong.

But Lennett said that this type of legislation is becoming increasingly popular.

"Seventy-two million Americans now live in jurisdictions that ban hand-held cell phones while driving. That's nearly a quarter of the country's population," he said.

Opponents of the bill include Sen. Nancy Jacobs, R-Cecil and Harford, who characterized the bill as "Orwellian."

She compared the distraction of a cell phone to the distraction of eating potato chips.

"It is big brother. ... How far are we going to go?" she said.

Jacobs also was opposed to the measure on the grounds that it is a primary offense, giving police ar. other "excuse" to pull over drivers.

Sprint Nextel manager of government affairs Gary Horewitz echoed these thoughts.

"Using a cell phone is a potential distraction, but so is changing a CD, putting on mascara," he said.

Horewitz said he is in favor of educational measures to change driver habits.

"Education is a better answer," he said.

The bill also met opposition from school bus drivers and tour bus companies, who criticized a part of the bill which prohibits them from using cell phones at all.

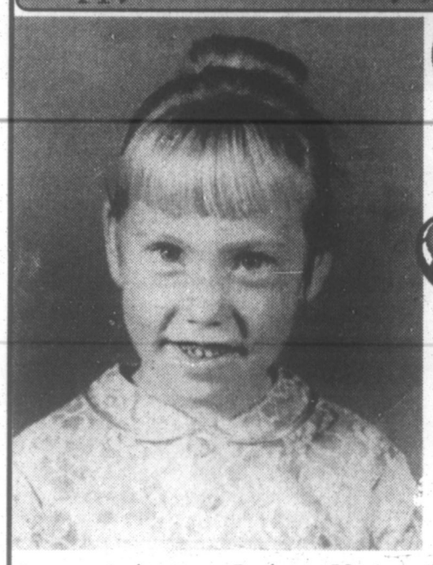
Happy 50th Birthday Jackie



Jackie Lewis Boylan is 50 years old,
Throughout Western Maryland she's known.
If she doesn't know you,
She knows someone you do,
Or your children with hers have all grown.

On this special occasion, her siblings take pause
To share some of Jackie's life's mystery.
50 years worth to tell,
On a lot we could dwell,
But we'll point out the interesting history.

As hard as it is to believe,
Jackie didn't speak a word until four.
When her voice she did find,
She left silence behind
And made up for lost time and then more!

She played with her Barbies through grade school.
In fact, it was 'til junior high.
Then she noticed the boys,
Had no time for her toys,
Got some mini-skirts and told Barbie goodbye.

She liked Alan Walters and Mark Manges too,
But Tommy Merritt was to whom she did cater.
Took 10 years for a ring,
Then they scrubbed the whole thing,
And she married Scott Boylan a year later.

They live in Bittinger and have two pretty good kids.
Ashley's twenty and Dan is fifteen.
Ashley's at WVU,
Hopefully learning things too,
And Dan's a star on Northern's JV soccer team.

Jackie's worked for the State a long time.
She's a fixture that won't go away.
Please don't worry, Larry.
We know that she's scary.
But she's bound to retire one day!

If you've heard Jackie cackle, then you know
That she's full of vim, vigor and fun.
If it's true a good laugh
Increases longevity by half,
Then she'll live to be one million and one.

So Happy Birthday, Dear Jackie, You're 50.
Fighting nature and gravity's rage.
We've heard it before,
But you're proof – now we're sure
That Lewis' get better with age!

We love you!
Mike, Dena, Greg and Lisa

DOLLARS AND SENSE!

Sellers are competing for buyers these days. Actually, sellers are always competing against each other, trying to offer the best value in hopes of securing a full-price offer. Such offers usually come to sellers whose homes are in model condition and priced at, or below, fair market value.

While it's critical to get your home in tip-top shape before your listing, care needs to be taken when you're considering the impact of remodeling and renovating. Homeowners who over-improve run the risk of not being able to recoup their investment, particularly if they find they need to sell very soon after completing such work.

Homeowners are encouraged to contact a real estate professional, who can conduct a comparable sales analysis, providing important information about remodeling's impact on sales value.

A report published last year by Remodeling Magazine and REALTOR® Magazine gives some clues as to where to best spend your improvement dollars. Upscale siding and mid-range bathroom upgrades both can recoup 100% (or more!) of the investment cost. Even minor kitchen remodeling sees 99% of its cost recovered at sale time.

Basically, stick to designs that will appeal to a majority of buyers, since you can't be sure that you'll find that unique buyer who will appreciate the more exotic tastes you might enjoy. Be proactive, be practical, and be prepared to offer a great value!

In Budget

cell research, public health, and public safety.

O'Malley's first budget grows less than the Spending Affordability Limit set by the General Assembly and maintains a Rainy Day Fund balance of 5% – more than $670 million. In FY 2008, the state faced a deficit of approximately $400 million, and the structural deficit is expected to exceed $1 billion in each of the next four years, according to the governor's office.

K-12 Education

The FY 2008 budget provides $5.2 billion in K-12 education funding including a $680 million increase in school aid – the largest ever – and $400 million in school construction. The budget fully funds the Thornton Education Plan, and provides funding for teacher pension enhancements, the governor noted.

O'Malley said he will also work with the General Assembly to pass legislation mandating that the Geographic Cost of Education Index be phased in beginning in FY 2009.

Higher Education

The budget boosts investment in higher education by $192 million – including an 18% increase for community colleges – makes capital investments in historically black colleges and universities, and enables the University System of Maryland campuses and Morgan State University to enact an undergraduate in-state tuition freeze.

Public Safety

The new budget provides an additional $2 million to protect Maryland's families from sex offenders. The funds will be used to increase monitoring of sex offenders by Global Positioning Systems and to assist local law enforcement.

The budget also provides $7 million to fund 155 new correctional officer positions and $33 million for a new 192-cell housing unit at the Maryland Correctional Training Center in Hagerstown.

Funds are also allocated to expand the capacity of the State Police Laboratory to analyze DNA samples and to supply all Maryland state troopers with new handguns.

Environment/Agriculture

The budget provides $289 million in land preservation programs and $138 million to improve local water and wastewater systems to help improve the health of the Chesapeake Bay.

Additionally, the budget provides funding for cover crops and triples Maryland's investment in the Maryland Agricultural and Resource-based Industry Development Corporation to sustain agricultural businesses, according to the governor's office.

Health

The FY 2008 budget allocates an additional $10 million for stem cell research – a 66% increase to $25 million – expands drug treatment funding, and provides assistance to seniors through the Senior Prescription Drug Assistance program.

The budget also restores healthcare benefits to legal immigrant families – including 3,000 children. In addition, over $100 million is provided "to strengthen" Maryland's healthcare provider systems, including increasing payments to physicians participating in the state's Medicaid Program, said a spokesperson for the governor.

Transportation

O'Malley said he is committed to undertaking a comprehensive review of Maryland's Transportation Trust Fund.

His budget provides over $1 billion for highway and road projects across the state to reduce traffic, over $300 million for public transit projects, over $100 million for improvements and dredging projects to make the Port of Baltimore more competitive, and $119 million for state airport projects, including upgrades at Thurgood Marshall BWI Airport.

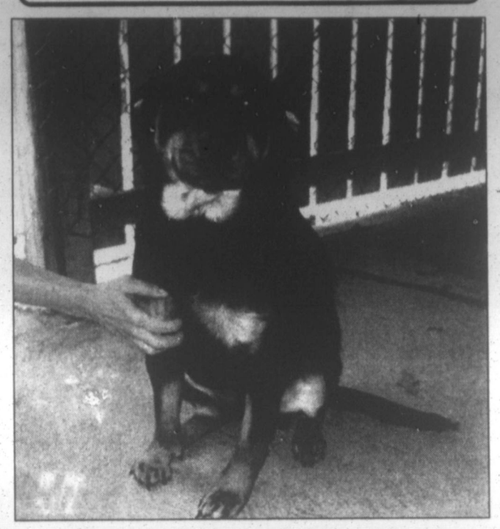
Jobs/ Economic Development

"The FY 2008 budget makes strategic investments to continue Maryland's economic growth – and expand opportunity for our neighbors in every jurisdiction," said the spokesperson.

That includes $70 million for business development programs (including $20 million to support small or minority business entrepreneurs), $16 million for the Maryland Arts Council – an increase of $1.2 million or 8% over FY 2007 – $6 million in capital funding for the Neighborhood Business Redevelopment Program, and $4 million for Rural Broadband Assistance funding to extend DSL service to 26 Eastern Shore communities, attracting industry and employment opportunities to the region.

Also included in the budget is $2 million for the Sunny Day Fund to capitalize on "extraordinary" economic development opportunities for Maryland, $1 million for the new no-interest business loan program for disabled veterans and military reservists, $5 million for technology transfer/development and /for incubator programs, and $5 million in capital funding for the East Baltimore Biotechnology Park.

Adorable Adoptables



THIS NICE ADULT ROTWEILLER MIX is available for adoption from the Garrett County Animal Shelter. "She needs a new home, but one where she will be kept inside where it is warm and where she can be around people," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "Her new owner will need to take her in to see a veterinarian for a check-up and shots. With subzero temperatures on the way, please make sure your outdoor pets have adequate shelter from the winds. Bring in any small animals and/or shorthaired dogs. There is still hay available at the shelter for dog boxes; please don't let your pets suffer in this cold weather." She added that last week's featured black cat was adopted. For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.

New Arrivals

The births of six area babies were announced recently, four girls and two boys.

A daughter was born to Jason and Sherry (Glotfelty) Leader, Oakland, on Dec. 15, 2006, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son was born to Tracie Dawson and Mark Grimm, Oakland, on Dec. 30, 2006, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Magdalyn Josephine, was born to George W. and Katie (Vaughn) Beckman, Oakland, on Jan. 21 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter, Brooklyn Bailey Savage, was born to Linda Holler and John Savage, Oakland, on Jan. 8 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter was born to John II and Brenda (Cottrill) Cook, Westernport, on Jan. 18 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Joseph Charles, was born to Timothy Charles and Stephanie Liller, Alexandria, Va., on Jan. 6 at Sibley Memorial Hospital in Washington, D.C. The paternal grandparents are Delbert and Patricia Liller, Deer Park, and the maternal grandparents are Bob and Betty Sheehan, Alexandria.

It's been 8 months since we last saw you smile or touched your hand. The holidays have come and gone and of course there was something missing, You. Today is your birthday and we so very sadly miss you, Bryan. For some reason, God took you away from us at such an early age and we may never know that reason until we meet you in the Heavens above. You are always in our thoughts, our prayers, and our everyday lives. You were a good man, husband, father, son, and brother, and you will NEVER be forgotten.

Happy Birthday, Bryan

"PLAY HARD, LIVE CLEAN" EVENT SLATED – For the fourth year in a row, Wisp Resort is hosting a night of free tubing for Garrett County youth from sixth grade through 20 years of age. This "Play Hard, Live Clean" event is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 30, from 6 to 8:30 p.m. A snack will be offered to the youth in attendance. Registration forms are available at county public middle and high schools, online at garretthealth.org, or in Room 206 of the Garrett County Health Department. Registration forms must be signed by a parent or legal guardian. Deadlines for returned registration vary by school; forms will be collected in Room 206 of the Health Department until 5 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, Jan. 26. "Play Hard, Live Clean" is a campaign to discourage underage drinking and drug or tobacco use and to promote positive lifestyles. It is sponsored by the Garrett County Combating Underage Drinking Committee with a grant from the Governor's Office of Crime Control and Prevention, which comes through the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc./Local Management Board and the Garrett County Health Department. For more information, persons may call Venessa Stacy at the Health Department at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111. Persons may also visit the Health Department web site, garretthealth.org, for up-to-date information on the campaign and other current issues. More than 300 Garrett County youth took advantage of the "Play Hard, Live Clean" kick-off event at the Bear Claw Snow Tubing Park last January. Pictured is a scene from that event.

Fires Cause

of the structure, was displaced by the blaze and was receiving assistance from the American Red Cross. The cause remains under investigation by fire marshals Ryan Chapman and Jason Mowbray.

Two occupants of the house in Oak Park which was gutted by fire Tuesday morning were injured while escaping the blaze.

Shelly Taylor and Chad Cerrito, both 22, sustained minor lacerations when they jumped through a window, and had to be treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, having been transported there by a private vehicle.

Two other occupants of the house, Max and Sharon Fajardo, both 19, had left the house for work before the fire started. Taylor and Cerrito said they were awakened by a crackling sound and discovered the fire, but could not get to either door, which is why they had to use a window to get out of the house.

Oakland, Gorman, Deep Creek, and Terra Alta firefighters responded to the 6:36 a.m. alarm and, upon arrival, found flames coming from several windows of the house, located at 138 Oak Hall Drive.

There was some confusion when the first call for assistance came into the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management, as the location was thought to be Oak Hill Drive, which is in the Friendsville area. Departments in that region were first dispatched, soon after which the error was discovered.

The house is owned by Winston Miller of Romney, W.Va.

According to a report from the fire marshal's office, the fire was caused by combustible materials located too close to an electric baseboard heater in the living room.

The fire was brought under control in about 10 minutes by the approximately 30 volunteers who respond-ed. The loss to the house was estimated to be $90,000, and the loss to contents was set at $35,000.

There were also two pet cats that perished in the fire.

Also responding to the scene was the county air cascade vehicle, housed at the Deep Creek VFC, and the Southern Rescue Squad.

Voting Record Of Hafer Near Worst, Edwards Among Best

According to the Maryland Accountability Project (MAP), a non-partisan, non-profit watch-dog group, now-retired Senator John Hafer, who represented Garrett and Allegany counties, was among the members of Maryland's legislature with the worst attendance and voting records in the 2006 regular and special sessions of the General Assembly.

Meanwhile, MAP recognized Delegate (now Senator) George Edwards as one of just 10 members of the legislature with a perfect attendance record for the year.

Hafer had the second-worst voting record, having missed 194 votes. He trailed only Del. Clarence Davis, who had 218 unexcused absences. They and three others received the "Crab-bie" award from MAP, while Edwards and nine others were each given the "Lighthouse" award for their perfect attendance.

"Taxpayers have to show up for work every day," said Doug Graham, executive director of the Maryland-based group that catalogued every time a legislator did not vote on a bill, "and it is not too much to expect our paid elected officials to make it to work as well. If these senators and delegates are missing votes, they are failing to properly represent their constituents' interests in Annapolis, and the voters should know this.

"At the same time, voters should also know those who are always on the job and make it to every vote," Graham continued. "They deserve praise for never missing a vote and always showing a presence on behalf of their constituents."

More information about MAP can be found on its web site at www.mapscorecard.org.

BEITZEL SWORN IN AS DELEGATE – Wendell R. Beitzel, Accident, was sworn in as delegate for District 1A in Annapolis on Jan. 10. Surrounded by his wife Ruth, his mother Lena, and his family and friends, Beitzel was one of the 141 delegates sworn in on the first day of the 2007 session of the Maryland General Assembly. "I'm honored to be the delegate for District 1A and am excited to do a lot of good for the people of Garrett and Allegany counties," Beitzel said. Beitzel can be reached by phone at 410-841-3435 or 800-492-7122 ext. 3435. Any correspondence should be mailed to his Annapolis office at 6 Bladen Street, Room 320, Annapolis, MD 21401. Above, from left, are Speaker of the House Michael Busch and Beitzel.

COMMISSION PREPARES FOR HALL OF FAME RECOGNITION – The Garrett County Commission for Women is seeking nominations for the Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame. The hall of fame was established in 1995 as a permanent means of recognizing the significant contributions of Garrett County's women throughout the area's history. Nominees should be women who have made "outstanding contributions to Garrett County and are role models for tomorrow's female leaders," noted a commission spokesperson. Nomination packets are available at all branches of the Ruth Enlow Library. Questions about the Hall of Fame may be directed to Beverly Beard, chair of the Garrett County Commission for Women, at 301-334-5987. Nominations must be postmarked by Feb. 16. Pictured are the commission's elected officers for 2006/2007. From left, they are Beard; Jonna Frazee, treasurer; Barbara Hornyak, vice chair; and Beverley Williams, secretary. The group's mission is to promote a positive image of women, advise county government, advance solutions, and serve as a countywide resource to promote social, political, and economic equality for women.

Oakland Senior Center To Host Soup Fundraiser

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging will hold an "all-you-can-eat" soup sale fundraiser on Friday, Feb. 2, from 4:30 until 7 p.m. at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland.

Santa Fe stew olé, chicken with homemade noodles, creamy tomato and basil, and chicken corn chowder will be served.

The cost is $6 per person and includes a tossed salad, cornbread or dinner roll, dessert, and a beverage.

Carry-outs will be available by the quart on select soups, and all proceeds will benefit the Garrett County Meals on Wheels program.

For more information, persons may call Sheila Ford at 301-334-9431, ext. 135.

February Slate For Bloodmobile Is Announced

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will make three visits to Garrett County locations during the month of February.

The first visit will be to Oakland on Friday, Feb. 2. Donors will be welcomed at the American Legion hall along Memorial Drive from noon to 6 p.m.

Garrett College will host the bloodmobile on Tuesday, Feb. 13, with the hours being from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The third visit will be to Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland on Monday, Feb. 19. Donors are welcome to report there from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Persons who are at least 17 years of age (16 with parental consent), weigh at least 105 pounds, and are in generally good health are typically eligible to donate a unit of blood every eight weeks. Persons desiring more information about the ARC blood services program may telephone 301-334-3810 or e-mail redcross@allconet.org.

Local Democrats Attend Breakfast With O'Malley

Ceresville Mansion in Frederick was the western Maryland site for a breakfast stop on the Maryland pre-inaugural tour of Governor-elect Martin O'Malley and Lt. Governor Anthony Brown on Saturday, Jan. 13.

Members of the Garrett County Democratic Central Committee in attendance were Timothy Duck, Patricia Duck, Wayne Caple, and Bill Aiken, along with Sharon Caple of the Garrett County Democratic Club.

O'Malley vowed not to raid the Transportation Trust Fund or to take money reserved for Open Space projects. He reiterated his commitment to moving the state forward.

"There is such excitement down in Annapolis and a real feeling of hope and a real feeling that we need to move forward now," said Delegate Sue Hecht of District 3A.

The breakfast provided an opportunity for O'Malley and Brown to thank their supporters.

CIVIC CLUB RECOGNIZES HANST – Pauline "Polly" Hanst, right, is pictured receiving a certificate of recognition from Patty Bobo, GFWC Civic Club of Oakland president. "Mrs. Hanst has celebrated many accomplishments during her 100 years of life," said Bobo. "Mrs. Hanst was editor of the Farmer's Wife magazine, and in 1999 she served as grand marshal in the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade. Twenty-some years ago, she convinced the Civic Club ladies to use the exact same recipe for their now 'famous' vegetable beef soup that is served each year at the Autumn Glory Antique Show." Hanst resides at the Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville.

Kids' Night Out Slated At Deep Creek Fire Hall

A "Kids' Night Out Without Parents" event will be held Saturday, Feb. 10, from 6 until 10 p.m. at the Deep Creek fire hall. Children ages 3 (potty trained) to 10 are invited.

The cost is $10 per child and includes pizza, popcorn, a drink, crafts, a movie, and qualified supervision.

For children to participate, parents must call Debbie Workman at 301-746-8717 to register. The deadline for registration is Feb. 5.

Proceeds benefit Garrett County Relay for Life.

Sr. Citizens Hall Of Fame Seeking '07 Nominations

Nominations for the 2007 Maryland Senior Citizens Hall of Fame will be accepted until April 30. Residents of Maryland age 60 or older who have made an "outstanding contribution to improve the lives of others in their communities" may be nominated by individuals or organizations.

A completed nomination form, a letter of reference from an individual who knows the person's accomplishments, and a picture of the candidate are required.

Nomination forms are available by calling Parker Koons at 410-828-5852 or Dr. Robert Lloyd at 410-744-6101.

Forms are also available by writing the Maryland Senior Citizens Hall of Fame Inc., 800 Southerly Road, Box 1, Towson, MD 21286-8403.

Each year, MSCHF Inc. honors up to 50 nominees as inductees into its hall of fame. Nominees who are selected for induction will be presented at the annual Awards Luncheon on Thursday, Oct. 25, at Michael's Eighth Avenue in Glen Burnie.

4-H Club News

RYAN'S GLADE
by Gary Pritts, reporter

The January meeting of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club was held on Jan. 16 at the Ryan's Glade community building.

We started our meeting with a "Say No to Spit Tobacco" and the history of tobacco program by Sadie Liller from the Garrett County Health Department.

Our leader, Kay Steyer, conducted a candle-lighting ceremony to install our officers for 2007. They are Andrea Steyer, president; Nolan Marple, vice president; Jennifer Steyer, secretary; Jessica Steyer, treasurer; and Gary Pritts, reporter.

Pledges were led by Andrew Lucas, American flag, and Tara Marple, 4-H flag.

Andrea gave a report about the Pennsylvania Farm Show, and Zachery Pritts reported on our awards program and Christmas party.

We talked about our record books and the easiest way to get them started for 2007.

We also discussed some of the activities we plan to do for this year. Some of the upcoming events are:

- 4-H Ski Day at the Wisp, this Saturday, Jan. 26.
- Livestock Association tubing and pizza party at Bear Claw Tubing Park, Feb. 11.
- 4-H officer training at Southern Middle School, Feb. 12.
- 4-H Day in Annapolis, Feb. 19.

Our next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 20, at the Ryan's Glade community building. Anyone wishing to learn more about 4-H is welcome to attend.

On Dean's List

Loch Lynn resident Samantha Cavalier has been named to the dean's list at Shepherd University in Shepherdstown, W.Va.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must maintain a 3.4 grade point average for the semester and carry at least 15 hours of course work or be in a professional teaching block.

To Hold Bean Soup Dinner Tomorrow

Friendsville United Methodist Church will hold an "all-you-can-eat" bean soup and cornbread dinner Friday, Jan. 26, from 4 until 7 p.m.

In addition to soup and cornbread, the meal will include a drink and dessert. The cost is $4 for adults and $2.50 for children.

Carry-outs will be available. The church is also offering lunch deliveries in the Friendsville area for $3.25.

To place an order, persons may call 301-746-5548.

Yoder Named To Dean's List

Benjamin Jay Yoder, Accident, has been named to the dean's list for the fall 2006 semester at the University of North Carolina in Asheville.

The dean's list is made up of full-time students who have achieved between a 3.5 and 3.99 grade point average.

SWANTON

FREE DINNER

There will be a free food and fellowship spaghetti dinner served at the Swanton Community Center on Tuesday, Jan. 30, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. All are invited.

COLLECTING ITEMS

Otterbein United Methodist Church is collecting non-perishable food items for the House of Hope through the end of January. Items may be left at the church.

PERSONALS

An overnight guest of Mary June Harvey on Sunday, Jan. 14, was her daughter-in-law, Betty Harvey, New Martinsville, W.Va.

Jessie Skipper is currently a patient at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Brandy Sharpless is a patient at Sacred Hearth Hospital, Cumberland.

Debris Burning Advised During Winter Months

Landowners or contractors outside of incorporated towns that are interested in burning brush and debris are being advised to take advantage of the winter weather that is now being experiencing.

According to the Open-Air Burning Regulations, Title 8, Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Subtitle .07, Maryland Forest Service, "burning may occur at anytime when the ground is covered with snow, if all other requirements are met."

The open-air burning regulations apply to activities in woodland and within 200 feet of woodland, or a flammable material that could carry fire to the woodland. There should be a firebreak at least 10 feet wide around the fire, and adequate personnel and equipment present to control the fire. The fire should be out cold before all personnel leave the scene.

Landowners who wish to do some open-air burning while the ground is covered with snow are still required to obtain a burning permit from the health department. These permits may be obtained by contacting the Garrett County Health Department, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 301-334-7760. Once this permit has been obtained, the landowner should contact Garrett Central Alarm at the non-emergency number (301-334-1929) prior to burning. This will reduce the chance of one of the local fire companies being called out on a false alarm.

For further information, persons may contact the Maryland DNR Forest Service Office at Mt. Nebo, 301-334-3296.

CPR, First Aid Course Slated At Garrett Coll.

A two-session course, "Basic Life Support and Heartsaver First Aid," will be held Monday, Feb. 26, and Tuesday, Feb. 27, from 6 to 10 p.m. at Garrett College.

The course will teach the basic skills of cardiac life support (CPR) for children and adults and standard techniques to provide first aid to individuals in an emergency situation. Certification will be provided by the American Heart Association.

For more information or to register, persons may contact Kista Wilt at 301-387-3069 or kwilt@garrettcollege.edu.

This class is an offering of the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College.

Canine Flatulence

DEAR PAW'S CORNER:

My Labrador mix, "Barney," has a gas problem — a bad gas problem. I monitor his food intake and have even tried putting him on a special diet food, but he continues to emit noxious odors — not just after eating, but throughout the day. Barney is about 9 years old and was adopted from the shelter. Any ideas on how to solve his problem? Thanks. — Jesse B., Independence, Mo.

DEAR JESSE:

If you haven't taken Barney to the vet lately, go ahead and do so. As a senior dog, Barney could be developing some problems, including digestive issues, that manifest in a stinky way.

Take note of your dog's overall physical state and any changes in his behavior or daily routine, and report them to the veterinarian. If his coat is rough or oily, if he seems agitated, if he is constantly panting or whining, if he drinks water constantly — these can be problem signs. Check his stools when he eliminates; loose or runny indicates a problem — perhaps minor, perhaps not.

If Barney spends any unsupervised time outside, even just in the backyard, consider whether he has eaten anything he shouldn't. For example, dogs love to root around and roll in smelly carcasses and other animals' droppings — and sometimes eat them (yeah, it's gross, but there it is). He could have picked up a parasite.

Dogs also have a tendency to overeat when given the chance. Secure his dog food well and monitor his eating, just in case — gorging on dog food or leftovers can cause a life-threatening condition.

Barney may just need a diet that is designed for senior dogs, but let the veterinarian make recommendations based on his diagnosis.

Old Trunk

Q. I have an old storage trunk with a cloth lining. I am curious about how much it is worth. — Candi, via e-mail

A. Antique Trunks: Identification and Price Guide by Linda Edelstein and Paul Pat Morse is an excellent reference book that you might find helpful in determining the value of your trunk. It has prices and detailed color photos of more than 100 trunks, along with a database of trunk makers and manufacturers. It is available through the publisher, Krause Publications, 700 East State St., Iola, WI 54945; and 1-715-445-2214.

Q. I have quite a collection of Frank Sinatra recordings, books and pictures. Could you please inform me of a place to sell these articles? — Paul, Sudlersville, Md.

A. The Sinatra Society of America might be helpful. The addresses are P.O. Box 2705, North Hollywood, CA 91610; and fssociety@aol.com. A second source is Footlight Records, a shop that offers a large selection of Sinatra recordings and might be willing to purchase your collection. The addresses are 113 East 12th St., New York, NY 10003; and footlight1@aol.com.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It's been reported that it's impossible for a kangaroo to jump unless its tail is touching the ground.

• During his campaign for the presidency, John F. Kennedy was asked by a reporter what his favorite song might be. Ever the wit, the candidate replied, "Well, 'Hail to the Chief' has a nice ring to it."

• If you're a card player, you might have heard of the "Dead Man's Hand," which is a poker hand that contains a pair of aces and a pair of eights. This hand got the macabre name in 1876, when James Butler Hickok — better known as "Wild Bill" — was playing poker at the No. 10 Saloon in Deadwood, S.D. Jack McCall, a young gunslinger trying to make a name for himself, walked in the saloon shortly after four in the afternoon and shot Wild Bill in the back of the head. His hand on that fateful day contained a pair of aces and a pair of eights.

• Peanuts are used to make dynamite. Those with peanut allergies are therefore advised to avoid dynamite.

• One of the first computers, the ENIAC, was built in 1949. It was a marvel of human engineering, taking up the space of an entire city block. Today, a single silicon chip a quarter of an inch square has the same computing capacity as the ENIAC.

• It was humorist Spike Milligin who made the following observation: "Money can't buy you friends, but you get a better class of enemy."

• When the moon is directly over your head, the gravity it exerts causes you to weigh slightly (very slightly) less.

• If you're like the average person, you fall asleep in seven minutes.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Jan. 30, 1835, during a funeral in the House chamber of the U.S. Capitol, President Andrew Jackson survives the first attempt against the life of a U.S. president. Richard Lawrence, later found to be insane, discharged two separate pistols in the direction of President Jackson.

• On Feb. 1, 1898, The Travelers Insurance Company extends coverage to an automobile owner, making it the first company to issue an automobile insurance policy to an individual. Dr. Truman J. Martin of Buffalo, N.Y., paid a premium of $11.25 for the policy that covered $5,000 to $10,000 of liability.

• On Jan. 29, 1922, some 2 feet of accumulated snowfall from a two-day blizzard collapses the Knickerbocker Theatre in Washington, D.C. Tons of steel and concrete fell down on top of theatergoers, killing 108 people. Another 133 were hospitalized.

• On Feb. 3, 1959, rock stars Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and J.P. "The Big Bopper" Richardson are killed when their chartered Beechcraft Bonanza plane crashes in Iowa a few minutes after takeoff on a flight from Mason City to Moorehead, Minn.

• On Feb. 4, 1962, the first U.S. helicopter is shot down in Vietnam. It was one of 15 helicopters ferrying South Vietnamese Army troops into battle near the village of Hong My in the Mekong Delta.

• On Feb. 2, 1982, David Letterman's offbeat late-night talk show debuts. When Johnny Carson retired in 1992, Letterman and rival comic Jay Leno engaged in a heated battle for the coveted host slot. When Letterman was passed over, he left NBC for CBS, where his new program, "Late Show with David Letterman," outperformed Leno's show almost every week in its first year.

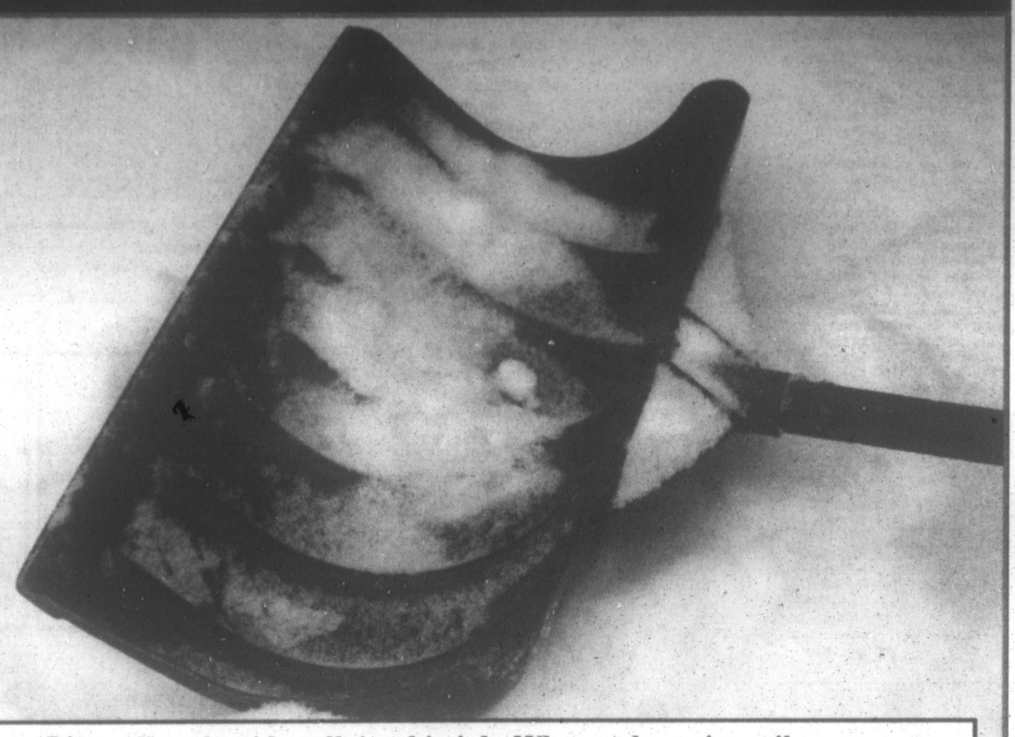
Don't Wait



Shoveling the sidewalk is a big job. Why not leave it until tomorrow and enjoy the newly fallen snow today? A fresh snowfall is so beautiful and pristine. There's a chance, however, that the temperature will rise during the day enough to melt some snow and then fall below freezing at night. We might wake up to shining, slippery ice impossible to shovel and dangerous to walk on. Shoveling will be more difficult if we wait!

We put off many things in life, there's always a good excuse. Some of us are just natural procrastinators... others have chaotically busy lives. One thing that often falls to the bottom of the list is the enrichment of our spiritual life. Spending time with God on a regular basis can give us so much joy and sustenance!

Don't wait! Find solutions now through regular prayer and weekly worship. In John 12:35 we read... "Walk while you have the light, before darkness overtakes you." Live in God's light today and every day.

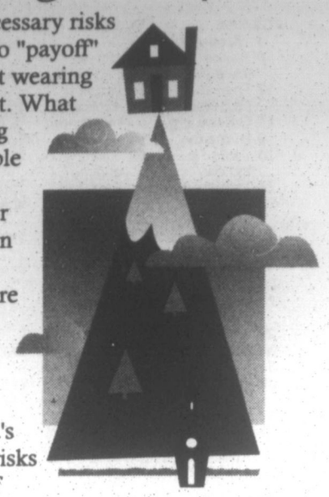
Live Dangerously?



There are many unnecessary risks in life where there is no "payoff" for the risks taken. Not wearing our seat belt is like that. What we gain by not wearing our seat belt is negligible compared to the risk assumed; the second or two which we may gain by not buckling up is hardly worth it if we are injured in an accident. Taking risks like that with our life is tantamount to being unappreciative of God's gift of life. But, some risks have a potential payoff that is considerable compared to the risk assumed. Asking someone for a date can feel very risky, but what do we really risk? We might have to endure a few minutes of discomfort (perhaps even humiliation, if things go really poorly), but the payoff is probably well worth the risk. Quitting a dead-end job and going back to school or getting job training is risky, but the payoff is probably well worth the risk. Reaching out to people who may reject us is a definite risk, but the payoff of potential friendship or love is worth the risk. Life is a precious gift and we ought not to risk it unnecessarily, but there are often payoffs to taking risks. Each day we should consider the risks and the possible rewards, and calculate our odds wisely.

Folic Acid and Heart Disease

Folate is found in many foods; however, the synthetic form of folate found in many dietary supplements is folic acid. Green leafy vegetables, fruits, dried peas and beans are natural sources of folate. Adequate amounts of folate must be present in order for the body to make new red blood cells in order to avoid anemia (especially during pregnancy).

Folate is also responsible for the breakdown of a substance called homo-cysteine. Elevated levels of homocysteine have been associated with an increased risk of heart disease and stroke. Folic acid supplementation significantly lowers homocysteine levels in humans; however, controversy exists as to whether or not folic acid supplementation decreases the risk of heart disease and stroke. The authors of a new study analyzed data from all previously published studies on folic acid supplementation and heart disease. While many of the studies were small and of short duration, the authors concluded that there was sufficient evidence to justify the lowering of homocysteine levels with folic acid supplementation.

TNT paramedic series couldn't be 'Saved'

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: I would like to know when "Saved" is coming back to TNT. –Lisa Jack, Okeechobee, Fla.

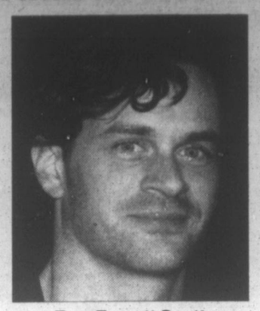
A: Unfortunately for fans of the show, it isn't. The cable network recently decided the first season of Tom Everett Scott's paramedic drama would be its only one. The success of "The Closer" has set a new standard for the ratings TNT would like its original series to achieve, and "Saved" didn't reach that level.

Instead, the network is putting those resources into two dramas that will debut later this year: "Heartland," with Treat Williams as a surgeon (yes, another one, "Everwood" devotees), and "Grace," starring Oscar winner Holly Hunter as a police detective who literally gets touched by an angel.

Q: The actor who plays Deacon on "The King of Queens" is so good, I'm wondering if he has made any other sitcoms or movies. –Carole Clark, Corning, Calif.

A: The CBS comedy has given Victor Williams his first sustaining role in a series, but he has done guest shots on many other shows including "ER," "Law & Order," "The Practice," "The Jamie Foxx Show," "Profiler," "New York Undercover" and "Homicide: Life on the Street." Among the feature films in which he's appeared are "Bewitched," "Cop Land" and "The Preacher's Wife."

Q: What ever happened to Michelynne McGuire, who won the show "The Starlet"? She was supposed to land a role on "One Tree Hill." Did she? What then? –Tara Turner, Jennings, Okla.



Tom Everett Scott

A: She did get the role, but it was only a guest shot in a single 2005 episode that was titled "Something I Can Never Have." That's actually the sole professional acting credit we've been able to find on her.

Q: I'm a huge fan of "Homicide: Life on the Street." Is there any chance we'll see a DVD rerelease of the sequel to the series, "Homicide: The Movie"? I have the whole series on DVD and would like to complete my collection with that. –Bill Quinlan, Toledo, Ohio

A: If you already have the entire series, chances are you won't be pleased with this answer. "Homicide: The Movie" is included in the 35-disc "Complete Series" set that A&E Home Video released in November, and that's the only rerelease we know of it getting. You can still surf the Internet to search for copies of the original solo release of the TV movie, which was issued on both DVD and VHS tape in 2001.

Alcohol And Drug Cases Continue To Dominate District Court News

In a recent District Court case, Anthony Antoine Waters, 39, Washington, D.C., entered a plea of no contest and was found guilty of possession of marijuana by Judge Ralph Burnett, who handed the defendant a six-month jail sentence. The charges of possession of marijuana and paraphernalia stemmed from an incident in August in which the defendant admitted to smoking marijuana after the Maryland State Police had stopped him for a traffic violation.

In searching the vehicle, the police found a plastic bag containing 15 smaller bags with white powder residue and two straws on the floor board near the rear-seat passenger, Larry Irvin Williams, 56, Washington, D.C. Williams was charged with possession of cocaine and paraphernalia. Waters was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the possession of paraphernalia, and Williams was not prosecuted for the charges of possession of cocaine and paraphernalia.

In other court news, Gerald Wayne Guilford, 37, Highland Springs, Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and received a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except for 36 hours. In addition, the defendant was ordered to undergo six months of unsupervised probation, pay a $200 fine, and complete 30 hours of community service.

Guilford was stopped for speeding in July and was subsequently arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and paraphernalia after the police conducted a probable cause search of his vehicle and found a smoking pipe with the burnt residue of marijuana and a bag of marijuana in the defendant's backpack. Guilford was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for charges of possession of paraphernalia.

Joseph John Paulinski, 44, Oakland, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct, and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) and a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended. In addition, Judge Burnett ordered the defendant to serve one year of unsupervised probation, attend anger management counseling, and have no violent contact with the victim.

Paulinski was arrested for domestic assault in September after witnesses saw him allegedly yell at his wife and hit her with a closed fist on the shoulder in the waiting room of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Paulinski was arrested and charged with second-degree assault and disorderly conduct. The second-degree assault charge was not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Carly Marie Whitlock, 20, Joppa, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except two days, six months of unsupervised probation, and a $200 fine. When Whitlock was stopped for a traffic violation in July, a drug detection canine alerted sheriff's deputies to the presence of drugs. The police found and seized a bag of marijuana in a subsequent search of the vehicle.

Keenan Edward Kabell, 18, Accident, pleaded guilty to the possession of marijuana, and Judge Burnett handed the defendant a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except for 12 hours, six months of unsupervised probation, and a $200 fine.

The defendant was stopped for a traffic violation in November and subsequently failed a sobriety test. The police searched the defendant and found a smoking pipe containing the burnt residue of marijuana in his left pocket. Kabell was not prosecuted for charges of possession of paraphernalia, driving while under the influence (DUI), driving while impaired (DWI), violating a license restriction, and failure to drive right of center.

William Francis Schmidl, 26, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DUI per se, and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, one year of supervised probation, and $357.50 in fines and costs.

Schmidl was stopped by the police in June after a sheriff's deputy observed him cross over the center line in the middle of the roadway seven times. Court documents indicated that the defendant was intoxicated and driving on a suspended license at the time of the incident. Schimdl was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for charges of making a false statement to the police, failure to drive right of center, driving on a suspended license, DUI, and DWI by alcohol.

Rachel Dawn Turner, 23, Arthurdale, W.Va., and Kelly Marie Molisee, 22, Kingwood, W.Va., pleaded guilty to the theft of less than $100 of property from the Family Dollar in Oakland last September. Judge Burnett handed both defendants PBJ, 30-day jail terms, all of which was suspended, six months of unsupervised probation, $100 fines, and 30 hours of community service.

Jeffrey Alan Auvil, 36, Oakland, pleaded not guilty to second-degree assault and was found not guilty for allegedly choking the victim in a domestic dispute in October.

Kurt James Cofano, 19, Bethel Park, Pa., was handed stet rulings for the charge of malicious destruction of property over $500 in value. Cafano was charged after he and his brother were allegedly seen kicking both sides of a Volkswagon Passat and causing an estimated $2,209 worth of damage.

Michael James Rorrer, 18, Forest Hill, was given stet rulings for charges of possession of CDS marijuana and paraphernalia. The defendant was the rear passenger in a car that was stopped for speeding on I-68, and the police found and seized a smoking pipe containing traces of marijuana and a metal marijuana grinder.

Tina Marie Stewart, 30, Swanton, was given a stet ruling for the charge of possession of not marijuana. Stewart was picked up by police at a residence on Altamont Road because of an outstanding Pennsylvania warrant, and transported to Garrett County Detention Center, where a 20 mg. pill of oxycodone was found in her wallet.

Lynwood C. Sharple, 50, Mount Storm, W.Va. was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the malicious destruction of property valued at more than $500 and theft of property valued at more than $500. The defendant was charged with willfully and maliciously destroying food, plants, clothing, a hair brush, a mirror, a stereo, phone lines, and a phone jack, and stealing a purse, credit cards, and other items from a Mtn. Lake Park home.

DUI AND DWI

Melvin Earl Trejo, 39, Va., pleaded guilty to DWI and was given a PBJ, a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, a $400 fine, one day of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. Trejo was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for charges of DUI and DUI per se stemming from a traffic stop that occurred last July on Route 219 near Point View.

Holly Lynn Ali, 32, Pa., was stopped by Deputy T. Sanders on Second Street in Oakland last September and charged with DUI, DUI per se, and DWI. Ali pleaded guilty to DWI by alcohol and was given a PBJ, a $200 fine, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, 30

LOTS AND LOTS OF POPCORN was consumed at Accident Elementary School during a recent movie and popcorn day, which was held to celebrate a school-wide effort to build a snowman on the bulletin board in the front lobby. Each staff member was given "snowballs" to be used when they observed a class or other staff member demonstrating the character trait of fairness. The snowballs were then added to the bulletin board until the snowman was complete. Pictured above with the snowman are several Accident students. In the front row, from left, are Mark Paulsen, Taylor Sheehan, Jason Large, Alex Miller, and Jaquelyn Morgan. In the back row are Alexandria Saweikis, Cordale Miller, Kelsey VanSickle, Rusty Christner, and Jennifer Bittinger. The popcorn for the event was donated by Garrett 8 Cinemas.

Thank You!

My family and I would like to send our sincere thanks and gratitude for the love and support given by our family, church family, Pastor Richard Hogg and friends, during my heart surgery and recovery.

Words cannot express the overwhelming feelings of love we felt, from receiving phone calls, nearly 200 cards, gifts, flowers, visits and all the wonderful meals brought into us.

But most of all, we thank you for yourPrayers!

We truly felt every one of them!

Thanks to the capable and caring Staff members at Hair n'Phernalia Too and Patterson Boat Co. for their ability and efficiency to maintain our businesses.

I would like to extend a very special thank you to my mother-in-law, Delores,(my other mother) who helped me in my recovery.

I couldn't have made it without you

I love you!

We are truly blessed by God to live in such a loving community.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

TERRA ALTA BETTERMENT INC.

The seeding and mulching of the Veterans Garden project has been completed. Terra Alta Betterment Inc. (TABI) funded the project and is awaiting garden design plans from the National Park Service and the American Institute of Landscape Architects. These organizations are working with the VFW and TABI on the garden's design. The new bathrooms in the park are finished.

The mayor had several dangerous trees removed from the park, but said that there are 15 more that should be taken out. He is proposing a plan to plant, preserve, and protect the trees in the park and throughout the town. The mayor and Clear Mountain Bank has installed a temperature gauge on the sign in front of the town hall.

TABI is hosting the annual hog raffle as a fundraiser. Raffle tickets are on sale at Gregg's Pharmacy. There will be three chances to win the three halves of hogs.

TABI president Joyce Cotter is working on a questionnaire to get information from residents about what projects in the 26764 area they would like to have initiated. Anyone with ideas on this matter is asked to contact Joyce at 789-6229 or Carol at 789-6864, or attend the next meeting, which is set for Feb. 5, 7 p.m., at the town hall.

Residents are asked to be on the alert in response to the recent break-ins and vandalism at businesses and residences in the town of Terra Alta. Persons are urged to immediately report to town police or the sheriff's office any strange vehicles, sounds, or anything that appears unusual.

TERRA ALTA FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Terra Alta Fire Department, a totally volunteer organization, is in need of money. The volunteers are constantly on call to help whenever and wherever needed. They leave their homes at all hours of the night and in inclement weather to help whoever is in need in the Terra Alta zip code area. These people have taken specialized training for years with the idea of performing the most professional help possible in times of need. They are firefighters, emergency medical technicians, and special equipment operators with months of training, willing and ready to volunteer their time to help area residents and businesses.

The fire department has been positioning itself over the years to better serve the needs of residents. Equipment has been upgraded to support areas without fire hydrants, and the leaders have consolidated equipment and coverage so that fewer fire trucks are needed (there are currently three trucks instead of eight). These actions have enabled them to serve the area with rapid, efficient, and cost-effective fire protection. Overall maintenance and insurance costs have been greatly reduced.

New equipped fire trucks typically cost between $200,000 and $250,000. Ordinary expenses to keep a fire house running are approximately $2,000 per month. The department's major fundraiser this year did very poorly, as it rained throughout the carnival.

The fire department therefore is in need of help from all the citizens it protects. Persons are urged to make donations, with checks payable to TAVFD, 1120, East State Avenue, Terra Alta. Persons may visit www.tavfd.org for more information about the fire department.

HARLEM ROCKETS

The Harlem Rockets comedy basketball team will play the Hilltopper Dream Team on Friday, Feb. 9, 7 p.m., at the East Preston gym. This event is being sponsored by the Hilltopper Youth Basketball League and the Terra Alta East Preston Athletic Fund.

Tickets in advance are $7, and will be $8 at door. Tickets can be purchased at Shop and Save, Gregg's Pharmacy, East Preston Floral, or from any youth in youth basketball. Persons may also call Todd Slaubaugh at 789-6089 or Dave Lantz at 789-3177. There are a limited amount of tickets.

The Harlem Rockets will also be at the school on Feb. 9 at 1:30 p.m. to talk to the students.

TERRA ALTA LIBRARY

Center Point Large Print Books mailed the library a new pet — Brutus the dog. He was "lost" at the Terra Alta Library, but then was found.

Helping to find Brutus were Bailey Roy, Madison Nine, Isaac Uphole, Macy Roy, Mathew Noland, Sarah Stone, and Riley Roy. Bailey was the first to find Brutus and received a bag of goodies. Each participant had the opportunity to get a prize out of the bag. Brian Schoolcraft wrote a short story about Brutus that was read before the search began.

A monetary donation has been received by the library. It will be used to purchase new books.

Carl Hershman presented God's Promises and Answers in memory of Helen Hershman. Also donated in her memory were numerous paperbacks. Pat Grimm, Jeane McGinnis, and Cindy Cramer have all donated series of romance paperbacks. The USA Today daily newspaper is donated by Lawrence Sypolt, along with Prevention pamphlets, Decision Magazine, and an extra copy of The Republican newspaper.

The following books have been given in memory of June Frazee by Lisa and Juanita Gardner: Lethal Justice by Fern Michaels, Sliver of Truth by Lisa Unger, Stalemate by Iris Johanson, Inferno by Karen Harper, and The Ravenscar Dynasty by Barbara Taylor Bradford.

VISTA POSITION OPEN

The Appalachian Forest Heritage Area (AFHA) is seeking a VISTA (Volunteering In Service to America) member for 2007 to assist the non-profit organization with heritage tourism development in area communities. For more information on AFHA, persons may visit www.appalachianforest.us.

VISTA members work full-time and receive a living allowance plus an educational benefit (or cash stipend) at the completion of one year. For more information on AmeriCorps VISTA program, including additional benefits, persons may visit www.americorps.org/for_individuals/ready/programs_vista.asp. Person may also e-mail phyllisb@meer.net or see the job description at www.appalachianforest.us. This position will start in April for a period of one year.

A partner organization, Mountain Partners in Community Development, also has a VISTA opening for working with the youth empowerment initiative. For a position description, persons may send e-mails to the address noted above.

CLOTHING DISTRIBUTION

The annual clothing distribution will be held at the community building on Jan. 27 and 28 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. This yearly event is sponsored by Hope Inc. in conjunction with the Town of Terra Alta and Woven Treasures Variety Store. There will be clothing for men, women, and children. Blankets will also be available. Persons may call Pam or Jeff Lewis for more information: 789-5818/5812.

FREE TAX RETURN PREPARATION

VITA volunteers will provide free tax return preparation at the Terra Alta town hall on Thursdays from Feb. 1 through April 12. There are no age or income restrictions. Volunteers are trained to prepare most basic and intermediate returns by the IRS.

In order to reduce waiting times for the public, appointments will be required this year. Appointments can be made by calling Terra Alta city hall during business hours at 789-6862. Persons must bring copies of last year's return, and proof of ID, and Social Security numbers.

This effort is supported by the Terra Alta town council and staff members.

Illusionist Set To Perform At Mountaintop '07

The annual getaway weekend conference Mountaintop 2007 will be held March 2-4 at Wilson Lodge, Oglebay, in Wheeling, W.Va. Among the events will be a performance by award-winning illusionist David Horsager from St. Paul, Minn.

Horsager is founder of Special Delivery Productions, an evangelistic ministry of speaking and performance. He also heads up a motivational speaking organization called Horsager Leadership Studio, with the goal of helping people and companies grow by improving service, productivity, leadership, and a commitment to integrity. He has shared his strategic leadership and growth ideas with some of America's top companies.

"Dave Horsager brings a lot more to his presentations than illusions," said Mountaintop co-founder and former Garrett County resident Anne Robinson of Wheeling. "With his gifted communication skills, he shares humor, story, illusion, and the word of God, resulting in powerful and unique messages."

Also scheduled to be featured at this event is author Dan Doriani of St. Louis, former professor of New Testament at Covenant Theological Seminary and now senior pastor at Central Presbyterian Church, a 1700-member congregation in St. Louis. His five-session topic will be "Jesus's Sacrifice for Us, Our Service for Him."

"Mountaintop is one of only a handful of similar conferences in the country in that it is not affiliated with a particular denomination and is for men and women of all ages," said Robinson. "Our goal is to provide an atmosphere away from the rush and strain of life, where folks can be challenged to grow spiritually. It's been said that when you spend time at Mountaintop, you see life from a different perspective. Sometimes it takes getting away from the ordinary to allow that to happen."

Throughout its 21 years, over 3,000 men and women have attended this event sponsored by Living for Christ Conferences and co-sponsored by WTRF-TV7.

For more information or to register, Living for Christ Conferences may be contacted at 304-455-5322 or at mountaintopconference.org.

STATE OF MARYLAND PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

IN THE MATTER OF THE COMMISSION'S INVESTIGATION INTO A RESIDENTIAL ELECTRIC RATE STABILIZATION AND MARKET TRANSITION PLAN FOR THE POTOMAC EDISON COMPANY.

NOTICE OF STATUS CONFERENCE

Pursuant to notice, the Public Service Commission ("Commission") held a Pre-Hearing Conference on January 19, 2007. At that conference the parties indicated their desire to engage in settlement discussions in this matter. The parties indicated that a settlement could either be reached on February 2, 2007, or alternatively a schedule for further proceedings should be established at that time. Consequently, the Commission hereby sets a Status Conference for Friday, February 2, 2007, at 9:30 a.m. in the Commission's 16th Floor Hearing Room, William Donald Schaefer Tower, 6 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, Maryland. The Potomac Edison Company shall cause to be published notice of this conference in a newspaper of general circulation in its service territory by Friday, January 26, 2007.

Notice is hereby given that any person desiring to intervene in this proceeding shall do so on or before Thursday, February 1, 2006. All filings shall include an original and 14 copies as well as an electronic version. The Commission encourages parties to use the Commission's "e-Filing" System for the electronic filing. Details of the "eFiling" System are found on the Commission's web site, www.psc.state.md.us.

AURORA/EGLON

FINT BIRTHDAY

The family of Roy Fint, Aurora, invite family and friends to join them at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building on Sunday, Jan. 28, for a 1 to 3 p.m. light luncheon in honor of his 90th birthday. They ask that there be no gifts, but cards will be appreciated. Those who cannot attend may mail a card to him at P.O. Box 8, Aurora, WV 26705.

MARTIN GRADUATES

Sheena Rae Martin of Morgantown graduated summa cum laude from Fairmont State University on Dec. 16, 2006. She is the daughter of Tom and Debbie Martin, Rowlesburg, and the granddaughter of Virginia Martin, Aurora, and the late James W. Martin.

Martin received a bachelor's degree in psychology with a minor in criminal justice. Presently employed at Chestnut Ridge Hospital, she will be pursuing a doctorate in psychology.

GIBSON BIRTH

Shawn and Julie Gibson of Cranesville announce the birth of their first child on Jan. 13, 2007, at Preston Memorial Hospital. Born at 10:25 p.m., the little boy weighed 7 pounds, 2.3 ounces. He has been named Connor Reese.

Maternal grandparents are Russel and Donna Beckman, Eglon. Paternal grandparents are Richard and Linda Gibson of Cranesville. Maternal great-grandparents are Woodrow and Helen Watts of Thornton. Dwight and Jean Gibson of Cranesville are the paternal great-grandparents.

The Preston Marching Knights have participated in many activities both locally and out of state, and their 15-year-old uniforms are in need of replacing. The cost of $65,000 makes this a project beyond normal budgets, and they are now seeking "Band Patrons." The $400 one donates to this project will purchase a jacket and hat. A name or names of sponsors or someone being memorialized will be sewn to the interior of the jacket.

These patrons will also, if a business, have that name, or a personal name, in all band programs, be named in a "thank-you" ad, and receive free passes for one-self and a guest to all band-sponsored events. They will also receive a personal letter of thanks from the student who receives the gift.

The deadline for this "Patron of the Arts" membership is Jan. 30. Checks may be mailed to: Preston High Band Boosters Uniform Fund, Attention: Donna Haney, WesBanco, 203 Morgantown Street, Kingwood, WV 26537. Along with the check, one should include information for a line to be printed on Band Patron page, the name (s) to be printed in the jacket, and one's name, address, and phone number.

For those who can't give the full amount to be a band patron, the break-down fee for a jacket only is $350, or a hat only is $50, and donations at what one can afford are acceptable. They may be sent as above.

PERSONAL MENTION

John and Florence Minnig of Eglon spent a three-week Christmas holiday in Arroya Grande, Calif., with their daughter and family, Faith, Jesse, Nathaniel, and Shea Zenker.

Carolyn Harsh returned Saturday to her home in Eglon after being hospitalized for further diagnostic tests.

Spending this weekend with Dale and Wilda Harsh at Aurora were Dale's children: Roy and Mary Harsh of Fairview, Pa., Rose and Larry Collier of Massillon, Ohio, and Richard and Dianne Stephens of Cumming, Ga., who were accompanied by their two young daughters.

Amanda Myers has returned to her home at Aurora after being hospitalized at a Morgantown facility.

Sheridan Layman of Aurora was hospitalized last week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He returned Sunday to his home.

Word was received by relatives that Linda Bachman fractured her ankle Sunday and was transferred form Fairmont General to Ruby Memorial for surgical repair. She is the daughter of Grace Knotts Winter of Fairmont, former Aurora resident.

Andrew, Elizabeth, and Ingrid Nelson moved from Minnesota to Aurora at Christmas and will be temporarily living with her parents, Tom and Carolyn Wotring.

Members of Maple Spring Church enjoyed a soup and salad dinner on Sunday following morning services.

Graduates With Highest Honors

Sheena Rae Martin, Morgantown, graduated with highest honors, summa cum laude, from Fairmont State University last month. She received a bachelor's degree in psychology with a minor in criminal justice.

To qualify for summa cum laude honors, students must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.85 or higher.

Sheena is now working at Chestnut Ridge Hospital in Morgantown, and will be pursing a doctorate in psychology.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Marin, Rowlesburg, and a granddaughter of Virginia Martin, Aurora, and the late James W. Martin.

Preston Visioning Group To Meet In Kingwood

The Preston Visioning Steering Committee will hold its first meeting of 2007 on Wednesday, Jan. 31, at 6 p.m. at the Preston County Economic development Authority office in Kingwood.

The meeting schedule for the remainder of the year, goals for 2007.

Preston Visioning is spearheaded by the Preston County Chamber of Commerce through a partnership with the Community Visions Foundation in Morgantown.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Sixteen years ago I slipped on some ice and did a split, which caused me to go into labor to deliver my youngest daughter, Meredith. We had real winter weather that day and it is turning to be almost like it today. It is not just a thin coating of snow, but looking outside my window it is a thick layer of snow. If brother Barry comes with his skis, I think he will be in luck. I hope McHenry got as much as Bittinger because I have never seen the Wisp look so pitiful.

Back to my daughter's birthday – I believe we have something missing in our birthday celebrations. If anyone deserves a birthday present, it is the mother, as she did all the work. Guess what was in the news that day? It was Desert Storm, the first war in Iraq. Meredith has come further along than Iraq did in sixteen years. Mere is almost ready to drive independently. She has not yet driven in Drivers' Ed., but when she drives with me she does a very good job.

I am amused when I watch the Pittsburgh news. If you want to get a forecast for Garrett County, we seem to get the same weather as the Laurel Highlands. I enjoy imagining hearing the traffic report. "If you are driving from McHenry to Oakland, be aware that the tourist traffic is heavy around the lake, with blowing snow causing delays all the way." If they would go further to report from Bittinger to McHenry they would say, "Drifts are two to three feet high along Rock Lodge Road at the Goodfellow Development. Zero visibility all along the route."

The Pittsburgh weather report said, "Hit or miss snow showers." Well, it is no surprise it is hitting in Bittinger. It really feels like we are having winter at last. The weather means different things to different people, especially me when I had a flat tire on my way to Grantsville. I don't know of anyone who would be willing to change my tire in this weather. But I called Guy's Tire Shop and they answered the call. But when I commented to Robbie Glotfelty, "Beautiful weather, huh?" he said it was beautiful when he was on the slopes of the Wisp. I know in the day when I was a skier, snow seemed much better news. Actually, Carol Bass when delivering her son Matthew to the University of Maryland on Sunday got quite an ugly shock, with winter in the metro area, which was truly a nightmare. Carol and her passenger, Emma, had to crawl home once she got into western Maryland's mountain snow.

I wanted to run a few errands this morning, but the ice/slush on my porch and ramp stopped me cold. I doubt that the roads are too bad, as the county has plows out and is applying abrasives. Try shoveling with one hand. My porch is really treacherous with the snow, and could cause a serious fall.

Everyone knows how lousy you feel when you are snowbound. My urge is to go somewhere in high gear. Another aspect of it is a "Catch 22." Yes, I do need salt, but to get it I would have to go over that icy mess on the porch. Even if I could get to my car, another hurdle would be between my house and the road, with six inches of slush in my road. Slush is much worse than a foot of light fluffy snow. According to Pittsburgh news, that snow will come later, and it predicts new snow every day of this week.

Bittinger is big-time Steeler land. Art Rooney proposed a rule requiring team interviews at least to one minority candidate for a coach position. Today the new Steelers' coach is Mike Tomlin, a bright young, handsome (according to my Meredith) African American coach, who is the first black coach ever for the Steelers. Being a fairly young coach, he will be hungry to bring another Steeler team to the Super Bowl. This year is a year when an African American coach will be the winning coach in the Super Bowl, as both teams' coaches are black.

As a tribute to my Garrett County education, I saw an old movie about the development of the steamboat in the early 1800s invented by Robert Fulton. I also remember another name, DeWitt Clinton, who was connected to it and I believe he was the engineer who conceived the idea of the Erie Canal.

It is a shame that my teachers did not have access to some fine old movies telling the stories of great figures in history, including Thomas Edison, Marie Curie, etc. Since I was a book lover from my earliest of years, what I read in school textbooks seemed real and important. I remember the smell and look of my history books. Many children are not bookish and don't get excited about the things our history books hold. Even I am excited when the stories I knew come alive in films. Any future teacher should watch The Miracle Worker about Ann Sullivan, the teacher who was able to reach into the dark and silent world of Helen Keller. Future nurses, doctors, and the health professionals should see the movie about a nurse in Austria who developed a therapy work for polio victims, but no one would listen to her because she "was only a nurse."

I received a phone call from a fan of this column from Baltimore County. He comes often to his son's vacation home here. He said he often thinks of my column as educational. In many ways I am still a teacher at heart. Even in most of my lectures at Garrett, I often inserted a side idea or fact when it fit. I guess I do that here, too.

Good news that Emmanuel Lutheran Church's prayer list is getting shorter. However, Tina Buckel Galluchi lost her mother-in-law, Judy Galluchi, last week. She died while vacationing in Florida. The funeral will be held in the Fairmont area.

Sally Poholsky and Ferne Beachy are staying close to home these wintry days. That attitude is going around, as after her week's stay in the hospital, Ruth DiPaolo is still confined to her home. She did get to the doctor on Tuesday, and he advised her to stay in and watch the snow from the window. He also said it will be a month before she gets back on her feet, which will be hard for her.

Sheila Southerly is enjoying her traditional winter beauty scenes with two bright red male cardinals on a snow-covered pine branch. She still looks for the female who usually comes to her bird feeder.

I must be crazy, but I ventured out today (Tuesday) with blowing snow, icy windshields, and drifts on the highway, which are the regular winter hazards that we almost forgot about this winter. But I saw some nice winter scenes. Brenneman Grove is in its best winter dress. Each tree presents a different look with the coatings of snow. The big clumps of snow on the pine trees look like abstract modern art.

My lane is a series of drifts. It is a solid field covered with two feet of snow. You can't even see where the lane is. This morning I thought my depression was better by the changing of medication, but that was before I confronted the real winter weather. It is possible that we will have this kind of weather for the next two months. It is somewhat comforting to see Jack Beitzel in his mighty machine. It was much worse for my father to clear our lane every day on an open tractor, which was before they started putting cabs on them.

In the olden days I would be on Wisp slopes in this weather, but I guess I just am not tough as I used to be when I was a 16-year-old.

LUTHERANS GIVE TO HOSPICE – Hospice of Garrett County Inc. recently received a donation from the Accident Lutheran Parish, which includes St. John's, the Cove, Grace, Friendsville, and St. Paul's Lutheran churches of the ELCA (Evangelical Lutheran Churches In America). "The donation is composed of the offerings collected at mid-week Advent worship and Christmas Eve services," said Pastor Randy Nairn, pictured. "We are grateful for the care and love given by Hospice of Garrett County to the terminally ill patients." For information about Hospice care, persons may call 301-334-5151 or 1-800-521-5252. Pictured with Nairn is Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice.

In execution of the Deed of Trust dated April 14, 2005, recorded in Liber 1119, folio 455, among the Garrett County land records, the undersigned Substitute Trustees, any of whom may act, will offer for sale at public auction on FEBRUARY 9, 2007, at 1:30 p.m., at the north side of the Courthouse for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Alder Street entrance, at Oakland, Maryland, the following property:

Lot 5, The Highlands of Bear Creek, Accident, Garrett County, Maryland, and as more particularly described in the Deed of Trust.

The property and improvements will be sold in "as is" physical condition without warranty of any kind and subject to all conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same.

TERMS OF SALE: A non-refundable bidder's deposit of $17,500 by cashier's/certified check required at time of sale except for the party secured by the Deed of Trust. Risk of loss on purchaser from date and time of sale. The balance of the purchase price together with interest thereon at 6.25% per annum from date of sale to receipt of purchase price by Trustees must be paid by cashier's check within 10 days after final ratification of sale. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event settlement is delayed for any reason. All real estate taxes, water rents and public charges/assessments shall be adjusted to date of sale. Purchaser shall pay all transfer, documentary and recording taxes/fees and all other settlement costs. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining possession of property. Time is of the essence for purchaser. If purchaser defaults, deposit will be forfeited and property resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser who shall be liable for any deficiency in the purchase price and all costs and expenses of both sales. If Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit. (#18468)

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from William C. Hogan and Willavenne Y. Hogan, dated September 30, 2003, and recorded in Liber 1002, folio 687 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on

FEBRUARY 5, 2007 AT 12:05 PM

ALL THAT fee-simple LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $6,000 by cash, or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement within ten days of the ratification, the deposit shall be forfeited to the Sub. Trustees and all of the expenses of this sale (including attorney fees and full commission on the gross sale price of the sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. Purchaser(s) acknowledge the obligation to settle within ten days of ratification of the foreclosure sale. In the event that settlement does not occur within ten days, the purchaser(s) shall be in default. Upon such default, Sub. Trustees shall file a Motion and Order to resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser(s). Purchaser(s) hereby consent to entry of such resale order without further notice. The defaulting purchaser(s) shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, including, but not limited to, exceptions to the sale, bankruptcy filings by interested parties, court administration of the foreclosure or unknown title defects, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water and all public charges including electrical, sanitation and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, are to be adjusted for the current year to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. The purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $250.00 of outstanding water bills, if any, incurred prior to date of sale. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents. (Matter #535439)

BEING the same property as was conveyed to Stony Brook Development, LLC, by Deed dated September 25, 2001, and recorded in Liber Number 881, folio 142, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon, and the rights, roads, ways, waters, privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

The above-described property (the "Property") also being all the same property which was conveyed by and is described in a Deed of Trust dated March 15, 2002, to the Trustees named therein for the benefit of Farm Credit of the Virginias, ACA, and recorded among the Garrett County Land Records at Liber 885, folio 519.

The Property is being sold and will be conveyed free and clear of the lien of the above referenced Deed of Trust and all subordinate liens and encumbrances.

The Property is being sold and will be conveyed "AS IS, WHERE IS," without recourse, together with and subject to all applicable conditions, restrictions, covenants, limitations, rights of way, streets, alleys, reservations, easements, and appurtenances of record and subject also to all environmental conditions affecting the Property, if any. The undersigned Substitute Trustee makes no warranties or representations, express or implied, with respect to any matters concerning the Property, including but not limited to, condition of the Property, matters of survey or title, tenancies or parties in possession, zoning compliance, housing or other governmental or regulatory violations, etc.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) will be required at the time of sale in cash or by certified check or other form of payment acceptable to the undersigned Substitute Trustee in the said Substitute Trustee's sole discretion; the balance to be paid upon ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland; except that no deposit shall be required of the holder (the "Holder") of the note secured by the Deed of Trust where the Holder bids on the Property at the sale and payment of the purchase price by the Holder shall be made by crediting the purchase price against the foreclosure costs and expenses and the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust. Interest shall accrue on the unpaid balance of the purchase price at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of Court ratification, and at the rate of twenty percent (20%) per annum from the date of Court ratification to the date of settlement. If the purchaser fails to make settlement within fifteen (15) days following the date of Court ratification, time being of the essence thereto, the entire aforesaid deposit may, at the option of the aforesaid Substitute Trustee, be forfeited and retained as liquidated damages and notice of said forfeiture shall be provided to the purchaser by the Substitute Trustee. If the deposit is not forfeited as liquidated damages, but is instead retained by the Substitute Trustee in escrow pending resale of the Property, the Property may be resold by the Substitute Trustee at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser, and the deposit shall thereafter be applied as required to any subsequently realized loss of the Substitute Trustee by virtue of the default by the said purchaser and the resale of the Property including any expenses incidental thereto. All taxes, water, and other public charges and assessments shall be pro-rated on and as of the date of said sale and shall be assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Following the date of sale, all risk of loss to the Property shall be assumed by the purchaser. The purchaser shall pay the cost of all recordation taxes, transfer taxes (including but not limited to that agricultural land transfer tax imposed by Maryland Tax Property Code § 13-302; which said tax may be applicable to the sale and transfer of the Property), recording and indexing fees, document preparation and all other costs of settlement. The Purchaser shall be entitled to physical possession of the Property only after settlement; however, the Substitute Trustee assumes no responsibility to place the Purchaser in such possession of the Property. The undersigned specifically reserves the right to reject any bids submitted. The Substitute Trustee reserves the right at the sale to vary, modify, alter or qualify any of the foregoing terms or conditions of sale.

Local Residents Are Warned To Watch For Viral Gastroenteritis

by Cynthia Mankamyer, RN

It's that time of year when viral gastroenteritis is lurking! Recently, across the United States, there has been an increased number of outbreaks of viral gastroenteritis, and Garrett County has not been exempt.

Viral gastroenteritis is an infection caused by a variety of viruses that result in vomiting or diarrhea. It is sometimes called "stomach flu," although it is not caused by the influenza viruses which cause respiratory symptoms.

Many different viruses can cause gastroenteritis, including: rotaviruses, noroviruses, and adenoviruses. Viral gastroenteritis is not caused by a bacteria (such as salmonella or E.coli) or by parasites (such as giardia) or by medications. Your doctor may determine if your symptoms are caused by a virus or something else.

The main symptoms of viral gastroenteritis are watery diarrhea and vomiting. Headache, fever and abdominal cramps may also occur. Symptoms usually begin one to two days after infection and may last from one to 10 days.

For most people it is not a serious illness, and most recover completely without long-term problems. However, gastroenteritis may be serious in persons who are unable to drink enough fluids to replace what they are losing through vomiting or diarrhea. Infants, very young children, the disabled, elderly or any persons unable to care for themselves are at risk for dehydration.

The most common cause of contagious gastroenteritis is norovirus. Norovirus is very contagious and is found in the stool or vomit of infected people. Norovirus is spread through close contact with an infected person or contaminated surfaces, or by food and drinks contaminated with the virus.

A person can reduce his/her chance of becoming infected with viral gastroenteritis by frequent hand-washing, prompt disinfection of contaminated surfaces with household chlorine-based cleaners, and prompt high-temperature washing and drying of soiled linens, towels and clothing.

Food-handlers with gastroenteritis should not work until two or three days after his/her symptoms end. Since the virus may continue to be present in the stool for as long as two to three weeks after symptoms end, strict hand-washing is important, especially after using the bathroom and before handling food items.

If a person becomes ill with viral gastroenteritis, treatment measures usually include prevention of dehydration by intake of fluids. Your doctor can give you specific instructions about what kinds of fluids are best.

For more information on viral gastroenteritis, persons may contact their physician or the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111, or visit the web site: www.cdc.gov/ncidod.

Red Cross Notes Bloodmobile Stats For Grantsville

The results of the American Red Cross bloodmobile visit to Grantville on Jan. 22 have been released.

A total of 50 units were collected at the site.

Miriam Peachey's donation brought her total to four gallons, and Rudy Yoder's total donations reached three gallons.

Volunteers included Lila Maust, Missy Fazenbaker, Lela Bender, and Philip Bender.

"The Maranatha Assembly of God Church graciously donated the use of their fellowship hall, and Pastor John Munley was especially helpful," said Lela Bender.

Blood collection will continue to be held at the church until the new fire hall is completed.

GC Chamber Will Sponsor Workshop

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a free presentation of the Maryland Customer Choice program in the Crawford Room at Wisp Resort on Wednesday, Jan. 31, from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

This program is being held for those with commercial electric accounts in order to present options to them and show how to minimize the effect of rising energy costs. The Maryland Customer Choice program allows customers to choose the company that generates their electricity.

"Before making a choice, businesses should know their volume of electricity usage, understand supply offers, and educate themselves about the changing industry," said Karen Reckner, director of business services and training. "This is vital information every business should consider in the deregulated market. Feedback from previous workshops has been very positive."

Allegheny Power representatives will provide an overview of Customer Choice, an explanation of Allegheny Power's role in the program, and information regarding options and resources about how to shop for electricity. They will answer questions and work individually with customers if requested.

"If you register by Jan. 26 and supply your account number, Allegheny Power will provide detailed information about your account," said Reckner.

To register or obtain more information, persons may contact an Allegheny Power business account specialist at 1-866-523-4081 or the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4386.

Support Group To Meet Mon.

The local Alzheimer's family/caregiver support group will meet Monday, Jan. 29, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Department, Oakland.

Guest speaker Vicki Lee Carlson will talk about stress reduction and yoga.

Support group meetings are free and open to the public. The group usually meets the last Monday of the month.

In case of inclement weather, meeting cancellations are announced on WKHJ and WFRB.

For more information, persons may call Donna Fost at 301-334-7740.

Garrett College To Host '07 Job Fair In March

Business owners and other managers looking for good employees will have an opportunity to find the best at the 2007 Garrett County Job Fair. The event will take place March 29 in the Garrett College gymnasium from 3 to 7 p.m. Registration will begin at 2:30 p.m.

"We are prepared to host a well organized and well attended event and hope that employers will consider joining us,"' said Judy Carbone, coordinator of career services at Garrett College. "Space is limited and is expected to be reserved quickly."

Businesses wanting to take part in the job fair are therefore encouraged to register now. Participating employers will be offered display space, including a table, chairs, and a sign with the company name. Access to electrical outlets will be available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Approximately 45 area businesses are expected to participate. Already registered for the event are First United Bank, Brenda's Pizzeria, Bill's Marine Service, Financial Computer Support Inc., White Water Adventures, Trader's Coffee House, Cheat River Rafting, and the U.S. Secret Service.

The registration form for businesses is now available on the Job Fair web site,

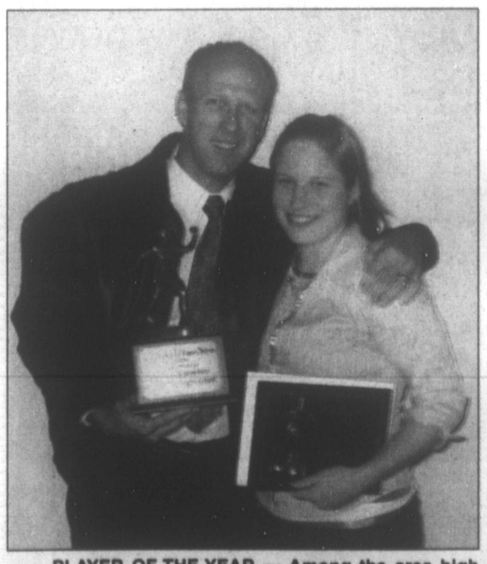
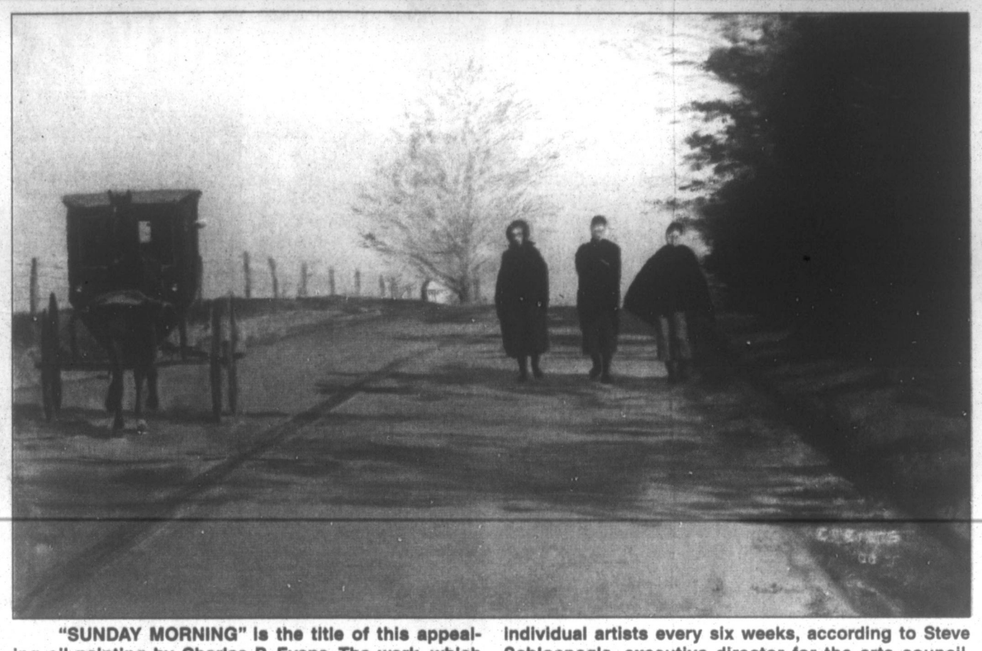
Program Open Space Projects Funded In County

Governor Martin O'Malley announced that the Board of Public Works recently approved $38,605 in Program Open Space funds for Garrett County for two development projects.

Loch Lynn athletic fields will receive $29,600 for the installation of portable athletic fencing on two softball fields; and bleachers, bollard lights, and colonial style lighting at the steps and at the ADA ramp. Loch Lynn Community Playground will receive $9,005 for the installation of ADA improvements.



PLAYER OF THE YEAR — Among the area high school athletes who received special honors at Sunday's annual Dapper Dan banquet in Cumberland was Northern girls' varsity soccer player Bethani Gillum, who was named the Defensive Player of the Year for the area. Bethani and her teammates also captured the area team championship, and were co-champions in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League with Beall. Further, Gillum and three teammates were named first-team All-Area players, along with Southern's Kerry Conroy. In the photo with Gillum is her coach, John Milbourne, who accepted the All-Area team title trophy for the Huskies. See more photos and story in the sports section.



"SUNDAY MORNING" is the title of this appealing oil painting by Charles P. Evans. The work, which to most viewers brings to life a true Garrett County moment, is one of 45 new paintings and photographs by regional artists now on display at the Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council in downtown Oakland. Gallery volunteers install a new exhibit of framed work three times each year, and new displays featuring individual artists every six weeks, according to Steve Schlosnagle, executive director for the arts council. Other handcrafted items on display include locally made jewelry, pottery, fabric art, sculpture, glassware, woodcraft, and metal work. Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Additional information is available by calling the arts council at 301-334-5680.

Dream Born "Down Under" Energizes Youth And Industry Of Garrett County

by Brenda Ruggiero

He first caught the bug when he was a kid growing up in Australia. It rapidly took root, but instead of trying to contain it, he nurtured it over the years. Now, he's trying his best to pass the bug along to a group of kids in Garrett County. And they're loving it.

The "culprit" is Phil Malone, who is now a permanent resident of Deep Creek Lake, and his "infectious bug" involves electronics and robotics.

"I always had a really strong interest in electronics and computers, even before it was really popular," he explained. "My dad's a mechanical engineering professor, so I used to go to his campus in the summer and play on the really huge, high-tech (but incredibly antiquated now) computers. That's how I got my start in software."

After he graduated from college, Phil started working for a defense contractor in Australia, and then took the opportunity to work in the United States for six months.

"That pretty much got me hooked," he said. "The toys over here were cheaper — the computers were cheaper and that sort of stuff. I applied to come over here on a work permit, and came back and forth a couple times, but now I'm here to stay."

Phil originally came to Annapolis in 1984. For the last 20 years, he has done a lot of work with computing and software in underwater robots.

"I've been coming up with ways to make it easier to program underwater robots," he said. "Rather than just doing its job, I like to invent pieces that then can be used on other jobs. That makes it easier for the next guy down the road."

About five years ago, another of Phil's interests brought him to Garrett County.

"I decided that my energy footprint on the world was too big, and I decided I wanted to build an energy-efficient house," he explained. "I started to do a whole lot of research, and eventually decided I knew what I wanted to build."

His search for land led him to Deep Creek Lake, where he and his wife Lisa bought land and had the house constructed.

When they moved here, Phil decided that he wanted to be more involved in the community rather than remain what he calls a "classic engineer" who thought about nothing but engineering.

Phil was impressed with how his new community supported youth.

"They were always concerned with what the kids were going to do when they grew up and what they were going to do in their spare time," he said. "It seemed to me that a cool thing for me to do would be to see if I could inspire in the kids an interest in computers and technology — not just using it, but inventing and designing it. My philosophy on life is that if you enjoy what you do for a living, you never work a day in your life. I've always enjoyed what I do, so my goal was to try to teach that to the kids — to find out what

Warm The Children '06 Tops Records In Contributions And Children Served

Warm the Children, a program of The Republican newspaper and the Civic Club of Oakland, has come to a close for this season, with the 2006 statistics breaking all former records for the program, in donations received and children served, according to organizers.

More than $34,000 was donated to the program during the two-month contribution time. Donations ranged from $5 to more than $1,000 from the nearly 500 different individuals, businesses, and organizations.

There were 42 individuals who volunteered to take families shopping, and 19 people who volunteered to write the hundreds of thank-you letters. A hand-written card is sent to each donor, as long as there a valid address for the note.

Shoppers agree to meet families at Wal-Mart and take them shopping, helping them choose warm clothing and footwear for their children, spending $100 per child. Only clothing and footwear items are funded with this program, making it a simple yet efficient use of the donated funds.

"It is indeed simple and I think attractive to donors, who are assured that there are no overhead costs with Warm the Children," said Mary McEwen, who has directed the program from The Republican newspaper office since Warm the Children's launch in 1998. "Since the newspaper donates all the advertising space, and the entire project is managed and run by volunteers, we can always say that every penny donated goes toward the purchase of new, warm clothes for the kids in need."

The public school system staff helps to identify the children who may need a boost, and applications are sent home with those youngsters. The completed applications are then mailed to volunteer Dora Hanlin, who has also been an integral worker in the program since it started, McEwen said.

"Dora's help is invaluable, every single year," McEwen said. "And our teachers and counselors are great at spotting kids who might need help, and they are very careful to be discreet and tactful in the process. There's no question that

AN ENERGY-EFFICIENT HOUSE — The search for land where they could build an energy-efficient house led Phil Malone and his wife Lisa to Deep Creek Lake. The couple is pictured above in front of their unique, energy-saving home. Phil, a native of Australia, is crazy for robotics, and his enthusiasm has spilled over to a growing number of Garrett County teens, including the youngsters who fared so well at the recent Maryland LEGO/robotics championships. A story about Malone's long history in robotics and his plans for the future is published in today's issue. For more information about the couple's house, persons may visit www.ourcoolhouse.com.

Drug Trafficking Arrests Made In House At Bayard

A multi-agency law enforcement operation was initiated with the execution of a federal search and seizure warrant on Tuesday morning, Jan. 30. The search was performed at a Cottage Street residence in Bayard, W.Va.

The search warrant was the culmination of a 10-month long narcotics investigation that began with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force receiving numerous citizen complaints in reference to trafficking of suspected narcotics in and around the Garrett County area. A suspected source of the narcotics was identified at a residence in Bayard.

A joint investigation began between task force investigators and the Drug Enforcement Administration's Hagerstown Regional Office. The investigation led to the obtaining of the federal search warrant for the Cottage Street residence.

As a result, recovered from the residence were suspected cocaine, marijuana, and several weapons. In addition, federal authorities

O'Malley Promises "End of Drift" In State Of State Speech Yesterday

by Jonathan Crawford and Megan Hartley
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Promising Marylanders "I will not squander the year ahead," Gov. Martin O'Malley on Wednesday asked the General Assembly to "end the drift of recent years" and approve a legislative agenda addressing what he called critical needs in education, the environment, public safety, and health care.

Acknowledging few positive aspects of the administration of his predecessor, Robert L. Ehrlich, O'Malley, in his 15th day in office, pointed out that his administration has much work to do to put Maryland in the right direction.

"Yes, we are a strong state today. But not as strong as we should be – or as strong as our country needs us to be," he said.

In the House of Delegates chamber for O'Malley's 32-minute speech were three former Maryland governors, his wife, Baltimore District Judge Catherine Curran O'Malley, and father-in-law and former Maryland Attorney General J. Joseph Curran Jr.

"I am glad to report that thanks to the hard work of citizens in decades past, and despite the drift of recent years, the state of our state, today, is strong," he said.

That and other references implicitly critical of the former Ehrlich administration drew the ire of some GOP leaders.

"He didn't need to take some cheap shots at the previous administration," said Senate Minority Leader David R. Brinkley, R-Frederick. "The previous administration inherited a tremendous mess. Frankly, the previous administration's legacy to [O'Malley] has been a $1.4 billion surplus that he's using to buy time."

Republicans also said the governor was long on ambitious ideas, but short on suggestions of how to pay for them.

"There is a structural deficit, and this year we have taken the savings account, broke the piggy bank, and spent all the money to stop the gap with no new real initiatives or visions on how to the solve the problems," said House Minority Leader Anthony J. O'Donnell, R-Calvert.

Topping his agenda, O'Malley outlined his plan to improve Maryland's public education system. He called on the legislature to cap any further increase in tuition this year for in-state students, fund the Thornton education program, and approve $400 million for school construction.

"I ask that, together, we start to get our children out of the temporary learning shacks that have been popping up behind every school in our state," he said.

O'Malley also sought approval for programs to improve the environment. He made a commitment to fully fund the Open Space project. Ehrlich was criticized for diverting Open Space funding to other programs.

Other environmental initiatives include his pledge to pass legislation requiring cleaner auto emissions and increase funding for the development of clean and renewable energy.

Commissioners Hear Update Reports; Garrett Col. Enrollment Up 22 Percent

The Garrett County commissioners held their bimonthly staff meeting on Tuesday, hearing reports from 16 different departments and county agencies. Topics discussed this month included enrollment at Garrett College, the proposed McHenry Business Park, Dove Center statistics, a local health fair, job layoffs, and the gypsy moth suppression program.

Garrett College

Dr. Paul Dauphinais, president of Garrett College, reported that 717 students had enrolled for the spring semester.

"That's an important number because last spring we had 587," he said. "That's a 22 percent increase. We're struggling for seats, trying to find seats for everybody. It's a nice problem to have."

Dauphinais also reported that the college is looking for new academic affairs and student development deans.

"We hope to do both hires by the beginning of July," the president said.

"The enrollment is a good thing," Commissioners Ernie Gregg said about the increase. "Slowly and systematically the things we're building are beginning to pay off."

Economic Development

Director Jim Hinebaugh, Garrett County Department of Economic Development, reported his office participated in a very successful Mountain Maryland PACE (Positive Attitudes Change Everything) reception in Annapolis last Thursday and Friday. The event enables officials in Garrett and Allegany counties to promote projects and legislative initiatives to state officials and lawmakers.

"We did some very good networking there," Hinebaugh said. And as a result of a meeting with the Economic Development Administration, he said, the county will probably receive a $1.5 million grant for the proposed McHenry Business Park.

The park will be built on the county's White Face Farm property, located near Garrett College and the airport.

The total cost of the third stage of the project will be between $3 and $3.5 million, Hinebaugh noted. He added that companies have already expressed interest in building at the McHenry Business Park.

Hinebaugh also reported that ClosetMaid, located in the Northern Garrett Industrial Park, was operating. The facility is currently in a distribution mode, he said, but will begin manufacturing in late May or early June. A formal grand opening or ribbon cutting is slated for sometime in June.

The director added that preliminary figures indicate

Smart Growth Group To Meet Next Thursday

Garrett Countians for Smart Growth, a group organized to oppose the proposed Rt. 219 bypass around Oakland, will hold its next meeting next Thursday, Feb. 8, at 7 p.m. in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital community building.

The main focus of the meeting will be to consider various alternatives to the bypass using existing roads and potential enhancements to those roads that could achieve a similar purpose to that of a bypass.

A spokesperson for the group said that the bypass, if constructed, with have a variety of negative impacts, not only on the residents of Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park, but also on residents in McHenry and in the Deep Creek Lake area.

All are invited to attend.

Health Planning Assessment Under Way; 5,000 Survey Forms Sent Out

by Glenn Tolbert

Imagine Garrett County as one large, living entity, around which several of your neighbors, assisted by health professionals, are busy looking for both the healthy areas and the sick spots.

With that quick visualization, you have the essence of the comprehensive countywide health planning process that is currently under way. Like most assessment projects, the work needs an acronym. This one is called MAPP, which stands for "Mobilizing for Action through Planning and Partnership." What it means in plain English is an assessment of the residents' views of current health problems in the county, and then figuring out what to do to address them.

As to who is responsible, MAPP is a combined effort of the Garrett County Health Department and Garrett County Memorial Hospital, as well as over 20 different organizations and citizen advocate groups. The process is being overseen by the Garrett County Health Planning Council.

At a kickoff meeting held last August, over 50 people in attendance heard how the process would work. The audience was divided into groups, with the mandate to come up with a list of ideas to make Garrett County a healthier place to live.

Some of the ideas/conclusions were: A healthy community must have financial soundness; education is of the utmost importance; and a healthy community takes care of its own in terms of its physical, mental, and spiritual needs.

Since that meeting of 50 people, MAPP has increased its reach by distributing up to 5,000 surveys aimed at collecting people's thoughts, opinions, and concerns. Questions range from "During the past 30 days, on how many days was your mental health (moods, emotions, thinking) not good?" to "How is Garrett County doing in doing in providing affordable housing?"

Thoughts on religious and spiritual values are also invited by the survey.

Pam Nelson, chairperson of the Community Themes Assessment Committee that is distributing the surveys, asks that people give their "honest opinions" on the survey. Anyone who wishes to complete one but has not received the three-page document may call 301-334-9431 and ask for Ms. Nelson.

LOCAL TOURISM PROJECT RECEIVES ARC FUNDING – The highlight of Friday morning's Garrett-Allegany Legislative Breakfast in Annapolis was Gov. Martin O'Malley's announcement of Appalachian Regional Commission approval of the Western Maryland Kiosk Project, Phase II. The project will enable travelers stopping at information kiosks to learn about activities and attractions in Garrett and Allegany counties. Pictured, left to right, are Julianna Albowicz from Sen. Barbara Mikulski's office; Myra Kidd from Rep. Roscoe Bartlett's office; Richard Hall, secretary of the Maryland Department of Planning; Charlie Ross, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce president/CEO; O'Malley; Barbara Buehl, Allegany County Chamber of Commerce executive director; and Johathan Hutcherson, president of Exclamation Labs, which developed software that will be used in the kiosks and Garrett and Allegany County tourism web sites. The annual Legislative Breakfast is part of Garrett and Allegany County's Mountain Maryland PACE (Positive Attitudes Change Everything) venture. The event enables governments and businesses from both counties to meet with state legislators and officials each January in Annapolis, prior to the General Assembly session, to discuss issues that are important to them.

For more information on the MAPP process, people may call Kendra Todd at the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7730, or Kendra Thayer at Garrett County Memorial Hospital at 301-533-4295.

Motor Vehicle Accident Leads To Citation

Sheriff's deputies responded to a single vehicle accident on Garrett Highway on Saturday, Jan. 27, in the area of Ben Dewitt Road.

The deputy's investigation determined that Jonathon Wayne Haden was traveling northbound on Garrett Highway and lost control of his vehicle. The accident was likely caused by severe crosswinds and icy road conditions.

Haden was cited for driving without a license.

Dove Center Celebrates 15th Year Of Service

Fifteen years ago a group of concerned people from the Garrett County Health Department began to examine the special needs of domestic violence victims in the county, and decided that services were needed, such as counseling, to meet a growing need. As a result of that decision the Dove Center was created.

Now in its 15th year, the center is celebrating a decade and a half of service to the Garrett County community. The group was incorporated in 1992 as a result of a cooperative effort of civic leaders from local women's groups. Working in partnership, the group opened a shelter in March of 1997.

Three employees and a small volunteer network worked to educate the community about domestic violence, and to make victims aware that services were available. The number of individuals who benefited from the Dove Center's services rose quickly from year to year.

In 1999, outreach officers were established in Oakland and Grantsville, and sites were donated for use in the Kitzmiller and Friendsville areas. Bed-nights in the shelter doubled between fiscal year 2002 and 2003. The Dove Center established itself as a safe haven for those families who did not feel safe in their own homes.

Services now offered include shelter, 24-hour helpline, group and individual counseling, advocacy with other systems, accompaniment to court and medical appointments, emergency accompaniment, information and referral, legal fee assistance, outreach services, 911 cell phones, abuse intervention counseling, and a speakers bureau.

With the need for services continuing to grow, the agency is making plans to secure a larger site. A larger shelter will allow the Dove Center to serve more domestic violence clients in a more efficient and comfortable manner, and to consolidate its different Oakland locations.

Some funds for a larger shelter will be obtained through grant funding. In addition, a capital campaign committee was formed to assist in the fundraising effort.

Interested donors or people who need more information about this project can contact Heather Hanline, executive director of the Dove Center, at 12978 Garrett Highway, Suite 201, Oakland, Md. 21550, or by calling 301-334-6255.

Town Of Oakland To Hold Election

The Oakland Municipal Election will be held March 12 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Oakland City Hall.

Any resident of Oakland age 18 or older may register to vote during regular office hours until 4:30 p.m. on Friday, March 2.

The town of Oakland maintains a separate register of voters; however, any person who has registered at the Board of Elections after January 1, 1990, and is a resident of Oakland qualifies to vote in the Municipal Election.

Three council members are to be elected. Those whose terms expire are Frank Custer, Harvey (Jay) Moyer, and Willard Ringer. Others now serving are Asa McCain, mayor, and Margaret Jamison, Sherwin Teagarden, and Christopher Todd, all council members.

The deadline for obtaining an application for absentee ballots is Monday, March 5, at 4 p.m.

Vehicle Mishap Sends One Man To GC Hospital

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the area of Red House last Thursday afternoon, Jan. 25, for a motor vehicle accident.

It was discovered that Devin Michael Green, 20, of W.Va. was traveling southbound on Garrett Highway. Green then traveled off the roadway because of snowy road conditions and struck a telephone pole.

Green was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad. Gorman Volunteer Fire Department also assisted.

No charges were filed through the Garrett County Sheriff's Office because of bad road conditions.

Terra Alta Man Charged With Assault

Sheriff's deputies responded to N Street in Mtn. Lake Park on Wednesday, Jan. 31, in reference to a reported domestic assault. Upon arrival, they contacted the victims and were told the suspect fled the scene prior to the deputies' arrival.

The deputies' were familiar with the suspect, Danny Ray Shiflett, 25, of Terra Alta, W.Va., and knew that he was not legally permitted at the residence.

After the initial investigation with the victims, evidence of the assault was located, and the deputies canvassed the area for Shiflett. Tracks in the snow were located coming from the victim's residence, which led deputies to a separate residence on N Street where Shiflett was located.

Shiflett was advised that he was being placed under arrest, and was ordered to place his hands behind his back. He complied at first, but prior to placing the handcuffs on him, he pulled away from the arresting officer, resisting his apprehension. A struggle ensued, but Shiflett was quickly taken into custody.

He was charged with two counts of second degree assault, trespassing, resisting arrest, and disorderly conduct. He was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

NEW DCL TREATMENT PLANT COMPLETED – Local officials and project contractors attended an opening ceremony on Tuesday for the new, improved Deep Creek Lake Wastewater Treatment Plant. The $15.6-million project was designed by Whitman, Requardt and Associates (WR&A), Baltimore, and constructed by Beitzel Corporation, Grantsville. Pictured above is an aerial view of the facility, courtesy of Beitzel Corp. The project began more than three years ago because of the rapid increase in new home construction within the Deep Creek Lake Sanitary District and, therefore, the need for more capacity at the plant. The treatment facility, located along Mayhew Inn Road, can now process up to 2.2 million gallons of wastewater a day, which is about triple its former capacity, according to Jeff Thompson, WR&A project manager. The project included a new lab, where tests and samples can be performed. Waste at the plant goes through several stages of sanitation, and, as a result, the sludge can now be used as fertilizer. Four local farmers have expressed interest in using the material and have gone through the required permit process, according to operation supervisor Allen Festerman, Garrett County Department of Public Utilities. Pictured below at the dedication ceremony, left to right, are Dennis Hasson, WR&A partner; Lonnie Bray, WR&A construction inspector; Garrett County commissioner Fred Holliday; Director Linda Lindsey, GC Department of Public Utilities; Olen Beitzel, Beitzel Corp. president; Wayne Kelley, Beitzel Corp. site superintendent; Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Commissioner Denny Glotfelty; county administrator Monty Pagenhardt (hidden); and Jeff Thompson, WR&A project manager. Father And Son Charged With Multiple Crimes

A father and son were arrested in Friendsville Friday night and charged with various criminal activities by the Maryland State Police.

The police arrived at the Guardian Apartments at approximately 10:45 p.m. after receiving information about a burglary and an assault. The state troopers discovered that the suspect, Robert Tressler Jr., Friendsville, had fled the scene. He was located by the police a short time later and taken into custody after being charged with fourth-degree burglary, second-degree assault, two counts of trespassing, and possession of a controlled dangerous substance. Outstanding warrants from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office were also served on Tressler after he was in custody.

The police returned to the Guardian Apartments at approximately 12:20 p.m. in response to information about a disorderly person. The police arrested Robert Mark Tressler Sr., Friendsville, and charged him with failing to obey a reasonable lawful order, disorderly conduct, and disturbing the peace.

All six arrested were charged with possession of marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia. In each case, the subjects were taken to the Garrett County Detention Center, where bond hearings were held.

Task force investigators were assisted by troopers from the MSP McHenry Barrack and deputies from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Numerous Drug Arrests Made On Marsh Hill Road

Garrett County sheriff Gary Berkebile, spokesperson for the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, announced the arrests of six individuals in three separate incidences last week. Each arrest took place in a parking lot along Marsh Hill Road, McHenry.

In each incident, occupants of three different vehicles were observed smoking from a marijuana smoking device. Further investigation of the vehicles, in each case, revealed a quantity amount of suspected marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia.

Leroy Vanpelt, 28, and Wesley Shackelford, 24, both of Fairmont, W.Va. were arrested on Wednesday, Jan. 24. David Rebele, 19, and Kenneth Long, 20, both of Morgantown, W.Va., were arrested on Thursday, Jan. 25. Pass the Bill...

For the past Maryland general assemblies, legislation to make smoking illegal in all bars and restaurants in Maryland has failed. Another bill has been introduced this year, and it would be wonderful if our lawmakers, just for once, had the courage to finally approve it.

Results of a poll announced this week show that over 70 percent of Maryland's citizens want to see the legislation passed. Stated another way, over 70 percent of us believe it is wrong to allow persons to poison the air which others must breathe. Imagine that. We surmise that at least 70 percent of our citizenry would also be opposed to allowing restaurant owners to permit some customers to put poison in other customers' drinking water.

The legislation has failed in the past because of pressure from bar and restaurant owners who say that banning smoking in their establishments will severely harm their businesses. So basically, the majority of our elected officials have been taking the stance that business takes precedence over the health and well-being of customers. Anyway, the negative effect on these businesses would be nominal and short-lived.

Meanwhile, agencies such as the Occupational Safety and Health Administration and umpteen other regulatory entities continually invade business establishments and slap fines on owners for a wide variety of "offenses," most of which don't pose nearly the same level of danger that cigarette smoke does. A good example of this hypocrisy is health department agents checking the temperature of certain food items at a booth at the fair, and if the required temperature is off by a degree or two, the booth is shut down.

This is in no way a criticism of health department personnel and what our laws require them to do. In fact, it is generally a good thing because it protects the health and safety of customers. So how literally and completely outrageous it is, then, to continue to allow smoking inside any bar or restaurant! Why is this so difficult for some to grasp?

Delegates, senators – Get some guts; pass the bill.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Kudos to Ken Bauer's defense of the crows in last week's edition.

If we as a society are to move toward a world of mutual tolerance and respect, we need to recognize the sacredness in all of God's living creatures. Instead of a "destroy" mentality, why not "create" a habitat for the crows to relocate to? After all, the creatures graciously share their world with us. Accept it or not, all races of mankind and animals are kindred spirits and share a connectedness. "But ask the animals, and they will teach you; the birds of the air, and they will tell you." ~Job 12:7

Respectfully yours,
Sheryl Jordan

To the Editor:

I wanted to take a moment to publicly thank the wonderful employees of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. I recently spent eight long days there with my 5-year-old son who had pneumonia. What was a stressful and difficult time was eased by the wonderful and caring staff. Everyone from the housekeeping staff to the nurses and aides on the third floor were fantastic to us. They were constantly asking what they could do for us.

We asked lots of questions of everyone and we were never rushed or pushed aside. Each and every one of them was truly concerned and extremely helpful. I don't have enough room to name every one of them, but I hope they know how grateful we are. I had never spent any time in the hospital except while in the maternity ward, but I know now that if I or any other family member has to spend more time there, we can rest assured that we will be well cared for.

Thank you. The hospital and its staff are a wonderful reflection of this amazing county.

Sincerely,
Beth Bowers and family

To the Editor and all citizens of District One:

I am excited to be representing you in the Maryland Senate for District One, encompassing Garrett, Allegany, and part of Washington counties. As we enter into the 2007 Session, I encourage you to contact me with any suggestions, questions, or concerns.

I also take this opportunity to introduce my staff. I have chosen Kim McMillan to serve as my district administrator. She will be responsible for the overall operations of the district. You may reach the local office by calling 301-722-4780; toll free at 1-866-430-9553; or by sending your letter to 113 Baltimore Street, Suite 201, Cumberland, MD 21502. Please note that my previous delegate office number of 301-746-5831 is no longer in service.

Others who will be helping make our operations run smoothly are Mary Lou Stemple (Garrett County), Della Kirkwood (Allegany County), Penny Pittman (Washington County), and Gene Zumpano.

My legislative assistant in the Annapolis office will be Midge Smith. This office will be open each weekday during the legislative session from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., and two days per week during the interim. The toll-free number is 1-800-492-7122, extension 3565.

Again, I invite you to maintain contact with both of my offices so that I may better serve you.

To the Editor:

Our newly elected governor, Martin O'Malley, gave his state of the state address yesterday. He painted a grim picture of the past four years and boasted of how he and the Democrats were going to clean up Ehrlich's mess. Well, the truth of the state of the state is O'Malley wants to increase spending, with no way to pay for it, and destroy the positive things the previous Republican governor did to help the state of the state.

Ehrlich left office with a 2 billion dollar surplus, a balanced budget every year without raising income taxes, one of the lowest unemployment rates in the nation, 100,000 new jobs, increased school test scores from K-12, and record college attendance. This is the real Ehrlich legacy.

O'Malley, however, as mayor of Baltimore left its schools in a mess with some of the nation's lowest test scores, raised city taxes, increased spending, and had one of the highest crime rates in the nation. This is how he really governed. O'Malley chose to lead his own way, and left Baltimore behind the rest of the state, despite the fact that Baltimore has one of the highest tax rates and more spending per capita than most other schools in the state. This is proof positive that it takes real leadership to correct problems, not just tax increases.

O'Malley is already proving that he wants the state to be a one party state; with the Democrats controlling everything and the Republicans being ignored. Also remember that in Maryland, the governor has a lot of control over the budget, and thus it is very important that we as taxpayers keep [illegible] on how he spends our money. I am sure [illegible] supporters will deny anything negative about O'Malley, but time will tell.

So, voters of Maryland, keep a close watch on our new governor. The O'Malley train has come in and it is hauling a lot of bull.

To the Editor:

I own a home on Gorman Road/560. My concern is the loud and dangerous traffic on this road. The speed limit is 50 mph, but some drivers think it's a race track. At times it can be very dangerous for local drivers who attempt to enter and exit Gorman Road due to the high rate of speed of the traffic. On numerous occasions, I have personally witnessed vehicles that speed so fast, I think I'm at the races. Driving conditions are worse at night and/or in the rain, snow, or dense fog.

Traffic is constant on Gorman Road. The loud traffic includes all types of vehicles, from automobiles to dump trucks, logging trucks, and tractor trailers. I personally do not have anything against these vehicles; trucking is a viable business. However, when these vehicles descend Little Mountain, trucks and automobiles alike, the mufflers are so loud it could awaken the dead. Where are these trucks going? Where are the weigh stations? Are they not subject to the laws of the road as everyone else? Most jurisdictions have noise ordinances. Is it because I live in a rural area, noise ordinances don't apply? I understand and was told that in the state of Maryland, jake braking is not illegal, but modified mufflers are.

I have personally made several inquiries to obtain "Modified mufflers are illegal" signs to be placed. The feedback was five different reasons from five different agencies, without a solution or suggestion, only that it can't be done. It appears to me these agencies are passing the buck because no one agency wants to step up and take responsibility or assist the taxpaying rural residents of Garrett County and the state of Maryland. How sad. If noise isn't breaking the law, speeding is. Just because we are not part of a jurisdiction, do ordinances or laws not apply? Just try breaking them. In the meantime, as rural residents, we will sit back and let bureaucracy raise its ugly head.

Sincerely,
A. Schmidt

To the Editor:

I would like to know why State Highway Administration personnel can sit at Penn Alps resturant and eat breakfast, lunch, and supper while the trucks are running, wasting gas, and the county roads department personnel cannot even stop for a cup of coffee. Yes, I know that the employees are entitled to a lunch break. I fully understand that. So why can't the county roads department guys stop and get themselves a cup of coffee on those long cold nights?

Why? Because someone out there called and reported that they weren't working, that they were sitting (wherever it was) getting coffee.

I'm sorry, but there is something wrong with this picture. If the state can sit along Rt. 40 at Penn Alps, why can't the county workers stop for coffee? Certain individuals out there just don't realize how much time that these men put in. They work days and weeks straight and can't even pull over for 15 minutes for a cup of coffee or a snack. Employees are entitled to [illegible] lunch[illegible]

Wh[illegible]n't the employ[illegible] of the Garrett Coun[illegible] Roads Dept. stop and eat their lunch or take their breaks when the State Highway does and no one complains? I think that both of these departments do outstanding work and deserve to be able to sit down and eat a warm meal and have a cup of coffee when they are out all day and night in Garrett County weather. I feel certain individuals look at only them when they are sitting at a store or restaurant and say, "Look, there they are, not doing anything," when in fact they had just worked 8 hours straight and have another 8 hours to work yet before they can go home.

Where is the respect for others? Like I said before, these guys do outstanding work. The least they could do would be allowed to stop and get a bite to eat or a cup of coffee. For anyone out there who thinks it is easy, I would like for them to try it for one night. What these guys do in snowy, white-out conditions is exceptional. Come on! Give them some credit and respect.

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to the December 28 editorial "A Vocal Minority," which suggests that wind farms do not belong in Garrett County and should simply be built "elsewhere."

If we have learned anything from the consequences of our unbridled consumption of resources, it should be that there is no longer an "elsewhere." Everywhere is now someone's literal or figurative backyard. You could argue that at one time, there was an elsewhere to throw the inconvenient and often deadly reminders of our profligacy. In fact, the idea that we can always put the consequences of our lifestyles "out of sight, out of mind" led to our conundrum today.

Power plants have not been built near wealth. They are put "elsewhere," supposedly out of sight. And when our emissions prove too much for that "elsewhere" to handle, we build taller and taller smokestacks to carry the toxins to other states or to other people that we don't have to face day-to-day. Some even deny that there are effects from these poisons, reminiscent of the tobacco debacle of recent decades, as if what would kill us in our neighborhood is somehow magically transformed into harmless dust when we "export" it somewhere else.

The scale of our society has simply overrun our ability to find new elsewheres. We need to take care of the legacy of our own energy use. If coal is our choice, we couldn't do it. Too many of our neighbors would die. We couldn't live with ourselves – literally and figuratively.

We can't simply put our power plants "elsewhere" anymore, and hope that we never meet the people or wildlife that are harmed as a consequence. They need to be as clean as possible. Windpower fits extremely well into the flexible modern power grid and has no toxic legacy that we will leave our children or send "elsewhere."

Carbon dioxide or other greenhouse gases released anywhere have a global impact, not local. And there is no silver bullet. We need every tool at our disposal. To expect that solutions should be implemented "elsewhere" is to accept the principle that we can consume without consequence. Those days are gone.

Why wind farms in Garrett County? Clearly, the wind blows long and hard in the mountains. The [illegible] this [illegible] exempte[illegible] of tourism is a curious one though. It ignores the fact that tourism has prospered in regions where windmills have appeared.

To the Editor:

You and I go to the same church, where last Sunday's theme was to "publish glad tidings." I am glad that you chose to write "Not Enough Adjectives" which was on that topic. It is refreshing and uplifting to hear of positive accomplishments. For years we have heard the concern that our youth have to leave the area to find work when they finish high school. It is the accomplishments of our youth that have sparked the solution to that problem and caused employers to look our way.

The county commissioners were alarmed by double-digit unemployment and the loss of jobs from the closing of Bausch & Lomb and they responded by expanding the Department of Economic Development. Out of that came the expansion of the industrial parks (north, middle and south), the health department complex on Memorial Drive, the county complex on Route 135, and the infrastructure (water, sewer, roads, and spec building) to attract businesses.

The stage was set, but not until the robotics team brought youth and industry together did all eyes turn on Garrett County and the public realize that our schools were not only exceptional, but had been turning out stellar youth in all areas for years. Now industry is pursuing our youth, and job opportunities are opening up.

The Economic Development Department suggested the scholarship program, which the commissioners endorsed and is now in place and is necessary has begun bridging the gap for advanced training. This is further enhanced by the involvement of many youth in after-school programs offered in our churches, 4-H, Scouts, sports, etc.

Let's support this effort by promoting these programs and hailing the Good News for a change.

Thank you for an uplifting editorial.

To the Editor:

Regarding the solution to the coming electric rate increase in 2009 that was proposed by Allegheny Power at the meeting on January 22 at Garrett College, some facts need to be made known to the public.

Until January 2009, you legally own no higher payment. By law, the price of your electricity cannot rise until 2009. This new proposal, however, forces you to pay extra money early, (15% in March and 30% next Jan.), with no way to opt out. Some may like this, as it will allow you to pay ahead and receive up to 5% interest in return for doing so.

But, realize this. The money you are paying ahead is not to be used for you alone. It will go into a community pot, from which all customers will receive equal benefit come January 2009, when it will be equally dispersed among all. If the population or number of houses increases, your return is going to be less. If you move before that time, and come under the supply of a different power company, you lose all of your invested money, for it stays within the community of customers, money that was yours to begin with and was not legally owed to them until 2009. Talk about communism!

You may be impressed with receiving interest, right? Well, consider this. If your current monthly bill is $100/month, by my calculations, you will have paid an extra $495 from this March 31 until Dec. 31, 2008, and will have earned a whopping $19.80 in interest, if it is compounded monthly. And this $495 of money that you do not owe yet is almost guaranteed to not be returned to you in full, as the number of customers between here and Frederick is bound to increase over these next two years. How much of your $500 will be returned to you? What were you planning to do with your extra $500 in the next two years? That's $15/month extra this year beginning March 31 and $30/month next year. It doesn't belong to them legally until January 2009. I'd rather set it aside each month in my own envelope in my house until that time, or in a bank account, and make up the interest within my own budget in the next two years. At least then it is guaranteed to be mine in total when I need it in 2009.

We must act fast if we plan to keep their hands out of our wallets until the proper time. You have until Monday, Feb. 5, to send in written comments to the Public Service Commission at 6 St. Paul St., Baltimore, MD 21202, regarding Case #9091. Call them at 1-800-800-4491. And, call the new governor and ask him to fire this Public Service Commission, as he promised to do in his campaign, before they allow the power companies to steal your money from you.

Businesses are encouraged to return the registration form by March 1 to be assured of being mentioned in pre-fair publicity. Additional spaces will be available on a limited basis until March 24.

The fair is open to any employer who is expecting to hire people within the next several months, whether full time, part time, summer, entry level, or experienced.

Several changes were made to the job fair last year to make it easier for people looking for a job or a better job, and planning committee members reviewed evaluations submitted last year to make improvements for the 2007 Job Fair.

"We are doing our best to reach out to more experienced candidates," she said. "That is why we changed our hours to 3 to 7 p.m. to allow people wanting to find a better job or one closer to home to attend. A lot more people were able to attend the Job Fair last year because of the evening hours."

The Job Fair will be open to all members of the community, including college and high school students and experienced workers seeking a job or career change. The event will be promoted through newspaper articles, radio announcements, flyers, the Maryland Job Service, and through electronic means, including the aforementioned web site dedicated to the Job Fair.

"Job seekers will be encouraged to bring copies of their resumes and to prepare for making the most effective impression possible on the employers with whom they speak," said Carbone.

The job fair is sponsored by Garrett College in conjunction with the Garrett County One-Stop Job Center, Western Maryland Consortium, and Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

ties seized a 2006 Dodge pick-up, a 2006 Jeep Wrangler, a Honda four-wheeler, a Honda motorcycle, and a sum of money.

Thomas Franklin Gordon, 52, and Richard Allen Gordon, 25, both of Bayard, were charged with one count each of distribution of cocaine. Diana Louise Franklin, 53, also of Bayard, was charged with conspiracy to distribute cocaine. All were transported to Martinsburg, W.Va., for an initial appearance at the federal building.

The warrant was executed by the West Virginia State Police regional tactical team with assistance by DEA agents and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. In addition, assisting at the scene were the Maryland Natural Resources Police, West Virginia Division of Natural Resources, and Maryland State Police Trooper 5.

"This is a great example of numerous local, state, and federal agencies coming together to defeat individuals who may supply drugs to Garrett County," stated Garrett County sheriff Gary Berkebile.

"I am pleased the federal and West Virginia authorities joined with the Garrett County officers to eliminate this source of drugs coming into our community," concurred state's attorney Lisa ThayerWelch. "I am sure we will all continue to cooperate to identify, infiltrate, and dismantle drug organizations operating in and around the county."

LUCKY TO ESCAPE the frigid waters of Deep Creek Lake were two snowmobile operators whose sled broke through the ice Saturday afternoon in the Turkey Neck section of Deep Creek Lake. Both were able to get themselves out of the water to safety, but that information was not known for a while to a host of would-be rescuers, including two Maryland State Police helicopters that were summoned to the search scene. See story for details. Photo courtesy of Carl Rebele.

Snowmobilers Break Through Deep Creek Ice

Two snowmobile operators are lucky to be alive after their sleds broke through the ice in the Turkey Neck area of Deep Creek Lake Saturday afternoon. Authorities did not publicly identify the operators.

The incident was reportedly witnessed by some nearby ice fishermen in the Green Glade Cove. The fisherman and his grandson immediately crossed the ice to the residence of Dorothy Barach along Pine Tree Point Road to call 911.

Barach placed the call and then alerted two neighbors, Bill Heinrich and Tom Wolffe, who climbed aboard their own snowmobiles and went to search the incident area.

In the meantime, units were dispatched from the Southern and Northern Garrett County rescue squads, the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department, and Department of Natural Resources, along with Troopers 5 and 3 helicopters of the Maryland State Police.

After the area was searched, word was finally received that the pair were out of the water and safe. Neither required medical treatment.

According to police, the search process lasted somewhat longer than expected because of a communications glitch between the helicopter crews and ground personnel.

It was reported that one of the sleds was lost in the lake, and the other was retrieved since it broke through the ice in a shallow area.

Poll Shows Maryland Voters Heavily Support Smoking Ban

by Liz Farmer
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – More than two of every three Marylanders favor an outright ban on smoking in restaurants and bars, once again putting the spotlight on a legislation that has been killed in the General Assembly for the past four years.

A new poll by Gonzales Research and Marketing Strategies said that 70 percent of Maryland voters favor "legislation that would ban smoking in all restaurants and bars in Maryland," with 24 percent opposed and 6 percent undecided.

"I'd love to know how many of them smoke, but more importantly how many of them own a business or have to make a financial payroll," said Bruce C. Bereano, a lobbyist for the Maryland Association of Tobacco and Candy Distributors. "That would be a significant poll. This one is meaningless."

The survey also found that three of every four Marylanders favor tougher state emissions standards for new cars and Gov. Martin O'Malley's $400 million pledge for public school construction, but that the state remained relatively split on allowing slot machines at the racetracks, with 53 percent in favor.

Overall, the poll found that most Democrats and Independents and a near majority of Republicans see Maryland "moving in the right direction."

The survey was taken Jan. 22-28, and sampled a total of 809 registered voters in Maryland by telephone. The poll has a margin of error of 3.5 percent, and a higher margin for its demographic subgroups.

"I'm surprised that the car emissions approval was as high as it was," said Patrick Gonzales, president of the polling and research firm. Gonzales also said that it was the first time his company had added that issue to the survey questions, and that a more in-depth survey would need to be done to understand where voters truly stand on the issue.

"I can't predict right now where that one ends up, certainly without knowing all the details," he said.

O'Malley, who enjoys a generally favorable rating in the poll, called for the General Assembly's support for the Clean Cars Act to adopt stricter emission standards during his State of the State Address Wednesday. His request was met by a standing ovation from senators and delegates.

The governor brought the legislators to their feet again when he highlighted his $400 million pledge for school construction, which also has the support of 81 percent of Maryland voters, according to the Gonzales poll.

However, O'Malley glossed over the issue of slots legislation, and did not mention a statewide smoking ban at all.

With or without the new governor's support, the smoking ban has been proposed again for the fifth straight year, and those who oppose it say that the voter responses in the Gonzales poll do not matter and that the debate is purely a business issue.

Melvin Thompson, vice president of government relations for the Restaurant Association of Maryland, also said that the results were not surprising, considering that "80 percent of the population says they are non-smokers" and that many Maryland restaurants are already smoke-free.

"We don't take much stock in the results of this survey and neither do the lawmakers in Annapolis, who understand a business owner's perspective," he said.

Police Seeking Leads In Theft Of Snowmobiles

The Maryland State Police are seeking information about the theft of two snowmobiles and a trailer that occurred on Shoreline Drive in Thousand Acres near Deep Creek Lake Wednesday afternoon, according to the police.

Witnesses reported seeing a full sized white pickup truck taking the trailer between 3:30 and 4 p.m. The truck was last seen traveling in the area of Sky Valley Road in the direction of Route 495. The enclosed black trailer has the "Haulmark" brand imprinted on its side, and bears Pennsylvania plate "XS75113."

The trailer contained both an Arctic Cat and Polaris snowmobile, size 550 CC. Any one with information regarding this incident is asked to call Tfc S. Bennett at the McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101.

Men Charged In Drug Incident; Officer Injured

A Maryland State Police officer was injured while attempting to subdue a 20-year-old Pennsylvania man who was attempting to flee the scene of an investigation Friday at approximately 1:30 p.m., according to police.

Tfc M. Clapper of the MSP arrived and knocked on the door of a residence on Close Road in McHenry to conduct an investigation. The police said that when the door opened, the officer smelled a strong odor of marijuana. He entered the residence and began to question Jeffrey Rhomberger, Harrisburg, Pa., Ashford Graves, 20, Chesterfield, Va., and Daniel Conway, 22, Forestville.

During the questioning, Rhomberger became unruly and pushed the officer, then ran up the stairs with Clapper in pursuit. When Rhomberger continued to ignore repeated orders from Clapper to cease and desist, the officer pepper sprayed the defendant in an attempt to restrain him.

After being sprayed, Rhomberger continued to resist, and pulled the officer with him down the stairway. The struggle continued, and Clapper secured the defendant with the assistance of a local citizen. Rhomberger was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and paraphernalia, second-degree assault, and resisting arrest, according to the police report.

Clapper sustained injuries during the arrest, and was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released.

In assisting the MSP, members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search warrant at the residence, and seized an unspecified amount of marijuana and related paraphernalia.

Graves and Conway were also arrested. Conway was charged with possession of marijuana and paraphernalia, and failure to obey a lawful order, while Graves was charged with possession of marijuana and paraphernalia. The three men were awaiting bond hearings Monday evening.

This letter was written in response to the letter submitted by Leo Martin that was published on Page A5 in the January 25 edition of The Republican.

Dear Mayor Martin:

Thank you for taking time to present opinions in The Republican newspaper, Letters to the Editor, Thursday, January 25 edition. Your proposition that upgrading 495 "is a less costly alternative, with a few minor fixes" does not seem feasible.

I agree that the proposed through road for the Oakland area is not the only solution to the increased traffic in Garrett County. The upgrading of Maryland Route 495 is in need of implementation immediately and supported by our local officials for car safety, but also to provide an alternate route for large trucks.

There are many features of the roadway that could be costly. There are practically no paved berms or other similar safety features for the expanse of 19 miles, especially for large over-the-highway trucks that frequently break down or are weather impaired. There are at least three hills that would require the addition of two climbing lanes due to the slower-moving traffic. The sharp turn just south of Bittinger would require complete re-engineering and reconstruction. There is no way that a tractor trailer can turn at the 495 "T" at Swanton without traversing the opposite lane of traffic. The utility poles on some sections are too close to the road and require relocation of a safer distance away from the roadway. One tractor trailer recently did not make a turn; turned over; and took out a guard rail thus taking out a utility pole and the main electric transmission line for nearly a day in Grantsville and the Northern Garrett Industrial Park. Right of way properties would have to be procured by the State Highway Administration and supported by our local officials. The reconstruction of such a roadway would require numerous re-routing, but temporary lanes of traffic. Route 495 is a heavily traveled school bus route, and our children deserve the highest safety.

Safety and traffic movement improvements to Maryland Route 495 can not be accomplished as soon as the improvements are needed. Where was the Garrett Contains for Smart Growth organization when the public demanded jobs in proximity to their homes? The Garrett County Commissioners years ago decided to create the Southern Garrett Business & Technology Park. Obvious to this decision is that American commerce runs on trucks. The driving public's safety requires adequate capacities and safe roads. It takes about 15 years for a road project to get on the approved State of Maryland project funded list.

I would urge the public that BOTH the proposed Oakland road enhancement project as well as Maryland Route 495 safety enhancements are much needed projects. Garrett Countains for Smart Growth can be a positive force in ensuring that the Garrett County citizens who want a growing and thriving jobs environment have such opportunities.

Sincerely,

Gary R. Ruddell

4-H Club News

OAKLAND OAK LEAVES
by Catlin Carrico, secretary

The regular monthly meeting of the Oakland Oak Leaves 4-H Club was held on Jan. 19 at the Co-operative Extension Office. The meeting was called to order by Jessica Cooper, president. Roll call was answered by Catlin Carrico, Jessica Cooper, and Lexie Trickett naming their favorite thing about winter. Three parents were also in attendance. The American pledge was led by Catlin Carrico, and the 4-H pledge was led by Lexie Trickett.

The program included officer installation and an awards ceremony. Officers were installed during a candle light ceremony. An award was presented to Catlin Carrico for perfect attendance, and recognition for faithful attendance was given to Jessica Cooper, Caitlin Dumire, William Taylor, and Lexie Trickett.

Catlin Carrico, Jessica Cooper, William Taylor, and Lexie Trickett were also recognized for their participation in the 2006 Garrett County Fair.

Members were given certificates of appreciation for their efforts last year in the following offices: William Taylor, president; Jessica Cooper, vice president; Catlin Carrico, secretary/reporter and treasurer; Jessica Cooper, photographer; and Caitlin Dumire and Lexie Trickett, activity leaders.

Catlin Carrico read the secretary's minutes for December, and they were approved as read. She also gave the treasurer's report.

There was no old business. A motion was made and passed to hold the February meeting at the Wisp during the Livestock Association's snow tubing day.

Announcements were made by Pam Trickett. The meeting was adjourned at 8:30 p.m., and refreshments were provided by the Trickett family.

Anyone interested in joining 4-H or seeking more information may contact Pam Trickett at 301-616-1098.

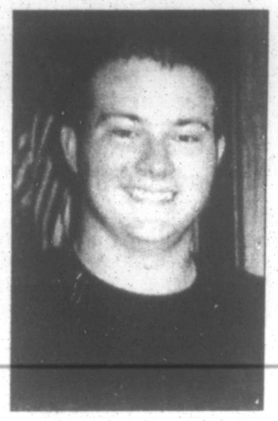
On Dean's List



Brandon J. Hoover, Grantsville, has been named to the Ohio Northern University dean's list for the fall semester, 2006-07.

The dean's list includes students who attain a grade point average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 grading system.

Hoover is a second year law student at Ohio Northern, a 2005 graduate of Frostburg State University, and a 2001 graduate of Northern High School.

He is the son of Oliver and Vickie Hoover and Marla and Ken Reams, all of Grantsville.

Friendsville UMC Slates Soup Dinner

Friendsville United Methodist Church will hold an "all-you-can-eat" homemade chicken noodle soup dinner on Friday, Feb. 16, from 4 until 7 p.m.

The menu includes hot rolls, a drink, and dessert. Carry-outs will be available. The church is also offering lunch deliveries in the Friendsville area.

The cost is $4 for adults and $2.50 for children. Quarts of soup will be available for $3.25.

To place an order, persons may call 301-746-5548.

Town Hall

OAKLAND

The next meeting of the mayor and town council will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 5, starting at 7 p.m. in the town hall, with the Garrett County commissioners as guests. Items on the agenda include updates on: the Memorial Drive Project, the Glotfelty property annexation, and the Tom Bernard property annexation.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Snow Plowing – Now that snow has arrived, residents and visitors are reminded not to park vehicles on the streets or to place items on or adjacent to the streets, as such items may interfere with or be damaged by plowing.

B&O Walking Trail Project – A portion of the $190,000 in grant funding for this 4,400-foot trail is expected to be available as of February 28, at which time design of the trail and facilities will begin. The trail will run from Wooddell Park to Route 135 between Allegheny Drive and the C&O right of way. It is expected that the project will be ready for bidding by this spring, with an estimated construction completion date of late summer.

Town Council Meeting – The next regularly scheduled meeting of the mayor and town council will be held tonight, Feb. 1, at 6 p.m. in the meeting room at Mountain Lake Park Town Hall, located at 1007 Allegheny Drive.

Looking Back
by Karen Wooddell

October 8, 1886 – "Mrs. Hubbard was granted the use of the room (used formally by her for other uses) for an art gallery by the payment of $10 rent for next season. On a motion the Association agreed that George the barber be allowed the privilege to carry on his business by paying $5 for a permit."

CARD OF THANKS

In the passing of my mother, Rosemary Burdock, I would like to send many thanks to: Dennett Road Manor Nursing staff and Dr. Walter Naumann, for your excellent care over the past 2 years, and especially in her final days.

To Katherine Sweitzer, Dick Friend and Fred & Pricilla Meyer for your professionalism in the handling of all services. to Rev. Donald E. Marple for the encouraging message and the lovely trombone solo accompanied by Midge.

To the Nethkin Hill Methodist and Kitzmiller Assembly of God Churches for the delicious dinner. For all the food, flowers and memorials received in Mom's memory.

A very special thank-you to everyone who has sent cards—I have been overwhelmed!

Pope John Paul XXIII once said, "Whoever has a heart full of love, always has something to give." You have proved this to me with all your kindness, and I'm truly blessed and grateful."

Sincerely,
David A. Burdock

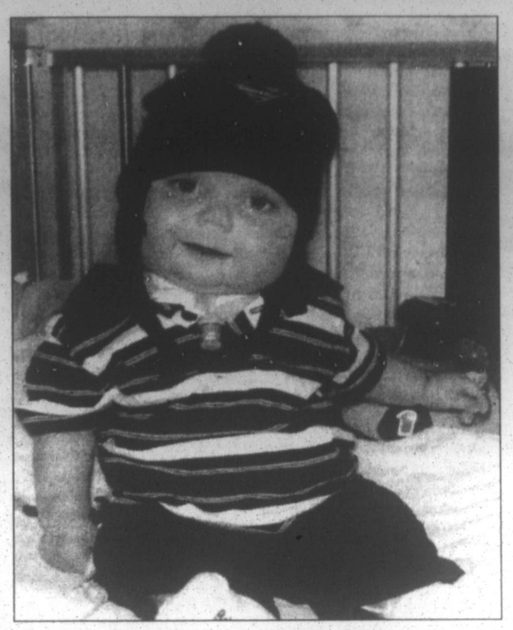
Fundraiser Planned To Assist Family Of Walker Van Hauser

A fundraising spaghetti dinner and used book sale is being planned to assist the family of 16-month-old Walker Van Hauser, a local baby born with hypoplastic left heart syndrome (HLHS — which means basically that he was born without a left ventricle in his heart) and who has spent most of his young life in the intensive care units of several hospitals.

The fundraiser is slated for Saturday, Feb. 17, 3 to 7 p.m., at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. All proceeds will go to the family to help defray expenses associated with the baby's illness.



"Amazingly, I must say I have truly never seen a happier child in my life," said his mother, Cindy (Sanders) Hauser, who has been at her son's side throughout his ordeal. "While doing all the other normal baby stuff, Walker is now learning sign language. He smiles constantly, loves unconditionally, and makes you thank God for each day and pray for the next."

Cindy and her husband Jamie were able to bring their son home in December and spend Christmas together, but he has since taken a turn for the worse and is now back in the Cleveland Clinic. The family is struggling to cover the many expenses associated with Walker Van's illness.

To assist the family in their plight, Kim Sanders, Theresa Browning, Heather Carr, and several other individuals are planning a second spaghetti dinner (one was held last year for the family), along with a used book sale and a variety of raffles. Currently the organizers are seeking donations of food for the dinner, books for the sale, and raffle items.

Persons who would like to donate food for the dinner are asked to contact Sanders at 301-334-8129. Those who wish to donate books (in good condition) are asked to contact Browning at 301-334-7948, or they may drop the books off at the Cutting Edge beauty shop, located along Rt. 39 (persons may call Sanders for directions).

Those interested in helping serve on the day of the event are asked to call Carr at 240-321-3670.

The tickets for the Feb. 17 dinner will be $6 for adults in advance and $7 at the door. For children under 10, advance tickets will be $3, and $4 at the door.

Persons may also donate to the Walker Van Hauser Fund, which has been established at First United Bank & Trust.

Funds raised will be used to help with travel expenses, medical supplies, food, and other family expenses. For more information, persons may call any of the organizers listed above.

Hear Reports

the county's unemployment rate for 2006 was 4.8 percent, the same as the previous year.

"Those numbers are subject to being adjusted," he said about the 2006 figure. "But we did have another very good year."

Dove Center

Director Heather Hanline reported that the Dove Center served 267 clients between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31 last year. Of those served, 56 were new clients.

The facility – which helps victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, and short-term homelessness – also sheltered 13 adults and 9 children for 93 bed nights.

"Our shelter usage has been pretty consistent now for the last three fiscal years," Hanline said about the center. "We're sheltering about 100 people a year for about a 1,000 bed nights."

Numbers for other programs have been consistent as well, she noted. "We're serving around 450 people a year with all of our services combined," she said.

Hanline added that the center reached nearly 1,800 members of the community through outreach and educational activities last year.

Health Department

The second annual Garrett County Health Fair will be held on Sunday, Sept. 9, at Wisp Resort, reported Bob Stephens, the GC Health Department's director of behavioral and family health. More than 500 people attended last year's event, he said.

Stephens also reported that Health Department outreach workers have been working with youth in the SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) program. He noted that in addition to SADD groups at Southern and Northern high schools, youth in Kitzmiller, Friendsville, and the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park area are involved in the program.

Stephens said Health Department outreach workers work with the youth of those communities to develop programs that promote positive decisions.

Western Md. Consortium

"The Western Maryland Consortium has been handling a barrage of layoffs in western Maryland," reported Jon Wynn, the agency's director in Garrett County.

In Washington County, the consortium is working with about 633 workers who have been laid off from Volvo, PoweTrain, Shay, and Stratton Furniture, he said.

In Allegany County, Beiderlack of America is down sizing its workforce by one third. About 70 workers will be laid off there. Additionally, Bayliner is closing one of its Cumberland plants, Wynn said, which will affect about 115 workers.

NewPage Corporation is shutting down its Number 7 machine, which will eliminate about 130 jobs. Wynn said about 70 of the workers are participating in the company's early retirement buy-out program, and about 50 will be laid off between now and May. Of those to be laid off, four live in Garrett County.

"We're offering employment and retraining services," Wynn said.

Extension Office

Director Ann Sherrard, Garrett County Extension Office, reported on the gypsy moth suppression program. To date, 4,000 acres in Garrett County have been surveyed for egg masses, she said.

"What isn't clear, of course, at this time is whether or not some of those acres will be included in the state program," Sherrard said.

She added, however, that the Maryland Department of Agriculture "is closing in on some final decisions" about what acres will be included in the state spraying program.

"Hopefully, within the next six weeks, we should have some quick decisions being made there, and we'll know then where we stand as far as acres that have been identified as 'at-risk' that are not included in the state spray program," she said.

Sherrard stressed that the winter weather was not deterring the local survey work. Property owners who want their land checked for egg masses may contact the Extension Office at 301-334-6960 for more information about the gypsy moth suppression program.

Treatments For Impetigo Infection

Impetigo is a bacterial infection of the skin that most often affects infants and children, especially in areas around the nose and mouth. This condition may occur on both healthy skin and skin with insect bites or cuts. It often begins as a red sore, which ruptures and then oozes. Eventually, after several days, a yellowish-brown crust is formed. This condition is contagious, and may be spread to other parts of the body or to other people through touching or scratching the sores. There are two types of bacteria that cause impetigo. Staphylococcus aureus is the more common of the two. Streptococcus also may cause this condition. Both types of bacteria are found normally on healthy skin, but may cause an infection when they enter through a wound in the skin. Impetigo is usually mild, but may lead to complications. For this reason, doctors may prescribe oral or topical antibiotics.

If the infection is mild, it may heal by simply keeping the skin clean. Topical antibiotics, such as mupirocin (Bactroban) may be prescribed to be applied to the skin. Oral antibiotics are more likely to be prescribed for severe cases. The type of antibiotic chosen will depend on the severity of the infection. Good hygiene and immediate and proper care of cuts and insect bites may help to prevent impetigo.

Blues Artist To Be Featured At Open Mic Night

K.J. JAMES

Frostburg State University's Live at the Loft Committee will present blues artist K.J. James at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 8, in the Lane University Center's Derezinski Lounge/Loft. The event is free and open to the public.

FSU students will also display their talents during the open mic portion of event.

"James has played at Frostburg before and each show is more entertaining than the last," said an FSU spokesperson.

This nationally celebrated blues musician has earned five consecutive nominations for the National Association of Campus Activities' Entertainer of the Year award and has garnered international acclaim for contribution to the "Salt City Blues Project."

James has played at events such as Woodstock '99, the New York Blues Festival, and Jazz Fest 2000 in Florida.

"His style mainly focuses on classic country blues, but with a repertoire of 500-plus songs, there is sure to be something for every type of blues fan," said the spokesperson.

For more information, persons may call the Lane University Center Information Desk at 301-687-4411.

OTT Schedules Auditions For Two-Woman Play

Our Town Theatre (OTT) in Oakland will hold auditions for the two-person play Grace and Glorie on Sunday, Feb. 4, from 2 to 5 p.m., and on Monday, Feb. 5, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the basement of the theatre. The show calls for two "mature" women, ages 40 to 70.

Lynne Elmlinger is the director.

"In this charming play, set in the Blue Ridge Mountains, Grace, a feisty cancer patient, has checked herself out of the hospital and returned to her beloved homestead cottage to die alone," Elmlinger explained. "Glorie is a volunteer hospice worker who attempts to care for and comfort the cantankerous rustic. Glorie gains new perspectives on values and life's highs and lows, and the play, which contains a lot of good humor, artfully confirms hope."

The production is scheduled for March 8 through 11. OTT will present one night's income (from the performance that brings in the most money in tickets and refreshments) to the local Hospice chapter.

Questions should be directed to the theatre at 301-334-5640.

GCAC Accepting Applications For Local Arts Grants

The Garrett County Arts Council is now accepting applications from nonprofit organizations requesting funding support for public arts programs and projects scheduled in Garrett County between July 1 of this year and June 30, 2008.

The annual deadline for organizations applying for funding support in amounts of $500 or more is March 21. Applications must be mailed or delivered to the Garrett County Arts Council on or before the application deadline to qualify for funding consideration.

The Garrett County Arts Council will award approximately $35,000 this year in grant funds to support community arts development and the public presentation of local arts programs, according to Steve Schlosnagle, executive director.

Current grant recipients include the Art Gallery at Garrett College, Garrett Choral Society, Garrett College, Garrett College Pipes & Drums, Garrett Community Concert Band, Garrett County Board of Education, Garrett County Health Department, Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Grantsville Lions Club, Greater Oakland Business Association, Highland Festival of Garrett County, Our Town Theatre, Spruce Forest Artisan Village, the town of Kitzmiller, and the town of Loch Lynn Heights.

Copies of application forms, eligibility guidelines, and program requirements are available at the Gallery along Alder Street in Oakland or by calling the Garrett County Arts Council at 301-334-6580.

Additional information about the Garrett County Arts Council and scheduled community arts events is available online at www.garrettarts.com.

The Successor

by Stephen Frey

c. 2007, Ballantine Books, $25.95, 283 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Did you ever wonder "what if....?"

What if you took a different route to work once this week? Would your whole day be affected?

What if Al Gore had become president, or Bob Dole, or even Thomas Dewey?

What if there was major trouble brewing south of Miami? U.S. President Jesse Wood worries about that, and in the new novel The Successor by Stephen Frey, Wood needs to do something – fast.

As the first African American United States president, Jesse Wood has endured his share of successes and popular edicts. Typical of every presidency, he also has to fend off detractors and political enemies.

He also has to make some quick decisions.

High-level government security forces have recently advised President Wood that Cuba is in turmoil and about to explode into a political mess. The president of Cuba, they say, is dead, and his brother is running the country. Armed rogue soldiers are terrorizing common citizens, and revolution may be imminent. There is reason to believe that China has offered to keep order by placing ships in nearby waters.

When Wood received the nomination for the office of president, he asked his old friend Christian Gillette to be his running mate, but Wood later rescinded the offer. Politically, it wouldn't have been prudent to ask the CEO of the nation's largest private equity firm to be veep, but Wood has always admired Christian.

Which is why Christian Gillette was the first person Wood considered to implement his plan, a dangerous plan that would divert "another" Bay of Pigs incident.

Christian Gillette wasn't afraid of a challenge. He was a thorough man and rarely impulsive, but although he had never been in the military, he had strong feelings about his personal benefits from Middle East turmoil. Chris made billions of dollars here in America while U.S. soldiers died in Iraq. So how could he turn down Jesse Wood when Wood asked Christian to undertake the most dangerous – and influential – assignment in the history of the 21st Century?

I wanted to like this book. I really did.

But I didn't, and I didn't know why until the end.

Yes, The Successor is a taut and fast-paced novel. Yes, it's filled with danger, intrigue, and (slight) thrills. But it was author Stephen Frey's plot that I found lacking.

When you're faced with a lot of what-ifs, and the safety of the nation rests on the outcome, would you call upon a non-military civilian to rappel into a foreign country and secretly meet with men you hope are the ones to trust with revolution? With the future of world affairs at risk, would you tolerate it if he brought his new girlfriend along when he went to sensitive meetings?

Add those "little" plot indiscretions to a yawningly predictable ending, and you have a book that will thrill you briefly about every 20 pages or so, but is convoluted and tedious in between.

If you're a huge Stephen Frey fan, you might like this book. But what if you're not?

Pass.

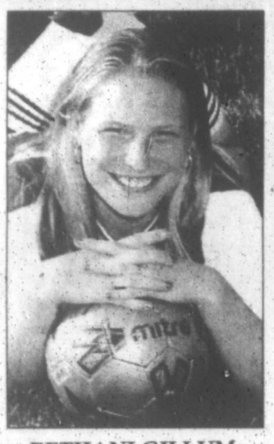
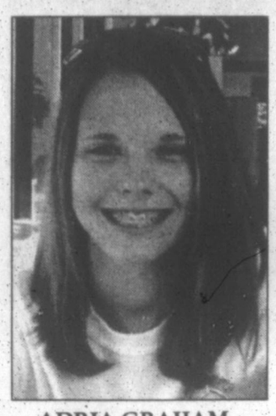
All-Area, WMIL Honors Awarded; Gillum Is Defensive Player Of Year



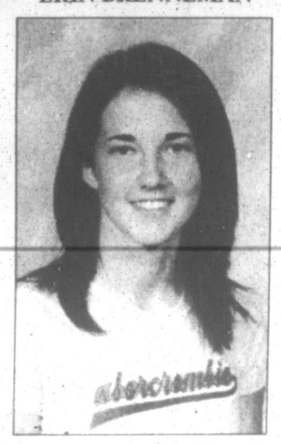
BETHANI GILLUM



ADRIA GRAHAM

ERIN BRENNEMAN

JUSTINE HARVEY



KERRY CONROY

Leading a group of 13 Garrett County female high school soccer players who received various post-season honors by vote of area coaches is Bethani Gillum of Northern High School, who was selected the area's Defensive Player of the Year, and received the same honor for the Western Maryland Interscholastic League teams.

The Northern girls' varsity, coached by John Milbourne, also received the All-Area team championship, and shared the WMIL team title with Beall High School.

Gillum and Coach Milbourne were recognized at the annual Dapper Dan banquet, held Sunday in Cumberland. Gillum gave a short speech and thanked her team for helping her become the All-Area Defender of the Year.

Milbourne accepted the All-Area championship trophy on behalf of his team.

Gillum was named first-team All-Area, along with her teammates, Adria Graham, Erin Brenneman, and Justine Harvey, along with Southern High School's Kerry Conroy.

Receiving second-team All-Area recognition were Sarah Voelkel and Amy Lander of Northern, and Jessica Petrella of Southern, while Northern's Megan Wiley and Southern's Lauren Shue were among the honorable mention All-Area players.

Gillum, Graham, Brenneman, Harvey, and Conroy were also named to the first-team All-WMIL squad, while Voelkel, Lander, and Wiley of Northern, and Morgan Anderson of Southern were selected to the second team All-WMIL.

Northern's Brittany Stein and Southern's Kayla Petrella received honorable mention.

Gillum, who was a senior defender and team captain this past fall, was the key player in the Huskies' defensive unit that allowed a total of only eight goals in 15 matches. Three of those goals were scored in the first match against Bishop Walsh, which the Huskies won, 8-3.

The Huskies went on to finish with a 12-2-1 overall record, a share of the All-Area championship, and a share of the WMIL title. Their 12 victories included nine shutouts, with only five goals scored against them over the final 14 matches.

In WMIL competition, the Huskies finished with a record of 8-1-1 with five shutouts.

According to Coach Milbourne, Gillum was a major factor in the Huskies' outstanding defensive success.

"Bethani's defensive skills are second to none in the area," Coach Milbourne said. "She was responsible for maintaining the shape of the defensive line and shifting formations whenever we decided it was needed.

"She made very few mistakes on defense the entire season," he continued. "Her teammates knew they could rely on her, and she just did an amazing job as both captain and defensive coordinator on the field."

Comparably skilled on the offensive side of the ball for the Huskies was Adria Graham, just a freshman, who led the Huskies in scoring and finished second in the area in scoring. Only Allegany's DeTonia Degross, the area's Offensive Player of the Year, scored more goals than Graham.

Graham finished her first year of varsity play with 16 goals and six assists in 15 matches, for an average of 2.53. She scored on 22 percent of her total of 72 shots on goal, placing her just two-tenths of a point behind Degross's average.

Her average in WMIL matches was 2.40, with 10 goals and four assists in 10 starts.

Anchoring the Huskies' midfield play was senior co-captain Erin Brenneman, who excelled in both offensive and defensive play.

Despite having only a few opportunities to score, she finished with three goals and a team-leading seven assists. Her defensive play was also key to the Huskies' allowing only eight goals to be scored against them over the entire season.

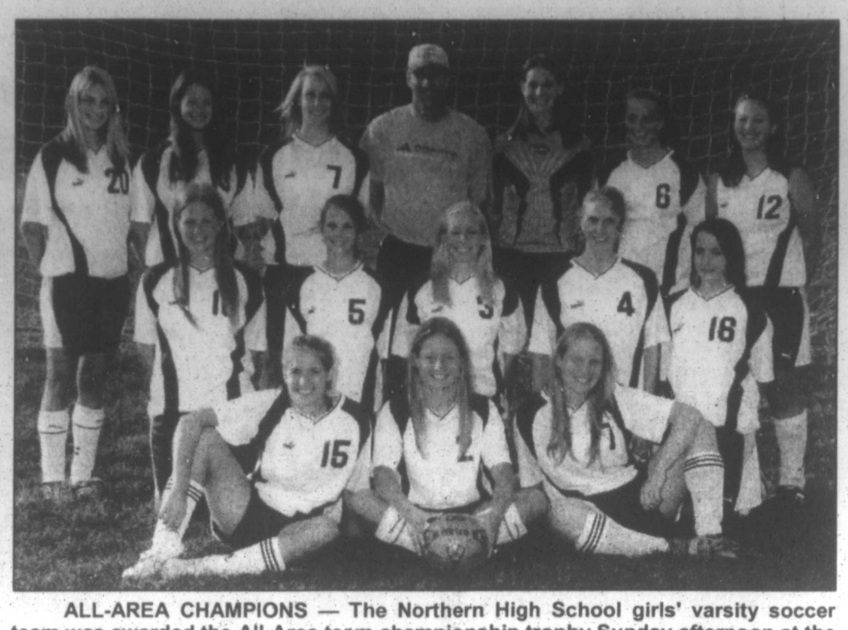
Another major player in the Huskies' outstanding defensive success was their goalkeeper, Justine Harvey, who led the area in save percentage with a .921 mark. She stopped 59 shots taken from inside the penalty area and recorded a total of 94 saves, allowing only eight goals. She finished with nine shutouts, including seven in Northern's final eight matches.

In WMIL matches, she had 65 saves and five shutouts, allowing just five goals, for a league-best .928 percentage.

Starting her sophomore season for Southern High at fullback and stopper because of her skills as a defender, Kerry Conroy was moved to a midfielder spot by Coach Sara Nawrot to give the young, struggling Rams more scoring potential.

After the move, she recorded three goals and eight assists.

Other first-team All-Area selections were: overall Player of the Year Kierstin Stevenson, Shonna Ferree, Holly Fiorita, and Jenna Delaney of Beall; Degross (Offensive Player of the Year) and Jackie Boor of Allegany; Brannon Wray and Diane Dayton of Frankfort; Danielle McGinnis and Molly Cheshire of Westmar; Molly Donahue of Bishop Walsh; Cassie Donahue of Fort Hill; Emily Harman of Petersburg; and Liz Kephart of Keyser.



ALL-AREA CHAMPIONS — The Northern High School girls' varsity soccer team was awarded the All-Area team championship trophy Sunday afternoon at the annual Dapper Dan banquet in Cumberland, and was also named co-champion with Beall High School of the Western Maryland Interscholastic League. The Huskies posted an overall record of 12-2-1 in the 2006 season, and a record of 8-1-1 in WMIL matches. They dominated all area teams in defensive statistics, as they allowed a total of only eight goals in 15 matches, and three of those goals came in an 8-3 victory at the beginning of the season. Pictured seated, from left, are Erin Brenneman, Sarah Voelkel, and Bethani Gillum. Kneeling, same order, are Meghan Voelkel, Adria Graham, Brittany Stein, Megan Wiley, and Megan Kinsinger. Standing are Amber Kling, Kelsey Jones, Grace Herpel, Coach John Milbourne, Justine Harvey, Amy Lander, and Devan Yoder. See story for details.

Harlem Rockets To Play In Oakland In Benefit Event

The Harlem Rockets, a talented group of basketball entertainers who combine basketball skills and comedy, are coming to Oakland Tuesday, Feb. 13, to play a benefit game sponsored by the Southern Rescue Squad. The game will take place at the Southern High School gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

Having played over 2,100 games in 13 years without a single defeat, the Rockets offer something for everyone to enjoy — athleticism and size for the sports enthusiasts, dazzling ballhandling wizardry for the basketball aficionados, and engaging showmen for comedy lovers.

For their size, the Rockets feature seven-footer Rick the "Rim Rocker Lopes (Duquesne). For ballhandling skills and athleticism, Johnny "Magic" Dadzie, Donnie "Razzmatazz" Seale (NC State), and Greg "The Finisher" Wells (Rockhurst University) provide skillful passing, expert dribbling, and amazing dunks.

For comedy, the Rockets present two engaging showmen — Kevin "Showboat" Jackson and CJ "Dynomite" Vick.

The Rockets incorporate the audience, especially the children, into the show, and the team is always available to meet the fans and sign autographs at halftime and after the game.

The Rockets will face the Highlanders, a group of local Garrett County athletes.

People can call Jan Otto at 301-616-7209 or Linda Holler at 240-321-7135 to buy tickets or purchase them at Get-n-Go, Marvin's Men's Wear, and Arrowhead Market. Tickets will also be sold at the door.

All funds raised from the event will go to benefit the Southern Rescue Squad.

Ski/Snowboard Race To Benefit Cystic Fibrosis

Wisp Ski Resort will be hosting the fourth annual Cystic Fibrosis Ski/Snowboard Race on Saturday, Feb. 10, with guest announcer Jeff Verszyla from KDKA-TV.

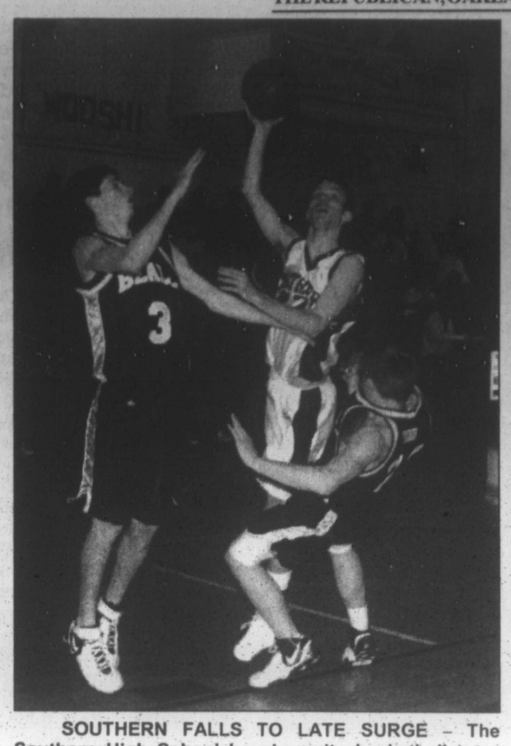
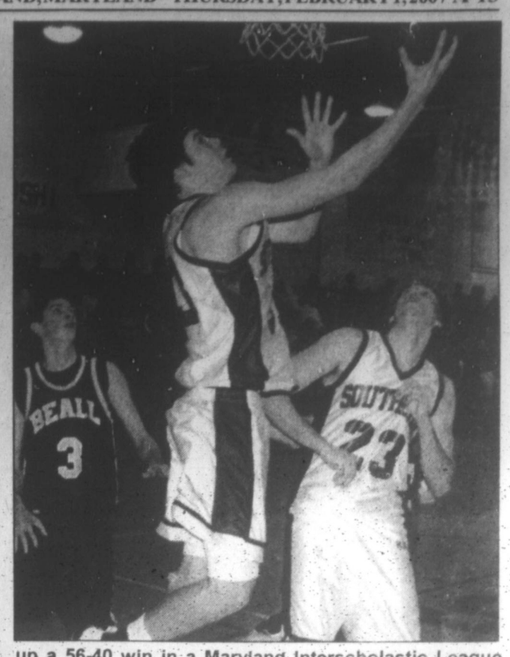
NORTHERN OUTLASTS BW FOR WIN – Jeff Smith (#1, above left) scored a team-high 16 points, including three three-pointers to lead the Northern boys' varsity basketball team to a 43-35 win over the Bishop Walsh Spartans on Tuesday evening in Accident. Above right, Dan Miller shoots from the foul line for one of his eight points. The game was tied 17-17 at the half, and the Huskies led 28-27 going into the final period before clinching the game down the stretch from the foul line. Northern will play Union on the road this Friday and return home to face Fort Hill next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Photos by Mandy Geisler.



SOUTHERN FALLS TO LATE SURGE – The Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team hit a spurt early on, but could not sustain the momentum, as the third-ranked Beall Mountaineers roared back in the final period on the strength of their outside game and high percentage foul-shooting to rack up a 56-40 win in a Maryland Interscholastic League matchup Tuesday night in Oakland. Above left, Tim Reams (#22) fires a short jumper over two Beall defenders for two of his four game points. Above right, Drew Proudfoot (#33) attempts a shot from under the rim as Ryan DeWitt (#23) looks on. Southern (7-9) will host Tucker this Friday and Bowling Brook Prep this Saturday, both at 7:30 p.m. The Rams then go on the road to play Petersburg next Tuesday, also at 7:30 p.m. Photos by John McEwen.



Stem Scores 24, Leads Southern To 53-46 Victory Over Northern

Jeff Stem scored a game-high 24 points to lead the Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team to a 53-46 win over the Northern Huskies in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League game Friday in Oakland.

In Stem's most prolific game of the season, he hit nine buckets from the floor, including two three-pointers, and was 4 of 7 from the foul line. Teammates Tim Reams and Jordan Pacella scored 10 apiece, and Ryan DeWitt grabbed eight rebounds.

Jeff Smith scored a team-high 13 points for the Huskies, including three field goals, two from behind the arc, and 5 of 6 from the line.

The Rams jumped to a 15-9 first-quarter lead, and went into halftime ahead 23-17. They led going into to the fourth quarter 38-27, and held off the Huskies, who played without scoring ace Kory Gibson.

"Northern played their tails off, so this is a good for us," said Southern head coach Paul Pacella. "It's two in a row, and with our schedule we'll gladly take every win."

In the junior varsity game, Southern defeated Northern 30-17.

The Rams varsity improved to 7-8 overall and 5-2 in the WMIL. Northern fell to 6-9 overall and 1-6 in the league. Southern will host Tucker this Friday and Bowling Brook Prep this Saturday, both at 7:30 p.m. The Rams then go on the road to play Petersburg next Tuesday, also at 7:30 p.m. Northern will play Union on the road this Friday at 7:30 p.m. and return home to face Fort Hill next Tuesday, also at 7:30 p.m.

Northern Pulls Ahead In Final Period To Defeat BW For Third Time This Season

After three quarters of a game in which both teams matched one another shot for shot, the Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team pulled ahead by five in the final period, and held on to defeat Bishop Walsh for the third time this season, 43-35.

Northern's Jeff Smith scored a team-high 16 points, including three three-pointers and 3 of 4 from the foul line. Lucas McMillan added 11 points, three steals, and three assists.

The teams were tied 7-7 at the end of the first quarter and 17-17 at the half, when Smith hit one of his three-pointers with seconds remaining. Northern led going into the fourth quarter, 28-27, and pulled ahead by five late in the game, forcing the Spartans to foul. The Huskies took advantage of the opportunities at the line to increase its lead and clinch the win.

Ryan Shewbridge scored a game-high 17 points for Bishop Walsh, and Alex Trivanovic added eight.

Ed Herpel scored 17 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Northern's junior varsity to a 41-24 win over the Spartans. James Loffert had eight points for BW.

Northern (7-9) will travel to play Union this Friday at 7:30 p.m. and return home to take on Fort Hill next Tuesday, also at 7:30 p.m. See separate story for the details of Northern's game with Southern.

Eighth Grade Rams Loose To Huskies In Accident, 40-34

In a game that could have gone either way, the Southern Rams 8th grade boys' basketball team lost to Northern, its cross county rival, 40-34.

"We knew going [into the game] that Northern could give us trouble, and we couldn't get our inside game to work," Southern coach James Burns said. "It seemed the only thing we could do was run the baseline and get outside shots."

Southern's Calvin Hilliard scored a game-high 17 points.

Matt Gibson and Cody Humberson led Northern with 12 points apiece.

"Gibson is a great player, and you can tell he gets a lot of gym time. We didn't know about Humberson. He's also a good inside scorer," Burns said.

After the loss, Burns still believes that his team will have a great year if they continue to work hard. "One thing we won't do is fall apart," he said. "We have a bunch of boys who will play hard every minute."

Southern will play Mt. Savage this Saturday at 12:45 p.m. at Southern High School and will travel to play Bishop Walsh on Sunday.

Rams Take Early Lead, But Fall To Third-Ranked Mountaineers, 56-40

The Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team jumped to an early first-quarter lead, but fell behind in the final period as third-ranked Beall went on an 18-6 run to clinch a 56-40 win in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League game on Tuesday night in Oakland.

The Mountaineers (14-2) hit five three-point shots, and were 17 of 25 from the free-throw line in the second half to break up what had been a close game for three quarters. The Rams took an early 17-10 first-quarter lead, but Beall bounced back to tie the score at halftime, 26-26. Beall led 38-34 going into the fourth quarter, and pulled away from Southern on the strength of its outside shooting and free-throw accuracy.

Jordan Pacella led the Rams with 11 points, and Ryan DeWitt added eight.

Corey Greig scored a game-high 16 points for Beall; Chad Harris added 13; and Tanner Nelson and David Hobel had 10 apiece.

Beall's junior varsity defeated Southern, 26-23.

Southern (7-9) will host Tucker this Friday and Bowling Brook Prep this Saturday, both at 7:30 p.m. The Rams then go on the road to play Petersburg next Tuesday, also at 7:30 p.m. See separate story for Southern's win over Northern.

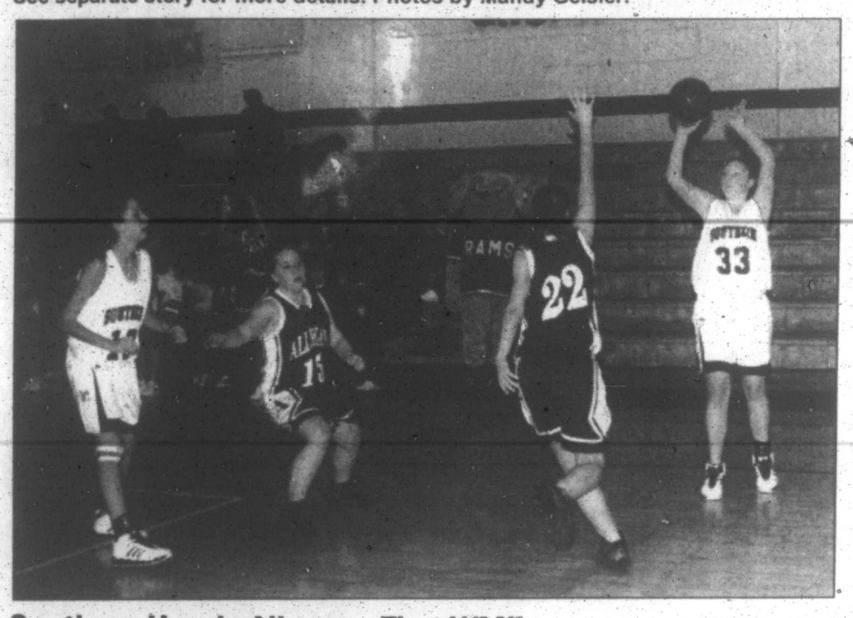
RAMS DROP ALLEGANY – The Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team revenged an earlier loss by defeating Allegany, 53-41, in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League game on Monday in Oakland. The win placed the Rams in a two-way tie with the Campers for the WMIL lead. Above, Shayna Sweitzer (#11) prepares to put in two of her 14 points as Britany Boyce (#33) moves in for a potential follow up. Below, Boyce launches a shot from the corner as Swetzer looks on. See separate story for more details. Photos by Mandy Geisler.



Southern Hands Allegany First WMIL Loss; Upset By Beall In Final Seconds

The third-ranked Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team defeated Allegany on Monday night and lost a heartbreaker to Beall on Wednesday night.

In Monday's action, the Rams jumped to a big halftime lead, and held on in the second half to hand second-ranked Allegany its first loss of the season in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League, dropping the Campers into a two-way tie for first place with the Rams in the league conference.

In Southern's 53-41 upset victory, Torie Bosley scored a game-high 20 points, 12 of which came from three-point range. Shayna Sweitzer scored 14 points, hitting on 4 of 4 from the foul line, and Sarah Stephens finished with 11.

Brittany Boyce added 10 rebounds and five steals, and Stephens had five steals and five assists to help improve the Rams to 14-3 overall and 6-1 in the WMIL.

Southern jumped to a 22-9 first quarter lead and led at halftime 28-12. Allegany cut Southern's 16-point lead to nine, trailing 41-30 at the end of the third period, but were unable to close the gap in the fourth quarter.

For Allegany, DeTonia Deross scored 14 points and Elizabeth Getty added seven. Allegany fell to 11-4 overall and 6-1 in the WMIL. By defeating Allegany, the Rams avenged an earlier season 39-31 loss to the Campers.

In Wednesday night's game, Southern and Beall battled for four quarters, and the Mountaineers came away with a 40-38 upset win after the Rams missed a last second shot.

Despite a 20-point game-high shooting performance by Southern's Sarah Stephens, Beall's defense held the Rams to their second lowest point production of the season. "Our girls played very hard and very good defense tonight," said Beall coach Tim Nightengale. "The key to our success was that we were able to hold a good Southern team to a low point total."

The lead changed hands throughout the game. Beall was up 11-10 at the end of the first quarter, but Southern took a 20-19 halftime lead. Beall surged ahead in the third quarter, and went into the final period leading 31-28.

Three Beall players scored in double figures. Kierstin Stevenson led the Mountaineers with 14 points, Jenna Delaney had 11, and Kelsey Nightengale finished with 10. Delaney grabbed eight boards and Nightengale hauled down 11. rebounds to record a double double for the game.

The only other Ram player to score in double figures was Brittany Boyce, who finished with 10.

The Rams (14-3, 6-2) will host Westmar this Monday at 7:30 p.m. and travel to Keyser for a game next Wednesday, also at 7:30.

Fratz Scores 19 To Lead Northern To 60-49 Win Over Beall In WMIL

The Northern High School girls' basketball team racked up a victory over Beall on Monday night, as Kasie Fratz scored 19 points to lead the Huskies to a 60-49 win in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League game in Accident.

Fratz, who averages 11.7 points per game, hit six field goals, including three three-pointers, and went 4 of 5 from the foul line. Megan Wiley, who entered the game as the second leading scorer in the league averaging 14.7 per game, finished with 15 points. Sarah Voelkel scored nine points and Brittany Stein added four steals and six rebounds in helping the Huskies improve their record to 8-9 overall and 3-6 in the WMIL.

The score was tied 13-13 at the end of the first quarter, and Northern led at halftime 25-22. Northern put together a 21-10 third quarter run and pulled away from Beall to clinch the win.

For Beall, Jenna Delaney and Maura Jones scored 12 apiece. Jones also contributed 13 rebounds.

Beall defeated Northern 34-25 in the junior varsity match, as Tristan Stevens scored 10 points for the home team and Adria Graham hit 10 for Northern.

Northern will play tonight at Union at 7 p.m. and then return home next Friday to meet Bishop Walsh at 7:30 p.m.

Lakers Win One, Lose One In N.C. Tourney, Then Thump Montgomery

The Garrett College women's basketball team came away from the Louisburg Pizza Hut Classic (N.C.) with a big win over Clinton College on Saturday and a loss to Louisburg in the tournament final. The Lakers then returned to the area to crush Montgomery Rockville Wednesday night.

In Saturday's action, Flodysha Peterson continued to showcase her skills as she scored 18 points, snatched 17 rebounds, blocked eight shots, dished out seven assists, and copped five steals in leading the Lakers to a 84-52 win over Clinton College in the first game of the tournament.

But Peterson was not the whole story, as five other teammates scored in double figures. Yolanda Anthony hit 14 points, Mindy Sharp scored 11, and Tegra Hillman, Brittney Jackson, and Chelsea Woolfolk added 10 apiece. Hillman dished out nine assists to go along with her 10 points, and Jackson added five steals.

Garrett overwhelmed Clinton early on with its size, pounding the boards and scoring at will to take a 51-16 first-half lead.

For Clinton, Smalls had 14 points. Garrett went into the second game of the tournament with a 15-2 record.

In Sunday's action, Peterson's game-high 19 points, 23 rebounds, seven assists, seven steals, and seven blocked shots were not enough against a sharpshooting Louisburg team that hit nine three-pointers to score an 83-58 victory over the Lakers and win the Louisburg Pizza Hut Classic tournament.

points made her the only other Laker to score in double figures.

Louisburg on the other hand had five players finish in double figures. K. Ranson had a team-high 18 points; D. Eckels put up 14; W. Simmons added 12; M. Deltz had 13; and D. Williams pumped in 11.

The Lakers got off to an uncharacteristically slow start, falling behind 45-23 at halftime. The Lakers made up ground in the second half, but another Louisburg run put the game out of reach.

"We got down early," said Lakers coach Thea Garland, "and we had to fight back in the second half. We just came up short."

Louisburg's win dropped the Garrett Lakers to 15-3 overall.

In Wednesday night's game, Flodysha Peterson's 26 points almost matched Montgomery Rockville's team total, as Garrett ran over Montgomery Rockville, 114-27, Wednesday night on the road.

Four other Lakers scored in double figures — Brittney Jackson finished with 24, Chelsea Woolfolk added 21, Yolanda Anthony had 13, and Mindy Sharp hit 10.

Garrett hit 52 field goals and went 10-22 from the free-throw line.

F. Waters led Montgomery with seven points. No other details about the game were received.

Garrett will play Hagerstown Community College at home this Saturday and CCAC Allegheny next Wednesday.

Garrett Men Defeat Frederick, Edge Potomac, Then Overcome By Howard

The Garrett College men's basketball team sailed past Frederick Community College on Saturday, then edged Potomac State in an overtime win Monday night, but lost to Howard Wednesday night.

In Saturday's game, Daniel Conway scored 19 points to lead five Garrett College players in double figures as the Lakers rolled past Frederick Community College 88-70 in a Maryland JUCO Conference game.

Antonio Levere scored 13 points and grabbed eight rebounds, Glen Izevbigie finished with 12 points and seven rebounds, Jerome Jack hit 12 points, and Bruce Hall banged in 11 points, including 3 of 3 from the foul line.

Ex-Husky Chris Speicher came off the bench to run the offense when Chris Henderson fouled out with 11 minutes remaining. "Chris did a great job running the offense and playing defense, " said Garret head coach Dennis Gibson. Speicher and Bruce Hall handled the ball well in Henderson's absence, according to Gibson, who said that Frederick did a lot of hard trapping.

Garrett led at halftime 36-30, but the Cougars cut the lead to four with six minutes left in the second half, before Levere took control, scoring three straight buckets in pushing the lead to double figures. Garrett took the momentum and never slowed down as it scored 52 points in the second half to clinch its 12 victory.

For Frederick, Kelvas Debose and Neal Pitt each finished with 12 points, and Keith Wagner added 10.

In Monday night's action, Dale Taylor and Bruce Hall combined for 44 points to help the Lakers to a 92-89 overtime win over Potomac State.

Taylor hit seven three-pointers, and finished with a team-high 23 points, eight of which were scored in the overtime period. Hall hit five three-pointers on his way to scoring 21 points.

While Taylor and Hall bombed away from the outside, Antonio Levere worked his magic on the inside, scoring 16 points. Jerome Jack and Chris Henderson added nine points apiece. Jack grabbed 12 rebounds to go along with his nine points.

Mike Walker lead Potomac (9-10) in scoring with 22 points, including six field goals and 10 of 12 from the foul line. He also grabbed 18 rebounds. Hosea Berkley added 18 points, Nilaja Stocks had 11 points, three assists, and two steals, and Jerry Anderson added 10 points.

The game was tied at 37-37 at halftime, and 79-79 at the end of regulation. Taylor had a hot hand in overtime, hitting two three-pointers and scoring eight points.

In Wednesday's game, the Lakers lost to Howard Community College 98-96 on the road. No further details of the game were received.

Garrett will travel to play Montgomery Takoma Park this Saturday at 2 p.m. and return home to take on Baltimore City Community College next Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Huskies Seventh At Bedford, Whip Sentinels, To Meet Rams Tonight

Amassing 129 team points and garnering one individual championship, the Northern High School wrestling team placed a respectable seventh place at the highly competitive Thomas Automotive Family Tournament at Bedford High School on Saturday. There were 22 teams in the competition.

Leading Coach Scott Stough's squad, unbeaten in the regular season, was junior Jason Warnick, who won the 119-pound division title. Brock Glotfelty captured third place in the 215-pound division, while Andrew Ganoe (152) and Josh Duckworth (112) both finished fourth.

Huskies Adam Moranduzzo (135) and Dustin Stough (145) both placed seventh, and Brandon Opel (171) finished eighth.

Host Bedford won the team title with 208 points, followed by North Star with 180.5, Chestnut Ridge with 173, Cambria with 167, and Northern.

Behind Northern, in order of finish, were Central Cambria, Beth-Center, Tyrone, North Schuylkill, Fort Cherry, Northern Bedford, Cambria Heights, Jefferson Morgan, Claysburg Kimmel, Berlin Brothers Valley, Tri-Valley, Hyndman, Newport, West Branch, and Tussey Mountain.

The Huskies won their 13th straight regular-season match last night by disposing of visiting Fort Hill, 61-18.

Earning pinfalls for Northern were Duckworth, Stough, Ganoe, Mike Resh (160), Opel, Jason Doerr (189), and Glotfelty.

Randy Wilhelm won via a decision in the 125-pound division, as did Moranduzzo, and Andrew Reynolds (103) and Travis Glover (130) were each awarded a forfeit.

Fort Hill's Justin Nichols recorded his 100th career victory with a pin in the 119-pound class. Also getting pins for the Sentinels were Shawn Bennett (140) and David White (275).

The Huskies will put their undefeated regular season on the line tonight in a huge rematch in Oakland against the once-defeated Southern Rams, who were upset just last week by the Huskies, 28-27. Action is slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Tonight's match will be the final regular-season tilt for the Huskies, who will compete in the regional dual meet next Tuesday.

Rams Crush Three Opponents; To Host Huskies In Rematch Tonight

After being upset by the Northern Huskies last week, the Southern High School wrestling team bounced back into the win column Friday by crushing Westminster, 66-6, and topping Harford Tech, 49-29, in a tri-match held on Westminster's mats, and then handing visiting Westmar a 76-0 trouncing in a make-up match last night.

The trio of victories gave the Rams a regular-season record of 11-1, which they will put on the line this evening at home in a big rematch with the Huskies.

Against host Westminster last Friday, Southern won 13 of the 14 weight divisions, seven via pinfalls, four by major decision, one by technical fall, and one by regular decision.

Recording pins for Coach Dave Taylor's squad were Josh Arnold in the 119-pound division, Josh Armstrong at 125 pounds, Cory Reckart at 140, Andrew Pritts at 152, Justin Ratliff at 171, Nick Farmer at 189, and Sean Sisler in the heavyweight division.

Winning by major decisions were David Stewart at 103 pounds, George Scheffel at 112, Jonathan Feaster at 145, and Ryan Fitzwater at 160.

Reigning state runner-up Daniel Carr, who had missed the Northern match because of injury, was back in action and won by technical fall in the 135-pound bout, while Nick Brant was a decision winner in the 130-pound clash.

The only points recorded for Westminster were by Dan Will, who won via a pin in the 215-pound class.

Gaining pins for the Rams against Harford Tech were Scheffel, who wrestled at 103 pounds, Stewart at 112, and Carr, Pritts, Fitzwater, Ratliff, and Sisler.

Armstrong and Reckart both won by major decision.

The club will compete again this weekend in a tournament in Williamsport.

Dream Born

they like to do and show them how to apply it so that when they go to work, they can enjoy what they're doing so it won't be like working."

Phil originally thought that he would have to start a club and start recruiting kids. He was pleasantly surprised to discover that there was already a budding robotic community in the county. That community was just as pleasantly surprised to discover Phil.

"The impact of Phil's involvement in the program is beyond measure," said local teacher Chuck Trautwein. "He has a real and unique talent working with students. I really appreciate the enthusiasm he shares with us and his love for his work. His 'real world' experience that he brings to our teams is invaluable in getting the job done and making our teams successful. As a professional, I value Phil's participation, but as a parent, I also value the opportunity for my kids to have a chance to work with someone as passionate, enthusiastic, and experienced as Phil."

Chuck explained that the county originally got involved in robotics about 15 years ago when students started building LEGO-based machines and robotic devices in classrooms. Five years ago, they got involved with FIRST LEGO League competitions, then moved into FIRST robotic competitions three years ago.

Currently, 16 county students are involved in the high school program, and more than a dozen mentors and parents support the team.

The middle school teams currently include about 30 students with over a dozen teachers involved as mentors and coaches.

Although the teams are supported in large part by the Garrett County Board of Education, over two dozen businesses and organizations helped to sponsor them last year as well.

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of schools, is pleased with the success of the teams.

"I can't say enough about our students," he said. "The mentors can work with them just so much, but then they have to do it on their own. It's a tremendous reflection upon our students — how well they are doing. I couldn't be prouder."

Teets also noted that Phil has been a great addition to as well.

"Certainly, Phil has added a new dimension," he said. "He's helped us go to another level in the program. He has the time to devote to it, and he has a wonderful vision as to how to grow and encourage science and technology. We're blessed to have him here."

As Phil got more involved with the robotics teams, he saw a need that hadn't yet been met.

"There were these teams, but they really didn't have a home anywhere," he explained. "They didn't have a place where they could meet on a regular basis. Once the competitions ended, everyone went back to what they were doing, and all that momentum was lost. I thought that was a huge loss. So I sort of made it my goal that what I was going to try to do was find somewhere for the group to meet all year-round."

That goal led Phil to the former Phenix Technologies building in Accident, which had been empty for three years.

"The building really is perfect," Phil said. "It's exactly what we needed — it has space for meetings with a big warehouse section in the back. We knew that if we wanted to keep competing and keep winning, we needed a space where we could set up a full-sized field to play, and that's what's here in the back."

The robotics community worked with Jim Hinebaugh and Frank Shap of the Garrett County Economic Development office. They presented a proposal to the commissioners about using the empty space, and the proposal was accepted.

"The whole premise is that we are trying to work on both present and future workforce education," Phil said. "We want kids to look at the high-tech activities and want to do it when they grow up. We want them to go to trade school or college, learn the stuff, and then bring it back to the area. Having the home here gives us somewhere for them to come back and do projects."

SHARING THE JOY OF TECHNOLOGY — Deep Creek Lake resident Phil Malone is pictured above in the center, surrounded by some of the youths in Garrett County who share in his zeal for robotics. The group is involved in SuGO, which is like a Sumo wrestling competition with LEGOs. The next competition, which is open to the public, is scheduled for this Sunday, Feb. 4, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the GEARS building in Accident. See story.

Phil noted that he also has a bigger goal in mind. He hopes to develop a cottage industry based on some kind of robotic activity, or perhaps work with some of the companies in the area to bid on larger robotics projects.

"All of the technology's here, and all the industry's here, but they just don't know that the work is out there, because it's something that they never thought of," he said.

With that goal in mind, Phil started the Garrett Engineering and Robotics Society (GEARS). This umbrella organization will support the existing robotics teams and activities such as summer camps and technology camps, but will also hold its own activities throughout the year to help keep interest up.

"We want to give the technology kids and the tinkering kids and the kids who like to build things somewhere to come and develop their skills," he said.

He noted that the goal is to have something to which businesses can donate money and equipment to help foster interest in science and technology in young people.

"Everyone has been really, really helpful," Phil said. "Everyone who's heard of the idea and has thought about it sees that it can only do good for the community and the kids. They're very supportive."

One activity that GEARS has sponsored in order to get more kids involved is SUGO, which is basically a Sumo wrestling competition with LEGOs.

"It's just something that I think is the easiest thing to do to start bringing in other kids who haven't specifically been involved in the teams that exist now," Phil explained. "The county has a lot of LEGOs and a lot of experience with LEGOs, and with the addition of a little bit more technology, we can do the Sumo LEGOs."

Phil is hopeful that interest in GEARS will continue to grow.

"I'd love for businesses and individuals to ask themselves if there's something that would be a cool project for the kids to do in terms of something robotic," Phil said. "We'd like something useful for the community that would be a great project for them to work on over several years.

"Another thing is that if anyone has a skill that they would like to share with the kids that's technology-related, we'd love to hear from them. GEARS is basically a new forum for that kind of activity."

For more information, persons may call 301-387-2331 or visit www.GEARSinc.org. An open house will be held at the GEARS building on Sunday, Feb. 18, from 1 to 5 p.m.

(119), Lance Lepard (171), and Tom Borlie (215).

In last night's clash with Westmar, the Rams won every single weight class, with five victories being forfeits. They were awarded to Scheffel, Carr, Farmer, Sam Bowman (215), and Sisler.

Winning by pin were Stewart, Arnold, Armstrong, Jordan Skipper (135), and Reckart. Recording a technical fall was Fitzwater, while Brant and Feaster each earned major decisions. Winning by regular decision was Pritts.

Tonight's rematch with undefeated Northern is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Rams will host North Hagerstown in a 1 p.m. start on Saturday, and compete in the Regional Dual Championships next Tuesday.

On Dean's List

Audrey Elaine Friend of Swanton recently completed the academic requirements to earn a place on the dean's list at Brevard College in Brevard, N.C.

To be eligible for the dean's list, a student must be enrolled full time and must have earned a 3.5 grade point average or higher for the semester.

Gov. Promises

He also vowed, to great applause, to re-establish the Office of Smart Growth, an initiative that had been largely regarded as the key achievement of the last Democratic governor, Parris N. Glendening.

Not surprisingly, Glendening said, "I thought it was an excellent speech in not only substance but also delivery. I talked to him recently about this and I said go out there and have fun. I hope you noticed he did."

O'Malley placed public safety high on his list of priorities, pointing out that Maryland is the fifth most violent state in the nation. He outlined plans to revamp a "deeply troubled" Department of Corrections and Department of Juvenile Services. O'Malley asked the General Assembly to approve $7 million in funding for an additional 155 correctional officers and $2 million to protect families from sexual predators.

"I think coming out of Baltimore he has a greater understanding of the impact of public safety and the counties around the state of Maryland. I think that he is probably more in tune with that than any of the other previous governors I have served with," said House Speaker Michael E. Busch, D-Anne Arundel.

To improve homeland security, O'Malley said he plans on creating a new Maryland Security Council to evaluate as well as beef up security and emergency preparedness in the state. He also said he aims to make the port of Baltimore "the best inspected and most secure port in the United States."

O'Malley asked that the General Assembly back his goal to provide $100 million in funding for the state's Medicaid program and to restore Medicaid health care benefits to legal immigrant families, including 3,000 Maryland children. And O'Malley said he hopes to pass the Health Insurance Exchange, which would help small businesses find more affordable coverage for their employees.

Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr., D-Calvert, said he was pleased with O'Malley's speech and what he saw by the governor as an attempt to bring the Democratic and Republican parties together.

"People felt there's not going to be confrontation, not going to be conflict, not going to be animosity. This man is reaching out to both sides of the aisle," Miller said.

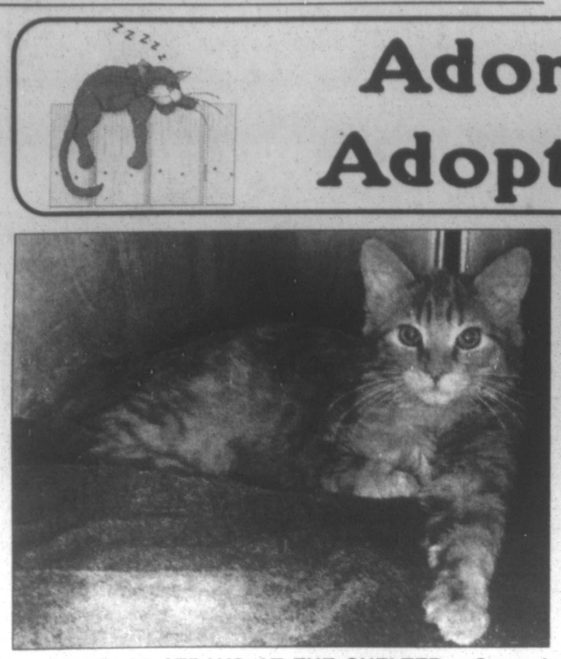
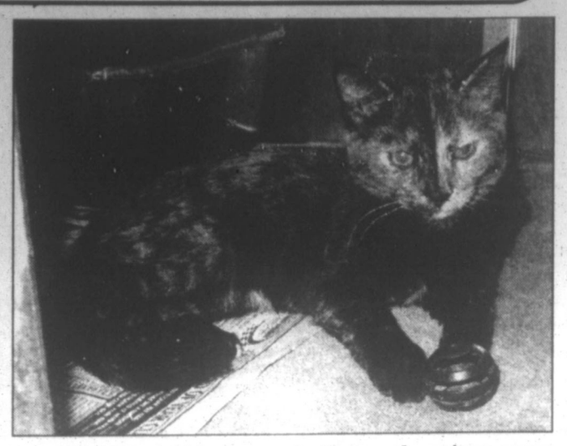
our Garrett County educators care deeply for our children."

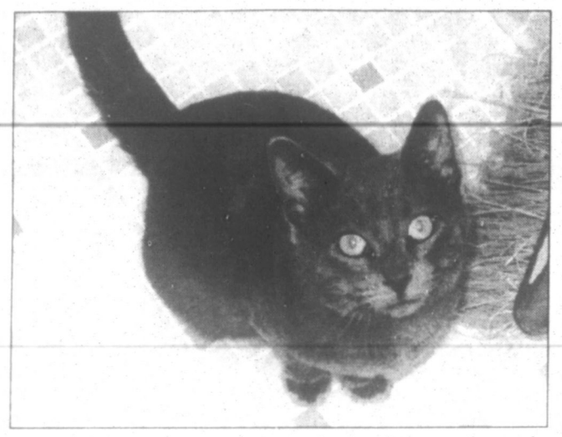
This was the first year for the project to be operated completely within Garrett County.

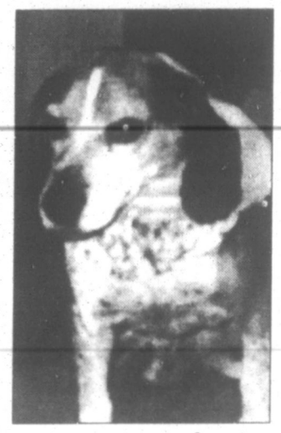
Adorable Adoptables





LOTS OF STRAYS AT THE SHELTER – Several pets are available for adoption from the Garrett County Animal Shelter this week, including a long-haired orange male tabby and a female tortie that were brought in together as strays. They are siblings and are about 5 months of age. A dark gray cat wearing a collar was also brought in as a stray. His owner has not come to pick him up, so he is looking for a new home. A male beagle mix that was found without a collar or tags is also available. He is about 6-8 years old and is described as very friendly. "Two other dogs were adopted recently, including the Rottweiler featured in last week's paper, but several canines were taken out of town to rescues because the kennels were almost full," noted a Humane Society spokesperson. "The Humane Society has had many calls concerning animals without shelter. You must provide shelter for your pets from the frigid wind and snow. Rabbit hutches should be covered with a tarp, and hay should be put in for bedding. Dogs also need extra bedding. Don't forget that outside pets need to have food and water available daily." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.





"We first got involved with Warm the Children when we were contacted in 1998 by Mack Stewart in Connecticut. He is a retired newspaper publisher who designed Warm the Children and launched it in the 1980s," said McEwen. "He has spent most of his retirement years in urging newspapers across the country to establish and operate Warm the Children programs, and he has been very successful in starting nearly 100."

Until this year, the local project operated under the umbrella of Stewart's non-profit status in Connecticut. So all paperwork for the shopping had to be sent to Stewart for approval and authorization to release the donated funds. This year, with Stewart's support, the program was transferred to the non-profit umbrella of the Civic Club of Oakland. Therefore, all the paperwork could be completed within the county.

"This was a huge help for the entire program," McEwen said. "And as always, the wonderful members of the Civic Club of Oakland stepped right up to accept the responsibility. This is a great group of people. We simply could not offer the program without the Civic Club's leadership and assistance."

Betty Ellington serves as the chief volunteer coordinator in the southern part of the county. She is also an active member of the Civic Club.

"My participation in Warm the Children is one of the most rewarding experiences that I have ever had," Ellington said. "My heart was truly touched when I saw a little girl's eyes light up when she found that special pink snowsuit. And how good I felt when I saw the smile on the parent's face when her little son put on a pair of Bob the Builder boots and then refused to take them off.

"Because so many good people gave so generously," she continued, "we were able to shop for 317 children. My hat goes off to The Republican for the wonderful free advertising, to all the volunteer shoppers, and to all the people who personally write thank-you notes to everyone who makes a donation. Thank you, Warm the Children, for making it possible for us to reach out to those who are in need."

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Nursing home visitations will be held this Sunday, Feb. 4.

The youth group is going to have a sweetheart dinner on Saturday, Feb. 10, from 4 to 7 p.m. The menu will consist of spaghetti with meat sauce, tossed salad, Texas toast, dessert, and drink. Donations will be accepted. Everyone is welcome to attend, and carry-outs will be available.

Pastor Appreciation Sunday will be Sunday, Feb. 18. There will be a covered-dish dinner following morning worship. Meat and rolls will be provided.

BIRTHDAY WISHES

Ray VanSickle will be celebrating his 80th birthday on Monday, Feb. 12. His address is 1221 Trap Run Road, Friendsville, MD 21531.

BLOODMOBILE VISIT

The visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile to the Friendsville fire hall netted 17 units plus two partials. A total of 29 persons presented, and there were 10 deferrals.

Carl Lohr completed his 7th gallon. Volunteers were Helen Savage, Pauline Faucett, Brian Benedict, Beth Wagner, and Esther Benedict. The next visit will be on Friday, March 16.

MINI-BUCKS BINGO

Friendsville Elementary School will sponsor a mini-bucks bingo on Saturday, Feb. 10, at the Friendsville fire hall. Doors will open at 4 p.m. to serve food. Early-bird games will start at 6 p.m., with regular games beginning at 6:30 p.m. For tickets or more information, persons may contact the school.

FRIENDSVILLE STUDENTS HONORED — Friendsville Elementary School recently held its January academic pep assembly to honor those students who worked hard academically and showed the character traits of caring and giving during the months of November and December. Judy Livengood's second grade class was recognized as a whole because the students went to the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home and sang to the residents in the Alzheimer unit. The students also made Christmas ornaments to give to the patients. Pictured above are those students who were recognized for caring and giving. In the front row, from left, are: Kiana Yutzy, Kendra Friend, Kimberly Fortunato, Brooke Rishel, Ian Friend, Matthew Casteel, Whitney Detrick, Ally Landis, and Shawn Hayes. In the second row are: Hannah Lowdermilk, Haley Lowdermilk, Morgan Carr, Gabriella White, Justin Schroyer, Zachary Holochwost, Abigail Sisler, and Destiny White. In the third row are: Kiara Coddington, Jordan Hetz, Helen Friend, Elijah Smith, Austin Cosner, Erin Frazee, Bethany House, Elijah Friend, Nathan Sines, and Natalie Manges. Pictured below are those students who were recognized for their academic achievements. In the front row are: Amber Jamison, Andrew Lottig, Kylee Peck, and Kiana White. In the back row are: Curtis Friend, Bradley Friend, Helen Friend, and Abby Schlossnagle.

BENEFIT GAME

The Harlem Rockets comedy basketball team will compete in a benefit basketball game on Sunday, Feb. 11, beginning at 3 p.m. at Northern High School. The Rockets, featuring comedian Kevin "Showboat" Jackson, will compete against the faculty/alumni Dream Team. Advance tickets are $7 each, and tickets at the door will be $8. Proceeds will benefit the NHS basketball team.

ELECTION SCHEDULED

The Friendsville municipal election will be held Tuesday, Feb. 13, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Town Hall. Requests for absentee ballots can be obtained no later than seven days prior to the election by contacting Robin Sines at 301-746-5603 or Town Hall. Three council members will be elected.

SNOWY CREEK 4-H CLUB

by Brianna Lowdermilk

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club held its first meeting of 2007 on Jan. 11 at Friendsville Elementary School. The new club officers for 2007 are: Drew Glover, president; Patrick Sines, vice president; Toby Grove, treasurer; Brittany Diehl, secretary; and Brianna Lowdermilk, reporter.

The meeting was called to order by vice president Patrick Sines. The American Pledge was led by Ashley Calhoun and 4-H pledge by Megan Sisler. The club discussed plans for 2007, and club committees for the fair booth and parade float were formed. Record books and 2007 enrollment forms were collected. Members were reminded to register for Ski Day in January and tubing at the Wisp in February. Leader Rick Lowdermilk distributed the 2006 financial report.

The next meeting will be held 6:30 p.m. on February 8. The program will be presented by the Friendsville Northern Garrett Rescue Squad.

Rowlesburg Schedules Tray Run Viaduct Centennial Celebration

The Rowlesburg Area Historical Society and the town of Rowlesburg are planning a centennial celebration of the Tray Run Viaduct on Saturday, April 28. The current stone arch bridge over Tray Run was completed in 1907, and has carried troops and supplies for two world wars and coal to fuel the nation.

"The bridge is a magnificent example of early 20th century railroad architecture and engineering, standing as it does 500 feet long and 150 feet high," said Tim Weaver, director of events for the celebration. "So important to the state's economy was the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad that an earlier version of the bridge appears on the back of the Great West Virginia State Seal. This wonderful landmark has been nominated to the International Heritage List."

The Tray Run Celebration will begin in Rowlesburg at 10 a.m. on April 28 at the Railroad Depot Museum. The program includes trips to Cannon Hill for a panoramic view of Rowlesburg and the railroad, a site visit to the viaduct itself, a box lunch, speeches, presentations, and a banquet.

The menu for the banquet is taken from recipes of the former New Howard Hotel in Rowlesburg, a favorite spot for generations of railroaders, Weaver noted.

Trips to Cannon Hill will begin at 10 a.m. Transportation will be provided by the Rowlesburg Area Historical Society.

The daytime ceremony at the bridge begins at 2 p.m. Trips to the structure will begin at 1 p.m. from the Depot Museum and will be provided by the Preston County Buckwheat Express.

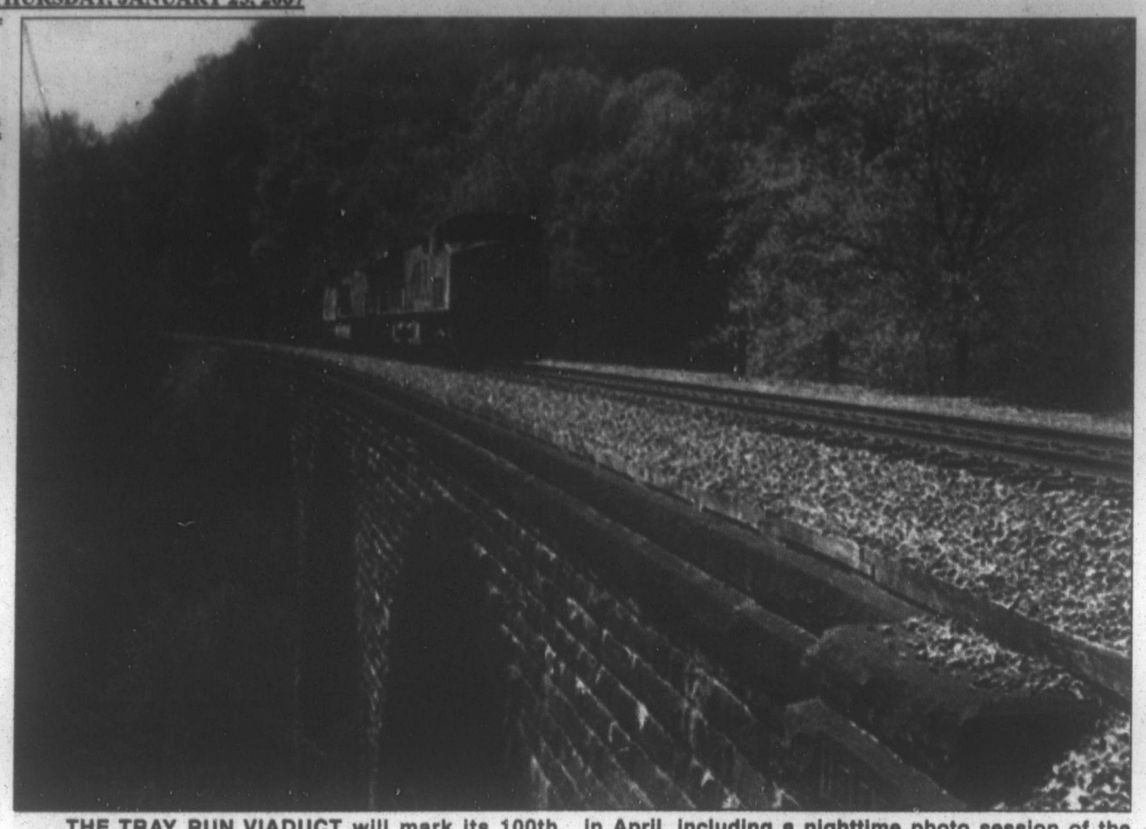
Two noted speakers will make evening presentations: Courtney B. Wilson, executive director of the Baltimore and Ohio Museum in Baltimore, and John P. Hankey, a noted railroad historian. Wilson will discuss the legacy of the B&O Railroad, the importance of preserving its heritage, and the character and breadth of the B&O Railroad Museum.

Hankey, former curator of the B&O Railroad Museum, will speak on the history and importance of the West End and railroading in Rowlesburg. He has written extensively on preserving American railway heritage and works as a consultant to railroad museums.

"Following Mr. Hankey's presentation, the Historical Society will unveil the long awaited HO scale model of Tray Run Viaduct created by Jef Verswyel of VMD Studios," said Weaver, who commissioned the work. "Jef is a master model-maker and the creator, along with his wife, Maggie Deweirdt, of the remarkable WWII museum in Rowlesburg."

The five-foot long and two-foot high Tray Run model will be presented to the Rowlesburg Area Historical Society and the town of Rowlesburg following the banquet.

Tickets for events will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis and will be limited for the bridge ceremony and Cannon Hill viewing. Tickets may be purchased for some or all events. The prices are $10 for Cannon Hill and Tray Run Viaduct trips; $7 for lunch; and $12.50 for the dinner/presentations. For tickets to all events, persons may call John or Barbara Banister at 304-454-3072.



THE TRAY RUN VIADUCT will mark its 100th birthday this year, and Rowlesburg is ready to celebrate. The town and local historical society have planned a wide variety of activities for the celebration in April, including a nighttime photo session of the Tray Run Viaduct. The stone arch bridge stands 150 feet high and is 500 feet long. See story for details. Photo courtesy of Tim Weaver.

Tray Run, M&K Station Photo Session Slated

An evening photo session for railroad photographers will be held Friday, April 27, at the M&K help-er station and Tray Run Viaduct in Rowlesburg. Vet-eran B&O/CSX photographer Dwight Jones will conduct the event. Setup time will begin at 8 p.m.

The session is being held in conjunction with the centennial celebration of the building of the viaduct and is only open to experienced railroad photographers.

Participants should have a camera with adjustable f-stop and aperture settings, a locking style cable release, and a tripod. Signing a release form may be required to enter upon railroad property.

Participants should also wear appropriate clothing for railroad property – long pants and closed-toe, hard sole shoes (no short pants, sandals, or tennis shoes).

There is no cost for this event, but pre-registration is required by e-mailing Tim Weaver, director of events, Tray Run 100th Anniversary Celebration, at wtcweaver@aol.com.

A complete schedule of celebration events is also available from Weaver.

T-Shirt Design Contest For Cheat Fest Under Way

The Friends of the Cheat River group is conducting a T-shirt design contest for the 2007 Cheat River Festival, slated for May 5. The contest theme is the group's mission statement: "To restore, preserve, and promote the outstanding natural qualities of the Cheat River Watershed."

Participants may enter as many designs as they would like, but artwork is due by noon on March 1. Entries should be mailed to Friends of the Cheat, Attn.: T-Shirt Contest, 119 South Price St. #206, Kingwood, WV 26537.

The winner will receive a one-year membership in Friends of the Cheat, two passes to the 2007 Cheat River Festival, a complimentary Cheat River Festival T-shirt, and recognition as the contest winner.

For more information, persons may call 304-329-3621, e-mail foc@cheat.org, or visit cheat.org.

AURORA/EGLON

SIMMONS SHOWER

Expectant mother Amanda Spaid Simmons was guest of honor at a baby shower at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, Eglon, on Jan. 27. The shower was hosted by Melinda Teets Stoner, and others who provided a luncheon, decorations, and games. There were 76 in attendance.

90TH BIRTHDAY

Roy Fint was guest of honor at a birthday luncheon in celebration of his 90th birthday on Sunday, Jan. 28, at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial building. He and his late wife, Violet (Martin) Fint, have four sons, Ralph (and Wilda) Fint, Alvin (and Pat) Fint, Carl (and Betty) Fint, and John (and Connie) Fint who, along with some of the grandchildren, planned and prepared for the celebration.

Other relatives attended from Morgantown and Old Fields, Manassas, Va., and other areas.

CONRAD DEATH

Gudrun "Goodie" Conrad died Saturday, Jan. 27, 2007, at her home near Aurora, where she had been returned on Jan. 25. Her death is attributed to cancer. The body was cremated, and other plans are pending. She was preceded in death by her husband, Dewey Conrad, and is survived by children and grandchildren.

PERSONALS

Lewis Durst of Amboy was recently trampled by a cow as he attempted to aid her. He was taken for evaluation to Preston Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released, and is recovering from mainly bruises.

Eugene Bachtel underwent back surgery on Jan. 23 at Cumberland, returning the following day to his home at Eglon.

Kathy Wiles of Lantz Ridge was a recent surgical patient at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Harley Donham of Grafton was taken Sunday to United Hospital Center with an apparent heart attack. He was scheduled for catheterization on Monday. Following this he was transferred to Ruby Memorial, where a double by-pass surgery was performed.

Alvin Fint of California is visiting with his father, Roy Fint, and brothers at Aurora.

Visiting this past weekend with Pete and Juanita Michaels, Horse Shoe Run, was their daughter, Rebecca Michaels, who is an elementary teacher in the Charleston area.

Melvin and Melissa Frantz and their daughters, Dakota, Violet, and Harmony, were weekend visitors in Eglon with his parents, Don and Neva Frantz. They returned Sunday to Ft. Meade, Md., where he is now stationed.

A.J. DeLauder spent a brief leave visiting his relatives in this area. On Saturday a family dinner of farewell was held at the Amboy home of his grandparents, Fred and Dorotha Forman. Attending the dinner were Joey, Mary, and Hunter DeLauder, Belmont, Pa.; Teresa Meeney, Clarksburg, Md.; and Arthur and Janice Forman of Amboy. A.J. leaves this week for Germany where he may be addressed: A1C Anthony DeLauder, P S C 10, Box 177, APO, AE 09142.

Glenn Strawser of Eglon was treated and released Friday evening at Garrett Memorial Hospital, following a diabetic incident.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

TERRA ALTA LIBRARY

An "expedition" to make "grandma's biscuits" will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 21, at 10:30 a.m. at the Terra Alta Public Library. The expedition will be led by Carl and Joanna Schoolcraft. The public is invited to attend.

"Christmas in the Mountains" was the theme for Terra Alta's Christmas parade in December and it was dedicated to Megan Rochelle Lantz, who died at age 8. Monetary donations have been made in her memory for purchasing books at the library. There will be a dedication for this on Feb. 4:30 p.m. All are invited to attend the dedication event.

TERRA ALTA FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Terra Alta Fire Department, a totally volunteer organization, is in need of money. Citizens are urged to send donations to the department.

TAX PREPARATION ASSISTANCE OFFERED

VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) volunteers will provide free tax return preparation at the Terra Alta town hall on Thursdays from Feb. 1 through April 12. There are no age or income restrictions. Volunteers are trained to prepare most basic and intermediate returns by the IRS.

In order to reduce waiting times for the public, appointments will be required this year. Appointments can be made by calling Terra Alta city hall during business hours 789-6862.

Persons are asked to bring copies of last year's returns, proof of identification, and Social Security numbers.

This effort is supported by the Terra Alta town council and staff members.

HARLEM ROCKETS

The Harlem Rockets comedy basketball team will play the Hilltopper Dream Team on Friday, Feb. 9, 7 p.m., at the East Preston gym. This event is being sponsored by the Hilltopper Youth Basketball League and the Terra Alta East Preston Athletic Fund.

Tickets in advance are $7, and will be $8 at door. Tickets can be purchased at Shop and Save, Gregg's Pharmacy, East Preston Floral, or from any youth in youth basketball. Persons may also call Todd Slaubaugh at 789-6089 or Dave Lantz at 789-3177. There are a limited amount of tickets.

The Harlem Rockets will also be at the school on Feb. 9 at 1:30 p.m. to talk to the students.

Thanks from Warm the Children 2006

Another successful Warm the Children campaign has come to a close, with records shattered in every aspect — donors gave more than ever, sending in more than $35,000; and the volunteer shoppers took a record number of kids (nearly 320) to get new clothes and footwear to keep them warm this winter. Excellent!

We thank our many volunteers and donors, our key players (Betty Ellington, Ellen Fritz, Dora Hanlin, Helen Earles, Dorothy Cathell, Lisa Broadwater, the entire Civic Club of Oakland, and everyone else who went the extra mile), the First United Bank & Trust, the staff at Wal-Mart, and our wonderful Garrett County teachers and counselors.

The program is hosted and operated by the Civic Club of Oakland and The Republican newspaper. Every penny donated goes to help local children in need. We are all pleased that the public, through these incredibly generous donations, has shown such trust in our program, and such concern for our kids. God bless you all, and see you next year!

CHILDREN'S DENTAL HEALTH MONTH

ORAL HEALTH AND NUTRITION GO HAND IN HAND
by Cynthia Heselbach, RDH
Garrett County Health Department

Did you know that dental decay is the most common chronic disease found in children? It is five times more common than asthma. Problems related to dental decay for school-age children can cause poor oral health, low self-esteem, speech problems, poor nutrition, and difficulty concentrating in school.

Every school year more than 51 million school hours are lost because of dental related problems across the nation. In 2002, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 41 percent of children between the ages of 2 and 11 had dental decay in their primary teeth, while 50 to 68 percent of teens had decay in their permanent teeth.

"An important fact that contributes to tooth decay among children and teens is the amount and frequency of sugary foods and drinks that they consume daily, which has often replaced nutritious foods," said Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer.

The average 2-year-old child receives more sugar from soda than from all sweet snacks combined, while a teenager will consume over 700 cans of soda each year. This can lead to tooth decay, especially in children and teens who snack and drink throughout the day. Other health risks include obesity, diabetes, and osteoporosis.

While sugar provides fuel for bacteria to produce decay causing acids in the mouth, the enamel of the teeth will break down, causing cavities to form. By limiting sugary food and drinks, you can reduce the risk of tooth decay. They should only be consumed with meals in small portions.

"Snacks between meals should consist of fresh fruit, vegetables, and low fat diary products," said Glotfelty. "Beware of foods such as gum and hard candies, which contain a high sugar; provide your children with sugar free alternatives."

Children learn good oral habits and nutrition from their caretakers, so it is important that you are good role model. Teach your children how to brush and floss their teeth properly, and make sure they receive regular dental visits. A healthy diet and daily exercise will help ensure that your children have healthy bodies and smiles. This will decrease the risk of tooth decay, obesity, diabetes, cardiovascular disease, and osteoporosis.

For more information about children's dental health, please contact the Garrett County Health Department's Dental Care Center at 301-334-7660.

DARE TO BE YOU SLATED IN ACCIDENT – Dare To Be You, an 11-week parent-child program, will be held Thursdays beginning Feb. 15, at Accident Elementary School. The program focus at this site will be on parents and their children 2½ to 5 years old. Dare To Be You focuses on basic key principles in decision making and problem solving, self-discipline, assertiveness, positive communication and social skills, responsibility, role models, and self-esteem. Rewards include family meals and a workshop incentive for completion of the program. In the activity illustrated above, parents and children are entertained by music specialist Pat Shelton. "Through her passion for music and puppets, Pat inspires the children to develop an understanding of cultures that are different from their own," said a program spokesperson. Positive interaction between family and children is provided each week at the program, she added. To be considered for participation in the Feb. 15 - April 26 program, persons may call the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7730. This program is sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department through funding from the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration.

Friendsville Youth Group Schedules Sweetheart Dinner

The Asher Glade Church of the Brethren Youth Group will hold a Sweetheart Dinner on Saturday, Feb. 10, from 4 until 7 p.m.

The menu will consist of spaghetti with meatballs, tossed salad, Texas toast, dessert, and beverages.

Donations will be accepted, and carry-outs will be available.

The church is located north of Friendsville along Rt. 42.

Energy Assistance Still Available For 2006-07 Season

The Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc. Office of Home Energy Programs is still taking applications for the 2006-2007 heating season.

Regular office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. If needed, evening appointments can be scheduled.

Currently, there are two main programs to assist clients. The Maryland Energy Assistance Program (MEAP) assists with heating cost, and the Electric Universal Service Program (EUSP) assists with electric bills.

Income guidelines have been increased to allow a greater number of Garrett County households to receive help with their energy bills.

For more information on what is needed to apply, or to schedule an evening appointment, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 114 or 1888-877-8403, ext. 114.

Accident Library To Host StoryTails Prog. Next Week

Accident Library will hold StoryTails, a Ruth Enlow Library program designed to help children develop confidence in reading, on Wednesday, Feb. 7 from 4 until 5:30 p.m.

In the program, each child reads to a dog for 15 to 20 minutes, with the canine's handler sitting nearby to give reading assistance if necessary.

"Teagan and Shamus, the Irish wolfhounds on the StoryTails team, will be at the library waiting eagerly for their stories," said a Ruth Enlow spokesperson.

For more information, persons may call the Accident Library at 301-746-8792. A listing of the library events is also available online at relib.net.

Grief Dynamics To Be Discussed In GC Course

The Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College has scheduled a course titled "The Dynamics of Grief: Healing from Life's Losses" on four consecutive Tuesdays, beginning Feb. 27 at the Northern Outreach Center in Grantsville from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

In this course, the stages of life and the normal phases of grief will be studied using a Judeo-Christian approach. The obstacles to normal grief-work will be examined, such as a sudden, unexpected loss, the impossibility to say "goodby," survivor's guilt, and divorce. The last class will focus on the way to remove these obstacles and to find healing.

The course will be instructed by Dr. Arline Westmeier, born near Meyersdale, Pa., and educated in the United States and Scotland. In more than 30 years of private practice, she has counseled over 3,000 people from more than 55 different cultures and subcultures, and lectured throughout Latin America, Europe, and the U.S., according to a Garrett College spokesperson.

A required reading for this course is Westmeier's book, Healing the Wounded Soul, Volume IV.

In addition to the above mentioned course, coming in March to the center are the following courses: Computer Skills II, Microsoft Word, "Wild Turkeys: A Study of the Behavior and Ecology of the Largest North American Game Bird," and "Investing for the Future."

Free Tax Prep Available At Local Centers

Free tax preparation of federal and state income tax returns for individuals will be offered by the AARP Tax-Aide Program at three locations in Garrett County. The dates, times, and locations are as follows:

•Grantsville Senior Center, 125 Durst Court, Feb. 9, March 9, and April 6, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. For more information, persons may call 301-895-5818.

•Friendsville Community Building, 952 Old River Road, Feb. 23 and March 23, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. For more information, persons may call 301-746-5300.

•Mary Browning Senior Center (second floor), 104 E. Center Street, Oakland, Jan. 30 through April 14; from noon to 4 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays; 4 to 7 p.m. on Wednesdays; and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

The AARP Tax-Aide Service, including free E-filing, is for low and moderate income taxpayers, with special emphasis on seniors.

"You do not need to be an AARP member to use this service," said a program spokesperson. "No appointment is required, and taxpayers will normally have their returns completed while they wait."

But interested individuals are encouraged to call the centers to sign up for specific dates.

Taxpayers must bring Social Security cards or other acceptable documentation showing numbers for themselves and any dependents. Taxpayers must also bring a valid form of identification, documents showing their income and any deductions, and last year's tax returns.

The AARP Tax-Aide program is administered through the AARP Foundation in cooperation with the IRS, and is sponsored by Garrett County Community Action.

For further information, persons may call Roland Bennett, 301-334-4762; Gerald E. Gank, 301-334-1323; Garrett County Community Action, 301-334-9431; or toll free at 1-888-877-8403.

Local Students On Dean's List At Allegany Col.

Dog Park Dissenter

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: "Frustrated" complained that there are more and more restrictions on where dogs are permitted, and that she is having a hard time finding places to take her dog to play. You replied that "Pets are part of our communities and their needs should be considered, including a clean, safe place to play off-leash and socialize."

I disagree. If I choose to own an animal, it is my responsibility to ensure that my pet's needs are met. If I choose to have a horse, I do not expect my neighbors to provide pasture or riding trails. Likewise, it is not my responsibility to ensure that my neighbor's dog has a place to run.

Our city has a leash law, which dog owners typically ignore at the beach and other parks. I object to having animal feces, which is often not entirely removed by even the few conscientious people, where small children will be playing. I also object to stepping in piles left in my yard by my neighbor's cats (my cat stays safely indoors).

Children are part of our communities and their needs should be considered when providing clean, safe places to play. Pets are not children.

Potential owners need to consider how they will provide for the needs of their animals when choosing pets, and find appropriate homes for those they cannot care for. — Pip's Happy Human (also in the Northeast)

DEAR READER: I received many responses to my column on dog parks, but yours presented some food for thought. Just how much allowance should communities make for pets outdoors? Are pets a part of our communities? Why should non-pet owners accommodate pets in public spaces?

While I am personally in favor of dog parks and feel that they can be implemented and managed in a cost-effective way, it's important to consider the opinions and concerns of every community member. Thank you for writing in.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Bet you didn't realize that artillery and lightning have a patron saint, but they do: It's Saint Barbara. Now we just need someone to explain why artillery and lightning need a patron saint.

• It was humorist Bill Vaughan who made the following observation: "A 3-year-old child is a being who gets almost as much fun out of a $56 set of swings as it does out of finding a small green worm." Obviously, he said that quite some time ago; who could find a swing set these days for just $56?

• Those who fish and hunt should always remember that their prey might fight back. For instance, a man fishing off the coast of Mexico was seriously injured when the 10-foot marlin he'd just caught stabbed its spear completely through him.

• What do postcards, fiberglass, the zipper, the ice-cream cone, Cracker Jacks, Quaker Oats, Shredded Wheat, belly dancing, spray paint, the Pledge of Allegiance and the Ferris Wheel have in common? They were all introduced at the World's Columbian Exposition, the most successful world's fair ever held in the United States. During the fair's six months of operation in 1893, 27 million people came to Chicago to see the wonders on display — that's nearly half of the population of the entire country at the time. One of the visitors was L. Frank Baum, author of "The Wizard of Oz," who reportedly used the fair's classical architecture as his inspiration for the Emerald City.

• When the movie "Babe" was released in China, its title was translated as "Happy Dumpling-to-Be Who Talks and Solves Agricultural Problems."

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Feb. 11, 1776, Georgia's royal governor, Sir James Wright, escapes from his residence in Savannah to the safety of a waiting British warship and returns to London. Governor Wright had been taken into custody and placed under house arrest nearly a month earlier by Patriots of the Provincial Congress.

• On Feb. 7, 1904, in Baltimore, a small fire in the business district is wind-whipped into an uncontrollable conflagration that engulfs an 80-block area of the downtown. More than 1,500 buildings were completely leveled and some 1,000 severely damaged.

• On Feb. 5, 1917, with more than a two-thirds majority, Congress overrides President Woodrow Wilson's veto of the previous week and passes the Immigration Act. The law required a literacy test for immigrants. Subsequent immigration to the United States sharply declined.

• On Feb. 8, 1924, the first coast-to-coast radio broadcast takes place. Bell Telephone's vice president and chief of research spoke at a meeting of the Bond Men's Club in a Chicago hotel. The speech was broadcast in Providence, R.I.; New York; Washington; Oakland, Calif.; and San Francisco and was heard by some 50 million people.

• On Feb. 6, 1937, John Steinbeck's novella "Of Mice and Men," the story of the bond between two migrant workers, is published. The story brought national attention to Steinbeck's work, which had started to catch on in 1935 with the publication of his first successful novel, "Tortilla Flat."

• On Feb. 10, 1962, American spy-plane pilot Francis Gary Powers is released by the Soviets in exchange for Soviet Colonel Rudolf Abel, a senior KGB spy who was caught in the United States five years earlier.

Lemp Beer

Q. Several weeks ago, I purchased some early bottles that originally contained Lemp Beer. I have never heard of Lemp Beer, but assume they must be worth more than the 25 cents each I paid for them. — Robert, Naperville, Ill.

A. Adam Lemp began brewing beer in St. Louis in either 1838 or 1840 (the date varies according to the source). Operations continued until 1918 when the brewery closed quietly — workers discovered the gates locked when they showed up for work. Lemp Beer collectibles are extremely popular throughout the Midwest. Don Roussin is one of the most knowledgeable people about the early brewery history of St. Louis. He is a member of the Brewery Collectible Club of America and may be contacted at the BCCA office, 747 Merus Court, Fenton, MO 63026; bcca@bcca.com; www.bcca.com; and 1-636-343-6486.\

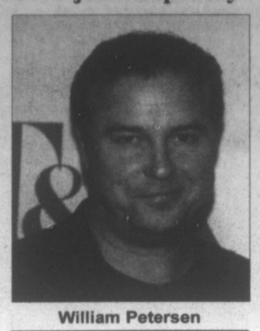
Petersen's exit from 'CSI' is just temporary

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: William Petersen has made a tremendous impact on the "CSI" series. Can you tell us the real reason for his departure from the show? –Bob McDaniels, LaConner, Wash.

A: It's been no secret, since the announcement was made in October, plus it was only temporary. The actor – who also is a producer of "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation" – wanted some time off to do a play, so the CBS series brought in Liev Schreiber in what is being termed a "recurring role." He could still be around, then, even with Petersen back on the scene.



William Petersen

Q: With all the television shows out on DVD now, are there any plans for one of my favorite shows from the 1980s, "Crime Story"? It starred Dennis Farina and followed Chicago cops as they tailed the mob to Las Vegas. –Mary O'Donnell, Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

A: Actually it's out already, in two volumes. The first and second seasons of the show were released in separate DVD sets in 2003 and 2005.

Q: Several years ago, I started watching reruns of "The Waltons" – then stopped, only to begin again. I was stunned to find the mother mysteriously absent, and there seemed to be no explanation. What happened? –Paula Fullilove, Toledo, Ohio

A: The contract of Michael Learned, who played Olivia Walton, was up after seven seasons, and she wanted to move on. The show's creative forces wrote the character out by sending her to a sanatorium to be treated for tuberculosis, thus Olivia's (and Learned's) absence from the final two years of the series. Learned went on to star in a drama of her own, "Nurse," and the sitcom "Living Dolls."

Q: Will the show "Family Ties" come out on DVD? –Erica Ackerman, Whitehall, Pa.

A: Yes, and it's almost here. The complete first season of the NBC sitcom that made Michael J. Fox a star is set to be released Feb. 20 by Paramount Home Entertainment.

Q: I caught a movie with Robert Urich, set in the time of Hoover being president. The main character left home to find work and ended up in prison, and his children went cross-country to get the president to get their father out of jail. I hope you can give me the title. –Frances Mitchell, Vancouver, Wash.

A: It was the fact-inspired 1996 drama "The Angel of Pennsylvania Avenue" – as in 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., where the sitting president resides in Washington, D.C.

A WORK IN PROGRESS

A finished work of art is a beautiful thing...whether as simple as a child's painting...or as complex as an old master. The final product is complete when every stroke of color is in the right place. What about a work in progress?

When an artist's work is in progress, it may not be so beautiful. Each slight brush stroke must be placed exactly right to complete the whole picture. If a mistake is made and the paint dries, the artist may have to start all over again.

We all make mistakes in our lives. God is forgiving; He allows us to try again when we have made a mistake. With His help we can make all the right "brush strokes" to complete a beautiful picture...a beautiful life.

Worship in His House this week. Begin with a fresh canvas. When you falter, talk with the Master and He will allow you to try again. Have faith, for "He has made everything beautiful in His time." (Ecclesiastes 3:11)

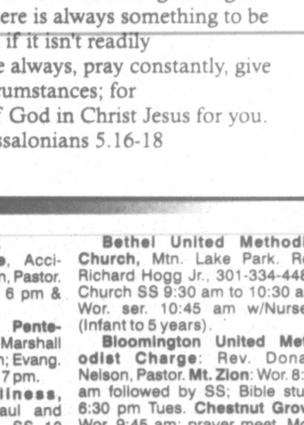
Don't Put Your Trust In Things Of This World



GratefulnessThere is much to be thankful for every single day. Indeed, each day is itself something for which we should be thankful. But, how do we greet the day? Are the first words out of our mouths each morning a complaint, such as "Oh Lord, another day, I really hate to get up." How much better it would be to start the day with a prayer of thanksgiving, such as, "Thank you God for giving me this day! I offer up all of my prayers, works, joys and sufferings to you. Help me to meet the challenges of this day." There is always something to be thankful for, and the Bible tells us that we are what we profess with our mouths. Even if we are expecting our day to be filled with nothing but trials and tribulations, we should thank the Lord for the opportunity to be challenged. And, if we are really struggling to find something to be thankful for, we can play the "Glad Game". That's the game played by Pollyanna when things were going poorly, wherein she would find something to be glad about. Surely, there is always something to be glad about, even if it isn't readily apparent.Rejoice always, pray constantly, give thanks in all circumstances; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you. -- R.S.V. 1 Thessalonians 5.16-18

Noni Juice Not Yet Proven

A tree in the Pacific Islands, Australia, India, and Southeast Asia is known by many names, including Canarywood, Indian Mulberry, and Noni. The juice from the fruit of the Noni tree is known as Noni juice. It has been used for many years by a number of cultures as medicine and food. Manufacturers of Noni juice claim that it boosts the immune system and enhances energy. Noni juice is composed of many substances, including antioxidants, anthraquinones, beta-sitosterol, carotene, and linoleic acid. Early research studies in animals show that some substances found in Noni juice may exhibit antibacterial, antiviral, analgesic, anti-inflammatory, and immune modulating properties.

Currently, there is no significant evidence of the effectiveness of Noni juice for treating medical conditions in humans. Noni juice should not be used by people with liver dysfunction. Due to its high potassium content (10 to 20 mEq per glassful), it also should not be used by people with kidney disease, or those who take drugs that can raise potassium levels. Noni juice should not be used by women who are pregnant or breastfeeding.

RAM Notes

AFTER-PROM

Parents are needed to direct this year's after-prom activity. The first meeting will occur tonight, Thursday, Feb. 1, at 7 p.m. in Room 1171. The school is looking for several parents to serve as directors for this year's event, but many parents are needed for planning purposes. Mrs. Lisa Bender, who has directed this event for the past 15 years, will no longer be organizing this activity, and she encourages interested parents to begin meeting to plan this important drug and alcohol free party. Parent attendance at these meetings would help to ensure that this tradition continues. The 16th annual after-prom party will be held the last weekend in April. All parents are encouraged to volunteer to make this event a success.

PROM PREVIEW

Southern High School will host a Prom Preview featuring the gowns of Lennox East, the tuxedos of Marvin's Men's Wear and Burton's, and the products of local retailers. The event will be held Saturday, March 24, at 7:30 p.m., with the runway show beginning at 8 p.m. Admission is $5, and the proceeds will help fund the school musical, The Pirates of Penzance.

JUNIOR PARENTS NEEDED FOR PROM PLANNING

There will be a Prom planning meeting on Monday, Feb. 5, at 5 p.m. in Rhonda Tasker's classroom, Room 2209. Parents of Juniors are encouraged to attend.

SGAA MEMBERSHIPS

SGAA memberships, which support student athletes as they compete, are only $5, and will get any holder into one home athletic event for free. The membership supports an annual senior scholarship, as well as three sports award assemblies. Persons may check out the SGAA table at the school's next home event.

THE RAMPAGE

SHS's creative arts magazine, The Rampage, will begin accepting submissions for the spring edition. Poetry, short stories, song lyrics, digital photography, artwork, and creative writing are all acceptable to submit. For submission guidelines, persons may see Mrs. Henline in Room 1227.

YEARBOOK

Any students who have photos they would like to see go into the yearbook may upload them to the yearbook web site. Yearbook staff are looking for pictures of students and teachers in and out of school. Students may go to http://portal.jostens.com/login.asp and log in with the User ID# 1104175 and password rams. Any parent wishing to contact Josten's concerning their child's yearbook order may call 1-866-282-1516 or parents may contact Maria Zumpano at the school. Yearbook orders and payments are due by April 1.

STUDENT/PARENT TALENT SHOW

Southern High School will hold a talent show on Saturday, March 10, at 8 p.m. on the school stage. The eve-ers. Admission is $5, and proceeds benefit Southern High School's theater program.

SPRING PLAY

Auditions for the spring play, The School for Scandal, will be held Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 3:30 on the school stage. Any SHS student who is academically eligible may audition.

SCHEDULING FOR 2007-2008

The following dates, times, and places are the guidelines for the completion of the scheduling process for next year's student body. All dates are tentative because of possible closings or delays caused by inclement weather.

- Jan. to April: Freshmen class will do scheduling through the Guidance Office, by appointment, in the evening with parents.
- March 5: Scheduling orientation for eighth grade middle school students will be at Southern Middle School at 2 p.m.
- March 13 to 15: Junior scheduling will be done through evening appointments with advisory teachers.
- March 20 to 22: Sophomore scheduling will be done through evening appointments with advisory teachers.
- March 26 to April 11: All eighth grade students will be scheduling at Southern Middle School by appointment.
- April 16 to April 20: Make-up scheduling for juniors and sophomores will be held in the evening in the event of a cancellation.
- May 11: All schedules should be complete for the 2007-2008 school year.

JUNIOR CLASS FUNDRAISER

The junior class is selling Southern High School clothing as a fundraiser. They are offering T-shirts, long sleeve T-shirts, sweatshirts, and hoodies. Each article of clothing has an original design for the class on the front and a list of all students in the class on the back. They are offered for a limited time only. Persons interested may contact Rhonda Tasker at 301-334-9447.

HUSKY Notes

TALENT SHOW

Northern Garrett High School faculty will be presenting a variety show in the near future. A part of the show will be a patriotic tribute to the men and women serving in our armed forced. Persons with any photos of NHS alumni, family members, or any community members serving, are asked to bring them to the Counseling Center at NHS or e-mail them to dahern@nh.ga.k12.md.us. The deadline for submission of photos is March 15.

Man Receives Consecutive 60-Day Jail Terms For Domestic Assault

In recent District Court news, Judge Ralph Burnett handed Michael Duane Reed, 43, Springs, Pa., two 60-day jail terms to be served consecutively after he pleaded guilty to second-degree assault and malicious destruction of property valued at $500.

Reed was arrested for domestic assault in September in Accident when Tfc J.B. Schlossnagle and Sgt. Mowbray of the Maryland State Police arrived at the scene, and observed the condition of the female victim and heard her testimony. According to court documents, the victim had a swollen eye, as well as numerous cuts and bruises. Reportedly, the defendant had punched the victim many times in the head and body, and attempted to strangle her with a sheet. Reed was also alleged to have thrown a chair and vacuum cleaner, hurting the victim and damaging both items.

Reed was arrested without incident at the scene, but became argumentative and violent with the police officers at the McHenry Barrack and had to be pepper sprayed and subdued.

Reed was originally charged with first-degree assault, three counts of second-degree assault, reckless endangerment, malicious destruction of property, and disorderly conduct. The defendant was not prosecuted for the charges of first-degree assault, two counts of second-degree assault, reckless endangerment, false imprisonment, and disorderly conduct.

In another case, Jay Scott Ross, 30, Edward Louis Ross, 48, Kerriann Ross, 23, and Sandra Kay Ross, 46, all of Friendsville, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. Judge Burnett handed each defendant a probation before judgment (PBJ) and one day of unsupervised probation for an incident that took place in July in Friendsville. According to court records, the police arrived at the scene of the incident on Ross Avenue and found the Ross family members surrounding an unconscious man lying on the street. The victim apparently regained consciousness when the officers arrived, and accused Edward and Jay Ross of assault. A melee occurred in which the officers had to restrain the Ross family members from abusive and violent behavior directed at the victim. The conflict between the victim and the family reportedly started at the Sugar Shack.

Jay Ross and Edward Ross were not prosecuted for charges of second-degree assault and obstructing and hindering an officer in the course of duty. Sandra Ross was not prosecuted for the charge of second-degree assault.

In separate cases, Edward Ross and Sandra Ross were each charged with CDS possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia, and were handed two different rulings. Edward Ross pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended except for two days, six months of unsupervised probation, and $357 in fines and court costs. He was not prosecuted for the charge of possession of paraphernalia. Sandra Ross was not prosecuted on the charges of possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia.

All charges resulted from a search and seizure warrant that was executed by members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the Maryland State Police last August at 1032 Ross Ave., Friendsville, where the agents found and seized two groups of marijuana plants growing in gallon buckets. Edward Ross stated that he grew and smoked marijuana, and that his wife knew about the plants, according to court records.

Terry Richard Retter, 58, Herndon, and Stacey Lynne Spielberger, 47, Herndon, were each charged with CDS possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia, stemming from a traffic stop in June in which the police found marijuana and related paraphernalia in the car and arrested both parties. Spielberger pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $300 fine, and 40 hours of community service. She was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on the charge of possession of paraphernalia. Retter was not prosecuted for the charges of possession of paraphernalia and possession of marijuana.

Mark Allen Logsdon Jr., 19, Accident, pleaded guilty to theft of property less than $100 in value and was sentenced to 30 days in jail, all of which was suspended except two days, and one year of unsupervised probation. Logsdon was charged with theft after he stole a pair of work gloves.

James David Clark, 30, Oakland, pleaded not guilty to second-degree assault and was found not guilty. The charge stemmed from a domestic dispute in October.

Georges-Alexander W. Collinet, 23, Washington, D.C., was handed stet rulings on charges of CDS possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia, stemming from a July incident in which the defendant was at campsite No. 1 at Deep Creek Lake State Park 10 feet away from a where Natural Resources Police officer Dennis Cease found and seized a "bong" smoking device and suspected marijuana. Sherry Michelle Berliner, 25, Bethesda, who was also at the above mentioned campsite, was not prosecuted for CDS possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia.

Clay Samuel Bell, Morgantown, was not prosecuted for charges of CDS possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia, stemming from a traffic incident in August in which police found a smoking device containing residue of marijuana in a grey bag that belonged to the defendant. The bag was in the back seat of a car near the defendant when the police searched the vehicle in which he was seated.

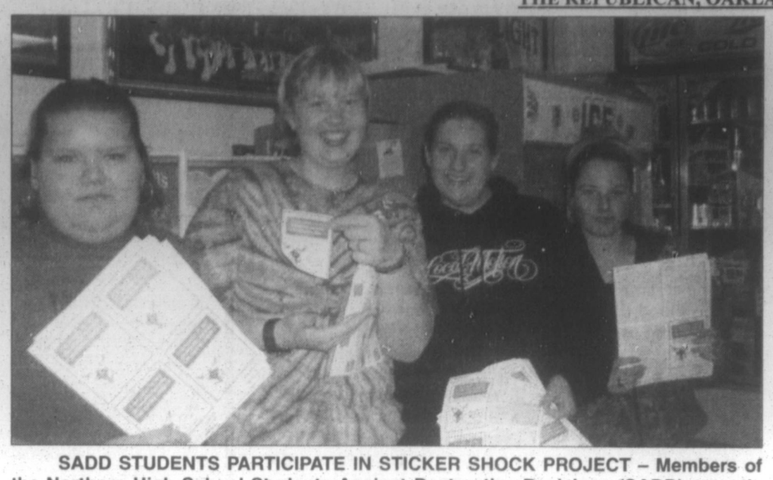
DUI AND DWI

Keith Patrick Steyer, 23, Md., pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of alcohol (DUI) per se and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine, of which $100 was suspended, and one year of supervised probation. Steyer was not prosecuted for the charge of DUI.

Brandy Lynn Vonhagel, Md., pleaded guilty to driving while impaired by alcohol and was handed a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community.

SCHOOL BUS VIOLATIONS

Nancy Carol Jones, 60, Md., pleaded guilty to the charge of failing to stop for a stopped school vehicle operating alternate flashing red lights and was handed a PBJ and $150 in fines and costs, by Judge H. Jack Price Jr.



SADD STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN STICKER SHOCK PROJECT – Members of the Northern High School Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD) recently finished their Sticker Shock project at Hartman's Amoco in Accident. The members placed stickers on cases of beer to remind customers that sharing or buying alcohol for anyone under age 21 is illegal and can lead to unwanted consequences. SADD groups in Kitzmiller and Friendsville also did the Sticker Shock project in their communities in partnership with Kitzmiller Station and Friendsville Discount Liquors. Pictured above, left to right, are: Danita Paugh, Taleena Sines, Shawna Stallman, and Amanda Beitzel, all of whom are students from the Northern High SADD group. For more information about SADD groups or the Sticker Shock project persons may contact Nancy Brady at the Garrett County Health Dept. at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Team Captains To Meet For '07 Relay For Life

The next team captains meeting for the 2007 American Cancer Society Relay For Life event for Garrett County will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 6, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

This meeting will be held in the Continuing Education and Training building at Garrett College, McHenry. In the case of a cancellation for snow, the meeting will be postponed until the following Tuesday, Feb. 13, at the same time and location.

The theme for the 2007 Relay is "Carnival of Life." Team captains are encouraged to plan on-site fundraising activities that reflect the carnival theme.

David K. Martin is the 2007 honorary chair of the Relay for Life event, which is shaping up to be a milestone for current and past participants.

Donna Broadwater, 2007 chair, and Linda Murr, 2007 co-chair, would like to see Garrett County reach the million dollar donation level this year. All interested persons are encouraged to attend the captains' meeting and participate in this "historic feat."

For additional information, persons may contact Broadwater at 301-334-6307 or Murr at 301-387-8027.

EARTH DAY ESSAY CONTEST

Students in 5th, 7th, and 9th grades are invited to celebrate Earth Day by entering the 1st Charlie Strauss Earth Day Essay Contest. The subject of the essay this year is Green Schools. The title is: "How can my school become a better steward of the Earth by being a Green School?" Within the essay, students must answer the following questions: What is a green school? How does a school achieve green school status? and How will green schools help the environment? Entries are due at Ms. Carr's office by Thursday, April 5. Fifth grade essays should not exceed 250 words. Seventh and ninth grade essays should not exceed 500 words. Both sides of the paper should be used. Each student's name, school name, and teacher name should be included.

The Hickory Environmental Education Center is sponsoring this essay contest to honor Charlie Strauss. He was the driving force behind the creation of the Education Center in 1965. His interest in the environment and students is well known throughout Garrett County.

One winner from each grade will be selected. A panel consisting of the coordinator of Camp Hickory, the supervisor of elementary education, the supervisor of secondary education, and the assistant superintendent will select the three winning essays. Each winner will be asked to read his/her essay at the April Board of Education meeting, to be honored with a certificate from the board. The school of each winning student will receive a plaque with the school name, student name, and date of the award to display for the following school year. The plaque will be rotated annually between winning schools. In addition, all students who submit an essay will receive a Certificate of Appreciation from the Hickory Environmental Education Center.

HONOR SOCIETY

Fourteen students were inducted into the Northern High School chapter of the National Honor Society on Sunday, Jan. 28. The induction ceremony took place at Uno's restaurant. A picture and article will appear in a later issue of The Republican.

DC Lake History Highlighted At After-Hours Event

Stories of Garrett County's past were told by Bud Railey and Skeeter Bowman at last week's Chamber of Commerce Business After-Hours, which was held at Cabin Run Lodge, McHenry.

"This was one of the largest Business After-Hours we've had," said Charlie Ross, president of the Garrett chamber. "More than 70 people attended the event. They toured the new business, heard interesting stories, and looked at the historical photos of the Deep Creek Lake area."

A historical film played on a big-screen television showing the construction and early skiing at Wisp. The 8mm film was taken by Skeeter Bowman, who worked at Wisp during the early days of the ski area's operation in the 1950s.

Bowman also shared a story of his adventures as a pilot, flying a visitor, a newlywed, over Deep Creek Lake. The plane ran out of gas and Bowman was forced to land in a field. He borrowed a motorcycle to take the young lady back to the airfield, but met her husband on the road, who was on his way to find his new bride. The young woman, who had never been in an airplane nor on a motorcycle, left in a hurry.

"I never did get my $2," said Bowman, referring to the price of the plane ride.

Railey, who is heading a group of people to preserve the history of the Deep Creek Lake area, also spoke to the group about the early days of Garrett County. Railey said he hopes to make the Cabin Run Lodge into a "history hub" for the county.

"He would like to invite people to drop off photos to be scanned and added to our collection," said Judy Day, Lodge director. "People are welcome to stop by and see what we have done here so far."

Persons interested in having their photos displayed at Cabin Run Lodge may call 301-387-3263 for more information.

The chamber of commerce initiated the after-hours events several years ago in order to encourage area business leaders to visit different companies. The casual get-togethers offer a chance to exchange ideas with fellow chamber members and guests in a social setting, Ross noted.

Anyone interested in hosting a Business After-Hours should contact Jessica Schmidt at 301-387-4386, ext. 16, or at Jessica@garrettchamber.com.

Leaders Report United Way '07 Progressing Well

The United Way of Garrett County is continuing its 2007 Kick-Off to Independence fundraising campaign, and organizers reported this week that the campaign is progressing well.

"We're just over 70% of our total goal of $105,000, which is in line with last year," said Charlie Ross, who co-chairs the local United Way with his wife Cherie. The 2006 campaign resulted in more than $100,000 in contributions, exceeding the goal for that year by 12%. The Rosses said they hope to surpass this year's goal as well.

One of many programs that rely on funding from the United Way of Garrett County is the Short-Term Prescription Drug Program of Garrett County Community Action. Patients who qualify to receive prescription drug benefits through Maryland MedBank can use the short-term program to fill the gap between when they are prescribed a medication and the time it takes for a claim to be processed.

According to Adina Brode at Community Action, 89 Garrett County residents were assisted in 2006 and 259 prescriptions were filled with funding from the United Way of Garrett County. Brode said the program assists local cancer patients in obtaining medicines they need without having to wait for a month or longer.

The United Way offers local employers a payroll deduction plan, which makes it simple for people to donate to the organization.

The Rosses have also initiated a fundraiser for this year's campaign called "Recipe for Giving," through which they are offering one of the recipes from their personal cookbook collection in return for a donation of $5 to the United Way. The couple noted that there are several recipes still available.

Tax-deductible donations can be made payable to and mailed to the United Way of Garrett County, P.O. Box 394, Oakland, MD 21550. Charlie Ross can be reached at the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4386, or persons may contact the United Way of Garrett County at 877-597-2700 or cuw@allconet.org.

This year's campaign ends on April 30.

Farming On The Mountaintop

Agricultural and Rural Land Owners: Man Your Battle Stations!

by Terri Rodeheaver

If you are the owner of agricultural or rural land in Garrett County, sit up and take notice!

Garrett County's comprehensive plan is under review. The plan looks at, among other things, land-use issues within the county. Consultants have been engaged, reports have been written and presented, and meetings are being conducted by various stakeholder groups. All of this activity is intended to yield information that will be factored into changes that are considered for incorporation into the comprehensive plan.

If you own agricultural or rural land and have not attended a meeting regarding changes that are under consideration, I would strongly advise you to do so, and here is why. It was clear to me, and most others at the meeting that I attended, that there is serious consideration being given to changes to the subdivision ordinances that currently govern how land can be divided. If these changes are enacted, the agricultural and rural landowners of the county will pay the price for those changes.

Because Garrett County does not have countywide zoning, the subdivision ordinances dictate the division of land. Currently, if someone owning land designated as rural resource or agricultural land by the county wants to sell a portion of that land, the minimum lot size is 3 acres. In the course of the evening's meeting, it was very clear to me that there are people involved in this review process who have a strong interest in seeing the minimum lot size mandated by the subdivision ordinance change. And my opinion is that the changes being considered are not in the best interest of the rights of agricultural and rural land owners.

Time and time again I heard reference made to changing the minimum lot size to 25 acres! Yes, from 3 acres to 25 acres. Throughout the presentation, Garrett County was compared to Howard and Montgomery counties, and to the development pressures that those two counties have experienced over the years. Those in attendance repeatedly challenged the validity of this comparison, and I agree with that challenge. Garrett County is not Howard or Montgomery County (thank goodness). The forces driving the development rate in those counties do not exist in Garrett County.

I have a hard time identifying the positive side of the argument to increase the minimum lot size in Garrett County, for several reasons. First, the current sad reality in the county is that young people who have been born and reared here are finding it difficult to remain in the county. Current land values make purchasing land a financial impossibility for most young Garrett Countians. The economic job base in the county does not make jobs available to our young people that pay wages adequate to purchase land at current prices. The likelihood that our native youth will be able to find and afford land, if forced to purchase land in 25 acre parcels, is nearly non-existent. Second, the point was made that increasing the minimum lot size will not have a negative economic impact on the landowner selling agricultural or rural land. Give me a break! Landowners, look at your land and do the math – the numbers don't add up. Third, the presenters shared commentary from organizations within the county that articulated "how important" agriculture is to Garrett County. Excuse my skepticism, but I believe that agriculture is important to some of these organizations because the rural nature of the county is an important draw to those who travel into the county seeking recreation and relaxation. Finally, it comes down to having the right to make your own decisions about your own land – the same land you and your family have worked, sometimes for generations, to acquire and retain.

Landowners: Get moving before it is too late. Make your opinions heard. Don't let your silence on this issue be interpreted as support for changes that ultimately limit your ability to manage your land in your way.

PRESTON COUNTY FSA COMMITTEE ELECTION RESULTS ANNOUNCED

The 2006 Preston County FSA Committee election was held in Local Administrative Area (LAA) 3 (Lyon, Reno, and Union districts).

Carl Larew was elected by farmers in LAA 3 to represent them on the county committee for a three-year term. A resident of the Fellowsville area, Larew is a retired Preston County vocational-agriculture teacher and operates a livestock farm. He served several years previously on the community committee.

Carl Bachtel was elected as first alternate, and Mark Teets was elected second alternate by the farmers of LAA 3 for the county committee.

The three took office on January 1.

At the January 17 county committee organizational meeting, the following were elected: Patrick Foley, chairperson; Carl Larew, vice chairperson; and William Whetsell, member.

Rebecca Montgomery currently serves as county committee advisor.

The county committee has the responsibility of administering the USDA-FSA programs for the coming year. The regular committee meeting day has been established as the Wednesday of the second full week of each month, beginning at 9 a.m. All regular sessions are open to the public. Persons with disabilities who require accommodations to attend or participate in these meetings should contact Eric McCartney on voice number 304-329-1923 or Federal Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339, or e-mail eric.mccartney@wv.usda.gov no later than one week prior to the regular monthly meeting.

McCartney noted his appreciation to all of the 2007 election nominees and the farmers who took the time to vote. For further information regarding the role of the county committee in administering USDA-FSA programs, persons are invited to visit the FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923.

DIRECT AND GUARANTEED FARM LOANS AVAILABLE THROUGH FSA

Matt Briggs, farm loan manager for USDA's Farm Service Agency serving Preston, Monongalia, Marion, and Taylor counties, reminds farmers that FSA is committed to providing them with loans to meet their credit needs. If you are having problems getting credit you need for your farm, or regularly borrow from FSA, direct and guaranteed loans are available now.

Ask your lender about an FSA loan guarantee if you've had a setback and your lender is reluctant to extend or renew your loan. Loan funds are available now – applying early is important so that the loan can be processed and funded in a timely manner. Most FSA loan programs have special funding available for minority, female, and beginning farmers.

FSA will help you complete the necessary application and other forms, and help you understand what information is required, where to find it, or whom to contact to get it.

Two types of loans available under direct and guaranteed provisions are operating and farm ownership loans. For eligible applicants, these loans can provide funding for annual farm operating expenses, the purchase of farm equipment and breeding stock, lease fees for rental farm property, and the purchase or improvement of farm real estate.

These programs are designed to keep the family-size farmer in business. Farmers who are beginning a new operation, expanding or changing enterprise, or currently experiencing a financial setback are encouraged to apply. FSA also provides funding for youth projects, such as the FFA and 4-H. Effective today, Feb. 1, interest rates will be 5.125 percent for farm ownership loans and 5.000 percent for operating loans.

For further information regarding Farm Service Agency's Farm Loan Program, persons may telephone loan manager Matt Briggs at 304-363-8861, or toll-free at 800-707-1298.

When Debbie Beitzel sits down to help her son read a book, it may seem like just a quiet moment between a mother and child. Josh, Debbie's son, struggles to make the words he sees into sounds, and Debbie encourages him to keep trying.

Moments that Matter

Josh has a disability called Apraxia that makes it harder for him to translate words into speech, but Debbie has taught him to never give up and to take things one word at a time. So every time they sit together and sound out each word of a story, Debbie and Josh are not only building memories together, but also the will to overcome a disability — both will have a lasting impression on his life.

The tireless effort Debbie puts into supporting and encouraging Josh's growth is something she knows will leave an invaluable mark. Those who know Debbie see how making lasting impressions on people is something that just seems to come to her naturally. Her sense of old-fashioned family values drives her to make a difference in the lives of families all over Garrett County.

Making Memories

Debbie also contributes to her community through Habitat for Humanity, her children's sports activities, and the PTA for her children's schools. Josh and Debbie's daughter, Ashleigh, join her in donating books to less fortunate children at Accident Elementary School each year to ensure that every child has the tools to read. In each area, it is her commitment to helping others make their own treasured memories that sets Debbie apart. This same giving spirit sets her apart in her career as well. Because so many treasured moments take place in a home, as a Realtor® Debbie makes it her personal goal to help families make the most of their moves in Garrett County.

Dedicated to Your Dreams

Debbie's dedication to helping people with their most valued investment means that she will simply not give up in her quest to make your real estate dreams come true. Whether you are looking to relocate to the Deep Creek Lake area or make a move within Garrett County, Debbie is the one to count on. Her extensive area and market knowledge will make the difference in your move.

In a place that is the perfect backdrop for making memories with the ones you care about, Debbie Beitzel is the perfect professional to call on for Moving Moments. She knows how important a move can be, and she does everything she can to make sure that the experience is enjoyable and successful. Call Debbie today to discuss your next move.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

It is nice to watch outside when the snow is drifting down slowly. But when it is blowing, it is another story, as it flies horizontally. Then a couple hours later the air is clear of snow while the dead leaves are shivering in the wind.

It looks very hostile to human life this January 25. It is hard to imagine how my ancestors survived living in this terrible weather without a car, central heating, and indoor plumbing. It must have been a very hard life. However, our ancestors stayed here and built a strong community. It is amazing that almost everywhere there is milder winter than here. But something told them to stay here. Maybe it was the most beautiful summer weather anywhere around, and the rich farmland, plenty of wild game and lumber. Plus the Bittinger area is the most wonderful place in the world to live. Except I must say that winter is at its worst here. I had almost forgotten how bad it can be when real winter hits.

Although I was in modern transportation, the weather on Monday was really bad between my house to the northern end of Bittinger. However, south on Rock Lodge Road I knew what bad conditions existed, as there were horrible high winds making whiteouts certain. It is a very special fear when you are driving and suddenly you can't see anything but the fearful white. A driver in a whiteout is the same as a blind driver. The wind and the drifts make it impossible to see oncoming vehicles. It is a miracle that we don't have more head-on wrecks in these conditions. Personally, I rely on prayer when I go though whiteouts, that Jesus would have mercy upon me. The Bible says "Pray without ceasing." I did that from the Owen Stanton farm until I got into my house.

Although it is true that we get low temperatures and more snow than most of the rest of Garrett County making us the "Most Wintry Place in Maryland," on the other hand, that same wind blows in the summer, so we get welcome relief from any heat waves. In summer we call it breezy and in the winter it is gale-force winds.

I remember during the 1980s we had temperatures around zero with hard winds. I calculated that the wind chill was 30 below zero. A day like today seemed like a heat wave. During that chilly spell the snow was almost as hard as a rock. When stepping on it, it was squeaky. The big field with lots of snow looked like an ocean, greenish with small wave patterns. The sky was the same color. Yes, I was dumb enough to go out on my cross-country skis just to check on the conditions. This weather today is nothing compared to the weather that day. In fact it was colder than in Alaska. I guess it was just like an ordinary day in Antarctica.

Mrs. Hugh Orendorf took a bad fall and broke her hip. She is in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Sally Poholsky and Cindy Stanton picked up Lea and Blake Pochet at the airport last week. Lea and Blake will stay with her mother, Cindy, while Cindy recuperates from surgery. While in the area they visited Steve and Donna Mazer in Glenwood.

Torrey Poholsky was inducted into the North Carolina Chapter of Alpha Chi. It is the prestigious academic society of Greensboro College. Only eight members of his junior class were inducted.

Robbie Glotfelty spent the weekend at home and played with White Noise at the Wisp on Saturday evening.

My mother Ruth is recuperating at home following her hospitalization. In this weather she prefers to stay in. Sheila Southerly was a little under the weather for a couple days, but has improved.

Rodney and Marci Glotfelty were in Baltimore on Tuesday to visit her father, George Farmer, who is confined to his bed.

HOW MUCH ARE YOU LOSING?

Today's real estate market provides an excellent opportunity for renters to turn their monthly payments into equity. While rising slightly, interest rates now are still much lower than in the past ten to twenty years, and home prices in many areas are adjusting back down to reflect reasonable levels of appreciation.

It's critical to begin taking those first steps towards home ownership, and here are some reasons why.

Money paid for rent goes into the pocket of the landlord, while money paid for a mortgage goes toward equity in the home. In other words, you keep the money you pay for your home, as its investment value increases with every payment.

Over the last decade, the cost of rent has increased an average of 3% each year. At that rate, payments of $1,000 per month would total $137,567 over ten years, with no accumulation of equity or wealth.

If you could put $10,000 down on a $210,000 home today and pay $1,100 per month, your equity would total $138,521 over that same ten-year period. That's your money! This calculation assumes a 30-year fixed rate loan at 6.5% and an annual appreciation of 4.5%.

So sit down and do the math, and then contact a local real estate agent to discuss your best options for home ownership. It's never too late to start building your future!

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Army Pvt. Mark T. Thomas has arrived in Iraq as part of a troop rotation or augmentation in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

The private, an all-wheel vehicle mechanic with one year of military service, is the son of Jack L. and Tammy R. Thomas of Friendsville. He is a 2005 graduate of Northern High School.

U.S. soldiers from various active Army, National Guard, and Reserve units serve with their own unit detachments or other units assigned at Camp Liberty, Camp Taji, or other forward operating bases in the Iraqi theater of operations.

"Operation Iraqi Freedom is the official name given to military operations involving members of the U.S. armed forces and coalition forces participating in efforts to free and secure Iraq," said an Army and Air Force Hometown News spokesperson. "Mission objectives focus on force protection, peacekeeping, stabilization, security, and counter-insurgency operations as the Iraqi transitional governing bodies assume full sovereign powers to govern the peoples of Iraq."

Members from all branches of the U.S. military and multinational forces are also assisting in rebuilding Iraq's economic and governmental infrastructure, and training and preparing Iraqi military and security forces to assume full authority and responsibility in defending and preserving Iraq's sovereignty and independence as a democracy.

Meyers, dated May 21, 1996, and recorded in Liber 680, folio 85 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on

FEBRUARY 5, 2007, AT 12:00 PM

ALL THAT fee-simple LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $4,500 by cash, or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement within ten days of the ratification, the deposit shall be forfeited to the Sub. Trustees and all of the expenses of this sale (including attorney fees and full commission on the gross sale price of the sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. Purchaser(s) acknowledge the obligation to settle within ten days of ratification of the foreclosure sale. In the event that settlement does not occur within ten days, the purchaser(s) shall be in default. Upon such default, Sub. Trustees shall file a Motion and Order to resell the property at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser(s). Purchaser(s) hereby consent to entry of such resale order without further notice. The defaulting purchaser(s) shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, including, but not limited to, exceptions to the sale, bankruptcy filings by interested parties, court administration of the foreclosure or unknown title defects, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water and all public charges including electrical, sanitation and/or metropolitan district charges, if applicable, are to be adjusted for the current year to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. The purchaser is responsible for any amount in excess of $250.00 of outstanding water bills, if any, incurred prior to date of sale. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents. (Matter #535441)

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT AND NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS

January 30, 2007
Garrett County
203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, MD
301-334-8981

The purpose of this Notice is to satisfy two separate but related procedural requirements for activities to be taken by Garrett County.

On or about February 16, 2007, the above named County of Garrett will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds under the Maryland Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project title: Adventure Sports Complex Enhancements

Purpose of project: To complete the re-circulating Whitewater course with the installation of a conveyor, site landscaping, and trails.

Location: Adventure Sports Complex, Wisp Mountain, McHenry, MD

Total Project Costs: $1,000,000

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

Notice is hereby given that the above named county has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice and has determined that said project will have no significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 is not required and no further environmental review of the project is proposed prior to requesting the Release of Funds.

The finding of No Significant Impact is based on the following:

The prior Environmental Assessment for the Whitewater course and adjoining site landscaping and trails found there would be no significant impact on the quality of the human environment and a Finding of No Significant Impact was made.

The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of this project is available for public examination at the Office of the Grant Resource Developer, Garrett County Courthouse, Oakland, during normal business hours.

PUBLIC COMMENTS ON FINDING

All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments respecting the environmental impacts of the described project to the offices of the Grant Resource Developer, Garrett County, and to the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development. All such comments must be received no later than February 16, 2007. All comments will be considered and Garrett County will not request the release of funds nor take any action on the project prior to this date.

REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

Garrett County will undertake the project described above with Maryland Community Development Block Grant Funds. This Notice also certifies that Ernest J. Gregg, serving in the official capacity of Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews decision-making and action, and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, Garrett County may use the Maryland Community Development Block Grant Funds and the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) will have satisfied its responsibilities under that National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

OBJECTIONS TO RELEASE OF FUNDS

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer, or (b) that the Garrett County Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process, (c) the grant recipient or other participants in the development process have committed funds, incurred costs or undertaken activities not authorized by this part before Release of Funds and approval of the environmental certification by DHCD or (d) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 35 CDR Part 800, (e) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to Garrett County and to the CDBG Environmental Officer, MD Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than March 6, 2007.

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Margaret Inez Craver dated September 24, 2004, and recorded in Liber 1069, Folio 0861 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, with an original principal balance of $74,501.00, and an original interest rate of 6.500, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Courthouse door for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, on

February 13, 2007, AT 11:00 AM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND and the improvements thereon situated in Garrett County, MD and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $7,400.00 by cash or certified funds is required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be no abatement of interest. Real estate taxes to be adjusted as of the date of sale. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay to the Sellers' attorneys at settlement, a fee of $295.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Substitute Trustees may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Substitute Trustees cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

Under a power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust from Kinsey K. Culp, III and Amy T. Culp dated June 18, 2003, and recorded June 24, 2003, in Liber No. 977, folio 730, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said deed of trust, I hereby give notice that I will, on in the Rotunda of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, in the Town of Oakland, Maryland, offer for sale, and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, all that lot or parcel of real estate and the improvements thereon, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 5, Garrett County, Maryland, which is more particularly described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

Friday, February 16, 2007
At the hour of 11:00 a.m.

The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) by cash or certified funds is required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Trustee. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be not abatement of interest. Real estate taxes to be adjusted as of the date of sale. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay the Sellers' attorneys at settlement, a fee of $295.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Trustee may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Trustee cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

PUBLIC NOTICES

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
Notice of Applications Received for State Permits and Opportunity for Hearing

Issue Date: February 1, 2007 in The Republican

The Water Management Administration is reviewing the application for the State Permit listed below. The application and related information are on file at the Administration; arrangements may be made for inspection and copying. Opportunity is afforded individuals to provide written comments, to request a public informational hearing, or to be placed on an interested persons list for any listed application. Any further notices about actions on an application will be provided only by mail to those individuals on a mailing list of interested, persons. Comments or requests for an informational hearing must be received in writing by the Administration on or before February 15, 2007. All inquiries and requests should include your name, address and telephone number, and should be addressed to John Grace. Chief, Source Protection and Appropriation Division, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230. Telephone: 410-537-3590.

GARRETT COUNTY
GA1967S110/02 – Recreational industries, Inc., 296 Marsh Hill Road, McHenry, Maryland 21541, has applied to increase an existing water appropriation and use permit from an annual average of 518,000 gallons of water per day (gpd) to 734,200 gpd. and reduce the maximum daily withdrawal from 29,500,000 gallons to 28,800,000 gallons. The water is to be withdrawn from Deep Creek Lake and will be used for snowmaking and to supply a whitewater course. The increase is needed for snow production in the winter months and to supply water for a whitewater course (50,000,000 gallons) between April and September, To protect aquatic species, the withdrawal rate from the intake pumps will not exceed 3,800 gallons per minute (gpm) during the period March 1 through October 31. Maintaining withdrawal rates below 3,800 gpm will prevent the intake velocity from exceeding 0.42 ft/sec.

The demands on Deep Creek Lake from competing uses occur during the summer months. The drought year use from July through September (about 32,000,000 gallons) will not have a measurable (less than one tenth of a foot) impact on lake levels. If none of the increased annual appropriation (216,200 gpd) was returned to the lake, it would reduce the opportunity for power generation by the Deep Creek Hydro facility (when operating at 560 cfs) by about 5.2 hours over the course of a year. As some of the water will be returned to the lake through infiltration, the actual impact on the hydro facility will be less than 5.2 hours.

HELP WANTED – Research technicians. Inventory and monitoring of bats at an abandoned RR tunnel. 2-3 positions are available from 12 March through 27 April 2007 (7 weeks; 21 nights total) for swarming surveys of bats at an abandoned RR tunnel in the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal National Historical Park near Little Orleans, Maryland. Using harp traps, we will be sampling both tunnel entrances to identify bat species and their activity levels. We will work from dusk to approx. midnight 3 nights per week. Any rare, threatened or endangered bat species captured will be radio tagged and monitored as long as transmitters are functioning, approximately 2 weeks from the time of release. Successful applicants will help erect harp traps, capture and handle bats, and monitor radio-tagged individuals. Applicants must be willing and capable of conducting fieldwork in moderately rugged terrain and be able to work well with a research team. At least 1 technician should be skilled in rappelling. Those with a BS (or in progress) or MS in wildlife, biology, or a related field will be given preference. Experience with harp trapping bats and other related fieldwork with bats would be a plus. Travel time from the AL to the survey site is approximately 1 hour. Technicians will be paid $12/hr. Opportunities exist for additional bat survey work during spring and summer months in eastern Maryland and northern Virginia. Submit a letter of interest, résumé, and names, addresses and phone numbers of 3 references by 16 February 2007 to (electronic submissions preferred): battech@al.umces.edu or Bat Technician Search, University of Maryland, Center for Environmental Science (UMCES), Appalachian Laboratory, 301 Braddock Road, Frostburg, MD 21532. Position Announcement
Garrett College - Dean of Student Affairs

Garrett College is seeking a Dean of Student Affairs. The Dean reports to the President and serves as the Chief Student Affairs Officer of the College. The Dean is responsible for the leadership of Student Affairs which includes enrollment management, student life, residence life, admissions, financial aid, records, and registration. This position supervises several area directors. Other organizational structures are being examined to better meet the needs of students.

Garrett is a small, public, two-year college in rural Western Maryland approximately a two hour drive from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and a three hour drive from Washington, D.C. and Baltimore, Maryland. The area enjoys a four-season climate with many recreational opportunities in the community. The College employs 17 full-time faculty, 35 part-time faculty, and approximately 45 full and part-time staff. Garrett enrolled 740 students in the fall of 2006 for 540 FTE; 20 students are from other countries and approximately 125 are from states other than Maryland; 90 students live in campus housing. Natural Resource and Wildlife Technology, Adventure Sports, and Juvenile Justice are signature academic programs. The College is part of a national study on Learning Communities and is a learning-centered college currently building a new 124-bed residence hall and new library/learning resource center. Also, a new Athletic and Community Recreation Center will be built on campus with a targeted opening date in 2009.

Required qualifications include a master's degree, a record of leadership and accomplishment in a combination of student services, enrollment management, and/or residence life. Also required are three years of full-time experience in student services, enrollment management and/or residence life, experience with technology and computer literacy. Desired qualifications include an earned doctorate, experience in forging partnerships with four-year institutions, a global perspective, and experience with international student recruitment and services.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter not to exceed three pages, and a list of five professional references with telephone and e-mail contact information. Application materials are to be sent to Linda K. Fike, Director of Personnel, Garrett College, 687 Mosser Road, McHenry, MD 21541. Closing date for accepting applications is March 2, 2007 with an appointment expected to be made in early June 2007 and a start date of July 1, 2007. The non-negotiable hiring salary range is $51,741 - $69,104, depending on experience and education. Please visit our website at www.garrettcollege.edu to view a complete job description and to learn more about Garrett College and the surrounding community.

Should you need assistance with the application process, please telephone Linda Fike at 301-387-3049 or email her at lfike@garrettcollege.edu. Garrett College is a tobacco-free campus. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. EOE

Ask The Everyday Scientist

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Q. Why do different musical instruments, playing the exact same note, make different sounds?

The magnificent sound of a fine orchestra is a joy to listen to, but beneath it all, there are certain very simple scientific principles at work. Each musical note played by any instrument is composed of three essential characteristics: pitch, loudness and timbre. When the combinations are just right, the outcome is beautiful.

Last week I explained how sound waves are produced, the important role of standing waves, and talked about pitch, or frequency of sounds. This week I describe the characteristics of loudness and timbre.

Loudness is just a measure of the excursion in pressure that takes place as a sound wave passes. Don't confuse this with atmospheric pressures, associated with changing weather. In a sound wave, the pressure swing is tiny, but it takes place very rapidly – thousands of times per second. A greater variation in pressure means a louder sound. Whether people talk in a whisper, speak normally, or shout loudly, the difference is chiefly one of the sound intensity level, and that is related to loudness.

The human ear is a remarkably versatile device: It can distinguish various levels of sound intensity over 12 or more orders of magnitude. The measure of loudness is commonly quoted in decibels, which is a logarithmic numerical scale that expresses the way the average ear perceives different pressure levels. An increase of 10 decibels means the sound intensity level became 10 times greater; but a listener would only describe that as "twice as loud."

The characteristic of timbre is also called quality or tone color. This is a way of expressing how several related sounds come out of an instrument at the same time. To understand it requires taking a closer look at what happens inside an instrument.

A vibrating string or air column typically has several standing waves at one time. The lowest frequency wave is called the fundamental. For example, the note "A" has a fundamental frequency of 440 cycles per second (440 Hz) no matter what instrument is playing it. The other standing waves occur at frequencies that are multiples of the fundamental (for "A," that means 880 Hz, 1760 Hz, 3520 Hz, and so on), and those frequencies are called the harmonics, or overtones. An octave is a factor of 2 in frequency, from each harmonic to the next.

It is the mixture of assorted harmonics with the fundamental that makes the timbre of a sound. The mixture is different for every instrument. The harmonics in a clarinet's sound are almost as strong as the fundamental, while in a flute the harmonics are faint, barely heard at all. That's why you can tell the difference between the sound of a clarinet and a flute.

As long as all the instruments in a group are properly tuned, they sound good together. Before a concert begins, the leader plays the single note "A" and everyone else plays that note too. A musician whose instrument is not playing a fundamental of 440 Hz finds out quickly that it's out of tune.

The remedy is to adjust the instrument a little to bring "A" to the same frequency everyone else is playing. On a violin, the tension in the strings can be adjusted. On a clarinet, there is a short section near the top of the air column that can be lengthened somewhat. For a flute, rolling the instrument away from your lip changes the effective diameter of the hole through which air enters. Every instrument has some way to adjust the pitch.

When everything is in tune, the orchestra sounds great because the combined mixture of harmonics produced by many different instruments creates a pleasant sensation in the human ear. No matter how diverse the total output, at the most basic level, the characteristics that turn sound into music are still pitch, loudness, and timbre.

What makes some composers better than others is their ability to imagine what a combination of notes from different instruments will sound like. Even after he went deaf, Beethoven was still able to compose fine music because he understood the many ways in which musical instruments can complement each other.

Garrett College To Offer Classes At Outreach Center

Garrett College has scheduled a variety of continuing education classes to be held at the Southern Outreach Center in February.

A Computer Skills II course will be held on Tuesdays, beginning Feb. 20 though March 6 from 10 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. This course is designed for individuals who wish to obtain additional skills and knowledge of basic computer operations. Topics to be covered include: Windows operations, files, folders, diskettes/CDs, accessing the Internet, web pages and e-mail.

Basic Cake Decorating will be offered Mondays from 6 to 8 p.m., Feb. 26 through April 2. This course is for beginners to learn the fundamentals of decorating tools, writing, borders, basic icing methods, and simple flowers. Students will need to bring their own supplies.

The following are upcoming classes that are to be held at the Southern Outreach Center: Microsoft Word, Microsoft Excel, Digital Camera, Buy and Selling on eBay, and Microsoft PowerPoint.

For additional information about these classes, persons may contact Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304, or the Garrett College Continuing Education & Workforce Development division at 301-387-3069.

INSIDE THE CLOUD OF SMOKE in the photo above is a burning two-story wood-frame house located along Rt. 135 just east of the Deer Park fire hall, which was destroyed by the accidental fire on Sunday. Escaping the blaze uninjured was the owner of the house, Lena Uphold. The fire was reportedly caused by an overheated wood furnace. Seven area volunteer fire departments responded to the 11:25 a.m. alarm, along with the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported. The loss to the house and contents is estimated to be $80,000. Photo courtesy of Clark W. Day Photo-Graphics.

Accidental Fire Destroys House Near Deer Park

An accidental fire caused by an overheated wood furnace resulted in the destruction of a two-story, wood-frame house along Maryland Highway near Deer Park Sunday morning.

Volunteers from the Deer Park, Oakland, Gorman, Kitzmiller, Bloomington, Deep Creek, and Terra Alta fire departments were summoned to the residence of Lena Uphold, 5826 Maryland Highway, about a quarter-mile east of the Deer Park fire hall, at 11:25 a.m. The fire had been discovered by Mrs. Uphold, who heard a crackling sound in the basement and called for assistance.

Upon their arrival, firefighters encountered flames and heavy smoke coming from the structure. The approximately 40 volunteers brought the blaze under control in about 45 minutes; however, some units remained on the scene for nearly five hours. Their efforts were hampered by subfreezing temperatures, snow, and high winds.

Work Begins On Garrett County's FY 2008 Budget

The Garrett County fiscal year 2008 budgetary process is well under way. All county departments and agencies have submitted their FY '08 Operating and Capital Budget funding requests, county administrator Monty Pagenhardt announced yesterday.

The next step in the budgetary schedule is to begin departmental review sessions, whereby requested appropriations are reviewed in detail with the county administrator and Department of Financial Services senior staff, according to Pagenhardt.

This phase in the budget approval process will begin next Thursday, Feb. 15, and end on Feb. 28.

"Department staff continues to work on estimating projected revenue from all federal, state, and county sources," Pagenhardt added.

As in past years, the requested budget will be available online at garrettcounty.org for public review and commentary.

Plans are to have a recommended budget presented to the Board of Garrett

MLP Resident Asks Commissioners To Impose Moratorium On Fluoride

Mountain Lake Park resident Dave Insley asked the Garrett County commissioners this week to place a moratorium on fluoridating county owned water supplies. Only three water districts – Mtn. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, and Deer Park – of the 11 managed by the Department of Public Utilities (DPU) are currently fluoridated. Kitzmiller's water source has naturally occuring fluoride.

Insley has discussed the possible negative effects of fluoridation with the commissioners twice before. In October 2005, he asked the commissioners to draft a standard policy whereby either all systems or no systems would be fluoridated, and to allow residents to voice their opinions on the issue before adopting the policy.

The board of commissioners reviewed Insley's '05 request, but did not draft a policy, based on input from the town councils of Mtn. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, and Deer Park, and county health officer Rodney Glotfelty, who supported fluoride in the systems.

"It was the opinion of the board that all municipalities and communities should have the right and option to petition to the county to use or discontinue the use of fluoride in the public water available to residents within their respective jurisdictions," county adminstrator Monty Pagenhardt wrote in a letter to Insley on Nov. 14, 2005, in response to his request.

"This has been going on for a few years, and I don't see any end in sight," Insley said on Tuesday about resolving the issue of not fluoridating water. "One thing that I've asked at all of my meetings is that Public

Comprehensive Plan Meetings Set At Garrett College

The Garrett County Planning Commission has scheduled two separate public information meetings for Monday, Feb. 26, and Tuesday, Feb. 27, at Garrett College from 7 until 9 p.m. each evening. The purpose is to solicit public comments on the 2008 Garrett County Comprehensive Planning process.

The 2008 plan will update the current Comprehensive Development Plan that was adopted in 1995. A master plan for the Deep Creek Watershed area will be a major component of the new plan.

The Monday session will be held in the college auditorium and is intended to be a visioning meeting to provide citizens with the opportunity to express their opinions and views on future growth and development in Garrett County.

"The Planning Commission encourages citizens to express their opinions not only on how they vision Garrett County 25 years in the future, but more importantly what goals, objectives, and policies should be established to realize that vision," said a commission spokesperson.

The Tuesday evening meeting will be held in Room 224 of the college's Continuing Education building. This session will feature a presentation by Environmental Resources Management, the county's planning consultant, on water quality data for the Deep Creek Watershed. A growth analysis and the associated impacts future growth may have on the water quality will also be presented.

The Comprehensive Plan is the primary policy document used by the county to ensure "healthy" future growth and development. The plan is widely used and referred to by multiple state and county agencies, economic development offices, bond rating firms, the Planning Commission, and the Board of Appeals.

"Garrett County has experienced many changes since 1995, especially the rapid residential and commercial growth in and

Delegate Beitzel Files "Flush Tax" Exemption Bill

Del. Wendell Beitzel (R, District 1A) introduced House Bill 376: "Environment – Bay Restoration Fund – Users" in the Maryland General Assembly on Friday. The bill seeks to exempt septic and onsite sewage disposal system users outside the Chesapeake Bay watershed from paying the septic user fee.

"I made a promise to the people of Garrett County to address this concern, and I'm making good on that promise," Beitzel said.

The bill, which has received support from delegates throughout the state and across party lines, would not only be applicable to much of Garrett County but also parts of Cecil and Worcester counties. Currently, only Ocean Pines is exempt from the user fee, Beitzel noted.

"Rather than picking and choosing certain areas, this bill seeks to remove the requirement for people to help fix a problem to which they make no contribution," Beitzel said.

There are 420,000 on-site septic systems currently in the state of Maryland. Only 11,897 systems are estimated to be located in Garrett County. An even smaller percentage of that number is actually in the Chesapeake Bay watershed, according to the Maryland Department of Environment.

Beitzel's bill only applies to those individuals with onsite sewage disposal systems or septic tanks, which

Civic Leader, Educator, Women's Hall Of Fame Inductee Polly Hanst Dies

Polly Johnson Hanst, well-known throughout Garrett County and West Virginia for her many contributions to the community and wide range of accomplishments, died on Monday, Feb. 5, at the Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville. She was 100 years old.

Her numerous professional endeavors included serving as a writer for The Republican newspaper in the 1950s and '60s with her column titled "It Runs Through My Mind." Her husband of 60 years, George Herbert Hanst, was the editor of The Republican for more than 40 years.

Born Dec. 8, 1906, in Frametown, W.Va., Polly was a daughter of George Lee and Rosa Bell (Matheney) Johnson. She was preceded in death by six siblings, her husband in 1991, and one son, George Henry Hanst, in 1995.

Polly was a lifelong advocate of 4-H, earning a number of awards and honors with the organization, as well as launching clubs and camps. Her professional career involved writing as well as teaching. She was an active member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, where she held many leadership positions, and was a charter member of several local civic organizations.

Hanst was a graduate of West Virginia University, where she earned a degree in home economics. In 1979, she was inducted into the Order of the Vandalia, the fourth woman to be selected for membership into this order, the highest honor bestowed on an alumni of WVU. The honor is given in recognition of the recipient's extraordinary service and dedication to the university.

Hanst first became involved with 4-H as a child. She organized and instructed the first 4-H camp in Clay County, W.Va., in 1923, when she was 17 years old. A year later, she was selected to attend Camp Vail and the Herman A. Moses Leadership Training School. In that same year, she was accepted into the 4-H All-Stars. She helped organize the first West Virginia Girls State 4-H Camp in 1929, and became the West Virginia state 4-H girls' club agent in 1932.

In 1944, Polly assisted in the founding of the first Older Youth 4-H Club Members Conference. Many years later, in 1999, she was named the First Lady of the West Virginia Older Youth 4-H Club. She was one of the first two

Local Head Start Programs Now MSDE Accredited

Garrett County Community Action's Head Start program recently received word from Nancy Grasmick, state superintendent of schools, that the Crellin, Grantsville, and Kitzmiller Head Start centers have been accredited by the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE).

With the accreditation of these three centers, all Garrett County Head Starts and Early Head Start classrooms are now MSDE accredited.

"We applaud the efforts of your Head Start teachers and are proud of the fact that your program now joins the cadre of programs that meet the high quality standard for early learning programs," stated Grasmick.

The Head Start centers received assistance in the accreditation process through a Judith P. Hoyer Enhancement Grant for Private Providers of Early Child Care and Education Services. The grant was awarded to Community Action's Overlook Judy Center Partnership in April of 2005.

Through the grant, the Judy Center was able to provide technical assistance, training and professional development opportunities, stipends, and classroom supplies.

Private child care centers and family child care providers who are interested in learning more about the accreditation process and how to become partners with the Judy Center are asked to contact Barbara Hornyak, director of the Judy Center, at 301-334-4211, ext. 119.

Cars Vandalized; Purses Stolen, Credit Cards Used

Windows in each of two vehicles were broken, and purses within the cars were stolen last Thursday between 7 and 9 p.m. near Newmans Funeral Home on Miller Street, Grantsville, according to the Maryland State Police.

The police later learned that the victim's credit cards were used at numerous locations in Bruceton Mills and Morgantown, W.Va.

Anyone with information regarding this crime is asked to contact the McHenry Barrack at 301-895-1101.

Oakland Man Charged For ORV Violation

Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) charged Frederick James Glotfelty, 36, Oakland, with operating an off-road vehicle (ORV) in a non-designated area of Mt. Nebo Wildlife Management Area Tuesday, Jan. 30, at 7:30 p.m.

Glotfelty was allegedly operating a snowmobile at the entrance of a trail off Route 219 that was not designated for snowmobile use.

According to an NRP spokesperson, snowmobiles may only be operated on Department of Natural Resources lands on ORV trails designated for snowmobile use. A snowmobile may be used on trails designated for its use from Dec. 15 through March 15 of each year, except for certain trails, which may be closed based upon consideration of overall physical, environmental, and recreational use.

Virginia Man Arrested On Drug Charges

Garrett County sheriff Gary Berkebile, spokesperson for the Garrett County Narcotics Task force, announced the arrest of a Virginia resident on drug charges.

Investigators with the task force investigated a suspicious vehicle parked in a parking lot on Marsh Hill Road on Wednesday, Jan. 31.

The occupant of the vehicle, Steven Kitchen, 19, of Williamsburg, Va., was observed smoking from a marijuana smoking device. He was placed under arrest, and a search of the vehicle revealed a quantity of suspected marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia.

As a result, Kitchen was criminally charged with possession of marijuana and possession of marijuana paraphernalia. He was incarcerated in the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

Car And Truck Collide In Mishap On Route 135

A 66-year-old Kitzmiller woman and her passengers were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital after the car she was driving was struck by a tractor trailer Friday at approximately 1:30 p.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

The police reported that Norma Whitaker pulled in front of an oncoming tractor trailer as she exited a business parking lot onto Route 135.

Whitaker, Mary Burgess, 74, Kitzmiller, and a 4-year-old child from Mtn. Lake Park were injured and transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The extent of the injuries is not known. The driver of the 1987 Kenworth tractor trailer, Gordon Long, 66, Cabins, W.Va., was not injured.

The police charged Whitaker with failure to yield the right of way and a child safety seat violation.

The Southern and Northern rescue squads and the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department responded to the scene of the accident.

Collision Occurs After Car Slides On Snowy Road

A 1996 Ford Taurus, driven by a 21-year-old Pennsylvania man, struck another car in the rear after sliding on a snow-covered road and passing through a stop sign Saturday at approximately 9:24 a.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

Michael Collins, Bensalem, was traveling south on Deep Creek Drive, and started sliding on the snowy pavement as he approached a stop sign. Susan Kamp, 68, Lonaconing, was traveling west on Sang Run Road at Deep Creek Drive when her 2002 Ford Taurus was struck in the rear by Collins' vehicle. The collision caused Kamp's car to then hit a tree. Kamp was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital and treated for unspecified injuries.

Collins was charged with failure to stop at a stop sign.

Local Woman Arrested On Theft Charges

Garrett Bureau of Investigation investigators arrested Kerri Jo Reams, 27, of Oakland on theft-related charges on Wednesday, Feb. 7. The charges stem from an investigation initiated from Enterprise Rent-A-Car, where Reams was employed.

During the months of December and January over $1,900 in U.S. currency and over $1,200 in checks were stolen from the business.

Reams has been charged with five counts of misdemeanor theft, felony theft, and felony theft scheme. She was released on her own signature.

Driver Fails To Stop In Time To Avoid Collision

A 31-year-old Pennsylvania man traveling north on Springs Road Saturday at approximately 12:20 p.m. failed to stop his vehicle which struck the car in front of him when it spun out of control on the snow-covered pavement, according to the Maryland State Police.

Reportedly, a 17-year-old juvenile from Salisbury, Pa., driving a 2001 Suzuki, spun out of control on Springs Road east of Pea Vine Road in Garrett County, and was struck by a 1999 Dodge Ram driven by Andrew Yoder, also of Salisbury.

Yoder was charged with failure to control the speed of his vehicle in order to avoid a collision. There were no injuries, the police said.

Health Department To Hold Safety Fairs At Local Auto Dealerships

Child Passenger Safety Week 2007, so designated for next week, will focus on safety for "tweens" (children ages 8-10) in and around cars. The Garrett County Health Department will be holding safety fairs at the Team One auto dealership in Oakland from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday, Feb. 12, and at Billy Bender Chevrolet in Grantsville from 4 to 6 p.m. next Thursday, Feb. 15.

"This will be a family event," said Diane Lee, highway safety coordinator at the health department. "We want parents and children to go through the stations together to learn the safety information. We know families are very busy, so we are providing pizza and fresh vegetables so families can stop in, participate in the stations, eat their meal, and continue on to whatever they have scheduled for the evening."

Child Passenger Safety Week has usually focused on the correct use of car seats for babies and toddlers, Lee explained. This year, safety messages will be aimed at an age group often neglected in child passenger safety outreach.

"We've always designed our safety messages for parents and caregivers, but older kids need to be developing their own safety habits as they become more independent," said Lee.

"Most children ages 8 to 10 should be riding on a booster seat for the best protection in a crash," she continued. "Children in this age group are among the least likely to be in the correct restraint. We need to make booster seat use among 'tweens' just as automatic as it is for small children to ride in car seats."

Maryland Safe Kids Coalition, along with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the American Academy of Pediatrics, recommends that children who have outgrown car seats ride on booster seats until they are about 4 feet, 9 inches tall, and weigh 80-100 pounds. Most children reach this height and weight between ages 8 and 12. Safe Kids Worldwide has developed the Safety Belt Fit Test as an easy way for parents to determine when the adult safety belt in their vehicle provides optimal protection for their child in the event of a crash.

"The idea of sitting on a booster seat when you're in fifth or sixth grade is a hard sell – we realize that," said Lorrie Walker, child passenger safety technical advisor for Safe Kids Worldwide. "But we've looked at the science and know that it's worth the effort to change people's attitudes toward booster seats. They prevent injuries and save lives every day."

"This project is a good partnership between Chevrolet, Safe Kids Worldwide, and the health department," said Lee. "We all want to make sure kids are safe in and around vehicles, and this is a great way to increase awareness."

According to a new study released this week by Safe Kids Worldwide, car seat checkups provided by Safe Kids coalitions have been very effective in teaching parents important safety skills. But the research also showed safety advocates need to do a better job of getting their message and hands-on training to families in underserved communities. With a redesigned outreach program and a grant from Safe Kids Worldwide funded by Chevrolet/General Motors, the Garrett County Health Department is working closely with local after-school programs to deliver safety messages to Garrett County families.

Interactive exhibits at both Team One and Billy Bender Chevrolet will teach Garrett County "tweens" and their caregivers about proper use of booster seats and safety belts, the dangers of trunk entrapment and heatstroke in parked cars, and the hazardous blind spots around vehicles, Lee said.

Activities will include the following:

Safety Belt Fit Test

Nationally certified child passenger safety technicians will teach parents and "tweens" how to perform the Safety Belt Fit Test to determine when a growing child is ready to move from a booster seat to an adult safety belt. In a recent demonstration, 30 Cub Scouts ages 7-10 took the test, and only four could sit properly in adult safety belts without a booster seat.

Trunk Escape

Children will be taught that trunks are for cargo and are not safe places to play. All new vehicles since 2001 are equipped with a glow-in-the-dark release handle inside the trunk. Parents and children will learn the importance of staying out of trunks, and children will learn how to find the release handle. Adults will also learn to keep keys and keyless entry devices out of reach of children.

Never Leave Child Alone

Based on data collected by San Francisco State University, it is estimated that at least 30 children per year die of heat-related illness after being left alone in a parked car or getting into a parked car without supervision and becoming trapped. Even in mild weather, the temperature inside a parked car can quickly reach levels that are dangerous to young children – an effect that will be demonstrated with digital thermometers inside and outside the vehicle. This demonstration is designed to help parents understand why they can never leave a child alone in or around a car.

Spot the Tot

Nearly 2,500 children per year go to the emergency room after being struck by a vehicle in a driveway or parking lot. Parents will learn to walk all the way around the vehicle to look for kids before getting in – and to keep toys and pets out of the driveway so children aren't tempted to play in that area.

In this demonstration, adults sit in a driver's seat and children line up behind the vehicle The driver then realizes how many children lined up behind the vehicle were not visible. Youth will learn to remind adults of the importance of doing a "walk-around" before getting in the vehicle.

Caregivers and children who participate together in Garrett County Child Passenger Safety Week events will be entered in a drawing to receive a $25 Wal-Mart gift card and will be eligible to win prizes if they visit www.usa.safekids.org and demonstrate their improved safety skills in an online game.

The Garrett County Health Department provides car seat inspections and rentals, as well as safety belt fit test assistance throughout the year. For more information, persons are invited to telephone the Health Department at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111, or visit the web site www.usa.safekids.org/skbu.

GCMH RAISES WELCOME BANNERS – New parking lot banners welcoming patients, visitors, and staff can now be seen in the parking area of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The Loar Auxiliary recently purchased 22 flags for the various light posts located in the hospital parking lots. Pictured above is Loar Auxiliary volunteer Betty Trickett. "We felt it was especially important now with renovations nearly complete that we give the parking lots a new and finished look as well," explains Denise Shay, Loar Auxiliary Gift Shop manager. "It lets employees, patients, and visitors know that we are proud of our community hospital." For more information on the Loar Auxiliary, persons may contact the volunteer services department at 301-533-4178.

Injured Woman Charged With Negligent Driving

A Swanton woman was treated for minor injuries and charged with negligent driving after she lost control of her car and ran off the road and down an embankment Wednesday at midnight, according to the Maryland State Police.

Melinda Elliot, 41, was traveling eastbound on Rock Lodge Road east of Route 495 in her 1988 Ford when the accident occurred.

The police said that Elliot and her passenger, Brandy Lipscomb, 21, Frostburg, were transported by Northern Garrett Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were treated for minor injuries.

Single Vehicle Mishap Leads To Arrest

A Garrett County sheriff's deputy responded to a single vehicle accident on Maryland Highway early Sunday morning, Feb. 4, in the area of Loch Lynn.

The deputy's investigation determined that Catherine Ann Golliday, 39, of Oakland, while attempting to exit a business parking lot, traveled off the roadway and struck a ditch on the shoulder of Maryland Highway.

Golliday was charged with driving under the influence, driving while impaired, and negligent driving. She was placed under arrest, transported to the Garrett County detention Center , and later released.

Narcotics Task Force Arrests Riva Resident

Garrett County sheriff Gary Berkebile, spokesperson for the Garrett County Narcotics Task force, announced the arrest of a Riva resident on drug charges.

Investigators with the task force investigated a suspicious vehicle parked in a parking lot located along Marsh Hill Road, McHenry, on Tuesday, Feb. 6. The occupant of the vehicle was observed preparing to smoke marijuana inside the vehicle.

Michael Haertel, 30, was placed under arrest, and a search of the vehicle revealed a quantity of suspected marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia. He was criminally charged with possession of marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia.

Haertel was taken before a District Court commissioner and released on his own recognizance.

A Precious Gift...

It is not often that this column is used to eulogize someone, but with the passing this week of Polly Johnson Hanst, this will be one of those rare occasions. The reasons for this are as numerable as the many facets of this particularly amazing woman, about whom one could easily write an entire book.

We here at The Republican office recognize that Polly was part of the lifeblood of this newspaper for some 50 years, not as an employee, but as the wife of the editor, George H. Hanst. Her steadfast support of him, her incredible influence in his life, was evident in the thousands of editorials that George wrote over those five decades; editorials that made a significant, positive difference in the community. In fact, the current editor and writer of these words, who is lucky enough to be a great-nephew of Polly, has likewise been greatly influenced by her wisdom and guidance over the years. So she remains part of the lifeblood of this publication today.

But Polly was so much more than an editor's wife and a wonderful great aunt. She was a leader of youth, to the extent that she was a living legend throughout her native state of West Virginia. As a camp teacher and counselor at Jackson's Mill over many decades, she touched literally tens of thousands of young lives, who were captivated by her charm, her wisdom, and her wit. She was still going there, still teaching, still ministering, when she was well into her 90s. She never lost that special connection and her love for young people. She pioneered many new 4-H initiatives, and over the years was awarded nearly every 4-H honor that exists.

She was well known in both ends of Garrett County because she lived in Oakland but was a teacher at Northern High School for a number of years, where hundreds more young people had the opportunity to know and learn from her.

Polly was also, like her husband, a writer, and was at one time associate editor of a national magazine, The Farmer's Wife, a publication of The Farm Journal. One of her columns was titled "Dear Polly," sort of a precursor to Ann Landers and/or Dear Abby, in which she provided advice on a variety of topics to questioning readers. (How appropriate.)

She was so active in her church, where she taught Sunday School for 40 years and held nearly every position of leadership imaginable, including serving as the first female council president of any church in the entire synod.

She was a civic leader, active in dozens of local organizations, projects, and special events, holding the offices of president or chairperson in most.

She was a fantastic cook, and would routinely prepare and deliver entire meals to folks who were in some kind of distress at the time.

She was a mother of three, a grandmother of eight, and a great-grandmother of four, each of whom is, or is destined to be, a treasure to the world, for each is an extension of Polly and George.

As stated above, this column could go on and on. A more detailed account of her many accomplishments appears on the front page.

Perhaps what made Polly so special, so unique, was her never-ending interest in other people, and her outreach and concern for each and every person she ever met. She made every person she talked to – even total strangers – feel valuable. Even at age 99, after moving into the Goodwill Home in Grantsville, she continued to live her faith, she continued to serve others, by visiting with and giving encouragement to other residents who were having a hard time. Though her 100-year-old body finally shut down, that amazing spirit with which she was born never aged, never went away. And it will live on in the members of her family, and likely hundreds of thousands of other people.

Polly Hanst – What a dear, precious gift to the world.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the employees of the Garrett County Roads Department for the fine work they do in maintaining our roads throughout the year. I have either traveled or resided in most of our northern states, including Alaska, during the winter months, and have found our roads dept. to be as good as if not better than most. As a resident of Beckman's Peninsula Road for the past 10 years, I've noted that the department is quick to respond and that their employees have always been friendly and courteous. During this past week with the extremely cold weather and high winds, they have been out day and night keeping our roads clear of snow and ice.

I would like to add that the State Highway Administration also does a fine job of maintaining Routes 68 and 219.

To the Editor:

As I read about the crows and the problems they present, I am left bewildered that more options haven't been considered. Yes, the crows can be shot, but won't more crows return to present the problem again?

The underprivileged crows are the victims of the over-populating, so-called "great" horned owl. As a child, I was warned to be careful of these malicious and vile creatures, for at any moment a single owl could swoop down from the heavens and fly away with the cap of my skull in its diabolical clutches. At least that's what I was told before launching off to roam the woods of Garrett County in my coonskin cap!

Perhaps we are a-fowl in the decision of shooting the crows. The crows are only seeking warmth, shelter, and release from the murderous owls who prey upon them. Or maybe the crows are only seeking a little downtown Oakland hospitality? Wouldn't logic suggest that we solve the problem by eliminating the great horned ones? Or are we just turning our heads too far around to see the optimal solution?

I'm confident that many may read this and shudder at the thought...or maybe you don't give a hoot, but obviously there's nothing to gain by continually screeching about it. I have no answers...just observations.

To the Editor:

I wish there were a way to just ignore President Bush and maybe he'd go away. It would be best for our country and our future. This, our most foolish president ever, has been wrong 100% of the time in regard to Iraq. From the start of the war until four years later he and his neoconservative buddies have gotten nothing right. They have wasted lives and money doing everything wrong. Now they are asking us to believe that this latest "surge" will turn the tide. What kind of chump is going to believe that Bush has got the answer now? He can't see the forest or the trees and he won't listen to anyone who actually can. Hey, George!! If you want to put targets on the backs of 21,000 more of our kids, why don't you start with your two girls?! You and all your neobuddies who never saw any battle action and did back flips to avoid the draft should be the first to go!

The trial of "Scooter" Libby, just getting under way, may become Shrub's "Watergate." All the lies that were foisted on the American people about WMD and prewar intelligence may come to light as the trial progresses. For those who paid attention, it is old news, but to the majority of Americans this could be a real shock. I look for "sneering Dick" to get all tangled up in this. Scooter already did some "time" for Watergate. I don't think he'll take the fall again. This "house of cards" may just have been dealt a losing hand.

To the Editor:

We have been part-time residents of Garrett County for seven years. Each year we seem to find reasons to stay longer. Our little piece of heaven is a couple of miles north of Swanton.

Over those seven years, whenever something nice was done for someone, we would hear, "It's the Garrett County way."

We have been blessed to have the most wonderful neighbors. The Greenes, Neels, Mullenaxes, Mrs. Davis, and most especially, the Parks family and the Stacy family.

We recently sold our home on the Eastern Shore and have started moving our things westward. The Parks and the Stacys have told us, if the weather was bad, be sure to call them so they could have our driveway cleared. We did and they did, and so much more!

We arrived on Sunday, Feb. 4, a cold day even by Garrett County standards. Even before we had turned the engines off in our vehicles, Eric Parks was coming down our driveway, followed close behind by Marshall Stacy. Eric's brother Keith and their dad, Elwood, had been there earlier and cleaned a path to our door. Eric and Marshall started helping us unload. When my wife Mary opened the house, she found a pot of soup on the stove and some homemade bread and blueberry muffins. A welcoming note from Becky Parks accompanied the goodies. Later that evening the Stacys had us over for dinner.

This is just a snapshot of all the wonderful assistance these and our other neighbors have given us over the past seven years. As we wrote earlier in this letter, "It's the Garrett County way."

We offer our heartfelt thanks to all of our neighbors and hope to enjoy their friendship for years to come.

Sincerely,
Mary and Ed Sipes

To the Editor:

I was quite bothered by a letter you received by a Mr. Paugh complaining about the citizens of Oakland not being so polite.

I moved out of Garrett County upon my graduation of high school in 2004, and I have yet to meet a person living up to the qualities of an Oaklander. I just don't understand why someone would think that the people of the area are not friendly anymore.

I want to explain the differences between rude and the citizens of Oakland. Since I have moved to the Baltimore area, I have had numerous inconsiderate encounters with rude and hostile people. Never once have I been given the "go ahead and pull your car in front of mine" wave. I have actually been told to not waste a young man's time by having him call the La Vale Blockbuster to get my membership number so that I could rent movies from a location close to my current home without having to apply for a new card. I have honestly had a waitress call me obscene words because I asked if she could possibly warm my food I had waited for an hour for at an Uno's Pizzeria location here. Lastly, I could almost scream about the many times a day that I get honked at just because I don't press my gas pedal to the floor at the very second the light turns green.

Oaklanders are rude? Every time I bring my husband to Garrett County, he is in 100% awe of the politeness of the people. "They actually put your bags in the cart?!?!?" he once said to me after we went for a visit to the Wal-Mart Supercenter.

I understand how most of the youth may count the [illegible] until their "great" [illegible] To me that [illegible] stay where you a[illegible] Stay where you can leave your car running at Sheetz while you walk in to get a sub. Stay where the waitresses are worth tipping. Stay where you know everyone's name and everyone knows your name. Stay where the daily paper doesn't talk about numerous killings and it does talk about the Broad Ford kindergarten's trip to the dairy farm. Stay in the area that you can actually see the stars and don't hear the roaring of the interstate. Most of all, stay with the friendly population of Oakland.

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to letters to the editor by Ken Bauer, Chip Paugh, Ralph Schmidt, Dawn Braskey, Lynne Elmlinger, and Jeffery Conner which have appeared in recent issues of The Republican. While the topics of the individual letters vary, there is an important theme that links them all.

These letters raise questions about various consequences of growth taking place in Garrett County over the last decade. Whether the letter is addressing the relationship of man and the environment in Garrett County or the interaction between local hunters and tourists, the theme of the letters is the need for balancing the benefits and costs of growth in the county.

The letters, and the concerns they express, come at an opportune time. Garrett County is in the process of developing a new comprehensive plan (CP) to guide development in the county for the next 20 years.

The law states that the plan shall contain "a statement of goals and objectives, principles, policies, and standards, which shall serve as a guide for the development and economic and social well-being of the local jurisdiction." In addition, individual elements of the plan are required to "propose the most appropriate and desirable" patterns for future development.

These goals and objectives should be developed by the citizens of Garrett County. We have an interest in developing a comprehensive plan that balances the benefits and costs of growth and development. In order to accomplish that, the CP process should be inclusive for all segments of the population in Garrett County. It is important for the citizens of Garrett County to provide proactive input into this process because the CP will impact: our citizen's health and quality of life; our land, water and natural resources; water quantity and quality in our wells, springs, streams, and lakes; the availability and access to land for hunting and other recreational activities; our working rural farms and forests; and the economy of the county.

In an effort to reach out to the citizens of Garrett County and solicit their views on these issues, the Planning Commission has organized a town-hall type meeting for Monday, Feb. 26, at 7 p.m. in the Garrett College auditorium. All citizens concerned about the future of Garrett County should attend that meeting and share their views with the commission. If you don't speak up, they won't know what you are thinking.

To: MD Public Service Commission

Cc: Senator George Edwards, Delegate Weidell Beitzell, Governor Martin O'Malley.

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to the Maryland Public Service Commission requested that it appear in this column.

MD PSC:

Your proposal to dun western Maryland residential electric users now for monies not owed within the dunning period might be technically legal, but it is an appalling abuse of the people the PSC is presumably bound by oath to protect.

Electric deregulation is not about giving customers more opportunity to save. No citizens' group petitioned the PSC to deregulate electric. That didn't happen, but it sounds better to portray the deregulation canard as somehow benefiting the public.

Electric deregulation is about increasing profit potential for electric makers and electric transmitters. Existing federal law protects every regulated electric utility in the United States from suffering operations losses. Ask yourself why businesses absolutely protected from operations losses would give that up? To help old Mother Jones? Or perhaps because they believe profit potential is pretty much unlimited in deregulated markets? Just maybe it is number two.

One problem with moving rate hikes up two years is that significant numbers of payees shall move or die or become wards of another person or institution before 2009 and so lose entirely what you confiscate between 2007 and 2009. Another is that competent statistics–as opposed to statistics cited by the PSC–acknowledge that individual investments shall be greatly diluted by additional meters on the system in 2009. Honest people don't hide behind government to confiscate money not owed, offer merde interest, and then pay back maybe 70 cents on the dollar. People go to jail for that in real life, but not, apparently, in government.

There is no multimillion-population residential jurisdiction in the United States to date in which deregulated electric bills increased at or below the frequency and amplitude of the average national regulated-jurisdiction bill. The most frequently proved trait of deregulated electric jurisdictions is a precipitous decline in the breadth and the quality of services to residential customers. Power outages for any reason in deregulated jurisdictions last longer, perhaps because response times are longer and work crews in deregulated jurisdictions tend to be smaller. There is not a single exception in the United States to either of the items above.

The wonder of the American system is that once in a while a low-performing commission casts off unsavory bonds to do the right thing. That is your challenge now–to do the right thing by the people of Maryland and begin to end the madness that is electric deregulation before Marylanders become victims of the next Enron.

Sincerely,
W.L. Welch

To the Editor:

The January 25 article in your paper about the Maryland Accountability Project on voting records needs some additional information for your readers to accurately assess the legacy of Senator John Hafer. As Paul Harvey would say, "Now for the rest of the story."

On March 14, 2006, all 14 Republican senators walked off the floor in protest of the senate leadership's heavy-handed railroading of abusive election-law legislation. We met with Governor Ehrlich and apprised him of the totalitarian tactics employed by the majority party. Senator Hafer was with us as a valuable member of the caucus.

In the final days of session, Senator Hafer, as a member of the powerful Finance Committee, was repeatedly called off the floor along with all the other committee members to address electric deregulation and Public Service Commission legislation.

Finally, to add insult to injury, on Thursday, April 6, 2006, Mrs. Hafer suffered a stroke and during the initial hours of her treatment the senator repeatedly traveled between the hospital and the senate floor as one would expect.

The article states Senator Hafer "did not serve his around Deep Creek Lake," said the spokesperson. "These changes have brought the county many opportunities but also many challenges. The new plan will look forward and establish new policies to guide the county through the year 2030 in areas including growth, development, rural preservation, transportation, and protection of environmentally sensitive areas.

"Public participation and input is a vital part of the plan development process. The Planning Commission needs to hear from the broadest possible spectrum of the public interested in growth and development, including the towns, so that the plan reflects the breadth of the community's concerns and interests."

constituency." Nothing could be further from the truth! The First Senate District – Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties – and western Maryland owe a tremendous debt to Senator Hafer and his family for their 16 years of service in the Maryland Senate.

By omitting the circumstances delineated above, the "Maryland Accountability Project" proves they do not do their homework and your readers were wildly misinformed by the convenient "omission" of these facts.

Senator David R. Brinkley
Senate Minority Leader

To the Editor:

As a long-time/part-time Garrett County resident, I am very proud the way our community rallies around various charitable causes and events. One of the great charitable causes supported locally is Special Olympics. Sometimes people see the programs of Special Olympics as just "games," but they are much more than that. The "games" are simply the vehicle that often times drives the individuals in our community with intellectual disabilities to places they never imagined. The "games" help develop a sense of self-worth, confidence, team building, social skills, motor coordination, and much more. The "games" are often the key that unlocks the door to the individual's independence, allowing them, just like you and me, to be accepted and respected and be useful and productive citizens in the communities where we live and work.

Police and corrections officers all over Maryland, in all 50 states, and in 40 countries around the world, work year-round raising money to benefit Special Olympics as their "Charity of Choice" through events such as the upcoming Maryland State Police Deep Creek Dunk. Citizens and businesses throughout Maryland, and especially Garrett County, have been tremendous supporters of our local law enforcement community, and we are hoping that you will join us once again in an extraordinary fund raising effort to benefit the citizens in our community. Now in its 9th year, the MSP Deep Creek Dunk is a local charitable event that supports Special Olympics Garrett County and Special Olympics Maryland. The dunk is being held February 24 behind Uno's Restaurant on Garrett Highway.

Please join me and my fellow law enforcement officers from Garrett County and all over the state in supporting Special Olympics through the Deep Creek Dunk. You can register online at www.somd.org. If you really don't want to take a dunk in Deep Creek Lake, you can support another "dunker" through your tax deductible donation that can also be made online at www.somd.org. Click on the Deep Creek Dunk logo and then select the "dunker" you want to sponsor!

If you have the opportunity, please stop by the Wisp February 26-27 and cheer on Special Olympics athletes from all over the state as they compete in the Special Olympics Maryland Winter Games and live up to their oath, "Let me win. But if I can not win, let me be brave in the attempt."

Proud to be a Garrett County resident,
Lt. John A. Newnan

Adorable Adoptables

A REAL TAIL WAGGER is how this young yellow Lab mix currently housed at the Garrett County Animal Shelter is described. "He was given up by his owner because he was too energetic," said a Humane Society spokesperson. Also looking for new homes are an orange and white tabby and a grayish tortoiseshell. Both young felines are females. "Last week's longhaired orange cat was adopted, but we have other cats and dogs available for adoption," said the spokesperson. "The animal shelter and Humane Society have received dozens and dozens of calls about dogs, horses, and other animals being left outside in the freezing temperatures without shelter. Several dogs were removed from the premises to safekeeping in order to save their lives. According to state law, you must provide food, water, and shelter for your pets, no matter how big or small they are." For more information, persons may call the animal shelter at 301-334-3553.

In Loving Memory of My Son

Danny Nicklow

In recognition of one of our greatest.

Danny touched the life of everyone he ever met. He had a superb sense of humor, an outgoing personality that would put a smile on anyone's face. A fine set of morals, a giving and loving person loved by all for the wonderful assets he possessed. We who knew him, loved him and our hearts are very saddened—but in the 20 short years he lived, we have the consolation of knowing he was the best of the best—and now that he would have been 60 years old, we know that the only thing he would have lost would have been his hair.

"Vibrant, Growing Church" Schedules First Service In New Loch Lynn Facility

Pastors Ivan and Cindy Ackerman, along with the Loch Lynn Church of God congregation, invite the public to attend the first service in their new facility and "share in a time of celebration and worship" on Sunday, Feb. 18, at 10 a.m. There will be no Sunday school that morning.

An evening service is also slated for 6 p.m. A nursery will be available for both services that day.

"Loch Lynn is a vibrant, growing church, and we invite you to attend our services," said a spokesperson.

The new 24,000-square-foot church is located along Rt. 560 next to WKHJ radio station, Loch Lynn. Construction on the new facility began in April 2005 to help meet the needs of a growing congregation, which now numbers more than 300 members.

Funding for the new facility came entirely from the members, who generously donated monthly to the church building fund and annually to "Miracle Sunday" fund drives over a five-year period, noted the spokesperson.

The members showed further support for the project by volunteering to work beside the contractors to help build their new church.

"We offer a variety of ministries at Loch Lynn that have been developed to reach out to all age groups," said the spokesperson. "Your need is our vision."

With that in mind, the church provides a wide variety of ministries and outreach services, including the following:

•MOPS (Mothers of Preschoolers), which meets the first and third Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m.

•The Kidz Factory (ages 5 to 11) meets every Sunday morning and Sunday and Wednesday evenings to participate in music, puppetry, and stories.

•The Perpetual Flow Youth Ministries meets Wednesday evening at 7 p.m.

•The Wednesday Night Power Hour is held at 7 p.m. to "empower families with the Biblical strength they need to succeed."

Other activities include an adult choir, women's and men's ministries, Joy Fellowship (55 years and up), nursing home services, hospital and home visitations, Life Management Ministries, and home and foreign missions.

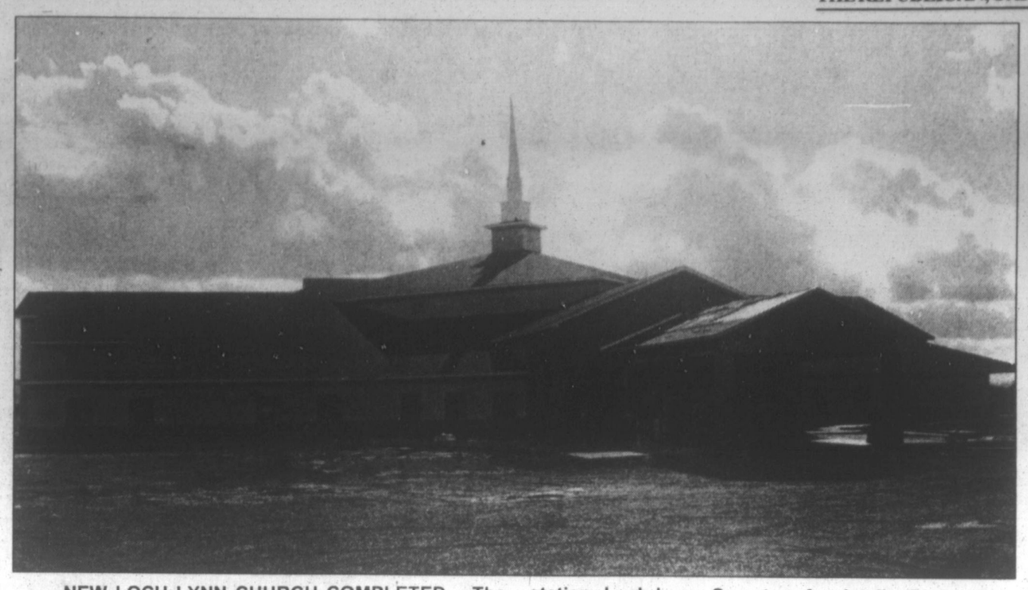
The church's regular schedule of services on Sundays is as follows: early morning worship, 8 a.m.; Sunday school, 9:45; morning worship, 10:50 a.m.; and evening worship, 6 p.m.

"Family Training Hour" is held on Wednesdays at 7 p.m., and prayer meetings are held on Thursdays at 10 a.m.

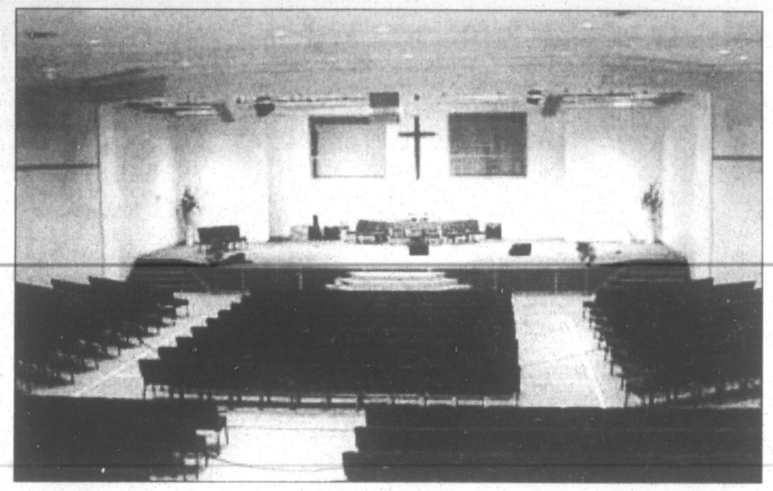
"Our heartfelt desire is for you to feel at home and to experience the love of Jesus Christ during your visit with us," said the spokesperson.

A dedication service for the new church will be held Sunday, April 22. The Loch Lynn Church of God will also celebrate its 50th year of ministry later this year.

For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-3221.



NEW LOCH LYNN CHURCH COMPLETED – The first service in the newly constructed Loch Lynn Church of God will be held Sunday, Feb. 18, at 10 a.m. An evening worship is also scheduled for 6 p.m. Construction began in April 2005 for the 24,000-square-foot facility, located along Rt. 560 beside WKHJ radio station, Loch Lynn. See story for details. Pictured below is a portion of the church's interior. It features a large stage, removable seating, and a gymnasium type floor, allowing for recreational and various other activities.



Local Radio Group To Meet, Support "School Roundup"

The Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES) will hold its monthly meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 12, at the Oakland Red Cross building (next to Pizza Hut). At this meeting, plans will be made for spring activities including ham radio licensing, training courses, Amateur Radio Relay League (ARRL) Field Day participation, and communications support to community events.

ARES hams will operate from Southern Middle School next Friday, Feb. 16, in support of the nation wide School Club Roundup 2007, sponsored by the ARRL. Garrett County schoolchildren will be able to talk via short wave radio with children and teachers in other schools across the United States and in Canada.

"During this event we will also demonstrate to the children how Morse code is used in radio communications," said an ARES spokesperson. "Morse code keyers will be provided for some students to operate."

Persons who would like to operate the ARES school station for the children, especially those who are skilled in Morse code, may contact Bill Shomo at 301-334-2907 or bshomo@iceweb.net, or Mark Moynahan at 301-334-1554 or k3ee@arrl.net.

Deputies Arrest Kitzmiller Man After Traffic Stop

Garrett County sheriff's deputies made a traffic stop on Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, on Shallmar Road.

The deputy recognized the operator, Rusty Allen Tichnell, 40, of Kitzmiller, and had prior knowledge that his driving privilege was currently revoked in the state of Maryland. The deputy initiated the stop of his 1996 Jeep truck and contacted him on Shallmar Road.

When making contact, the deputy detected an odor of alcohol on his breath and asked him to perform field sobriety tests.

Tichnell did not perform the test to the deputy's satisfaction, and he was placed under arrest. A search of his vehicle revealed a plastic bag of suspected marijuana and a small metal smoking device that contained suspected marijuana residue.

Tichnell is being held at the Garrett County Detention Center awaiting a bond hearing. He is charged with driving under the influence, driving while intoxicated, driving on a revoked Maryland license, violation of a court ordered alcohol restriction, CDS possession of marijuana, and CDS possession of marijuana paraphernalia.

Film Maker To Present Program On Estonia At Garrett College

IMBI PAJU

Local residents will have an opportunity on Friday, Feb. 16, to learn more about a part of the world that doesn't often enter into daily conversations in the United States – Estonia.

Journalist and documentary maker Imbi Paju will present her movie Memories Denied at 6:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett College. Admission will be free.

One of the Baltic countries, Estonia has a long history of occupation, including by the Soviet Union until 15 years ago. According to Paju, for many years, the terrifying experience of Estonians in Stalin's labor camps was a taboo subject. It was not until 1991, when Estonia gained its independence, that this dark chapter of the country's history began to emerge, she explained.

In Memories Denied, Paju takes a personal approach in telling the story of how her own mother, born in 1930, was arrested together with her twin sister in 1948 and interned until 1954 in Soviet camps. The film also recalls the many forms of oppression meted out to Estonians from 1939 onwards, by both the Soviets and the Germans.

In the documentary, the director depicts her mother's past and, at the same time, that of all Estonia.

"It is still hard to talk about the unresolved past which crosses generation lines," says Paju. "But this journey must be completed in order for the community to heal from the wounds of history."

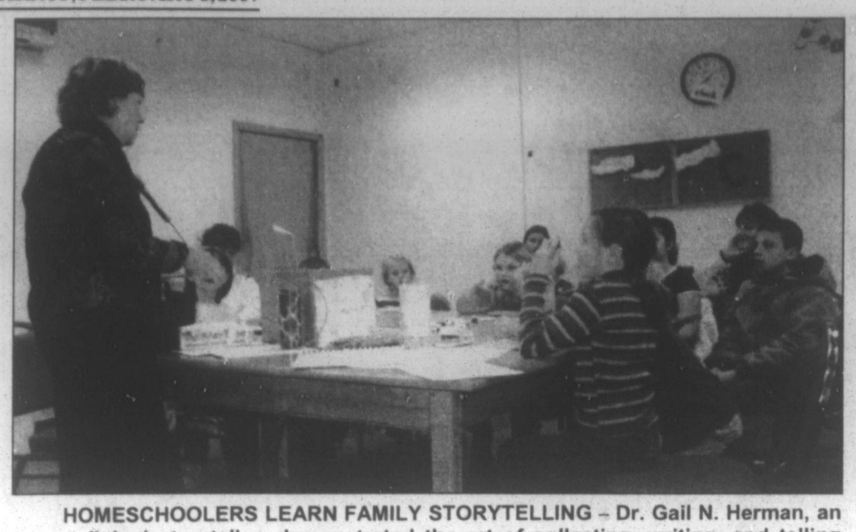
Paju's presentation is sponsored by Garrett College, the World View International Club of Garrett College, the Joint Baltic American National Committee (JBANC), and the Maryland/Estonia Exchange Council (MEEC). The movie is in Estonian with English sub-titles, and has a running time of 60 minutes. Immediately after the movie, Paju will speak with audience members at a reception, during which light refreshments will be served.

Paju is a citizen of Estonia, currently residing in Helsinki, Finland. She has studied at the Estonian Humanitarian Institute, the Helsinki University, Department of Political Studies, and the Helsinki Theatre Academy, and is involved in numerous media projects, including her roles as "Sõnumileht" correspondent in Helsinki, "Eesti Päevaleht" correspondent in Helsinki, Estonian Radio correspondent in Finland, and a daily columnist.

Her other projects have included a documentary about a 13-year-old girl who was sexually abused by her stepfather (ETV/Facts from Real Life); a semi-documentary titled People of Raja Village (about the Russian Old-Believers living by Lake Peipsi); and Helsinki – European Capital of Culture. In 2006, she completed her book, Memories Denied, based on her documentary film of the same name.

Currently attending Garrett College are two students from Estonia: Krista Joosep, a liberal arts major who will graduate in May, and Maksim Pavlov, an adventure sports management major who is in his first semester at the college.

For more information about the program, persons may contact Judy A. Carbone, the Garrett College coordinator of global education and advisor to the World View International Club, at 301-387-3046, or via e-mail at jcarbone@garrettcollege.edu.



HOMESCHOOLERS LEARN FAMILY STORYTELLING – Dr. Gail N. Herman, an accomplished storyteller, demonstrated the art of collecting, writing, and telling family stories recently to members of the Oakland Library's HomeSchooler program. To demonstrate the art of storytelling, she entertained the group with a funny story about her first Thanksgiving dinner at a restaurant when she was young. Using various instruments in her collection, Dr. Herman showed how sound effects can enhance the story. The children created a 4-page folio in which to start writing their stories, and Dr. Herman had them pin an imaginary storytelling license on their shirts. "Now you are storytellers," she told them. The next HomeSchooler program will be held at the Oakland Library on Friday, Feb. 16, from 1 to 2 p.m. Sgt. Corley from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office will be present along with his canine, and will discuss drug use and detection. The event is free and open to the public. For more information, call Dorene Rogers at 301-334-3996, ext. 115. A schedule of all programs can be found on the Ruth Enlow Library's web site at www.relib.net.

Arts Generate Record-Breaking $1.05 Billion In Economic Impact

More than 13 million people attended arts events in Maryland in Fiscal Year 2006, generating a record-breaking $1.05 billion in economic impact for Maryland, up from $970 million the previous fiscal year, according to a study released this week by the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development (DBED).

The study, prepared for the Maryland State Arts Council (MSAC), also showed the arts generated an estimated $37.3 million in state and local taxes, up from $35 million, and provided 13,762 full-time jobs. In addition, for every dollar of direct spending by audiences attending arts events, another $2.10 is generated on other goods and services, according to the study.

"The arts in Maryland are not only a significant economic generator and source of well-paying jobs, but they are also critical to maintaining our outstanding quality of life," said Governor Martin O'Malley. "As we celebrate Arts Day in Maryland today [Tuesday], we see the tremendous impact the arts play in the lives of every Marylander. When we invest in the arts, we invest in our communities, our businesses and our citizens."

The study analyzed the state regionally, dividing it into six regions. Maryland's central region, consisting of Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Cecil, Harford, and Howard counties, contributed $619 million in economic impact from the arts, and provided 8,066 arts-related jobs. The Greater Washington region, which includes Frederick, Montgomery, and Prince George's counties, contributed $318 million and provided 4,184 jobs. The remainder of the state, which is divided into Western Maryland, Southern Maryland, the Upper Eastern Shore, and the Lower Eastern Shore, contributed a combined $114 million and provided a total of 1,512 arts-related jobs.

Arts organizations reported a total income of $161 million in 2006. About 30 percent, or $50 million, was earned from various program activities including ticket sales, exhibitors' fees, contracts, and memberships. Cash contributions and revenues from fundraising events totaled 26 percent, or $41 million, of total earnings.

To review the complete study, "Economic Impact of the Arts in Maryland: 2006 Update," persons may visit the MSAC web site at www.msac.org.

Statistics for the study were drawn from 247 Maryland organizations that produce or present the arts around the state, and receive grants from the Maryland State Arts Council for ongoing support of their operations and programs. The study did not take into account the economic impact of for-profit arts organizations and the activities of individual visual, performing, and literary artists.

The mission of the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency of the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development, is to encourage and invest in the advancement of the arts for the people of Maryland.

For more information about the Maryland State Arts Council, persons are invited to call 410-767-6555 or TDD/TTY at 410-333-4519, or connect to the MSAC web site at www.msac.org.

Play At FSU To Raise Funds For The Dove Center

Frostburg State University will present Eve Ensler's award-winning play, The Vagina Monologues, at 8 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 16, and Saturday, Feb. 17, in the Performing Art Center's Pealer Recital Hall. All proceeds will benefit the Dove Center of Garrett County and the Family Crisis Resource Center in Cumberland.

The event, which was organized as part of V-Day, a global movement to stop violence against women and girls, brings together the efforts of FSU's Student Center for Volunteerism, the Ophelia Project, and the FSU theatre department. As a precursor to the evening's performance, volunteers will be available at tables throughout the Performing Arts Center lobby with informative brochures about preventing violence against women. This Info Festival will begin at 7 p.m.

Through V-Day campaigns, local volunteers and college students produce annual benefit performances of The Vagina Monologues to raise awareness of and funds for anti-violence groups within their own communities. In 2006, over 2,700 V-Day benefit events were held around the world, educating millions of people about the reality of violence against women and girls. This year's festivities focus on the theme of ending violence against women in conflict zones.

The Vagina Monologues, which is based on interviews with over 200 women, has been performed in cities all across America and at hundreds of college campuses. It is renowned as a "witty, irreverent, and compassionate play about women's sexuality."

Tickets to the FSU performance are $5 for students and $10 for non-students. Persons may telephone 301-687-7462 for ticket information. To learn more about FSU's V-Day events, persons may contact Whitney Young, president of the Ophelia Project Advisory Council, at 410-703-0898, or via e-mail at wyoung0@frostburg.edu. For more info about V-Day, persons may also visit www.vday.org.

FSU TO PRESENT RAMONA QUIMBY – Audience members of all ages are invited to get to know the world's most animated elementary school student during a special children's theatre performance of Ramona Quimby, presented by TheatreworksUSA at 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Performing Arts Center Recital Hall on the Frostburg State University campus. Ramona, the exasperating but lovable third-grader who has delighted young readers for the last 40 years in the books of Newbery Medal award-winning writer Beverly Cleary, now comes to life on the stage in this spirited production. While intended to tickle the funny bone, the play also incorporates issues that touch on the lives of real families. Ramona's life is a mess: Her older sister Beezus is a pain, her Aunt Bea may marry a dork, and Dad just lost his job. She even thinks that her teacher hates her. Life is no picnic, and growing up isn't easy. But with the help of her loving and patient family and friends, Ramona faces these challenges – as audiences laugh and cheer her on. Ramona Quimby is a one-hour performance. To purchase tickets or obtain more information, persons may call the FSU Cultural Events Box Office at 301-687-3137 or toll free at 1-866-TIXX-CES, or visit online at ces.frostburg.edu. Civic Club Notes Winners Of '07 Youth Art Show

The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland and the Garrett County Arts Council recently partnered with a Civic Club-sponsored Youth Art Show and Contest held at the Gallery of GCAC. Artwork from Garrett County middle and senior high students were exhibited and prizes presented in various media of art, including computer-generated pieces. The winners were announced this week.

Northern Middle School winners were as follows: First place, Mercedes McClintock (7th grade) with "Egyptian Cow God," a tin and shoe polish creation; second place, Chelsea Beitzel (7th grade), a "Self-Portrait" using pencil, water color and markers; and third place, Thomas Harvey's "Chickens for My Grandma," a paper creation.

St. Mark's Again Hosting Youth "Snow Theatre"

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland is again this year hosting "Snow Theatre" for middle and high school youth on days when school is canceled. All students of that age group are invited to come to the church on snow days to watch a movie on a large screen, eat pizza and snacks, and "hang out" with their friends, according to C. Scott Robinson, pastor of the church and organizer of Snow Theatre.

"This gives the kids something to do, and helps parents out, too," said Pastor Robinson. "We have a lot of fun."

The event is held on most snow days, barring extremely bad weather. If the event is to be held, it is announced on local radio stations. Persons may call the church on the mornings of canceled school days to find out if Snow Theatre is on, Robinson said. The number is 301-334-2668.

In order to show movies, the church has obtained a the required special license, Robinson noted. This week, Snow Theatre was held on Tuesday, and the movie Chronicles of Narnia was shown.

St. Mark's is located at the corner of Second and Center streets in Oakland. Snow Theatre is held in the basement, and guests are asked to enter through the side door located along Center Street. The event is chaperoned, and there is no entry fee.

For more information, persons may call the church at the number noted above, or e-mail the office at stmarksoakland@verizon.net.

Porcupine Passion
by Glen Dunham

When life gets too crinkly
With edges too jagged
The children too ugly
And husband too ragged
When people disgust you
With infantile habits
Who mortgaged all virtues
Like addlebrained rabbits
When friends shoot black arrows
To jab tenderest skin
And wife scours marrow
To purge your soul of sin;
Remember, we know now
(Don't tell, please, the ladies)
With spines, even, somehow
Porcupines make babies!

Volunteers Still Needed For Hauser Benefit

Volunteers to help man the kitchen and wait tables are still being sought for a fundraising spaghetti dinner and used book sale, being planned to assist the family of 16-month-old Walker Van Hauser. Persons who would like to help out on the day of the event are asked to contact Heather Carr at 240-321-3670.

Organizers reported this week that a wide array of books have been donated for the used book sale, as well as a number of items for various raffles to take place during the fundraiser.

Walker Van Hauser, son of Cindy (Sanders) and Jamie Hauser, was born with hypoplastic left heart syndrome (HLHS — which means he was born without a left ventricle in his heart). He has spent most of his young life in the intensive care units of several hospitals, and is currently hospitalized at the Cleveland Clinic.

The fundraiser is slated for Saturday, Feb. 17, 3 to 7 p.m., at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. The proceeds from the event will go to the family to help defray the many expenses associated with the baby's illness.

Persons who would like to help in any way may contact Carr, Kim Sanders (301-334-8129), or Theresa Browning (301-334-7948).

The tickets for the Feb. 17 dinner will be $6 for adults in advance and $7 at the door. For children under 10, advance tickets will be $3, and $4 at the door.

Persons may also donate to the Walker Van Hauser Fund, which has been established at First United Bank & Trust.

High School were as follows: First place, Marie Lauver (12th grade), "Leaving the Nest," developed using fabric, ink, and water color on illustration board; Second place, Laura Viar, with an untitled piece using colored pencil on paper; and third place, Danielle Daniels' "Potter's Wheel" using charcoal on paper.

Computer-generated art pieces submitted from Southern High School were placed as follows: First place, Leesha Weeks (12th grade), "Butterflies"; second place, Jennifer Donham (10th grade), "Fish"; and third place, Jennifer Nugent (12th grade), "Mad Cats."

These winners' pieces will be entered in a competition of the Western District (Frederick, Allegany, and Garrett counties), to be held on Feb. 24 in LaVale. The winners of that contest will then have their works entered in the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs (MFWC) exhibit and contest, to be held at the annual convention at the BWI Marriott in April. Cash prizes are also given by the Western District and MFWC.

This annual art show, which has been held at the Gallery since its opening in 2000, includes a reception to meet the artists.

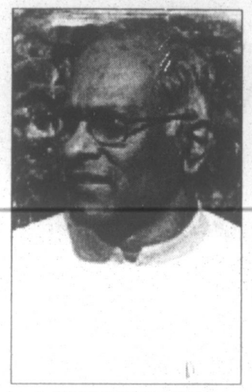
Faith Evangelical Free Church Sets Deeper Life Conference For Feb. 15



AJITH FERNANDO

JONELLA WILLIAMSON

The annual Deeper Life Conference of Faith Evangelical Free Church, Mtn. Lake Park, is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 15, through Sunday, Feb. 18, with 7:00 p.m. services each evening.

Keynote speaker Dr. Ajith Fernando is the director of Youth For Christ (YFC) in Sri Lanka, an author, and an international Bible teacher. His talks will be based on 1 Corinthians 13.

Fernando has been the director of YFC in Sri Lanka since 1976. His duties include teaching, ministering to staff and volunteers, pastoral care of leaders, supervising youth guidance, and YFC's drug rehabilitation ministry.

He has authored 11 books, which have been translated into 11 different languages. Among the books he has written are an exposition on the book of Daniel, a commentary on Acts, and a book examining the various aspects of hell. He is currently working on a preaching commentary on Deuteronomy.

He is a visiting lecturer of the Bible at Colombo Theological Seminary in Sri Lanka, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, Ill., and other theological institutions in Asia and North America.

He has received post graduate degrees from Asbury Theological Seminary, Ky., and Fuller Theological Seminary, Calif., and has received honorary doctorates from Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary, Mass., and Trinity Evangelical Divinity School. Fernando preached four times to over 20,000 college students in St. Louis in December at the Urbana missions conference, sponsored by Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

Fernando and his wife Nelun, who will accompany him, are the parents of two grown children and make their home in Sri Lanka.

Saturday and Sunday's Deeper Life services will feature the music of Jonella Williamson, Waynesburg, Pa. Williamson is a summa cum laude graduate of Waynesburg College with degrees in English and education. While in college, as a member of the Lamplighters Choir, she took part in the 1993 Presidential Inauguration Music Festival, where she was a soloist at Ford's Theater and the National Cathedral.

She has appeared in several musicals, including The Sound of Music as Maria, and The Wizard of Oz as Dorothy. Williamson has been active in music ministry for many years as a vocalist, pianist, choir director, worship leader, and teacher. She is the founder and artistic director of the Daughters of Grace, a Christian women's volunteer choir in southwestern Pennsylvania.

She has recorded with the Behold music label and performs frequently throughout her local region. She was the 2003 Mrs. Pennsylvania/Globe, and received an award for her talent presentation at the Mrs. U.S./Globe pageant in Palm Springs, Calif.

Williamson is also a member of the board of directors of Children's Bible Ministries of SWPA Inc. and the Greene Academy of the Arts. She is director of children's ministries at her church.

Nursery care will be provided during each service. For further information on the Deeper Life Conference persons may call the office at Faith Evangelical Free Church at 301-334-4172.

Garrett Falls To Takoma, PG Co. In Cliffhangers; Squeaks By Baltimore

The Garrett College men's basketball team failed to score when it counted, losing to Takoma Saturday night and Prince George's Monday night, but held on to defeat Baltimore City Community College Wednesday night.

In Saturday's action, Garrett had four players score in double figures, and led Takoma Park for three and a half quarters but collapsed in the final four minutes, falling to Takoma 79-72.

The Lakers' Chris Henderson scored a team-high 21 points, grabbed 14 rebounds, and dished out six assists. Glen Izevbigie added 12 points, Jerome Jack had 11, and Hrvoje Muhek recorded a double double, grabbing a team-high 15 boards to go along with his 10 points.

Garrett led by as much as 15 points in the first half, and were up at halftime 40-34. But in the fourth quarter Takoma slowly closed the gap and took control of the game late in the fourth period, going up by as much as eight points. Garrett had an opportunity to close the gap when Izevbigie hit a pair of free-throws to bring the Lakers within two with 40 seconds left. But Takoma managed to hit three free-throws in the final minute to clinch the win.

Gemayl Johnson led all scorers with 26 points, Charles Richardson added 17, and Philip Skeeter had 10.

In Monday's action, Garrett lost to Prince George's 89-88 in the final seconds when they inadvertently turned the ball over in the final seconds of the game and missed a last shot opportunity in a Maryland JUCO basketball game Monday night.

In a game that had 28 lead changes and 10 ties, Garrett led 86-85 with 52 seconds left after Chris Henderson converted a three point play. But Prince George's fought back, scoring a field goal and converting two free-throws to go up 89-86. Henderson hit a bucket to put the Lakers within one point of the lead. Garrett stole the inbounds pass with just under 11 seconds remaining on the clock, but an immediate turnover cost the Lakers the game.

Henderson led Garrett with 21 points and eight assists. Antonio Levere finished with 14 points, while Derrick Sherman and Glen Izevbigie added 13 apiece.

For the Owls, Nasir Austin scored a game-high 29 points, and Joshua Hickman finished with 18 points, including 10 of 11 from the foul line.

In Wednesday's action, Garrett saw a fourth-quarter 23-point lead evaporate, but held on to defeat Baltimore City 94-91.

Six Garrett players scored in double figures. Dale Taylor and Daniel Conway led Garrett with 19 points apiece; Glen Izevbigie had a double double, scoring 16 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. Hrvoje Muhek finished with nine points and 10 boards, Antonio Levere added 13 points, and Derrick Sherman scored 10.

After blowing a 23-point fourth-quarter lead, Muhek broke an 88-88 tie with a jumper from the foul line with 57 seconds on the clock. Izevbigie then hit a layup, and Sherman and Henderson both hit foul shots to clinch the win.

"We've been shot-handed the last few games and have had our full line-up only two times this semester," said Garrett coach Dennis Green. "We needed the guys off the bench, and tonight we got it."

Garrett (14-9 overall and 7-8 Maryland JUCO) will play Saturday, 4 p.m., at Harford and then return home to face CCBC Essex Campus next Wednesday at 7 p.m.

League Slates Officer Election

The Oakland Youth Football League (OYFL) will hold elections for open positions of president and treasurer. The election will be held at Southern High School in the cafeteria on Monday, Feb. 26, from 6 to 7 p.m.

According to a spokesperson for the league, any card-carrying member in good standing may, after nomination, run for either position and/or cast a vote. A card-carrying member is any parent, coach, or guardian who had a child who participated and met all financial obligations in the previous season. Members may cast a vote by paying a $2 fee the day of the election. Only one member per household will be allowed to vote. A vote can be cast by either parent of a player or cheerleader who participated in the organization last season.

Persons interested in nominating an individual for either position should contact Eric Cvetnick by calling 301-334-1891 or 301-616-0057, or by e-mail at ecvetnick@verizon.net. The nomination deadline is Monday, Feb. 19. Nominations received after that date will be write-in candidates.

A OYFL board meeting will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. following the election.

OAKLAND YOUTH FOOTBALL LEAGUE (OYFL)

Elections for open positions of President and Treasurer of the OYFL Executive Board will be held on Monday, February 26, 2007, from 6-7 PM at Southern High School in the cafeteria. If you would like to nominate a candidate for either position or are interested in one of the positions and would like more information, please contact Eric Cvetnick at 301-334-1891 or 301-616-0057, or e-mail ecvetnick@verizon.net by February 19, 2007. Any nomination after the February 19, 2007 deadline will be a write-in candidate. Candidates selected for each position shall serve a two-year term which will run through February 2009.

Any card-carrying member (i.e., parent, coach, or guardian of any child who was registered last year) in good standing who is interested in voting may do so by paying $2.00 to cast a vote the day of the election. Only one member per household will be allowed to vote, and this can be either parent of a player or cheerleader that participates in the OYFL.

An OYFL Board meeting will be held from 7-9 PM following the election at the same location.

Peterson Dominates As Top-Ranked Garrett Storms Past BCC, Hagerstown

The Garrett women's basketball team routed Baltimore Community College on Friday and defeated Hagerstown to take a two-game lead in the Maryland JUCO league.

In Friday's game, Flodysha Peterson and Tegra Hillman scored 24 points apiece to lead the Lakers to a 90-21 rout over Baltimore Community College in a home game. Mindy Sharp added 15 points for Garrett.

Peterson also had a game-high 21 rebounds with eight assists, eight steals, and six blocked shots. Hillman finished with nine assists to go along with her 24-point total. Shante Brickhouse had seven points and 11 rebounds.

Garrett led at halftime by a score of 44-12. The Lakers limited the Red Devils to just eight first-half field goals, and Baltimore made only 4 of 24 foul shots for the game. S. Perry led Baltimore with 12 points.

In Saturday's action, Peterson racked up another triple double as she scored a game-high 24 points, skied for a game-high 19 rebounds, and blocked a game-high 11 shots to lead Garrett to a 65-51 victory over No. 2 Hagerstown in a Maryland JUCO match-up.

Peterson also managed to cop eight steals and dish out six assists. Teammate Shekeya Mervin recorded a double double by grabbing 10 boards and scoring 11 points. Tegra Hillman added eight assists, six points, and six steals.

With the win, Garrett improved to 17-3, and pulled two games ahead of Hagerstown in the league standings with only one game remaining.

L. Buckner scored 21 points for Hagerstown.

Garrett will play at Harford on Saturday.

Northern Shuts Down Union 50-30, But Falls To Top-Ranked Fort Hill

The Northern High School boys' basketball team stormed past Union Friday night and lost to top-ranked Fort Hill Tuesday night.

In Friday's action, the Huskies turned in a superb defensive effort en route to a 50-30 win over Union Friday evening in Mount Storm.

Northern held Union to two first-quarter points and nine points in the first half. Garrett Gulledge scored a game-high 14 points for the Huskies, and Dan Miller added 10.

The Huskies led by 20 points going into the fourth quarter, and Union was never able to close the gap as Northern improved to 8-9 overall.

In Tuesday's action, the Northern boys' team failed to contain Fort Hill's high octane offense, and fell to the Sentinels 78-44 in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League game Tuesday night at home.

Garrett Gulledge hit five three-pointers, and led Northern with 17 points. Dan Miller finished with eight.

Jordan Brooks, the WMIL's top scorer, finished with 18 points, and was one of four Sentinels who scored in double figures. Steve Iser had 13, Zach Blank added 12, and Rich Shook hit 11.

Fort Hill jumped to an 18-10 first-quarter lead and then outscored the Huskies 22-10 in the second quarter to go ahead 40-20 at halftime. Fort Hill put together a 26-15 third quarter, and led the Huskies 66-35 going into the final period.

Fort Hill hit eight three-pointers, and was 12 of 13 from the free-throw line. Fort Hill holds first place in the WMIL with a 6-2 record.

Northern dropped to 8-10 overall and 1-7 in WMIL play. The Huskies will play Beall on the road this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Pen Mar League Kickoff Meeting Set For Sunday

The Pen Mar Baseball League will hold its 2007 kickoff meeting at 3 p.m. this Sunday, Feb. 11, at the Three Ways Inn in Fairmont, W.Va. Managers from last year's teams and league officers are expected to attend, and representatives from prospective new teams are asked to attend.

This tri-state men's baseball league was founded in 1949. Teams participating last season were league champion Cumberland-Romney Cycle Orioles, Tri-State Titans, Oakland Oaks, Petersburg-Mt. Storm Powerhouse, Parkersburg-Ohio Valley Venom, Fairmont Dirty Birds, and Salisbury Casselman Baseball.

The league begins its regular season after Memorial Day with weekend doubleheaders, and the playoffs are completed by the middle of August. The league boasts about 50% current college players. Oakland pitcher Tobi Stoner was drafted last year by the New York Mets.

Persons with questions may telephone league officer Terry Helbig at 301-616-0661. If there is inclement weather this Sunday, persons planning to attend the meeting are encouraged to contact Helbig to confirm that it is still being held.

Rams Topped Again By Huskies Before Crushing No. Hagerstown

For the second time this season the Northern High School wrestling team toppled cross-county rival Southern, handing the host Rams a 34-27 defeat last Thursday evening and thus maintaining their undefeated regular season.

The win gave the Huskies a perfect 14-0 record, and it was only the second loss for the Rams (12-2), whose only other defeat was a 28-27 edging by the Huskies just one week earlier at Northern.

Both teams qualified for the 1A/2A West Regional Dual Tournament, which was to be hosted last night by the Huskies, but was rescheduled for this evening. Northern is the top-seeded team in the region, and Southern seeded second.

Northern's grapplers won seven of the individual bouts against the Rams last Thursday, as did the Rams; however, Northern finished with four pins, compared to just two for Southern, which made the difference in the final score.

Huskies winning via pinfalls were Jason Warnick in the 119-pound division, Travis Glover at 130 pounds, Jason Doerr at 215, and heavyweight Brock Glotfelty.

Winning on pins for the Rams were Josh Armstrong in the 125-pound clash and Justin Ratliff at 189 pounds.

Point victories for the Huskies were by Adam Moranduzzo at 135 pounds, Andrew Ganoe at 152, and Brandon Opel at 171.

Gaining decisions for the Rams were David Stewart in the 103-pound bout, George Scheffel at 112, Corey Reckart at 140, Daniel Carr at 145, and Jonathan Feaster at 160.

The Rams bounced back into the win column Saturday by thrashing visiting North Hagerstown, 61-7.

Garnering pins for Southern were Armstrong (125), Lee Custer at 130 pounds, and Andrew Pritts at 152.

Winning by technical falls were Scheffel, who moved back to the 103-pound division, Stewart at 112, and Nick Brant at 135.

A major decision was recorded by Ratliff (171), while Feaster (145) and Ryan Fitzwater (160) won via regular decision.

Forfeits were awarded to Nick Farmer (189), Sam Bowman (215), and Sean Sisler (285).

Delon Agee (119) won by major decision for North Hagerstown.

After tonight's regional dual competition, the Rams and Huskies can move on to the state dual tournament, which is set for this Saturday, Feb. 10. Both will vie in the Bi-County Tournament on Feb. 17.

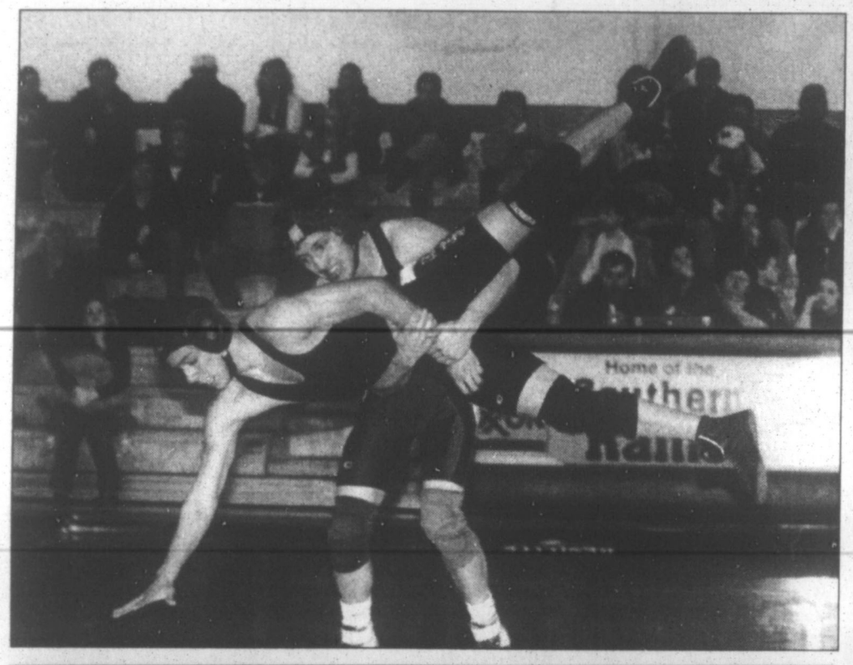
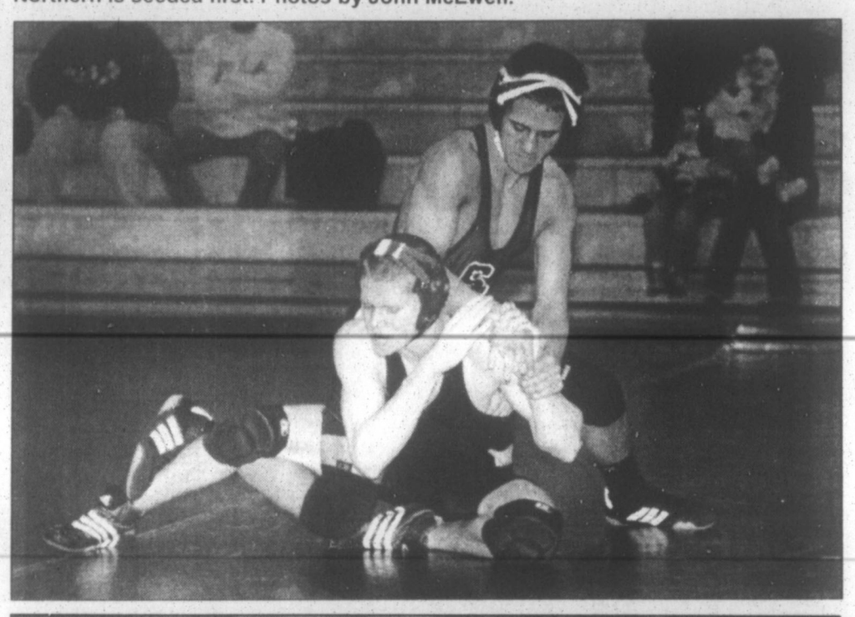
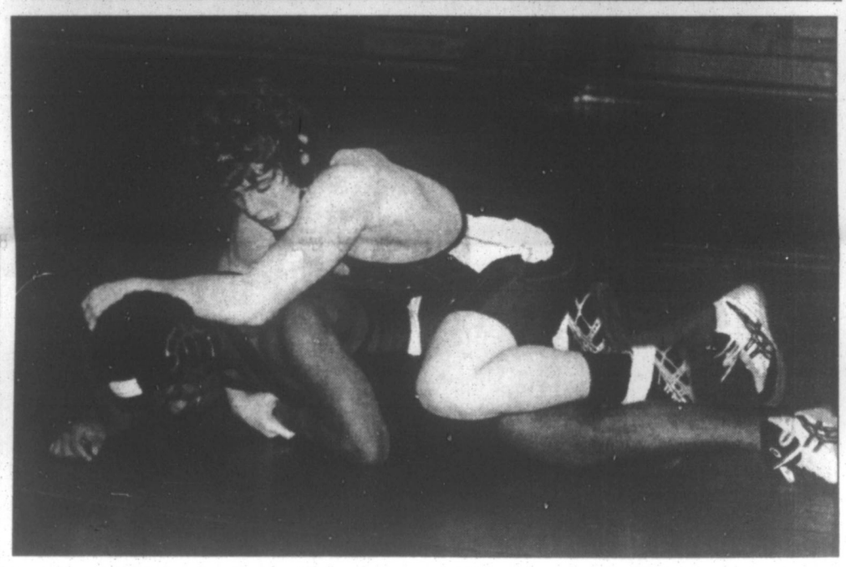
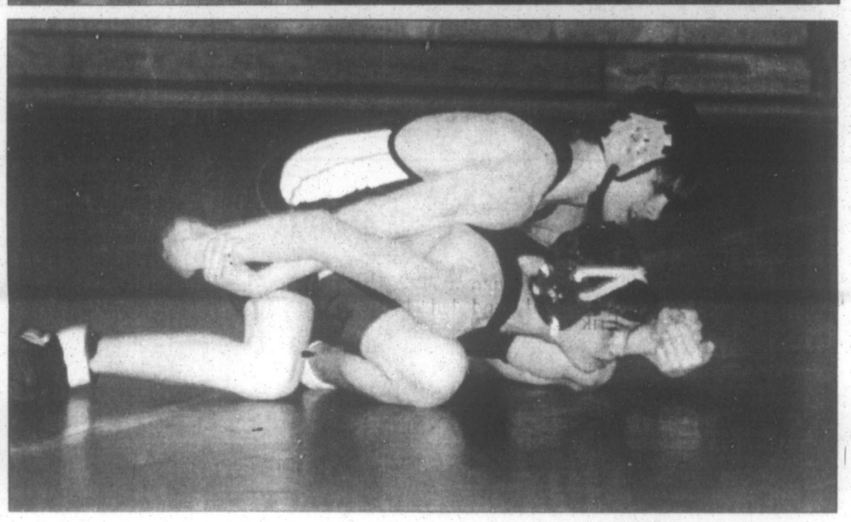
RAMS CRUSH NORTH HAGERSTOWN — After the Southern High wrestling team was defeated by visiting Northern last Thursday, the Rams rebounded with an easy 61-7 victory over North Hagerstown on Saturday. The win upped the Rams' regular-season record to 12-2. Recording a technical fall in the photo above left is Southern's Nick Brant, who nearly pinned Jeffrey Miller in the 135-pound division. Above right, Ram Lee Custer pins Joe Breehl in the 130-pound clash. Below left, Southern's Andrew Pritts picks up Devin Martinez in the 152-pound bout and eventually pins him. Also winning via a pin was Ram Josh Armstrong, who is pictured below right tying up Dustin Smith in the 125-pound division. Earning a decision win in the photo bottom left was Southern's Jonathan Feaster (145) over Mason Burnett. At bottom right, 112-pound David Stewart of Southern controls Tim Joliet and goes on to win via a technical fall. The Rams will be back in action this evening as the second-seeded team in the West Regional Dual Championships. Host Northern is seeded first. Photos by John McEwen.









Southern Mat Club Competes At Williamsport

Members of the Southern Mat Club participated in a youth wrestling tournament in Williamsport on Saturday, and came home with the runner-up team trophy.

Placing first individually for the SMC was Jakob Scheffel, who won both the age 12/14, 110-pound title, and the 12/14, 125-pound division championship.

Placing second in the 12/14, 175 division was Josh DeWitt. Taking third places were Dalton Cooper, 8/9, 85 pounds; and Scott Cooper, 10/11, 108. Fourth places were won by Devan Hamrick, 8/9, 55; and Austin Shaffer, 10/11, 60.

Awarded participation ribbons were Erik Fike, T.J. Hooks, Josh King, Austin Sines, Devon Tracey, Tanner Massey, and Gavin Murphy.

The Southern club will travel to Frankfort High School this weekend for another tournament.

"THE BROTHERS SNYDER," often referred to as the fathers of squirt boating, will be among the presenters for the spring semester 2007 Colloquium Speaker series of The Adventuresports Institute (ASI) of Garrett College. Pictured is Jim Snyder, who will speak next Tuesday, Feb. 13. The designer of many different boat designs, a crafter of fine wooden kayak paddles, and the author of The Squirt Book, Snyder was honored this past October for his life's work with an induction into the Whitewater Hall of Fame. His brother Jeff will be the speaker for the March 13 program. A reception will begin at 6:30 in room 224 of the Continuing Education building at the college, and the program will be from 7 to 8 p.m. As part of its academic program in Adventure Sports, ASI recruits adventure sports industry leaders, including world class athletes, adventure sport business professionals, adventure travelers, and industry pioneers, to speak to its Adventure Sport program majors about their passions. The series is free and open to the public.

Rams Lose In Last Second To Tucker County; Fall To Petersburg, 78-44

The Southern High School boys' basketball team lost a heartbreaker to Tucker County on Friday and fell to Petersburg Tuesday night.

In Friday's action, a desperate last-second, three-point shot by the Rams rolled around the rim but did not fall in, giving Tucker County a two-point, 43-41, hard-fought victory over Southern in Oakland.

Although Eric Wamsley scored 20 points, it was T.J. Hamrick's and L.J. Gravelle's late game heroics that clinched the win for the Mountain Lions.

With the Rams leading by three going into the final five minutes of the game, Hamrick and Gravelle took over. Hamrick hit 3 of 4 from the line, and Gravelle was 2 of 2 in the final period to stave off Southern's final surge.

Jordan Pacella and Erik Cussins led Southern with 10 points apiece. The Rams were more accurate than Tucker from the foul line, converting on 11 of 15 attempts. Tucker hit 13 of 23 free-throws, but Gravelle and Hamrick hit them in the clutch to clinch the win.

In Tuesday's action, Petersburg jumped to an early first-quarter lead and went on to defeat Southern 78-44.

Lucas Geary scored a game-high 23 points, including three three-pointers and a perfect 4 of 4 from the foul line. Teammate Jon Webster finished with 12.

Ryan DeWitt led Southern with 10 points; Sean McCreery and Drew Proudfoot finished with nine apiece; and Jordan Pacella and Jeff Stem each had eight.

Petersburg hit 8 of 11 foul shots compared to Southern's 2 of 4. The Vikings had a 32-22 halftime lead, and led 46-34 going into the fourth quarter.

Southern (7-11) will play Allegany on the road this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Pagenhardt Joins 1,000-Point Club At Marietta Col.

Marietta College junior guard Justine Pagenhardt, a 2004 graduate of Southern High School, scored her 1,000th career point in front of a Parents' and Foster Parents' Day crowd Saturday afternoon.

Pagenhardt entered the game needing 17 points to reach 1,000 and join just six other Marietta women's basketball players in the exclusive club. She recorded 13 of her game-high 21 points in the first half to help the Pioneers take a 31-28 advantage into the locker room. She added a three-pointer early in the second half and converted from the line with 12:07 to play in the game to collect her 1,000th point.

With 1,004 points to her credit, Pagenhardt joins Cathy Clark (2,311), Lisa Wagner (1,818), Kim Brown (1,568), Libby McCandlish (1,283), Brenda Brdicka (1,109), and April Smith (1,017) in Marietta's 1,000-point club.

A daughter of Monty and Nancy Pagenhardt, Oakland, Justine is again leading the Pioneers in scoring with an average of 13 points per game, and is also contributing four rebounds and four assists per outing. She led the Ohio Athletic Conference in scoring as a sophomore (19.2) and was selected All-Conference both as a sophomore and freshman.

She was also Academic All-Conference last year and carries a 3.93 grade point average, majoring in pre-medicine.

Marietta has struggled this year with a young team that has one senior and three juniors. The Pioneers are currently 2-19 overall and 0-14 in the OAC.

Eighth Grade Rams Defeat Mt. Savage, Fall Prey To BW

The Southern Rams 8th grade boys' basketball team defeated Mt. Savage on Saturday, but lost to Bishop Walsh on Sunday.

In Saturday's action, Calvin Hilliard scored 15 points to lead the Rams to a 53-35 win over Mt. Savage in what Coach Jim Burns said was their best performance of the season. Teammate Zach Knotts finished with nine points.

"After losing the week before to Northern, I felt our boys came out ready to play," Burns said. "We did good both offensively and defensively."

However, in Sunday's action the Rams played well until the second quarter, when Bishop Walsh started to press. "We couldn't get the ball up the court," Coach Burns said. "And when we did, we didn't take advantage of our opportunities."

Hilliard led the Rams with 11 points, and teammate Joey Kisselovich finished with nine. Burns said that Southern and Northern need more gym time. "There is not enough gym space in Garrett County. All these other schools practice every day, where we might get one practice a week if we're lucky."

The Rams (4-2) will face Keyser this week. "Keyser, I feel, is the best team in the league, and we'll have to play well to win," Burns said. The game is scheduled to be played tonight at 6:15 p.m. This Saturday the Rams will meet Frankfort at 2 p.m.

Files Bill

according to studies account for only 4 percent of the region's nitrogen load into the bay. It will not exempt those who use municipal wastewater facilities, according to the delegate.

"The original [Bay Restoration Fund] bill did not include septic systems," he said. "It was amended onto the bill in committee, and I think that it should be amended out."

HB 376 has been assigned to the House Environmental Matters committee, where a public hearing on the legislation will be held Wednesday, Feb. 14, at 1 p.m.

"I think that we will have a better shot with this bill passing if the people rally behind our efforts," stated Beitzel.

The public can submit both written and verbal testimony on the bill at the hearing. In accordance with committee procedure, anyone wishing to testify on any bill must sign the witness register before the hearing begins. Persons with written testimony are asked to submit 40 copies to the committee staff for distribution one hour prior to the hearing.

Letters and written testimony may also be sent to House Environmental Matters Committee; The Honorable Maggie McIntosh, chairman; Taylor House Office Bldg., Room 250; 6 Bladen Street; Annapolis, MD 20401.

Northern Lets Lead Slip Away As Union's Rally Sinks Huskies 56-50

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team lost to Union on the road last Thursday night and had its Monday night game with Bishop Walsh canceled.

In Thursday's game, the Huskies led for three quarters, but Union's big fourth-quarter rally allowed it to pull off a 56-50 win, and avenge an earlier one-point season loss.

Megan Wiley, Northern's leading scorer, poured in 18 points, and Kasie Fratz scored 11. Northern led 17-13 at the end of the first quarter and went into the locker room with a 25-23 lead. The Huskies took a 39-37 lead into the fourth quarter, but the Tigers put together a 19-11 run to clinch the victory.

Melanie Reynolds had a huge game for the Tigers, scoring 23 points and grabbing 12 rebounds. She hit nine field goals and was 5 of 9 from the free-throw line. Teammates Brittany Jones scored 14 points and Carrie Kitzmiller added 12 points and blocked three shots.

Northern (8-10) will host Westmar this Monday at 7:30 p.m. Northern's game with Bishop Walsh was rescheduled for Thursday, Feb. 21, in Accident at 7:30 p.m.

Results Noted For Scottish Rite Area Fundraiser

Members of the Retirement Club of the Cumberland Scottish Rite recently completed a fundraiser in support of its Cumberland Scottish Rite Childhood Language Disorders Clinic, which is managed by the League for Crippled Children Inc.

A total of $6,600 was raised for the clinic, which provides free treatment to children of the tri-state area at their Cumberland facility.

This program, known as the "Buck-A-Cup," was held from Nov. 3 to Dec. 8 throughout the area. Restaurants involved in the fund-raising event encouraged waitresses to distribute pins for a donation, which entitled everyone with a pin to free coffee or tea on Dec. 8 at any of the participating restaurants.

An appreciation and awards luncheon was held on Monday, Feb. 5, at the League for Crippled Children, which is located in the county health building on Willowbrook Road. Restaurants were divided into large and small categories, and awards were presented accordingly.

In the large restaurant group, first place went to Arby's of LaVale for 3,802 pins; second place went to Keyser's Ridge Auto/Truck Stop in Garrett County for 1,061 pins; and third place went to Bob Evans of LaVale for 873 pins.

In the other category, first place went to K-Bar of Cumberland for 370 pins, second place went to Emma's Airport Inn for 195 pins, and third place went to Princess Restaurant of Frostburg for 175 pins.

Individual waitresses also received awards. First place went to Ashley Shaffer of Arby's for 1,609 pins, second place went to Starr Nichol of Arby's for 1,395 pins, and third place went to Joy Stewart of Keyser's Ridge Auto/Truck Stop for 1,061 pins. She received a Sony terminal internet/web TV, a $50 gift certificate to Country Club Mall, a mini grill, and a set of Lenox vases.

Other local participating restaurants included Long Branch Restaurant, Oakland; Loch Lynn Restaurant; and Winner's Circle, Mtn. Lake Park.

All participating restaurants received certificates of appreciation from the Scottish Rite.

West Virginians to be honored with the National 4-H Alumni Award, which she earned in 1953. She was selected to attend the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as a youth and again as an adult.

In Garrett County, she organized and led the Monte Vista 4-H Club in Oakland.

Hanst was named a Friend of West Virginia 4-H in 1971, and Friend of Maryland 4-H in 1994. She was selected for the 4-H Cornerstones of Excellence in 1988, and to the West Virginia 4-H Hall of Fame in 2003. In that same year, Hanst was named to the National 4-H Hall of Fame. She attended the April 2003 ceremony to accept that honor, held at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase.

Early in her career, Hanst was a field editor and associate editor for the Farmer's Wife magazine, which was part of the Farm Journal. The publication included a monthly 4-H Club feature she wrote titled "Up in Polly's Room," and then an advice column titled "Dear Polly." She wrote for this publication from 1928 to 1931.

She served as an extension agent for WVU in 1928 and '29.

She and George Hanst met at WVU and were married in 1931. He lived in Oakland, but for the first part of their marriage, Polly remained in St. Paul, Minn., continuing to work for the magazine for about one year until she was able to pay off her college loan.

The Hansts then settled in Oakland and had their three children. While Polly focused on homemaking, she was also engaged in activities at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, which she joined in 1933, as well as a number of civic organizations.

Hanst was a freelance writer for the Lutheran church publication High Ideals, and wrote her column for The Republican. In 1959, she took a position at Northern High School as a home economics and life skills teacher. She taught at Northern until 1974.

Polly served as a Sunday school teacher at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland for more than 40 years, and also served as a Luther League advisor and sponsor, along with her husband. Polly was elected president of the Lutheran Church Women.

In 1974, Hanst became the first woman of the West Virginia, Western Maryland, Western Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod to be elected president of her church council.

In her civic life, Hanst was involved in several organizations. She was a charter member of the Garrett County Branch of AAUW (American Association of University Women), and served as president of that group. She was a founder and charter member of the Mountain Laurel Garden Club, and a member of the Civic Club of Oakland.

She was the sole woman on the six-member 1949 Oakland Centennial Committee. She was the chairperson of the Oakland Bicentennial Pageant in 1976, and then in 1989, she served on the Oakland Sesquicentennial Committee, and was honored in that celebration for her many years of dedication to the town and county.

The Year of Garrett County Women was celebrated in 1993, and Hanst was one of the first to be chosen and recognized in that commemoration. Polly was inducted in the Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame in 1995. She served as the grand marshal of the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade in 1999.

She is survived by one son, John Hanst, and his wife Joan, Jacksonville (Md.); one daughter, Jane Brown, and her husband Tom, Oakland; and daughter-in-law Barbara Hanst, Boulder, Colo. She is also survived by grandchildren Jennifer Hanst, Hawaii, and Jonathan Hanst, Lafayette, Colo.; Rebecca Hanst, Sparks, Elizabeth Hanst, Cockeysville, and her fiancé, Karl Stegmann; and Jann and David Skelton, North Caldwell, N.J., Cynthia and Robert Wenke, Philadelphia, Pa., Jamie and Brenan Buckley, Raleigh, N.C., and James Burks, Morgantown, and fiancée Laurie Sinclair. There are four great-grandchildren, and two sisters-in-law, Martha Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and Kathryn Hanst, Sarasota, Fla.

Visitations for friends and family will be held on Monday, Feb. 12, at the Burdock-Durst Funeral Home in Oakland from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9. The funeral service will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 13, 11 a.m., at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, officiated by Pastor C. Scott Robinson. There will be an additional visitation time at the church one hour before the service.

Memorials may take the form of contributions to the Polly Johnson Hanst 4-H Older Youth Scholarship Fund, WVU Foundation Inc., P.O. Box 1650, Morgantown, WV 26507-1650, or St. Mark's Lutheran Church, 6 South Second Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

In Memory of Jean Barrick

January 11, 1943 - February 8, 2002

If roses grow in Heaven,
Lord please pick a bunch for me,
Place them in my Mother's arms
And tell her they're from me.

Tell her I love her and miss her,
And when she turns to smile,
Place a kiss upon her cheek
And hold her for awhile.

Because remembering her is easy,
I do it everyday.
But there's an ache within my heart
That will never go away.

Love,
Jennifer & Family

Board Of Trustees Meeting At Garrett College Signals Change In All Areas

The following items were discussed at a recent board of trustees metting at Garrett College:

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The search for the academic dean is under way, and eight applications have been received to date. Dr. Dauphinais indicated that for the time being Garrett is going to retain the curtent academic department organizational structure and look for other alternatives when the new academic dean comes on board.

ACADEMIC REPORT

Dean Wellham reported that Lyz Biser, the director of juvenile justice, has been in discussions about expanding the current degree offering to encompass a justice studies curriculum, which may include such areas of concentration as criminal justice, paralegal studies, law enforcement, corrections, and forensics. Frostburg State is interested in pursuing a 2+2 agreement with criminal justice.

The Juvenile Justice Academic, Mission, and Purpose (AMP) program was a success this fall. Ten Backbone Mtn. students were recognized last December for the completion of six credits.

TECHNOLGY

Discussion in underway to expand the degree offerings in Business and Information Technology to encompass Information AssuranceCyber Security studies in connection with the Cyberwatch/Cyber Security Consortium. There is no charge to join, and the College has received a federal grant to help support and train the faculty. Cyberwatch is looking to expand in the western part of the state.

ALLIED HEALTH

Garrett has decided not to enter into an Allied Health agreement with Allegany College of Maryland at this time. The college is waiting to discuss the program options associated with CARC. A meeting will be scheduled with college representatives and Don Battista, administrator of Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

TAY

Mike Logsdon has been able to secure $30,000 in funding for the Adventure Sports Transition Age Youth (TAY) program expansion to enable students that typically participate in the first year of the program to continue. The time frame for programming is Jan. 1 through Sept. 30, 2007. This program will also enable summer programming, utilizing Adventure Sports students as instructors.

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

Associate dean of academic affairs Phil Rivera represented Garrett in a recent meeting with the Maryland Consortium for International Education. He will also be traveling to India to try to initiate a CS 105 class this spring.

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT

A faculty professional development activity was held on November 17. Marisa Sergnese, regional director of educational services with SmartEd Services Company, was the presenter on the topic of the use of airliners. Garrett currently has four airliners available for use by faculty which expand the capabilities of technology in the classroom. Dean Wellham distributed a copy of a faculty newsletter now being published to assist in keeping the faculty informed. Wellham distributed a copy of the newsletter. In addition, minutes of faculty meetings are now being prepared to help improve communications and to provide a record of discussions.

ATHLETIC FACILITY

The Garrett College Athletic Practice Facility is nearing completion and should be open for use starting in January. Draft II of the Practice Facility Policies and Procedures and the Membership Agreement form will be reviewed this Thursday.

SPORTS

Women's softball will be an official sport, with limited budgeting, in spring 2007. There are 13 participants. The college now has a sports line to provide scores, game highlights, and information on game cancellations. The number is 301-387-3030.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES REPORT

Dean Kilgus reported that the audit is finally done. LRC construction is about 70 cent complete, and the building is under roof. He noted that a lot of e-mails have been going back and forth to the board about student housing. This process was finally brought to a close, and the bonds have been issued. The project is now ahead of schedule. A CARC design kick-off meeting was held on Monday to look at amenities and costs. The estimated cost is approximately $23 million. Garrett has been in touch with state representatives on the cost estimates, and things seem to be in order. The college is now working through document revisions due to costs. There are no red flags at this point. The maintenance facility is being expanded. There will be a new building in addition to renovations to the existing building.

STUDENT DEVELOPMENT

dean Priselac reported that Garrett experienced a record enrollment of 734 students, 87 above last fall. Over 60 percent are full-time students, resulting in more FTE. The Commissioners Scholarship Program (CSP) was one of the key factors in the enrollment increase. Garrett has a total of 198 CSP students—115 2006 high school graduates and the remainder are dual-enrolled students, home schooled, private schooled, etc. This number would have been higher were it not for the Gear Up program. There were 49 Gear Up students, 18 from Northern and 31 from Southern, for a total of 247 students under CSP and Gear Up. The financial aid office is currently working on breaking out the costs for billing to the commissioners.

Dean Priselac reported that recruiting efforts and marketing strategies are under way. The college is trying to bring students in under the Appalachian Scholarship program and into its signature programs. As of noon today, 275 students had already registered for the spring semester.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

Dean Bender reported that Continuing Education staff are involved in the self-study process. Mountaintop Truck Driving Institute enrollment is still ahead of projections for the year with six classes and 33 students enrolled. The college is also looking at the possibility of adding the Class B license.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Concerning the Verizon MDLN distance learning lab, Dean Torok reported that other products from Verizon have been evaluated but that their demo did not go very well.

PERSONNEL REPORT

Ms. Fike reported that the college is currently searching for a dean of academic affairs. Various

Blanche Gillum Reaches 100th

Blanche Gillum celebrated her 100th birthday on Jan. 26 at Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville.

She is one of eight children born to August and Martha Langer of Cumberland, and was married to Clayton Gillum for 67 years until his death in 1995.

Blanche has two sons, Ronald Gillum, Grantsville, and Gary Gillum, Bowling Green. She also has six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

She was a charter member of St. Matthew's Church in Bowling Green, where she belonged to the women's guild, taught Sunday School, and sang in the choir. She was also an active member of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary for many years.

In their retirement years, Blanche and Clayton traveled extensively throughout the United States and Canada in their motor home. She noted that she has many fond memories of their travels together.

GREAT MEMORIES — Blanche Gillum, Grantsville, turned 100 on Jan. 26 and has a great many stories to tell. She said some of her best memories are of her time with her husband Clayton, to whom she was married for 67 years. He died in 1995. The happy couple are pictured above having fun some years back. See story.

Friend Celebrates 103rd Birthday

Chauncey Friend celebrated his 103rd birthday at Goodwill Mennonite Home on Tuesday, Feb. 6. He credits his long life to good living.

"I never smoked, I never drank, and I never chased wild women," he said.

He noted that he never expected to live past the age of 65, because he thought that would be "old enough."

At the age of 98, he decided to make Goodwill his home in case he needed help when he "got old."

He was a schoolteacher in Garrett County for 46 years. He started by teaching all subjects in a one-room school, and finally retired as a metal shop teacher at Northern High School in 1967.

"Those were the best years of my life," he said. "I loved teaching."

CREATE A HUMMINGBIRD-FRIENDLY GARDEN

Hummingbirds are my very favorite birds. These tiny delicate little jewels are amazing to watch and bring so much beauty and joy to your garden. It really doesn't take much effort on your part to attract them and, since you are probably planning your spring garden now, it will be easy to work in some plants that attract hummingbirds.

Like most birds, hummers have virtually no sense of smell so the flowers you plant to attract them may have little or no fragrance. You want to go for high visibility and nectar production. Some suggestions (both annual and perennial) are: bee balm, cardinal flower, yucca, firespike, impatiens, spotted jewelweed, petunia, various salvia species, shrimp plant, trumpet creeper and trumpet honeysuckle (be careful – these vines are invasive), and canna. Hummers love the butterfly bush, and it is one of the easiest bushes to grow. You practically just stick it in the dirt and ignore it. They are almost like weeds and come in many beautiful colors. When in bloom, they will be covered with butterflies, another added treat. The hummer also enjoys feasting on the nectar of azaleas, flame acanthus, lantana and mimosa. Work some of these into your garden and you will attract these tiny beauties. There are many other flowers, trees and shrubs that attract hummingbirds. Check the Internet, garden and bird magazines and books, your garden club, your local Extension Service, etc. Don't be shy. A little effort will bring a great treasure to your garden.

For a special hummingbird treat, try putting out an opened banana on a plate. The fruit should attract fruit flies, and hummingbirds love to eat fruit flies. The banana will probably also attract a wide variety of butterflies as well.

You can add feeders to your garden. I always put at least two in my mine. Keep in mind, hummingbirds are very territorial and will attack each other to maintain "ownership" of the feeders, so put them out of sight of each other. There are dozens of feeders in dozens of prices. There are so many types of feeders to choose from – it's mind boggling. There are no "wrong" feeders as long as the hummingbirds will use them. Hummingbird experts prefer the newest "flying saucer" style feeders.

Please take note when selecting a feeder. The easier it is to use and clean, the more likely you are to keep it cleaned and filled. Clean and filled feeders will attract more hummingbirds. In addition to the standard feeders, there are some feeders that are works of art. As long as they can be (and are) kept very clean and do not have any little nooks and crannies for mold to thrive in, they are fine.

EASE OF CLEANING: A rag, small bottle brush, a clean toothbrush and a pipecleaner should be all you need. There are also tiny brushes marketed especially for cleaning hummingbird feeder ports.

Health Care Proposal Would Cut Uninsured Number By One Third

by Jonathan Crawford
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Maryland lawmakers on Wednesday proposed legislation they say would reduce the number of residents without health insurance by one-third and would provide access to health care to every child in the state. They would finance about a third of the $600 million cost of the program with a $1-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax.

Under the proposed health care plan – which has the support of the speaker of the House of Delegates, Michael E. Busch, D-Anne Arundel – an estimated 250,000 residents, which includes 110,000 children, would get subsidized Medicaid coverage. Another 30,000 children from families with incomes over 400 percent of the federal poverty level would be able to buy Medicaid coverage for what it costs the state to provide it.

"We have a crisis in the state of Maryland with 800,000 people that don't have health insurance... I think it's incumbent upon every elected official to try to find a solution to it," Busch told a press conference.

But the bill will face stiff resistance from Republicans as well as powerful Democrats, such as Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr., D-Calvert and Prince George's, who are opposed to increasing the tobacco tax to fund a health care plan.

And Gov. Martin O'Malley has previously said he is against raising the tax because it will be a declining source of revenue as more and more people quit smoking.

Sen. Minority Leader David R. Brinkley, R-Frederick, said, "The cigarette tax does not get us where we need to go." He said that the state's comptroller is fighting a black market for cigarettes because of the regional price disparities that result from taxes.

"They're still smoking. But they're not paying the tax here," he said.

The bill would extend the Maryland Child Health Insurance Program (MCHIP) to children of families of four with incomes up to $82,600, which is four times the federal poverty level. Children of families with higher income would be allowed to purchase Medicaid at market cost.

The program would also expand Medicaid coverage to individual adults with incomes up to 116 percent of the poverty level, or earning up to $11,844. This is nearly three times the current income threshold by which individuals may qualify for Medicaid.

The chief sponsor of the bill, Delegate Peter A. Hammen, D-Baltimore, said that the bill will also require those who can afford health insurance to buy it.

"We should be about the business of providing incentives for families who can afford to purchase health insurance to do just that and not burden the rest of the system," he said.

Under the bill, high income residents who do not purchase health insurance will be required to pay surcharges, ranging from $500 to $2,000 per year, depending upon the income and family size.

The bill would phase in a number of other programs in 2009, including $30 million in funding for drug abuse treatment, $10 million in funding for smoking cessation, and $140 million in subsidies for small businesses and individuals.

Busch said the bill would help curtail a 23 percent rise in the number of uninsured Marylanders that has taken place over the last couple of years.

Besides expanding health care, Busch said the program would reduce the health insurance premiums paid by families. He said that a family of four in Maryland pays over $1,000 on insurance premiums each year to offset the costs of the uninsured.

Hammen said the tobacco tax is an ideal way to raise money and deter people from smoking.

"If tobacco use shrinks [because of the tax], tobacco-related diseases should go down, and it should cost the system a lot less money to care for this population," he said.

Senator Edwards Wants Special "Mountain Maryland" Auto Plate

by Megan Hartley
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Do you pilot experimental aircrafts? Are you a bomb technician? Have bees been buzzing about your beekeeping hive? If you answered yes, the Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration is happy to make you a commemorative license plate to call your own.

But if you are a mountain dweller, no such luck.

There are more than 900 special-interest license plates in Maryland, the MVA says. The Experimental Aircraft Association, the Fraternal Order of Bomb Technicians, and the Maryland State Beekeepers Association are all organizations with their own plate, as are the American Cancer Society, the Terrapin Club, and the US Marine Corps Reserve.

But the MVA is trying to draw a line between simple organizational plates and the "artsyer" scenic plates like the ones that already exist for the Chesapeake Bay and Maryland agriculture. And for the MVA, the line starts where Western Maryland begins.

Sen. George Edwards, R-Garrett, is backing legislation to create a scenic – or "specialty plate," as the MVA calls it – titled "Mountain Maryland." But the MVA complained to a Senate committee Tuesday that a third scenic plate would be expensive, time consuming to produce, and might not even turn a profit.

"A lot of people do not understand that those fancy multi-colored agricultural and bay tags cost a lot of time and money to make," said Philip Dacey, director of external affairs for the MVA.

Edwards estimated that in its first year, 2008, the Mountain Maryland plate would bring in about $151,000 in profits. "A lot of people in our part of the state who don't buy the bay tags will buy these mountain tags," he said.

Edwards has tried two previous times without success to get the General Assembly to approve the Mountain Maryland plate. Before concluding his testimony before the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee, he predicted, correctly, that the MVA was planning to "hose him" when its turn came.

And in fact, Dacey argued that if 57,000 Mountain Maryland license plates are not bought in the first year, the MVA will have to recoup the costs by charging drivers more for services such as license renewal.

"The cost will spread and other MVA customers will essentially be subsidizing the plate," said Dacey.

Organizational plates like ones available to the beekeepers and other groups are less ornate than the bay or agriculture scenic plates. Some have small logos – which cost $25 – and some merely have the organization's name across the bottom – which cost $15. The logos are designed by the organizations themselves and submitted to the MVA for approval.

The scenic plates cost a little less than organizational plates, $20. However, the revenue is split between the two environmental organizations – the Chesapeake Bay Trust and the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation. This means the MVA receives about half as much revenue as it would for an organizational plate, according to Buel C. Young, a spokesman for the MVA.

In addition, the scenic plates are much harder to produce. Dacey estimated it will cost about $572,000 to design and distribute the plate in just the first year. (The estimates prompted Sen. Larry E. Haines, R-Carroll, to joke that perhaps the MVA should stop making the "expensive," special license tags for members of the Maryland Senate.)

Dacey passed around various organizational plates – such as the Maryland Eastern Shore Association to senators – to encourage them to create a Mountain Maryland organizational plate.

One senator asked to keep the Eastern Shore plate for his son.

Edwards, proclaiming it was his "third shot at this," argued that Western Maryland needs "a little more visibility." His previous attempts were shot down because, he said, of the groups he designated as recipient of the proceeds from the plate.

The first time, Edwards designated Allegany and Garrett counties to receive the funds; then he tried the state Transportation Trust Fund. This time, he's settled on the Chesapeake Bay Trust and the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation.

This third try was apparently more acceptable to many legislators who want all specialty plate revenues to go to the two organizations so that the revenues won't be sliced up.

The Chesapeake Bay Trust was created by the legislature in the late 1980s and awards grants to various community organizations serving the bay. The Agricultural Education Foundation takes mobile agricultural laboratories to schools, trade associations, county fairs, and agricultural associations. The profits from the new mountain plate, if the legislation passes, would be split evenly between the two organizations.

Utilities provide a safe, nontoxic potable water supply for the residents of Mountain Lake Park and anybody on that system." Loch Lynn residents are connected to that system.

He said he did not want to debate whether fluoride is good or bad but to present new information. He reviewed some of the recent research on the compound and presented the commissioners with 12 pages of information.

The most notable item came from the National Research Council (NRC), which recently concluded a three-year study on fluoride. Following a final review in March 2006, the council recommended changing the current safe fluoride level standard from 4 parts per million (ppm) down to 1 ppm.

The change will affect many industries, Insley said, particularly the processed food industry. Most process food and beverages contains fluoride, he said. Insley cited one study that showed that grape juice contains 2.4 ppm; chicken sticks, 3.61 ppm; and powdered infant formula made with fluoridated water, .97 ppm.

Since Mtn. Lake Park's water has a daily average of .87 ppm of fluoride, Insley noted, children drinking the water, eating processed foods and beverages, and brushing their teeth using fluoride tooth paste would ingest much more than 1 ppm of fluoride a day.

"Mother's milk on average contains .0004 ppm fluoride," Insley said. "Mtn. Lake Park's water contains 217 times more than that, plus it is in direct contradiction of the American Dental Association's (ADA) recommended level for infants 6 months or younger of not receiving even less than .03 ppm. This is almost 1½ times more than absolute maximum for children 6 to 16 years old."

Insley said the ADA is now recommending that parents not mix infant formula with fluoridated water because of the risk it poses. He said too much fluoride can result in dental fluorosis, a condition in which tooth development is damaged in children between the ages of 6 months to 5 years.

Since the NRC review came out last year, a lot of things are starting to change, Insley said. "There are more and more communities that are taking fluoride out of their water," he said. Juno, Alaska, Albany, N.Y., and most of western Europe are some of the areas that have done so, according to Insley.

He also noted that there was nothing on the Public Utilities web page to tell Mtn. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, or Deer Park customers that their water is fluoridated or how much of the compound is used.

"Nor does it tell them that by giving fluoride to their infants it could be damaging to their teeth or their health," Insley added.

He asked that the commissions impose a moriturium on fluoride, review the accuracy of the facts that he presented to them, and stop putting fluoride in the water as soon as possible.

"We'll review this information," Commissioner Ernie Gregg said about the research that Insley presented to him and the other two commissioners. "Some of this will need to be validated. Not that I'm questioning your authenticity, but we need to validate some of the statements. And, certainly, we'd be willing to discuss this."

Commissioner Fred Holliday added that the health officer also needed to be consulted about the issue.

Gregg said one thing that they could probably do in a relatively short time is verify the ADA precaution about infants using fluoride and possibly post that information on the Public Utilities web page.

MEDICAL CENTER "GOES RED" FOR WOMEN – The staff of Mountain Laurel Medical Center participated in "Go Red For Women Day" on Friday to raise awareness of heart disease and stroke as part of American Heart Month. "Too few people realize that heart disease is the number one killer of women (and men), but the good news is heart disease largely can be prevented with a healthy diet, regular exercise, and a good relationship with a health care provider," said Jill Utterback, the center's chief executive officer. In addition to wearing red, the staff provided a red flower to each female patient as a reminder to make good choices for a healthy heart. Pictured, left to right, are Shirley Guinn, Utterback, Beth Little-Terry, Sandy Burdock, Gayle Kennedy, Terry Harvey, Terri Weaver, and Donna Teter.

Grantsville Lions Present Awards

The Grantsville Lions Club recently held its 45th Charter Night at the North Glade Inn at Deep Creek Lake. Lions members Fred Holliday and Richard Towers were presented with a Melvin Jones Fellow Award for their dedication to the Lions.

A member of the Grantsville Lions Club since 1979, Holliday has served as club president, tail twister, Grantsville Days co-chairman, and gun raffle chairman.

Towers has been a member of the Lions Club since 1984, and has served as club president, Lion tamer, Grantsville Days booth chairman, and lottery calendar chairman.

The award was presented by Lions District 22-W governor John Hopkins. Melvin Jones was the original founder of Lions Clubs 89 years ago.

Fred Holliday and Richard Towers join other Grantsville Lions Melvin Jones Fellow recipients Bill Bender and Bob Watkins, both charter members; and James Carey, Dr. Ronald Gillum, and Gerry Beachy.

Other guests attending the charter night were Lions Dist. 22-W secretary Richard Liebno; past dist. governors Thomas Jefts and Rodney Welch; vice Dist. 22-W governor Barbara McKen-ney and her husband Ron; and Region I Chairman Robert Leece.

The Grantsville Lions Club was chartered in 1961 and was sponsored by the Lonaconing Lions Club. The club projects include purchasing eyeglasses for the needy, raising funds for vision research, awarding four scholarships at Northern High School, installing the town of Grantsville Christmas decorations, founding the Grantsville Town Park, and coordinating the annual Grantsville Days celebration.

The Grantsville Lions' major fundraisers include Grantsville Days, an annual cash drawing, summer chicken barbecues, and sales of a lottery calendar. All proceeds from the fundraisers are used for Lions projects.

The club meets on the first and third Thursday of each month at Penn Alps Restaurant, and is currently holding a membership drive. Anyone interested in joining the Grantsville Lions Club may contact any member.

Former open-wheel driver aims to find success in NASCAR

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Atlanta

Juan Pablo Montoya is truly a world-class race driver, having won races on the elite Formula One circuit, the Indianapolis 500, a championship in CART and the Rolex 24 at Daytona.

But as the Colombia native adapts to NASCAR, he has proved to be a personable, humble guy off the track and an intense competitor on it.

He has taken in the scene, and won over some fans, at one of the rowdiest places on the NASCAR circuit — the infield at Talladega Superspeedway. He went there last fall at the invitation of his Ganassi Racing teammate, David Stremme.

"He was there for the ARCA race," Stremme said. "I said, 'Hey, want to go ride on the golf cart?'

"People loved him."

Stremme said he sometimes loses sight of the fact that he's in the company of a famous driver, who has won major races all over the world.

"He's really down to earth," Stremme said. "I forget a lot of times that he's won the Indianapolis 500, competed in Formula One. I'll talk to him about going to his first Daytona 500, and he's done all these other things."

During his limited appearances in 2006 and in preseason test sessions this year, Montoya has worked hard to be a good teammate to Stremme and Reed Sorenson and to make his No. 42 Dodges run faster.

Car owner Chip Ganassi, for whom Montoya drove open-wheeled cars earlier in his career, isn't surprised at Montoya's work ethic or attitude.

"I don't know if it's from working with him before or if he's an easy guy to get along with, but he's slid right in," Ganassi said. "He shows a lot of leadership, and that's the important thing. He's as playful as anybody, but when it comes time to put the facts where they need to be and put the pedal to the metal and get the job done, he's right there.

"He doesn't get caught up in petty little things."

Montoya, who is the first top NASCAR driver to answer almost as many questions in Spanish as he does in English, seems to feel right at home in NASCAR.

"The fans have been amazing, and the racing is just unreal," he said.

Juan Pablo Montoya speaks to both English- and Spanish-speaking reporters. The driver was born in Bogotá, Colombia, on Sept. 20, 1975.

DAMON HIGGINS / Cox News Service

Montoya's first career Nextel Cup race was last season's Ford 400 at Homestead-Miami Speedway (above). He finished 34th after being involved in a crash on Lap 251.

Documentary reflects on Earnhardt

New film gets to the core of driver's 'moral fiber'

Casting a lead actor for a movie about the late Dale Earnhardt Jr. wasn't a problem for the makers of the movie "Dale."

"The Intimidator" is the star of the documentary, which was produced by NASCAR Images and CMT Films and will be shown this year in 40 cities where the NASCAR circuit is racing.

The movie is a mix of never-seen footage of Earnhardt and recent interviews with Earnhardt's mother, widow, children, siblings and former car owner Richard Childress.

It includes the in-car camera view as Earnhardt's car sped toward the wall at Daytona International Speedway on Feb. 18, 2001. That view of the crash that cost him his life has never been shown.

Throughout the movie, race scenes and interviews are wrapped around segments that were filmed as Earnhardt fished in a pond on his farm and reflected on his life and career.

EARNHARDT

It shows a side of Earnhardt that few outside his inner circle rarely saw. One conversation revealed that despite Earnhardt's success in the sport — he already was the sport's top star at the time of the filming — he worried that there might come a time when he couldn't get a ride and would lose his stature.

Many scenes portray Earnhardt's relationship with his son, Dale Earnhardt Jr. The father teaches the son how to water ski. The son quizzes the father in a mock Victory Lane interview. In some scenes, it appears that Dad is too busy being a NASCAR racer to spend quality time with his son. Nevertheless, Dale Earnhardt Jr. gives the movie very high marks.

"It is truly amazing," Earnhardt said, adding that before seeing the movie, he was unsure of what he would see. The film's content was approved by his stepmother, Teresa Earnhardt, and Childress.

"I was thinking, 'What have I not seen? Am I going to be sitting through a whole bunch of stuff that I've already seen before?' " he said. "But all the footage they got for that movie, I'd never seen any of it. If this felt like behind-the-scenes for me, imagine how it's going to feel to the fans? I was amazed, blown away. It was perfect."

He said the moviemakers did a great job of portraying the personal side of a man who seemed larger than life to most race fans.

"It just really told what kind of man he was," Earnhardt Jr. said. "You get down to what his moral fiber was. Most of the fans, and a lot of media, didn't know him well. He had that hard, outer shell, 'The Intimidator.'

"[The movie] opened him up more than he would have ever done on his own. It's a really good film."

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Some key storylines this week in NASCAR.

Elliott: Too far back

It might seem as if NASCAR's decision last week to limit the use of past champion's provisional starts to six per season would upset former Cup champion Bill Elliott. But he says the opposite is true.

ELLIOTT

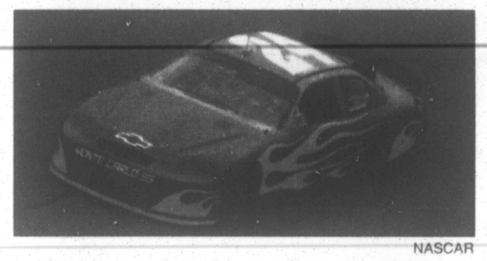
"They did me a favor," Elliott said, explaining that because the past champion's provisional, when used, goes to the most recent champion not already qualified for the race, he's often unable to claim the provisional starting spot because his title was won in 1988.

Former champions, including Dale Jarrett, who won titles since Elliott got his, would take the final starting spot if more than one past champion failed to qualify for a race. Neither Elliott nor Jarrett drive for a car owner currently in the top 35 in owner points, so both have to qualify on speed or rely on the past champion's provisional.

And with the unusually large number of drivers planning to race full time this year, other former champions could have to rely on the provisional, making it harder for Elliott to claim it.

"I'm too far down the list," Elliott said, adding that he would never use the provisional on a regular basis, even if NASCAR allowed it.

Elliott also believes NASCAR should take the additional step of limiting the number of times that car owners in the top 35 in points can get guaranteed starting positions despite their car being too slow to qualify on speed.



NASCAR

Jeff Gordon tests the new banking at Las Vegas Motor Speedway last week.

In the banking

There were dramatic speed increases and scary crashes at Las Vegas Motor Speedway last week during two days of testing. Drivers struggled trying to adjust to the track's new banking, which has been increased since the Cup cars last raced there from 12 degrees in the turns to 20 degrees.

Elliott Sadler paced the field in last Tuesday's test with a speed of 188.772 mph. Last year, Greg Biffle won the pole at Vegas with a lap at 172.403 mph.

Among the drivers who crashed while adjusting to the new asphalt and banking were Tony Raines, Reed Sorenson, Kasey Kahne, A.J. Allmendinger and Biffle.

"We are running ridiculously fast speeds," Tony Stewart said in a teleconference during a break in testing. "It's stupid to be running this fast in a Cup car, in my opinion. It doesn't make a lot of sense to me why we're running mid-to-low 29-second laps in a 3,400-pound stock car around here."

Kahne said he liked the new track.

"I liked the old Vegas; I like the new Vegas," he said. "It should make for a good race once everybody gets out there and gets in a groove and starts moving around some."

New tire contract

Any questions about whether Goodyear might go away from the NASCAR garage were answered last weekend, when the tire manufacturer and NASCAR announced a contract extension.

Goodyear will remain the exclusive tire supplier for the Nextel Cup, Busch and Craftsman Truck Series for the next five years. Goodyear has been supplying tires to NASCAR racers since the 1950s.

Always on the go

Ken Schrader, who turns 52 in May, appears to be nearing the end of his full-time Nextel Cup career, but it doesn't seem like he's going to cut back.

Schrader raced last week at two dirt-track races in the Southeast, one at Columbus, Miss., and the other at Brunswick, Ga.

It also doesn't appear that Schrader, who will split driving duties of his No. 21 Nextel Cup car with newcomer Jon Wood, does his extracurricular racing for the money.

His 12th-place finish at Golden Isles Speedway in Brunswick earned him $800, and his 21st-place run at Columbus Speedway was worth a whopping $200.

Catching up with …

KYLE BUSCH

Kyle Busch, driver of the No. 5 Chevrolet for Hendrick Motorsports, participated in a teleconference with reporters, including Rick Minter of Cox News Service, during a break in testing at Las Vegas Motor Speedway to discuss changes at the Vegas track and his thoughts on the upcoming season.

On the test at Las Vegas, where the banking in the turns has been increased from 12 degrees to 20 degrees: "A lot of guys, for some reasons, are busting off some really quick lap times. We're not finding the speed out of our time, but we're finding the longevity. To me, it feels pretty good out there. It's definitely fast. Mainly everybody is fighting the tight condition. … Anytime you try to loosen it up, then you're too loose and out of control, sliding all over the place. It's real tough to try to find a balance."

On what fans can expect in the March race at Vegas, compared to last year: "I'm pretty glad to say it seems like it's going to be a two-groove race track. I'm already working on the outside. That is where my car seems to run better. You run the first couple [of laps] on the bottom, then move it up to the top. The side-by-side and the closing in on somebody, that's been tough so far. With the tire that Goodyear brought, it's a really, really, really hard compound tire. You're so dependent on your aero that anytime you get behind somebody, it just makes the cars so tight, and you can't turn whatsoever. Anytime you get in behind somebody, it's going to be really hard to catch them. … So I hope that's not what we're going to see, but that's probably what's going to happen."

On the changes to the speedway at Las Vegas and the technological advancements on the cars: "The race track is real nice. A lot of guys have said that it might be a little too fast, which it very easily could be. Atlanta was fast when it got redone, too. … It's all about what kind of tire Goodyear brings. They brought the hardest one to try to slow us down, [and] it's still blistering out there. Overall, wherever you go, you're going to have that. … The cars are so maxed out, the technology, engineering that's in them today, it makes it hard to keep us slowed down."

On the workout routine that beefed up his shoulders: "Every single day I'm home, I'm doing 30 minutes of cardio, an hour and a half of training physically, stuff like that. It's been going along pretty well. This year, I think it started when I got home from my vacation in December. I really hit it hard."

On any differences his conditioning makes inside the car: "The seat's way tighter. I'm going to have to start pushing the seat out to fit in it. I think overall, we'll be able to make sure that we get everything situated and comfortable so I can continue if I keep growing. We'll be all right."

On what new teammate Casey Mears has brought to the Hendrick Motorsports team: "He's brought his friendship that he's had with Jeff [Gordon] and Jimmie [Johnson] over the years. Of course, it will just continue to grow with myself, I'm sure. Overall, we've only been together for two tests now. Hopefully, later on down the road, he might be able to bring a little more insight. As far as what exactly he's brought to the team from Ganassi Racing, I can't answer that because I don't really know."

NUMERICALLY SPEAKING

0 Career Budweiser Shootout starts for David Gilliland, who will start the race because he won a pole at Talladega Superspeedway last year.

2 Toyota Camrys running in the Shootout (driven by Dale Jarrett and Brian Vickers).

3 Shootout victories by Dale Jarrett, who tops all other drivers in this year's starting field. (The late Dale Earnhardt is the all-time leader with six.)

7 Sets of brothers who have raced in the Shootout once Kurt and Kyle Busch take the green flag. (The others are Rusty and Kenny Wallace, Bobby and Donnie Allison, Bobby and Terry Labonte, Jeff and Ward Burton, Geoffrey Bodine and Brett Bodine and Geoffrey and Todd Bodine.

21 Drivers in this year's Shootout (the record is 22, set in 2002).

Named USAA Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy recently announced that Sara L. Ashby, Oakland, has been named a U.S. National Award winner in science. She will appear in the USAA's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Sara, a student at Southern Middle School, was nominated by William Janoske, a teacher at the school.

Fewer than 10 percent of all American middle school students are recognized for this honor, according to the USAA. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, interest, and aptitude.

Sara is the daughter of William and Tammy Ashby.

On Dean's List

Kristen Schefft, Accident, and Mitchell Guard, Friendsville, have been named to the dean's list for the fall 2006 semester at Virginia Tech.

Schefft is a senior majoring in apparel and housing resource management in the College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences.

Guard is a senior majoring in dairy science in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

To qualify for the dean's list, students must attempt at least 12 credit hours graded on the A-F option and earn a 3.4 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) during the semester.

GCMH Offers Advice During "Heart Month"

by Kearstin Hinebaugh, GC Memorial Hospital

"Heart disease is America's number one killer," says Kendra Thayer, RN, cardiac rehabilitation coordinator at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. "That's why it's so important to reduce your risk factors, know the warning signs, and know how to respond quickly and properly if warning signs occur."

"It's also imperative for people to understand the correlation between their stress and cholesterol levels and the development of heart disease," says Thayer. "February is American Heart Month and the perfect time to begin taking the necessary steps for heart health."

The heart, our body's most protected organ, is located behind the breastbone in the middle of the rib cage and pumps 2,000 gallons of blood through the circulatory system each day by expanding and contracting more than 100,000 times. The heart is one of the body's most resilient organs, but it needs a little help, according to Thayer.

"Often though, it doesn't get the help it needs, which is one of the reasons heart disease is the leading cause of death for both men and women," she says.

The American Heart Association estimates that of the 900,000 people who are treated for heart failure in hospitals every year, about one-third are readmitted within 90 days. One possible reason: Not enough of these patients know how to care for their hearts.

Thayer suggests that you decide now, before you have a problem, what your risk factors are and what you can do about them. You can't control your age or family history, but there are risk factors you can control:

•Quit smoking. Smoking is one of the most hazardous things you can do.

•Control your blood pressure. Take prescribed medications and be serious about it.

•Lower your blood pressure by getting your weight under control and eating less salt. Put exercise on your daily to-do list, and limit alcohol to a drink or two a day.

•Eat better. Eat fewer foods containing trans fats (hard margarine, baked goods), and more fruits and vegetables. Use olive oil instead of butter or margarine for cooking.

•Include folate. It lowers levels of homocysteine in the blood, a big risk factor for heart disease. Cold cereal is fortified with it. Vegetables, fish and beans have folate.

•Get out. Brisk walks are good. A combination of vigorous activity, resistance training, and flexibility exercise is better. It helps your heart, controls your weight, and makes you look and feel good.

•Don't be jaded. You have heard some of this advice before. Actually think about it now. No matter what your age, this is the best time to start preventing heart disease.

As part of American Heart Month, GCMH will be offering Speakers Bureau presentations on cholesterol, stress, and heart disease at several locations throughout the county. For more information on the scheduled presentations or to schedule one for your group, contact me at 301-533-4041.

MY LIFE WITH FOOTBALL
by Joan Crawford

The last whistle has blown, the cheers have died, and the super-mania that has flooded the TV channels for the past weeks has faded into memory. Super Bowl #41 is over! No doubt fans are still celebrating in Indianapolis, but the rest of us have awakened to a harsh reality: We are now faced with half a year without football. Depending on how we feel about the game, that could be good or bad.

If we don't like it and feel that we have been suffocating in Super Bowl hype, we are glad it's over. Now we can watch movies again – or figure skating. But if we are going to miss the excitement of the games and suffer withdrawal from our favorite spectator sport, it will be a long six months. I am one of those who will miss it. I admit that, unlike many women my age, I am a football fan, even though I have never had brothers or sons who played the game.

Some women I know say they don't like football because they don't understand it – too complicated. I try to tell them it's a simple battle of turf. Two teams line up, each defending the territory behind them, while trying to move the ball forward down field and cross their opponent's goal line. What could be simpler than that?

I find many things to like about the game. I enjoy the drama of human competition that pits strategic moves of the offense against physical resistance of the defense, the intrigue created by the skill and agility of the quarterback as he feints a pass then hands off to a running back. I enjoy the atmosphere around the game – the excited crowds on a fall afternoon, the blare of the bands, the smell of mustard on hot dogs, the soft thud of a boot kicking the ball. When I reflect on years past, I realize that football has been important in every stage of my life.

As the oldest of four sisters whose mother never liked football, I was introduced to the game when I was in sixth grade and my father began to take me to Pitt home games on Saturday afternoons. In those years Pitt had good teams and what was called a "dream backfield" led by All-American running back Marshall Goldberg and coached by the great Jock Sutherland. I learned the game by watching it and asking questions and soon knew the difference between the single-wing offense Pitt ran and the "T" formation used by Notre Dame and some other colleges.

When I attended one of the 12 city high schools in Pittsburgh, I learned to enjoy the sport on a different level because it was my team out there. Games were played on Fridays at 2 p.m. Class schedules were adjusted so that students who wanted to attend the games were dismissed early to board the special street cars waiting to take us to the field where the Carrick High School Raiders would do battle with an opponent from another part of the city. The Pittsburgh Railways network of tracks combed the hills and valleys, across bridges and through tunnels.

We rode to the games on the old trolley cars that shook, rattled, and rolled over the tracks. The trip was always like a big pep rally. We sang our fight song with gusto and rocked the car with cheers. By the time we arrived at the opponent's field we were so fired up with school spirit that we felt invincible. Carrick would win today! And sometimes we did. Then the trip home was a victory celebration.

The year I became an editor of our high school newspaper, Pitt received an invitation to play in the Rose Bowl. That helped create the highlight of my journalistic career when I seized an opportunity to go with a friend to interview Jock Sutherland in his office on the 37th floor of the Cathedral of Learning. I remember that he was very dignified, not overly talkative, but very gracious about giving his time to two young cub reporters. Pitt had been defeated in two previous Rose Bowl visits, and the California sports writers were critical of the Panthers as unworthy opponents for the West Coast team. Sutherland seemed to be oblivious to the criticism. Pitt beat the University of Washington that year, 21-0 – a game I listened to on the radio.

When I became a student at Pitt I continued to attend all the home games, even though our team was not as good then. Sutherland had left, the war had started, and most of the football players had gone into the service. Once I graduated and was in the Navy, there was little time for football, but when the war ended and I married a guy who liked football, we began to attend the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia each year. One of the friends who always went with us had been a pilot in the Army Air Corps, so we had a great rivalry all the way across the Pennsylvania Turnpike and back. The games were exciting, especially the years Roger Staubach was the Navy quarterback, and we always enjoyed the pre-game parade of midshipmen and cadets, noticing how every year those young men and women looked younger.

When our daughters were in high school and I was teaching at a suburban high school, football became a family sport for us and we all went to the games on Friday evenings. At that time English teachers were still teaching students to diagram sentences. I remember that the football players in my classes were quick to grasp the concept because they were accustomed to visualizing diagrammed plays. A few years later our daughters were in college and we went to football games at Bucknell or College Park. We also went with couples from our neighborhood who had attended Penn State or Ohio State to see those two rivals play in Columbus or at "Happy Valley." I remember how the tarmac and parking lot at Ohio State were always filled with school buses from all over Ohio that brought high school students and parents to the games. What a recruiting tool!

Beyond my personal view of the game, football has become a major influence in our culture. With the proliferation of college bowl games and the play-offs leading to the Super Bowl, it is with us from early August until February. We see icons of the NFL teams on jerseys and sweatshirts worn by all ages. Even women who don't like the game or are ambivalent about it get caught up in the spirit and enjoy the tailgate picnics and the halftime shows.

I no longer climb up into the bleachers to watch football games, but prefer the television screen in the comfort and warmth of my living room. I know that six months will pass, and a year from now there will be another Super Bowl. More hot wings and pizzas will be sold and sports fans will be "ready for some football." For several hours the political and military wars of the world will be overshadowed by the game on the field, and everyone in front of a television set will be a football fan.

Pancake Breakfast Slated At St. Paul's On Scout Sunday

Boy Scout Troop 1 will hold a pancake breakfast on Sunday, Feb. 11, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church hall, Oakland, from 9:30 a.m. until 1 p.m.

This event coincides with Scout Sunday, in which Troop 1 will participate in the worship service at the church prior to the breakfast.

The free-will offering breakfast will consist of pancakes, sausage, and beverages. Proceeds will help the Scouts pay their expenses to attend Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

For additional information, persons may call Paul Shogren at 301-334-1386.

Dinner Slated To Raise Funds For Medical Mission

A potato/taco bar dinner will be held Saturday, Feb. 24, from 5 until 8 p.m. at the Pleasant Valley Community Center to raise money for local dental assistant Rachel Shaffer's medical missions trip to Valladolid, Mexico.

The dinner is $6 for adults and $3 for children.

"Please come and support a great cause," said an event spokesperson. "

A silent auction will also be held at the dinner, where items ranging from an afghan to gift certificates from local businesses will be auctioned off.

Shaffer is employed by Dr. Albert Getty. For more information about her mission, persons may visit the Christian Medical & Dental Associations' web site at cmadhome.org and click on "Missions," "Global Health Outreach," "Mexico Mission Locations," and "Valladolid."

CHILDREN'S DENTAL HEALTH MONTH

SEAL OUT TOOTH DECAY WITH DENTAL SEALANTS
by Cynthia Heselbach, RDH
Garrett County Health Department

February is National Children's Dental Health Month and the Allegany-Garrett Dental Society wants parents to know that dental sealants can help protect their children's teeth from tooth decay.

A sealant is a clear material that is applied to the chewing surfaces of the back teeth (premolars and molars), where decay occurs most often. The sealant acts as a barrier, protecting the decay-prone areas of the back teeth from the sticky film of bacteria called plaque.

Pits and fissures are depressions and grooves in the chewing surfaces of the back teeth. They are difficult to keep clean because the toothbrush bristles cannot reach into them. The sealant forms a thin covering that keeps out the plaque and food, which decreases the risk of decay.

Each tooth takes only a few minutes to seal. After cleaning the teeth that will be sealed, the dentist conditions the chewing surface to help the sealant adhere to the tooth. The sealant is then applied to the tooth enamel, where it covers and protects the tooth against bacteria. A blue light is used to harden the sealant.

While the sealant remains intact, the tooth surface will be protected from decay. Sealants hold up well under the force of normal chewing. Although sealants may last several years before reapplication is needed, regular dental check-ups are important to have your child's teeth and gums examined.

Ask your dentist if your child can benefit from sealants.

For more information about children's dental health, please contact the Garrett County Health Department's Dental Care Center, 301-334-7660.

Open House To Be Held At Camp Hickory

The Hickory Environmental Education Center (HEEC) will hold an open house on Tuesday, Feb. 13, from 5 to 8:30 p.m.

Jim Hart will present a planetarium program titled "The Super Sky Show." Through this presentation, those in attendance will hear some constellation myths, learn about the stars and the Earth, and learn how to find the Big Dipper and the North Star.

Bruce Taliaferro, Hickory coordinator, will present an overview of the 2006 HEEC summer program and answer any questions concerning the 2007 program. In addition, a demonstration of the new digital microscope stations will take place.

Refreshments will be served, and the public is encouraged to attend.

CDL Training To Be Offered At Grantsville

Garrett College is accepting applications from individuals who want to obtain a commercial driver's license (CDL). The week day class will begin March 5, with the weekend class starting March 17.

"The training is all inclusive, offering classroom, yard skills, and over-the-road training," said a college spokesperson.

The program consists of 320 hours of training over a 15-week period for weekday students and a 20-week time frame for those choosing the weekend option.

"This training will qualify students for entry level positions as a driver in over-the-road or local driving vehicles," said the spokesperson. "Government grants, tuition reimbursement, and student loans may be available to qualifying individuals."

The CDL training will be held at the college's Mountaintop Truck Driving Institute, located in the old county garage, three miles east of Grantsville near the intersection of U.S. Routes 40 and 219.

For more information or to register for this course, persons may contact Terry Beachy at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrettcollege.edu.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen
SNOWFLAKE SHAPES

Q. I know that no two snowflakes are exactly alike. But what causes some to be just little ice crystals while others are big elaborate patterns?

A. This question has fascinated scientists for centuries (ever since Kepler, around 1600), and a complete explanation still escapes us today. However, in recent years our understanding of snowflake-formation has improved.

The earliest systematic studies of snowflakes were done in the late 1800s by Wilson A. Bentley, known affectionately as "Snowflake Bentley." When a snowflake fell on a glass plate, Bentley would quickly put a drop of a special chemical on it; the chemical would harden into the exact shape of the snowflake, and later on he could photograph it to show the features of the long-since-melted snowflake.

Bentley's photos were exquisite, but snowflakes remained just a beautiful curiosity of science for a long time thereafter. Names were given to various types of snowflakes (solid plates, hollow columns, capped columns, stellar dendrites, simple stars, and so forth), but no one understood the mechanism by which one type formed instead of another.

Snowflakes get their start in clouds, where it is very cold. Even in summertime, what forms in clouds are snowflakes, but they melt while falling to earth, so they arrive as rain. In a cloud, microscopic water droplets freeze together into a tiny ice crystal. That's the beginning of snow.

Every snowflake has six-fold symmetry. That's ultimately because of the way water molecules fit together when they're solidifying. However, the fascinating question is this: Why do all six arms of a snowflake grow in exactly the same way? There are very intricate patterns developing as growth proceeds – some snowflakes look like ferns, others somewhat like oak leaves, others just needles. The variety is astounding, and all six arms on any one snowflake look exactly alike.

Once a snow crystal starts to form, the exact shape it develops depends on a variety of atmospheric conditions inside the cloud. Moving air within a cloud drives snow crystals around on erratic paths, so no two growing snow crystals ever experience quite the same trajectory through changing temperature and humidity conditions. Little wonder that no two crystals ever turn out the same.

The growth of a snow crystal is a matter of water molecules from the air attaching to parts of the crystal that are already in place, creating the branches of the snowflake. How many water molecules are right there depends on the humidity in that local zone of the cloud. When fast growth is taking place, the air immediately next to the crystal is momentarily depleted of water (because it all froze to the snow crystal). Growth slows down until some more water molecules arrive in the vicinity. That process of water molecules showing up is called diffusion.

In the January 2007 issue of American Scientist magazine, CalTech professor Kenneth Libbrecht explains it this way:

"Snow-crystal growth is therefore said to be diffusion-limited, and different regions on a crystal effectively compete for available resources. If a spot on a crystal – for example, one of the points on a hexagonal plate – sticks out farther into the air, then water molecules will preferentially collect on that point, simply because the diffusion distance is slightly shorter. With a slightly greater source of material, the point will grow a bit more rapidly, which in turn causes the point to become more pronounced."

Pretty soon the various side branches have sprouted more side branches, and the crystal's pattern becomes very complex.

But through all of this, the six arms keep on growing symmetrically. This is because no matter how the growing crystal tumbles and gets tossed around, still all six arms are exposed to the exact same temperature and humidity conditions at any one time. The final crystal is a beautiful symmetric pattern – a snowflake.

One remaining mystery is this: Just below 32°F (0°C), snowflakes form that are flat, like plates. When it gets a little colder (say, 15 or 20°F) column-like snow crystals form, and colder still (0°F) you get plate-like snowflakes again. In extreme cold (-20 or -30°F) it's back to columns again. Nobody has yet found a good explanation for that.

Dr. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com*.*

PERRINE INDUCTED INTO EDUCATOR HALL OF FAME – Oakland area resident Richard Perrine was recently inducted into the Harford County Public School Educator Hall of Fame. The honoree is the son of George and Mildred Perrine and graduated from Southern High School in 1964, where he received the Lions Club Award for mathematics. He graduated from Frostburg State College in 1968 with a bachelor of science degree and did graduate work at Morgan State College. Perrine retired more than five years ago and returned to Garrett County after teaching math for 33 years at Bel Air High School. He was chair of the school's math department for 15 of those years. Perrine was nominated for the hall of fame by his former colleagues and recommended by the Harford County Retired School Personnel Association. "I have taught over 4,000 students, coached well over 200 more, and sponsored countless more in various competitions and activities," Perrine said in his acceptance speech. "That to me speaks of a tremendous opportunity and an awesome responsibility." Pictured on the left is Harford County Public School superintendent Dr. Jacqueline Haas presenting the award from the board of education to Richard Perrine, right. His wife Linda, center, is holding the many awards offered by various groups, including the Harford County Council, Harford County executive, Maryland Senate, Harford County Board of Education, and Harford County delegation to the Maryland House of Delegates. Mrs. Perrine is a retired Spanish teacher. The Perrines now provide tutoring for students in math and other subjects. They have two grown sons, Scott and Marc. "I wouldn't change much; I found out what I was doing was what I should be doing," Mr. Perrine said of his decision to go into teaching and spend his working lifetime at one school. "Teaching was my gift; I was at home in the classroom. I'm glad I did what I did, and I'd do it again if I have the chance. It was good decision for me, one I never regretted."

Swanton Center To Serve Dinner This Saturday

The Swanton Community Center will serve a buckwheat cake and sausage supper this Saturday, Feb. 10, with serving to begin at 4 p.m. The cost of the meal will be $6 for adults and $3 for children. Pancakes will also be available.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used to support the various community service projects of the center.

MTN. LAKE PARK WATER SYSTEM
NOTICE OF VIOLATION
Surface Water Treatment Technique

The Garrett County Department of Public Utilities is providing the following notice regarding the Mtn. Lake Park Water System. The springs for the water system have been evaluated for protection against surface water influence as required by the Surface Water Treatment Rule (SWTR), as adopted in the Code of Maryland, COMAR 26.04.01, Quality of Drinking Water in Maryland. The spring was determined to be under the direct influence of surface water by the Maryland Department of the Environment. As a result, this source requires additional treatment, such as filtration, or replacement with a protected water source. Federal and state regulations require that the Mtn. Lake Park Water System install filtration.

What is the Department of Public Utilities doing?

The Mtn. Lake Park Water System disinfects the drinking water that is produced from the spring. The drinking water is tested monthly for coliform bacteria and results have met state and federal standards.

The Department of Public Utilities is in the process of testing the design for a new water treatment facility.

What should I do?

People with severely compromised immune systems, infants, and some elderly may be at increased risk. These individuals should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. General guidelines on ways to lessen the risk of infection by microbes are available from EPA's Safe Drinking Water Act Hotline (800-426-4791). If you have specific health concerns, consult your physician.

What does this mean?

This is not an emergency. This notification is provided to advise Mtn. Lake Park Water customers of the treatment requirements for their water system. Any questions or concerns should be directed to Allen Festerman at 301-387-9141. Please share this information with others who may find it useful.

Date of Notice: February 2007

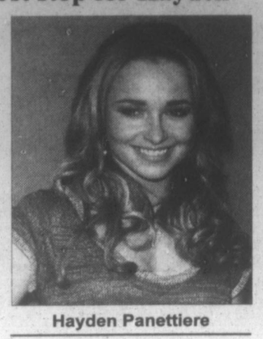
'Heroes' isn't the first stop for Hayden

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it



Hayden Panettiere

Q: Didn't Hayden Panettiere of "Heroes" play Lizzie on "Guiding Light" and the football coach's daughter in "Remember the Titans"? –Bobbi Violette, Columbus, Ohio

A: In both cases, yes. With her current success in the NBC series, the young actress's earlier credits probably are being noticed much more. They also include such movies as "Ice Princess," "Raising Helen," "Racing Stripes" and "Joe Somebody" and other shows including "Ally McBeal" and "The Book of Daniel."

Q: I saw Peter Falk in a movie based on Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "The Lost World" a few years ago. Was it just made for television, or is it also available on DVD? –Christine Stackhouse, Crystal River, Fla.

A: Televised by A&E Network, the production – which also starred Bob Hoskins – was released on DVD by A&E Home Video in 2002.

Q: What happened to "3 Lbs."? –Helen Brite, Charlottesville, Va.

A: CBS didn't wait long to decide that the medical drama wasn't the remedy for the Tuesday slot evacuated earlier by another new show that died fast, "Smith." After only a couple of airings, the Stanley Tucci vehicle about New York neurosurgeons was gone, never to return to the network's lineup.

Q: I was wondering if a series I watched many years ago called "The Paper Chase," starring John Housemen, is available on DVD. –Bill Trunkhill, DeKalb, Ill.

A: The weekly version, which spent a season on CBS and then was revived several years later by Showtime, isn't. However, the original 1973 feature film – which introduced Houseman as no-nonsense law professor Charles Kingsfield, in a performance that earned him an Oscar – has been released on DVD by Fox Home Entertainment.

Q: I enjoyed the movie "The Boynton Beach Club" very much. Will it be released on DVD anytime soon? –Lawrence Briles, Sarasota, Fla.

A: You can head to a video store right now, as long as it's open at the hour you're reading this, to find a copy. The comedy-drama about senior citizens – starring Dyan Cannon, Brenda Vaccaro, Sally Kellerman and Joseph Bologna – was released on disc Feb. 6 by Sony Pictures Home Entertainment.

Limitless Love

Isn't it wonderful that love is limitless! It seems that the more we give, the more we are able to give.

I John 4:8 tells us, "God is love." This is the way God manifests Himself on earth. Because God's love for us is boundless, our love for others can be abundant. When we learn to love unconditionally, our heart becomes full of joy, for then God dwells within our soul.

If we love those whose lives we touch each day, they will know love and they will pass it on. Love has a way of ever increasing. Once the cycle begins, it will continue, spilling endlessly on our lives like sunlight from the sky.

Give yourself a valentine this year. Worship God each week. You will learn to give love...and you will receive love that knows no bounds.

Be Charitable in Your Judgement

One of the definitions of the word "charity," according to the American Heritage dictionary (fourth edition), is "forbearance in judging others." However, when most of us think of the word "charity," we probably first think of the primary meanings, such as, "help or relief given to the poor," or of "an organization of fund that helps the needy." (American Heritage dictionary, 4th ed.) But, there is an important lesson in the use of the word meaning forbearance in judging others. This is the use of the word where we might say that "the charitable interpretation of his not responding to our invitation was that he was on an extended vacation." We are often inclined to judge another's actions unfavorably, attributing their actions to malice or lack of consideration, when in fact we really don't know why people do the things they do. It is difficult enough to correctly judge our own motivation, let alone try to define someone else's. Forbearance in judging others or judging their actions in the most favorable light is almost always a good policy. For one thing, people are then more likely to return the factor and forbear judging us. For another thing, people tend to live up to (or down to) our judgements and expectations; so, judging others in the best possible light raises the moral bar. And finally, since most communication is miscommunication, the charitable forbearance of judgement allows us to ask others what they really meant, and thus not jump to uncharitable conclusions. Judge not, that you be not judged. For with the judgment you pronounce you will be judged.

-- R.S.V. Matthew 7.1

The Antioxidant Effect of Vitamin E

Vitamin E is a fat-soluble vitamin and well known antioxidant. There are several forms of vitamin E. Alpha-tocopherol is the most active form in humans. Vitamin E protects the body's cells from the actions of free radicals (oxidants). Free radicals are the waste products of energy metabolism in the body. Free radicals can damage body cells through oxidation and increase the risk of the development of heart disease and cancer. It has been theorized that vitamin E may reduce the incidence of heart disease and cancer through these antioxidant properties. In 2005, the Women's Health Study showed that vitamin E 600 units every other day reduced the deaths from heart disease in healthy women. However, it did not reduce the incidence of cardiovascular events (heart attack). Another study showed that the men who smoked and who took vitamin E supplements had a lower risk of developing prostate cancer.

More studies are needed to fully evaluate the ability of vitamin E to reduce heart disease and cancer. Foods that contain vitamin E are nuts, oils, green leafy vegetables, and fortified cereals.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Feb. 15, 1903, toy-store owner and inventor Morris Michtom places two stuffed bears in his shop window, advertising them as "Teddy" bears. Michtom had earlier petitioned President Theodore Roosevelt for permission to use his nickname, "Teddy."

• On Feb. 12, 1924, American composer George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" is performed for the first time. Gershwin later collaborated with his brother, Ira, on hit songs including "I Got Rhythm" and on musical comedies and revues that included "Lady Be Good" (1924) and "Of Thee I Sing" (1931), the first musical comedy to win a Pulitzer Prize.

• On Feb. 14, 1938, Hedda Hopper's first gossip column appears in the Los Angeles Times. The following year, Hopper launched a radio version of her column. Her radio show ran until 1951.

• On Feb. 13, 1949, actor-director Jack Webb, creator of the hit radio and TV series "Dragnet," gets his start in realistic crime drama with the radio show "Pat Novak for Hire," which makes its national network debut on ABC. The television debut of "Dragnet," four years later, marked the beginning of realistic TV police dramas.

• On Feb. 16, 1950, the TV game show "What's My Line" debuts. The show, produced by game-show magnates Mark Goodson and Bill Todman, became the longest-running prime-time game show in television history, runnning for 18 years.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• A lawyer in Kansas was once awarded $35,000 in workers' compensation benefits. Most people don't think of the practice of law as a particularly dangerous occupation, so I wouldn't blame you for wondering why this attorney required workers' comp. Here's the scoop: He claimed that he injured his shoulder while reaching into the backseat of his car to get his briefcase.

• Add to the list of ill-conceived newspaper headlines: "Panda mating fails; veterinarian takes over."

• It was, of course, Ambrose Bierce, in his "Devil's Dictionary," who defined "compromise" as "such an adjustment of conflicting interests as gives each adversary the satisfaction of thinking he has got what he ought not to have, and is deprived of nothing except what was justly his due."

• What's in a name? Consider this odd coincidence: Every queen named Jane has either been locked up, gone mad, been murdered, been dethroned or died young.

• Do you like cashews? If so, you might be surprised that they are in the same plant family as poison ivy. That's why the nuts aren't typically sold in the shell — the oil contained therein can cause blisters, and when they're roasted, the shells give off noxious fumes.

• The only official Hindu holy place outside India is in a surprising location: the Appalachian Mountains. Prabhupada's Palace of Gold, near Wheeling, W.Va., was called by The New York Times "America's Taj Mahal." The Palace of Gold is a destination for tourists as well as spiritual pilgrims. Visitors can tour the palace and the gardens, getting a good look at the crystal ceiling of the 30-ton main dome, stained-glass windows, inlaid marble floors and walls, hand-carved teakwood furniture imported from India and, of course, the 22-karat gold that seems to virtually cover the buildings.

Where's That Cute Kitten?

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My wife and I happened upon your column, and I have got to tell you that the picture of the kitten, "Max," is the cutest we have ever seen. We would like to know if this little guy has a home. Our beautiful 10-year-old red tabby, "Shamrock," passed away in November, and we are looking for a new best friend. Can you give us adoption information on little Max? — Michael and Terri, via e-mail

DEAR MICHAEL AND TERRI: I'm sure Max is very cute, but the photo was not part of my column. Actually, my column is distributed to a number of newspapers, often appearing next to other pet-related stories or adoption information from local animal shelters.

Check the entire page for contact information related to little Max, or other information related to the local shelter, animal hospital or rescue service. If no additional information can be found, check the blue (government) pages or the Yellow Pages for a listing of area shelters and rescue services, and ask if they published the photo of Max.

You may be able to contact the local paper directly and ask who placed the photo. Contact information is usually placed near the front of the issue under a list of editors' and reporters' names.

Best of luck finding little Max — and if he is no longer available for adoption, please consider adopting another cute kitten from the local shelter. So many are waiting for a home!

First United Bank & Trust Promotes Sines

William B. Grant, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of First United Bank and Trust, announced the promotion of Beverly A. Sines to vice president and chief credit officer.

"Bev's expertise and experience in the lending and credit areas of the bank have made her a tremendous asset to the company," Grant commented. "Bev is held in the highest regard for her credit knowledge, and she is dedicated to the bank's vision."

Bev has over 30 years experience in the banking industry. Since joining First United in 1976 as a bookkeeper and teller, Bev has been promoted several times, serving most recently as vice president and credit administrator.

She is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma Consumer Lending School and is currently attending the Maryland Banking School.

She is a member of Pleasant View Baptist Church and the Garrett County Livestock Association. She resides in Oakland with her husband Mark and her two sons, Taylor and Travis.

Child Protection System To Be Reviewed Locally

The Local Citizen Review Panel (LCRP) will hold an open meeting on Thursday, Feb. 15, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Department of Social Services, Oakland.

The LCRPs in Maryland are to provide oversight for the child protection system in Maryland by advising the State Citizens' Review Board for Children (SCRBC) and the State Council on Child Abuse and Neglect (SCCAN) on how effectively state and local agencies are fulfilling their responsibilities related to child protection.

This is to be accomplished by ongoing local system reviews and individual case reviews. LCRPs offer the community a real opportunity to strengthen its care of children and youth. LCRP members include individuals with interest and expertise in the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect.

All local LCRP members have been appointed by the Garrett County commissioners. If Garrett County schools are closed because of the weather conditions, this meeting will be canceled.

Goodwill Soliciting Household Items, Clothing Donations

Donations of slightly used clothing and household items to Horizon Goodwill Industries (HGI) are down this winter throughout the quad-state region, according to an HGI spokesperson.

"Goodwill is asking for your help," she said. "Goods donated to Goodwill are sold in our retail stores, and profits realized from those sales fund employment and training programs and other career services for people with disabilities and other disadvantages, such as welfare dependency, homelessness, and lack of education and work experience."

Items most needed right now are gently used articles of clothing, but Goodwill also accepts household items, furniture, toys, collectibles, art, and small kitchen appliances.

"Before making your donation, ask yourself if you would give it to a relative or friend," said the spokesperson. "Our shoppers are looking for quality second-hand goods, and disposing of items we can't sell costs a lot of money. Every dollar we spend disposing of unusable donations is a dollar we cannot spend on our services to the community."

Donations are accepted at the local HGI retail store, located in the Grantsville Shopping Plaza.

For more information, persons may call 301-895-4405 or the HGI corporate center at 301-733-7330.

Garrett College Slates Insurance Billing Classes

A Medical Insurance Billing course will be held at the Garrett College Southern Outreach Center, located in Oakland at the former National Guard Armory. Classes are scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays, March 19 through April 18 from 6 to 9:15 p.m., and Saturdays, March 31, April 7, and April 21 from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

This course is designed to provide training for individuals who want to learn basic insurance billing and work in a doctor's office, hospital, or in a home-based business. Instruction will focus on learning to complete the universal claim form accepted by all insurance carriers.

Topics will include intake of patient, preauthorization, codes, modifiers, and rules for Medicare, managed care, collecting monies, terminology, networking, and electronic billing.

Prerequisites necessary are Medical Terminology, Introduction to Anatomy and Physiology, and Medical Coding Specialist I & II, or permission granted by the instructor.

Beth Little-Terry, chief operating officer of Mountain Laurel Medical Center, will instruct the course.

For more information or to register, persons may contact Terry Beachy, coordinator of the Garrett College's Northern Outreach Center, at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrettcollege.edu.

NOTICE
GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS!

According to the laws governing my office (Section 14-808/Tax Property), the Tax Collector must advertise and sell properties for delinquent County, State, Town and/or taxes due to other taxing agencies.

Delinquent notices were mailed Feb. 1, 2007. We have included all taxes on the property as required by law. However, only delinquent taxes (2005-2006 and prior years) must be paid to avoid a tax sale on the property. Also, personal property taxes for 2003-2004 and prior years are delinquent and become a lien on the real estate (Section 14-808). (If you are involved in a bankruptcy proceeding, please contact our office as soon as possible). TAX BILLS MAILED JULY 2006 ARE NOT DELINQUENT!

According to legislation (Annotated Code 14-809), the county collector shall proceed to advertise and sell any real property located in any municipal corporation in the county on which municipal corporation taxes are delinquent. Unpaid amounts for municipalities or other taxing agencies were shown at the bottom of the notices. After March 2, all delinquent town taxes must be paid at the County Tax Office in order to guarantee collection of additional costs.

Property taxes may be paid at the Tax Office with Discover Card Only. Also, we accept payments by credit card on-line. To pay by credit card, call 1-800-2PAY-TAX or visit www.officialpayments.com (Use Jurisdiction Code 3014). There is a nominal fee charged for this service. Cards that can be used are: VISA, MASTERCARD, DISCOVER and AMERICAN EXPRESS.

The annual tax sale will be held in May 2007. Additional fees for attorney costs will be assessed after March 2, 2007. Please contact our office for the correct figures. After approximately April 6, 2007, additional fees for advertising will be included in the total amounts due.

If you should have questions or if we can be of assistance to you, please do not hesitate to call anytime between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

CIVIC LEADER HOSTS CONFERENCE – Ruth Umbel, McHenry, hosted a Maryland Federation of Republican Women (MFRW) Conference in Middletown that focused on the theme "Women Outreaching to the World." As part of the multicultural agenda, a nine-member delegation of the Mongolian Women Democratic Party was invited to speak about its progress since the collapse of the Soviet regime. The delegation is visiting Garrett County to attend various seminars on democratic processes. Pictured above, standing far right, is MFRW president Patt Parker; Umbel, the third vice president of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women, is standing third from right.

Umbel Hosts MFRW Conference; Foreign Delegation Visits County

Members of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club (SGCRWC) were among 110 statewide representatives attending a recent Maryland Federation of Republican Women Leadership (MFRW) Conference hosted by Ruth Umbel of McHenry. The conference was held at Hollow Creek Golf Club in Middletown.

"Women Outreaching to the World" was presented as a multicultural theme, and in keeping with this idea, a nine-woman delegation representing the Mongolian Women Democratic Party was invited to address the participants.

Head of delegation "Baggi" Battsetseg led a presentation on the progress Mongolian women have made since the early 1990s.

Battsetseg said that as communism collapsed in the Soviet Union, the withdrawal of Soviet subsidies led to industrial collapse in Mongolia. Thousands were out-of-work, fueling massive inflation. The country's concerned women took responsibility for its future and began to build a civil society. They established non-governmental organizations rooted in democracy.

The audience was told that the conference's guests hold leadership positions in those organizations which have been influential in passing legislation beneficial to women, including raising women's earning power, the right to travel, and the establishment of a voter education program.

While on a visit to Mongolia, then U.N. Ambassador Ellen R. Sauerbrey met with local women interested in becoming politically active, and in learning more about a democratic society. Sauerbrey suggested that they develop a relationship with women's political organizations in the U.S., and promised to help, according to an MFRW spokesperson.

Sauerbrey worked together with the National Federation of Republican Women (NFRW) and Battsetseg, resulting in the formation of a "sister club" relationship. The NFRW is hosting a three-week visit in which the delegation will attend seminars on campaigning for political office, nominee training programs, presiding over meetings, influencing legislation, and recruitment, an MFRW spokesperson said.

Host Umbel, the third vice president of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women, welcomed the Mongolian delegation to Garrett County. The MFRW presented a $1,000 check to the Mongolian Women Democratic Party to be used toward the advancement of Mongolian women.

D IS FOR DOCTOR DOG – The letters of the alphabet are the focus this season during for the Oakland Library Children's Hour, and a recent letter was D, as in "D is for Doctor Dog." Spirit, a service dog owned by Valerie Hodge-Williams and dressed as Doctor Dog, captured everyone's attention. Hodge-Williams demonstrated how Spirit assists her bwecause she has an autoimmune disease that requires his keen sensitivity and help. "He is a wonderful dog, a true Doctor Dog," said Hodge-Williams. Spirit knows when she requires his assistance. "Even the hospital staff relies on his ability to sense my condition," she told the children. Spirit allowed the children to pet him, and showed them how he fetches items for his owner, carries her bag, and gives her support if she needs help getting up. Children's Hour at the Oakland Library is held every Wednesday from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., except during the month of August. For more information about the Ruth Enlow Library programs and services, persons may visit relib.net.

Westminster Man Receives PBJ, Fine, And Probation For Writing Bad Checks

In recent District Court news, Joseph Lee Stein, 20, Westminster, pleaded guilty to one count of writing a bad check and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), one year of unsupervised probation, and a $92 fine. Stein issued four checks to Brodak Liquors in April in the amount of $450, and was charged with four counts of writing bad checks for less than $100, and one count of plotting to write bad checks within a 30-day period knowing that there were insufficient funds in the account to cover the checks written, according to court records.

The state's attorney did not prosecute Stein on the charges of three counts of bad check writing, and one count of plotting to write bad checks within a 30-day period.

In a separate case, Stein was not prosecuted by the state's attorney on the following 37 charges: 5 counts of theft of property having a value of less than $100; 10 counts of attempted theft of property having a value of less than $500; 9 counts of attempting to use or obtain another's credit card to charge merchandise, goods, money, or services having a value of less than $500; 3 counts of theft of property having a value of less than $500; 3 counts of using another's credit card fraudulently for the purpose of obtaining money, goods, or services having a value of less than $500; 4 counts of using another's credit card with the intent to defraud the victim for the purpose of obtaining money, goods, or services having a value of less than $100; 1 count of stealing another's credit card; 1 count of attempted theft of money, goods, or services having a value of less than $100; and 1 count of scheming to steal U.S. currency and merchandise belonging to M&T Bank, Clear Mountain Bank, and BP Oil.

The above charges were filed after the defendant allegedly stole the victim's M&T Bank card and attempted to use the card at various locations. The stolen credit card was eventually found in the defendant's car, according to court records.

In other court news, Barclay Henry Dixon, 40, Albright, W.Va., pleaded guilty to the charge of failure to obey a reasonable and lawful order, and was handed a 60-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except for four days. In addition, the defendant was ordered to complete one year of unsupervised probation and have no further contact with the victim.

Dixon was arrested by sheriff's deputies in October on charges of trespassing on private property and failing to obey a reasonable and lawful order after he became intoxicated and refused to leave the property when asked to do so by the owner/victim. He was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of trespassing on private property.

Richard Matthew Crouch, 23, Front Royal, Va., pleaded guilty to CDS possession of paraphernalia and was given a $150 fine by Judge Edward A. Malloy Jr. The charge stemmed from an August incident in which the police stopped a 1997 Dodge Truck for speeding, and subsequently arrested the defendant after searching the vehicle and finding smoking pipes containing marijuana residue. Crouch was not prosecuted by the state's attorney

Amber Marie Robinson, 21, Oakland, was handed a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, after she pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana. In addition, Judge Malloy ordered the defendant to complete 18 months of unsupervised probation, and 40 hours of community service, and to continue with addiction counseling. Robinson was the passenger in a car that was searched by the police after the driver failed a sobriety test. The police found and seized two clear bags containing the residue of marijuana and two blue pills identified as Alprazolam, a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) schedule IV drug.

Robinson was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of possession of paraphernalia and possession of a controlled dangerous substance schedule IV drug.

Donald Joseph Ringer II, 28, Tunnelton, W.Va., pleaded not guilty to the charges of violating an ex-parte protective court order and harassment. Ringer was found guilty of the first charge and not guilty of the second. Ringer failed to comply with the court order in September when he made contact with the victim at a residence in Mtn. Lake Park. Judge Malloy handed the defendant a four-day jail sentence.

Timothy Alexander Moliterno, 18, Williamsburg, Va., pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana and was given one day of unsupervised probation and $200 in fines and court costs.

Sheriff's deputies stopped the defendant for a traffic violation in July, and a scan by a drug detection canine alerted the police to the positive presence of drugs. The car and the defendant were searched, and as a result, the police found three smoking pipes in the car containing the residue of marijuana and a bag of marijuana in the left front pants pocket of the defen-

THE BIBLE AS VIEWED from the pew.

To you who believe the Bible as a history book in addition to being the inspired Word of God, may I refer you to Book of Revelation, which was written by John, who also wrote the 4th Gospel, and the 3 short letters. John was loved by Jesus. While in exile on the island of Patmos, John had specific revelations from God, and he wrote them down–thus the Book of Revelation. In Chapter 20, beginning at verse 12, "And I saw the dead, small and great, standing before God, and books were opened. And another book was opened which is the Book of Life. And the dead were judged according to their works, by the things which were written in the books (note two books). The sea gave up the dead who were in it, and Death and Hades delivered up the dead who were in them. And they were judged, each one according to his works. Then Death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death. And anyone not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire." My friend, if you are reading this and do not know Jesus as your LORD and Savior, you still have time. Read the Bible, get your name in the Book of Life. Accept Jesus as your Savior now, repent while you can. While God loves us all, His judgment is coming– whom do you choose?

open to our changes, and a lot of fun. We learned a lot from her regarding the area, and even more about owning a vacation home. Dawn spent about 10 hours in one day with us, showing us a variety of homes, so we could narrow it down to the area and type of home that we liked. . . After our offer was accepted, we had a few family emergencies that made it difficult to focus on the process, but Dawn kept things rolling and kept us up to date on everything. It was comforting to know we could depend on her. We look forward to spending time in our new home, and would recommend Dawn, and your office, to anyone that asks!

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Last week I wrote about the downside of our winter. A few years ago I painted a painting titled "Perfect Winter Day," with cobalt blue sky, fluffy white clouds, and a fence lined with a layer of snow. Well, this past Wednesday was that kind of day. I don't think that I ever have seen such a beautiful day, with sparkling snow, and lots of blue sky and sunshine. The snow sparkled more in the early morning. Regardless, I still am sick of snow and I can't stand being snowed in. I am lucky if my lane is still clear within three hours of having been cleaned. Our wind just never quits. This past Sunday would have been a perfect winter day if it had not been for the blowing wind.

In 1957 the weather was the same as this year. I always watched my big brother walking to the bus when he was in the first grade. That Valentine's Day was very windy, and his Valentine cards blew away. It made me very sad.

I asked Cindy Stanton if Valentine's Day was still a top holiday for the first graders. She said that they are pretty excited about the party food, but best of all is that they can read the Valentine cards independently.

I got a pleasant surprise last weekend when Claire and Caitlin came home from college. It is wonderful to be with them, even for a short time and even if they slept most of the time. I still hate to see them go back to Morgantown.

Super Bowl Sunday rolled around, but I can't believe how sad it was without the Steelers playing in it. They had a full pre-game show with discussion about the Chicago Bears' secret weapon. Chicago couldn't hold down Peyton Manning. I turned off the hype, as I couldn't stand it. It is questionable whether I will even watch the game, except that Meredith is excited about the halftime show. I really hate football and rock stars, so Super Bowl XIV doesn't offer much to me. If I watch it I guess I would cheer for the Colts. However, there are many Colt fans around who are still disgruntled about their sneaking out of Baltimore in the night years ago.

It certainly is not like the Super Bowls of the early 1970s in many ways, one in which happened to have the Steelers playing. I attended some fun Super Bowl parties back then. My brother Barry hosted a Super Bowl party this year at his Frederick home. Cousin Courtney Englar and another friend attended. I could have ridden down with them, but that is a long ride for a Super Bowl party.

Actually, I have no desire to go anywhere in our below-zero and single-digit temperatures. The air temperature has been hovering around zero for the past several days, and with the brisk wind it is just too cold to step out of the door. A few months ago I heard several people predicting that we will pay for the mild weather we had back then. Oh, they were so right. It is not good for our environment to have such freakish conditions as we had back in December. Well, we did get real winter weather for at least several weeks. Yesterday, my screen door was frozen shut.

I suppose the Wisp is busy making more snow now that the temperatures have tumbled down. It was pretty dismal out at the slopes in December and part of January, but it looks like February and March will be at their best for skiing.

I remember one year I skied at the Wisp in April. Wisp has more snow than Seven Springs has on their slopes.

During my junior and senior years of high school it was always good news when I heard "no school in Garrett County." Instead of studying, I hit the slopes. Today it isn't like there is too much snow but just too cold. I know it was too cold to go to the grocery store, but I did it mainly because the rest of this week will be just as bad, and I think if you have something to do, you might as well just do it now. The snow underfoot was quite crunchy and the drifts were sharp sculptured. I couldn't believe my car started right away.

If you would take a picture of today with the drifts and the snaky snow on the roads, none would believe it was in Maryland. You can tell it is really cold just by looking out your window. It is hard to pin down what makes the air look cold, but it does. It is not just the wind blowing the snow, but it is also an indefinable quality of the air. Everything looks very clear and crisp, just the opposite of muggy. With the brutal cold in Bittinger most people, if they have a choice, stay home. It is even too cold for Sheila Southerly to do any cross-country skiing.

I am wishing that the white stag that my friend Mike Hall saw along Garrett Highway between McHenry and Accident was Bittinger's white stag. He said it was a magnificent sight. I haven't heard of anyone seeing it for years now.

Speaking of wildlife, I spotted a squirrel in my front yard, and I don't have an oak tree. I also assume their primary diet is acorns, so I don't know what he is doing around my house.

It is a rare thing that Emmanuel Lutheran Church calls off Sunday morning services, but there was no church Sunday morning because of the extreme cold. Pastor Randy and wife Cindy are in Wheeling this week picking up their final possessions and will return Saturday morning about 10 a.m. They may need some help unloading the truck. So if you are available, come and help.

As our temperature dips way below zero, Garrett County's weather has made the national news again. At least I got a call from a friend in Virginia. I told her, "Yep, it is pretty nippy."

I love my friend, Betty Douglas, as she and I are twin souls. We share a love of horses, books, and art. We have the same sense of humor, plus values and politics. I miss the time we shared a room and also when we lived a few blocks away from each other in Manhattan. Most of my life I had a girlfriend who was on the same page as I. During my high school days I was blessed with three girlfriends with lots of things in common with me. Penny, Marla, and Linda and I shared the love of outdoor sports and a goofy sense of humor. That sense of humor led us to form a secret club, "The Northern High Prune Growers." We thought prune was funny, and we held poetry contests and just wanted to have fun. We were out of step with the mainstream of the Class of 1971. We never got into any trouble because our antics were harmless. We were among the top students and among the workhorses of the student body, being in the marching band, and on the newspaper and yearbook staffs. We were different, but good girls.

Good news, like the goundhog, Ruth DiPaolo is out and around after battling a broken ankle and pneumonia.

Cindy Stanton is recovering from surgery. The canceling of school was perfect timing for her because she is able to enjoy the company of daughter Lea and grandson Blake, who are visiting from Albuquerque.

On Honor Roll At Glenville State

Christina L. Flockhart, MeHenry, has been named to the vice president's honor roll for the fall 2006-07 semester at Glenville (W.Va.) State College.

To attain this honor, a student must have a minimum of 3.5 grade point average or better on a 4.0 grading scale.

Flockhart will be graduating in May with a B.S. degree in criminal justice and will become a member of the U.S. Secret Service. She is a 2002 graduate of Northern Garrett High School. She is the daughter of Bill and Sandi Flockhart.

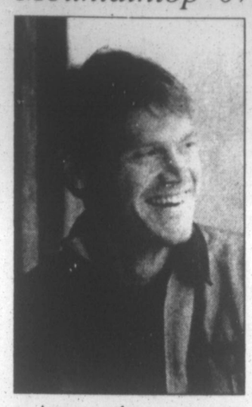
Charlie Dodrill Will Perform At Mountaintop '07



Among the guest performers at the 21st annual get-away weekend conference, Mountaintop 2007, set for March 2-4 at Oglebay's Wilson Lodge in Wheeling, W.Va., will be Nashville recording artist and West Virginia native Charlie Dodrill.

Dodrill will perform for the Coffee House Fellowship on Friday evening.

Several years ago, Dodrill spent a solitary four months in a mountain cabin in the high desert between Utah and Nevada. Soon he was writing songs for his personal worship time. With no guitar training, his early writing included such chords as the "smiley face" chord and "triangle." As he was finishing his monastic experience in a rural corner of Missouri, he began sharing his music with others. A friend coaxed him into a garage studio for an early recording session. Eventually he moved to Nashville and, through a series of events, ended up recording the songs of Prologue, his first CD.

"Charlie Dodrill brings a new flavor to Mountaintop," said Anne Robinson, Wheeling, cofounder of the event. "In a coffee house setting, folks will get to experience the special music of this devoted man of God. We're excited that his journey has brought him to Mountaintop."

Also featured at this weekend event, for which spaces are still available, is former professor of New Testament and present senior pastor of a 1,700-member congregation, Daniel Doriani of St. Louis. He will speak at five sessions during the weekend on the topic "Jesus'. Sacrifice for Us, Our Service for Him."

Musical worship will be led by Bill Cummings from Cicero, N.Y., a nationally known worship leader who has served in music ministry for over 25 years. Joining Cummings will be an ensemble of musicians from the Pittsburgh area.

"When folks come to Mountaintop," said Robinson, "they can expect to be challenged, inspired, encouraged, refreshed, renewed, and readied to go back into the world. I guess you could say that Mountaintop is nourishment for your soul!"

For more information or to register, Living for Christ Conferences may be contacted at 304-455-5322 or via www.mountaintopconference.org.

PIMBY

Prospecting for new energy sources isn't just for the big energy companies anymore. One West Virginia company is helping everyday people generate their own clean electricity, while reducing their dependence on big utilities. The company, based in Thomas, is called PIMBY, which stands for "Power in My Back Yard." It installs and maintains home-scale wind turbines and solar power systems for homeowners, farmers, and small businesses throughout the region.

According to company partner Matt Sherald, rising energy prices, uncertain global markets, and concerns about global warming are driving the demand for clean, secure, and renewable energy.

"The mountains of North Central West Virginia offer some of the best locations for wind power in the east," Sherald said. "That's why we have a large wind farm in Tucker County, and why one is being planned for Grant County. Many homeowners can benefit from the same wind resource, and even more sites are viable for solar power."

Last fall Sherald and his partner, Jeff Melnick, helped install a 10kW-wind turbine in Wisconsin that was large enough to power a typical American home or small business. The turbine, with 12-foot blades, was set on a 112-foot tower.

"All turbines need to be on tall towers; that's where the best wind is found," Sherald said.

Smaller turbines can power an energy-efficient home or offset a portion of the electricity that would otherwise be purchased from a utility.

More recently, PIMBY installed a 2.8kW-solar panel array to power an old plantation home in central Virginia. Not the typical rooftop solar panels, the 10-foot-high by 20-foot-wide system, which was set in a field adjacent to the historic home, featured a sophisticated dual-axis tracker that moves the unit throughout the day to adjust for seasonal differences in the sun's altitude. Sherald says the technology is impressive, but the best part was watching the electric meter spin backwards, as the unit fed extra power back into the grid for credit.

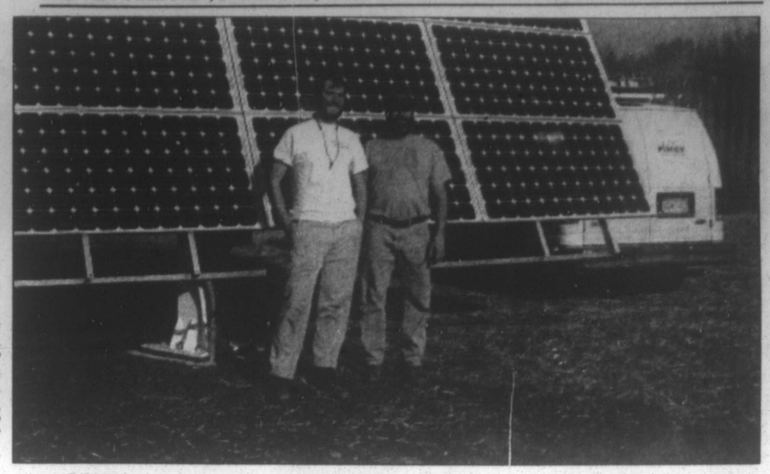
Sherald says that people who have spent years thinking about alternative energy systems are now looking to move forward and commit.

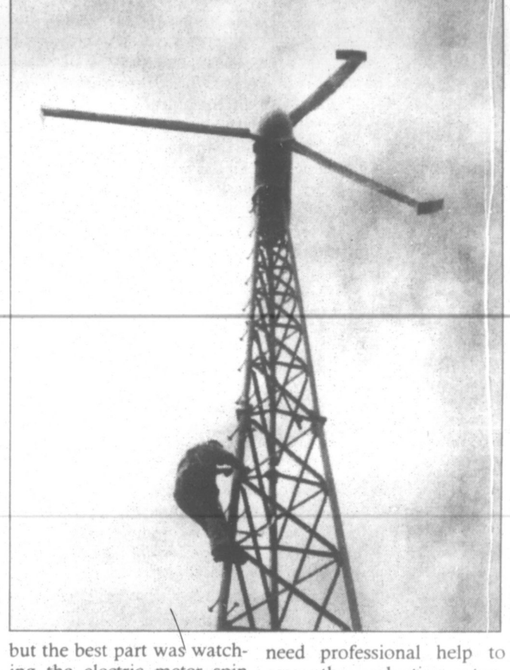
"At this point they often need professional help to assess the production potential of their property," he said.

PIMBY provides production assessments, as well as the subsequent system design and installation services.

"Installing a wind turbine or solar power system gives the owner control over their energy future," Sherald said. "It is clean, dependable energy that you can feel good about."

Persons desiring more information about the company and its products may contact PIMBY at 304-704-5943 or go to the company's web site at www.getpimby.com.





PIMBY, which stands for Power in My Back Yard, is the name of a company based in Tucker County that capitalizes on clean, natural resources to produce power by installing and maintaining both home-scale wind turbines and solar power systems for homeowners and small businesses. Company partners Matt Sherald and Jeff Melnick are pictured above (left to right). See story for details.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

HARLEM ROCKETS

The Harlem Rockets comedy basketball team will play the Hilltopper Dream Team on Friday, Feb. 9, 7 p.m., at the East Preston gym. This event is being sponsored by the Terra Alta East Preston Athletic Fund and the Hilltopper Youth Basketball League.

Tickets in advance are $7, and will be $8 at door. Tickets can be purchased at Shop and Save, Gregg's Pharmacy, East Preston Floral, or from any youth in youth basketball. Persons may also call Todd Slaubaugh at 789-6089 or Dave Lantz at 789-3177. There are a limited amount of tickets.

The Harlem Rockets will also be at the school on Feb. 9 at 1:30 p.m. to talk to the students.

TABI RAFFLE

Raffle tickets for three hog halves are now on sale at Gregg's Pharmacy. Proceeds from the raffle will benefit Terra Alta Betterment Incorporated (TABI), The drawing will be held on March 5 during the regular TABI meeting. The next TABI meeting will be held on Feb. 19 at the town hall at 7 p.m.

TERRA ALTA FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Terra Alta Fire Department, a totally volunteer organization, is in need of money. Citizens are urged to send donations to the department.

TERRA ALTA LIBRARY

A memorial book dedication for Megan Lantz will be held at the Terra Alta Library on Feb. 14 at 4:30 p.m.

TAX PREPARATION ASSISTANCE OFFERED

VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) volunteers will provide free tax return preparation at the Terra Alta town hall on Thursdays from Feb. 1 through April 12. There are no age or income restrictions. Volunteers are trained to prepare most basic and intermediate returns by the IRS.

In order to reduce waiting times for the public, appointments will be required this year. Appointments can be made by calling Terra Alta City Hall during business hours 789-6862.

Persons are asked to bring copies of last year's returns, proof of identification, and Social Security numbers.

This effort is supported by the Terra Alta Town Council and staff members.

AURORA/EGLON

REYCLING SATURDAY

Recycling is scheduled for Feb. 10, the second Saturday of the month, at the Aurora School parking lot, weather permitting. Bring your glass, plastic (including bags), paper, and metal items between 9 and 11 a.m. This project is sponsored by the Mountain Lions Club and has proved quite successful so far.

DEATH

Delores Cole Liston, 72, died Friday, Feb. 2, at her home on Cole Road in Eglon. The body was at the Browning Funeral Home in Kingwood, where services were held Tuesday, Feb. 6, with interment in the Terra Alta Cemetery.

OTHER MENTION

Bernard "Buzz" Arnold received a head injury in a fall outside his Aurora home last Friday, and was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, then transferred to Morgantown, and returned to Aurora on Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. Wayne C. Spiggle, Ft. Ashby, were accompanied by their daughter and granddaughter of Scotland for a brief visit last week with David and Delores Stemple, Aurora.

Residents are reminded to continue saving Box Tops for Education for the Aurora School? General Mills and related products are accepted. Also, needed are labels from Campbell's products. These, too, are used by the school, and now some are worth five points each, including specially marked cans of Campbell's condensed soups, Chunky bowls, Soup at Hand, Supper Bakes, Select Soup (bowls) and Soup To Go (tubs). Add Pepperidge Farm, Goldfish Crackers, and lids of V8 Splash (16 oz., 64 oz.) Continuing to be worth one point are the remainder of condensed soups, Chunky soups and chili, Healthy Request and Select, including Gold Select, Franco-American Spaghettio's and gravies, Pepperidge Farm soups, breads, croutons, stuffing, cookies, crackers, snacks, cakes, and dumplings and puff pastries.

Also collect labels from Swanson broth and canned chicken, Prego lids from pasta sauces, lids from VS juices, Splash, and Fusion.

PUFFALOOZA

In Loving Memory
David "Puff" Lancaster
February 10, 2007, Whites Tavern
Rt. 51 North of Uniontown

February 10, 2007, will be a special night for many reasons. First the family of the late David "Puff" Lancaster hopes to raise enough money to cover Puff's final expenses, but it will also be a celebration of his life for it would also have been his 30th birthday.

David "Puff" Lancaster, an accomplished bass player, was killed on December 3, 2006, under circumstances that are still being investigated, and leaves behind three small children: Jessica, Paige and David.

The benefit which is being held at Whites Tavern also has a special meaning for the Lancaster Family and his friends. Puff and his band, Red Rum, played here on numerous occasions over the last few years and will be sadly missed. Tickets are available for $10.00 and it includes a buffet along with a chance on some giveaways (Hint: a Big Ben signed football and a signed guitar).

If anyone is interested in attending the benefit or making a donation please make checks payable to the David "Puff" Lancaster Memorial Fund and send them to P.O. Box 173, Addison, PA 15411. Somerset Trust in Confluence is handling the account. Sonia Minghi, who has helped set up this benefit, can be reached at (724) 557-5187 for any questions.

David "Puff" Lancaster was born in the Confluence area and left a place in our hearts that can never be filled.

For any information on the benefit, please contact Brenda Betz (301) 334-4767, Amber White (301) 334-6224, or his girlfriend Lauren Wilson (240) 442-4048.

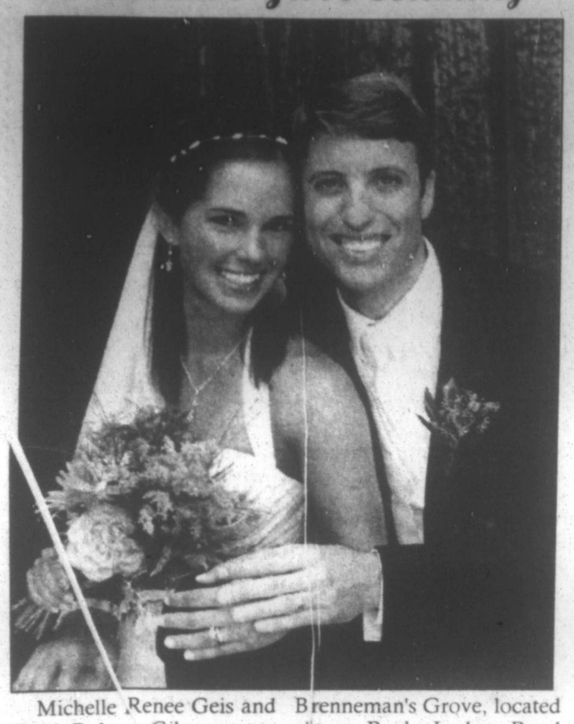
Miss Geis Weds Mr. Gibson In Brenneman's Grove Ceremony



Michelle Renee Geis and Todd Robert Gibson were united in marriage Saturday, Aug. 19, 2006. The double-ring ceremony and reception took place at Brenneman's Grove, with the bride's great uncle, Rev. Darrell Layman, officiating. Brenneman's Grove, located along Rock Lodge Road near Bittinger, is a maple sugar farm that has been in the bride's family for five generations.

Michelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Housley, Accident, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Geis Jr., Frostburg. She is the granddaughter of LaVerne Geis, Frostburg; James Wagner, Accident; and the late Margaret Hershberger-Wagner, Donald Hershberger, and Edward Glyn Geis Sr.

Todd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson, Deep Creek Lake. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Railey, Deep Creek Lake, Maxine Gibson, Deep Creek Lake, and the late Dr. Robert Gibson.

Harpist, Howard Emerson, played Wagner's "Wedding March" as the bride's mother and father escorted her down the aisle, which was lined with maple sap buckets filled with wildflowers. She was then given in marriage by both sets of her parents.

The ceremony took place next to a pond, under an architectural arbor, which was covered in white flowers and located in front of an old weeping willow tree.

The bride was attired in a gown by Jasmine. The ivory chiffon gown featured a sweetheart neckline, satin buttons down the spine, a gathered bodice with subtle embroidered beading and custom alterations, including a beaded halter, a crystal encrusted waist with a rolled rosette, and a cascading chiffon sash.

Michelle wore a shoulder-length veil accented with crystal beads. Her wedding jewelry included a simple crystal necklace and matching earrings, as well as an antique turquoise ring that belonged to her late grandmother Margaret.

The bride carried a bouquet consisting of tiger lilies, Gerber daisies, roses, and hypericum berries, with the stems wrapped in chocolate satin.

-Serving as maid of honor was the bride's sister, Moriah Geis, Frostburg. Bridesmaids were Alison Buckel, friend of the bride, Annapolis; Colleen McLister, cousin of the bride, Frederick; Leslie Stevens, friend of the bride, St. Leonard; Noelle Collins, friend of the bride, McHenry; and Natalie McLister, cousin of the bride, Frederick.

The maid of honor wore an orange satin and chiffon tea length dress, while the bridesmaids wore matching dresses in chocolate brown. They carried bouquets of yellow Gerber daisies and hypericum berries with the stems wrapped in chocolate satin, and wore jewelry consisting of brown, fuchsia, and gold, accented with mother of pearl.

Serving as best man was Beau Gibson, brother of the groom, Deep Creek Lake. The groomsmen were Brent Housley, brother of the bride, Accident; Eric Recker, cousin of the groom, McHenry; Schuyler Morse, college friend of the groom, Annapolis; Andy Patrick, U.S. Air Force friend of the groom, North Charleston, S.C.; and Jack Alvarez Jr.; childhood friend of the groom, Frederick. The bell-ringer was Paul McLister, cousin of the bride, Frederick.

The groom, best man, groomsmen, fathers of the bride and groom, and the bell-ringer wore black tuxedos. The groom wore an ivory vest and tie, while the best man wore an orange vest and tie, and the remaining groomsmen wore chocolate accents. The fathers and bell-ringer wore black vests and ties. The boutonnières consisted of eucalyptus leaves and hypericum berries.

The guests were greeted and given programs by Lea Pochet, friend of the bride visiting from Albuquerque, N.M.

Prior to the ceremony, harpist Howard Emerson of Morgantown, W.Va, entertained guests. During the ceremony, Paul McLister rang the dinner bell in memory of loved ones; Ann McLister, aunt of the bride, Frederick, read 1 Corinthians; Peter Porcaro, friend of the groom, Stuart, Fla., read "The Art of a Good Marriage"; and Michael Ray Fratz, friend of the bride and groom, Washington D.C., sang "Annie's Song" and "You Raise Me Up."

The meal itself was held in a large tent decorated with brown and white paper lanterns, hanging ferns, orange and lime green hydrangea wreaths, birch candles, copper luminaries, and a multitude of flowers.

Jimmy Beitzel, Grantsville, served as DJ throughout the meal, and Stephen Rodeheaver, McHenry, provided "creativity and peace-of-mind" throughout the event.

Following the meal, the party moved to the upper level of a barn, which was constructed in the 1800s. Family members and friends, in preparation for the wedding, had transformed the barn into a unique reception setting.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at their house, located on the shores of Deep Creek Lake, in an illuminated tent.

The couple spent several days at Nemacolin Woodlands immediately following their wedding. Because of the groom's deployment to Iraq following their wedding festivities, the couple will be honeymooning in St. Lucia this spring. They currently reside in Edgewater.

The bride is a 1997 graduate of Northern Garrett High School and a 2001 graduate of Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Va., with a degree in interior design. Michelle is currently employed by Elements of Design, Deep Creek Lake.

The groom is a 1996 graduate of Southern Garrett High School and a 2001 graduate of University of Maryland in College Park with a degree in aerospace engineering. After working as an aerospace engineer for Swales of Beltsville, he joined the Air National Guard. Todd is currently an F-16 pilot stationed at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington D.C.

Wedding guests traveled not only from Maryland, but also Africa, Georgia, Florida, Illinois, North Carolina, New York, New Mexico, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Virginia, and West Virginia. Other guests had recently returned from Afghanistan and Iraq.

Named USAA Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy recently announced that Karen Bonser, Oakland, has been named a U.S. National Award winner in science. She will appear in the USAA's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Karen, an eighth grade student at Southern Middle School, was nominated by William Janoske, a teacher at the school.

Fewer than 10 percent of all American middle school students are recognized for this honor, according to the USAA. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, interest, and aptitude.

Karen is the daughter of Bob and Suzanne Bonser.

Teen Substance Abuse Workshop Series Scheduled

In a workshop series called Guiding Good Choices®, which is being offered in the McHenry area, parents will learn how to strengthen their bonds with their children and reduce the risk of their children using alcohol or drugs.

The five-session program is being offered at the Sang Run Christian Center, McHenry, on alternate Wednesdays beginning Feb. 14 and running through April 11. Each session will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. The workshop is not affiliated with any particular religion.

Guiding Good Choices is an interactive program for anyone raising children who are in fourth grade through eighth grade. In a "lively and open atmosphere," parents and guardians will learn specific strategies to help their children avoid drug use and other adolescent problem behaviors, and grow to become healthy adults.

Parents will learn to set clear family guidelines on drugs, as well as learn and practice skills to strengthen family bonds, help their children develop healthy behaviors, and increase children's involvement in the family.

"Children are particularly at risk during transition periods in their lives, making this a great workshop for anyone raising a child who will be entering middle school in the fall," said Kendra Todd, director of health education.

In the 2004 Maryland Adolescent Survey conducted by the Maryland State Department of Education, 14.6% of sixth grade students in Garrett County reported having used some form of alcohol. Eight percent reported having used any drug other than alcohol or tobacco. Eighth grade student statistics for the same categories are more than double.

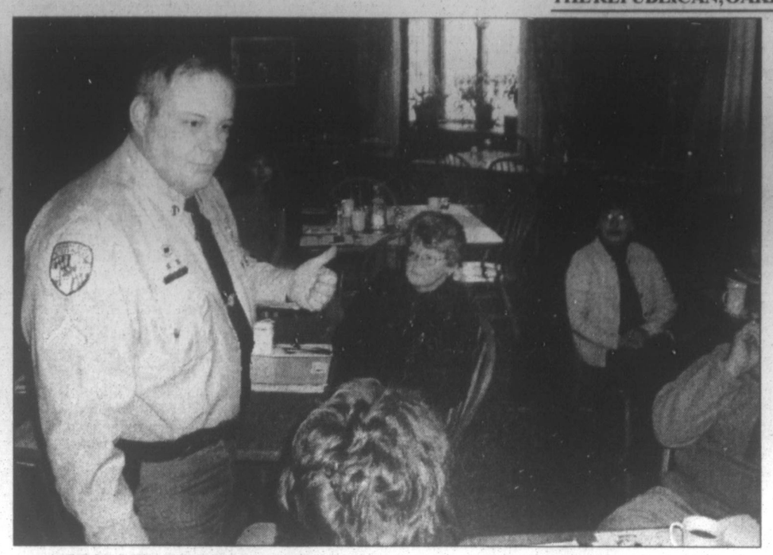
Studies of Guiding Good Choices have shown that the program is effective in strengthening parent-child bonds and preventing children and teenagers from starting to use alcohol and other drugs both now and in the future.

Research has shown that when children are bonded to their parents, school and non-drug-using peers, they are less likely to get involved in drug use or other behavior problems.

This workshop series is sponsored by the Governor's Office of Crime Control and Prevention and by the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families/Local Management Board Inc. There is no cost to attend the series of workshops.

Parents completing the program will receive a framed family portrait in celebration of their commitment to family. Participant space in the workshop is limited.

Persons may contact Venessa Stacy at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111 for more information and to register.



SECURITY TIPS TOP AGENDA - Tfc. Steven LeMay from the McHenry Barrack of Maryland State Police (pictured above) addressed members of the Greater Grantsville Business Association last week and provided the group with insights on local crime trends, suggesting security measures that business owners as well as residents might consider. The number one tool to safeguard any business is the security camera, according to LeMay. He explained that he and other officers are available to help business owners select the most advantageous locations for cameras and to discuss other details of security on site. LeMay also spoke about Operation Care Bear, a proactive program to reduce crime through intervention, screenings, and employment. An Operation Care Bear event will take place during Grantsville Days in June. More information on the GGBA is available at www.grantsvillemd.com dant. Moliterno was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of CDS possession of paraphernalia.

The state's attorney did not prosecute Donald Otis Bowman, 70, Ocala, Fla., of the following 36 charges: 10 counts of second-degree rape of an underage victim, 10 counts of a second-degree sex offense, 10 counts of parental child abuse, and 7 counts of battery. All the charges were filed by Bowman's daughter, who said the alleged abuses occurred at the family home in McHenry during the early 1970s.

Sheila Rae Lytle, 40, Darlington, was ordered to complete 18 months of unsupervised probation and to pay a $200 fine after she pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana. Lytle was stopped for speeding in June, and, after a K-9 drug detection dog alerted the officers to the presence of drugs in the vehicle, Garrett County sheriff's deputies found and seized a bag of marijuana, a smoking pipe, and an unspecified amount of cocaine. The defendant was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of CDS possession of paraphernalia and CDS possession of cocaine.

Michael A. Halloran-Balmer, Lancaster, Pa., pleaded guilty to CDS possession of paraphernalia, and Joseph Galascione, 25, Manheim, Pa., pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana. Judge Malloy handed Halloran-Balmer a PBJ and a $200 fine, and gave Galascione a PBJ and a $300 fine. The defendants were stopped in August for speeding, and after K-9 Tara gave a positive alert to the presence of drugs, police officers found marijuana and a smoking pipe in the vehicle, according to court records.

The driver, Halloran-Balmer, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of possession of marijuana, and Galascione was not prosecuted for the charge of possession of paraphernalia.

Brian Keith Pachilis, 42, Oakland, pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and a $142 fine. Police found marijuana, drug paraphernalia, and two packs of fireworks in the defendant's vehicle after they stopped to help him change a flat tire last July. The state's attorney did not prosecute Pachilis for the charges of possession of paraphernalia and the possession of fireworks without a permit.

Misti Dawn McMaster, 21, Oakland, was not prosecuted for two charges of second-degree assault which stemmed from a March incident in which the defendant allegedly struck the victim in the face with a closed fist.

DUI AND DWI

Juan Benito Perea, 29, W.Va., pleaded guilty to driving while impaired by alcohol (DWI) and was handed a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except for five days, and a $500 fine. Perea was not prosecuted for charges of driving while under the influence (DUI) and DUI per se.

William Philip Hebb, 24, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was given a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $300 fine, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. Hebb was not prosecuted for a charge of DUI.

Christopher Scott Tasker, 23, Md., was given a PBJ, a $300 fine, a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service after pleading guilty to DWI. Tasker was not prosecuted for charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Tracy Katharin Steinbach, 37, Va., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine of which $100 was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. Steinbach was not prosecuted for charges of DUI and DUI per se.

William Lewis Miller, 44, Md., was given a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine of which $100 was suspended, and one year of supervised probation after pleading guilty to DUI per se. The state's attorney did not prosecute the defendant for the charges of DUI and DWI.

Brandon Delano Wilt, 22, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was not sentenced.

Joan Clara Wilhelm, 39, Md., and David Allan Diehl, 46, Md., were not prosecuted by the state's attorney for charges of DUI and DWI.

Drugs that Reduce Angina Pain

Angina occurs when the heart muscle does not receive a sufficient amount of oxygen in blood, which typically results in chest pain. This discomfort characteristic of angina may also feel like indigestion. Angina is a symptom of the most common type of heart disease, coronary artery disease. This condition develops when plaque buildup occurs in the coronary arteries, which is known as atherosclerosis. The plaque buildup leads to narrowing and stiffening of the arteries, thereby causing a reduced blood flow to the heart. The result is a decrease in oxygen supplied to the heart.

Nitroglycerin is the drug used most often in the treatment of angina. This medication works by easing the workload of the heart. Nitroglycerin also works to relax the coronary arteries, which increases the supply of blood to the heart. Beta blockers work in the treatment of angina by lowering blood pressure and slowing the heart rate. Calcium channel blockers work to reduce the pain associated with angina by relaxing blood vessels, which allows more blood to flow to the heart. Ranolazine (Ranexa) is a new medication used in the treatment of angina. One early study showed that it significantly reduced the frequency of angina attacks and the need for supplementation with nitroglycerin tablets.

THE BROKEN CHAIN

We little knew that morning that God was going to call your name.
In life we loved you dearly,
in death we do the same.
It broke our hearts to lose you
you did not go alone;
for part of us went with you,
the day God called you home~
You left us peaceful memories, your love is still our guide;
and though we cannot see you,
you are always at our side~
Our family chain is broken, and nothing seems the same;
but as God calls us one by one,
the chain will link again.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Town of Friendsville will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on Community Development and Housing Needs, and to offer citizens the opportunity to review an application for Kendall Trail/River Waterway Improvements which the Town of Friendsville proposes to submit to the State on or before the February 28, 2007 deadline for same. The hearing will be held at the Friendsville Town Hall at 6:30 p.m. on February 20, 2007.

Citizens will be furnished with information including but not limited to:

- The amount of CDBG funds expected to be made available for the current fiscal year;
- The range of activities that may be undertaken with CDBG funds;
- The estimated amount of the CDBG funds proposed to be used for activities that will meet the national objective of benefit to low and moderate income persons and meet the national objective of benefit to low and moderate income persons, and;
- Proposed CDBG activities likely to result in displacement and the unit of general local government's anti-displacement and relocation plans required under 24 CFR 42.325.

The Maryland Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's CDBG Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet one of the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

1. Give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income of equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;
2. Aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;
3. Meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

The State of Maryland's allocation of federal funds for the fiscal year 2007 is estimated to be $30,750.00.

Efforts will be made to accommodate the disabled and non-English speaking residents with days' advance notice to Karen S. Benedict, Clerk, 301-746-5919.

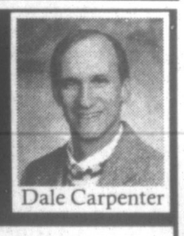
Real Estate Facts by...



Dale Carpenter

A SURPRISE PITCH!

You may be aware that you can avoid capital gains taxes on the sale of your home if it was your primary residence for at least two of the five years prior to its sale. Individuals may qualify for a $250K tax exemption, and married couples up to $500K.

But life is funny, and sometimes throws you a curve ball you weren't expecting. What if you've moved into your "forever home," and suddenly get laid off from your job, or need to move for unforeseen family or health reasons? Do you lose your big exemption from profits just because you couldn't remain in your home for two years?

The happy answer is no, not completely. Even the IRS understands unforeseen circumstances, and under Internal Revenue Code 121, you can get a partial credit for the time you've lived in your home before having to sell and move.

Then your exemption is based on the number of months (out of the twenty-four) that you remained in your principal residence. If you have to sell after 18 months, you will qualify for 18-24ths, or 75%, of the total $250K or $500K exemption.

The rules may seem complicated, but with the assistance of your tax adviser and a trusted real estate professional, you can maximize your savings and locate your next home with a minimum of aggravation.

If you'd like to buy or sell a home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call at the office, or on my cell phone at 301-501-DALE.

BLASTING NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Maryland Minerals, Inc., of 19746 Garrett Highway, Arrowhead #82, Oakland, MD 21550, will be conducting blasting operations under Mining Permit No. 95-SP-0487 at the Thayerville Quarry located 0.50 mile West of Route 219 on Quarry Road in Garrett County in accordance with all applicable state and federal laws.

Such activities will commence and continue in accordance with the following schedule of dates and approximate times, as approved by the Md. Dept. of the Environment:

Dates: Feb. 1, 2007, to Feb. 1, 2008, 7:30 AM to 12:00 Noon and 12:30 PM to 5:30 PM.

No Blasting will be conducted on Sundays.

At least ten minutes prior to each blasting activity, all accesses to the area will be controlled to prevent unauthorized entry, and a warning signal will be audible indicated by three 5-second blasts with an air horn at 2-second intervals. After the blast, the all-clear signal shall be indicated by one 20-second blast with an air horn. These signals are in accordance with applicable state and federal laws.

Also, unless approved by the regulatory authority, blasting activities will not be conducted at times other than those announced without prior notification, or, in the event of an emergency situation where rain, lightning, or other atmospheric conditions, operator or public safety considerations dictate an unscheduled detonation.

Any questions concerning the mining operations should be directed to the Md. Dept. of the Environment – Minerals, Oil, & Gas Division at 410-537-3557.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT AND NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS
January 30, 2007
Garrett County
203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, MD
301-334-8981

The purpose of this Notice is to satisfy two separate but related procedural requirements for activities to be taken by Garrett County.

On or about February 16, 2007, the above named County of Garrett will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds under the Maryland Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project title: Adventure Sports Complex Enhancements

Purpose of project: To complete the re-circulating Whitewater course with the installation of a conveyor, site landscaping, and trails.

Location: Adventure Sports Complex, Wisp Mountain, McHenry, MD

Total Project Costs: $1,000,000

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT

Notice is hereby given that the above named county has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice and has determined that said project will have no significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 is not required and no further environmental review of the project is proposed prior to requesting the Release of Funds.

The finding of No Significant Impact is based on the following:

The prior Environmental Assessment for the Whitewater course and adjoining site landscaping and trails found there would be no significant impact on the quality of the human environment and a Finding of No Significant Impact was made.

The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of this project is available for public examination at the Office of the Grant Resource Developer, Garrett County Courthouse, Oakland, during normal business hours.

PUBLIC COMMENTS ON FINDING

All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments respecting the environmental impacts of the described project to the offices of the Grant Resource Developer, Garrett County, and to the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development. All such comments must be received no later than February 16, 2007. All comments will be considered and Garrett County will not request the release of funds nor take any action on the project prior to this date.

REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

Garrett County will undertake the project described above with Maryland Community Development Block Grant Funds. This Notice also certifies that Ernest J. Gregg, serving in the official capacity of Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews decision-making and action, and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, Garrett County may use the Maryland Community Development Block Grant Funds and the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) will have satisfied its responsibilities under that National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

OBJECTIONS TO RELEASE OF FUNDS

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer, or (b) that the Garrett County Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process, (c) the grant recipient or other participants in the development process have committed funds, incurred costs or undertaken activities not authorized by this part before Release of Funds and approval of the environmental certification by DHCD or (d) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 35 CDR Part 800, (e) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to Garrett County and to the CDBG Environmental Officer, MD Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. Under a power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust from Kinsey K. Culp, III and Amy T. Culp dated June 18, 2003, and recorded June 24, 2003, in Liber No. 977, folio 730, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, default having occurred under the terms and conditions of said deed of trust, I hereby give notice that I will, on in the Rotunda of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, in the Town of Oakland, Maryland, offer for sale, and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, all that lot or parcel of real estate and the improvements thereon, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 5, Garrett County, Maryland, which is more particularly described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

Friday, February 16, 2007
At the hour of 11:00 a.m.

The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) by cash or certified funds is required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Trustee. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be not abatement of interest. Real estate taxes to be adjusted as of the date of sale. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay the Sellers' attorneys at settlement, a fee of $295.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Trustee may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Trustee cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

Oakland, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust dated June 10, 2005, and recorded in Liber 1132, Folio 412 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $116,000.00 and an original interest rate of 7.875% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on

FEBRUARY 27, 2007, AT 3:00 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $12,000 in the form of cash or readily available funds acceptable to the Trustees required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Trustee's Sale of valuable fee simple property improved by premises known as 428 FRATZ STREET, ACCIDENT, MD 21520. By virtue of the power and authority contained in a Deed of Trust from KAY D. PERRY, dated April 16, 1998, and recorded in Liber 736 at Page 0801 among the land records of the COUNTY OF GARRETT, in the original principal amount of $48,000.00 with an interest rate of 7.375%. Upon default and request for sale, the undersigned trustees will offer for sale at public auction at the front of the Courthouse for the COUNTY OF GARRETT, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on February 27, 2007, at 3:30 PM, all that property described in said Deed of Trust as follows:

BEING ALL THAT PROPERTY SITUATED EAST OF ROUTE 219 DESCRIBED BY METES AND BOUNDS BY DEED RECORDED IN LIBER 633, FOLIO 207, AMONG THE LAND RECORDS OF GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND. CONTAINING 0.42 ACRE OF LAND, MORE OR LESS. PARCEL TAX ID #05-016231.

Said property is in fee simple and is improved by a dwelling and is sold in "as is condition" and subject to all superior covenants, conditions, liens, restrictions, easement, rights-of-way, as may affect same, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of $4,800.00 cash or certified funds shall be required at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price with interest at 7.375% per annum from the date of sale to the date of payment will be paid within TEN DAYS after the final ratification of the sale. Adjustments on all taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by purchaser. If applicable, condominium and/or homeowner association dues and assessments that may become due after the time of sale will be the responsibility of the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, state revenue stamps, transfer taxes, title insurance, and all other costs incident to settlement are to be paid by the purchaser. Time is of the essence for the purchaser, otherwise the deposit will be forfeited and the property may be resold at risk and costs of the defaulting purchaser. If the sale is not ratified or if the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey marketable title in accord with these terms of sale, the purchaser's only remedy is return of the deposit. NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT

Notice is hereby given that G & S COAL COMPANY, INC. 21557 Maryland Highway, Bloomington, Maryland 21523 has submitted an application to the Maryland Bureau of Mines for a surface coal mine operations permit. The operation is to be located near Swanton, Maryland. The proposed operation occupies a 46 acre tract on the east side of Maryland Route 38, 2.0 miles north of Kitzmiller, Election District 13, Garrett County; 582,500 N / 185,000 E. Access to the site is from Pee Wee Road, 1.0 mile east of the intersection with Maryland Route 38.

Surface and mineral of the area to be mined is owned by Luke Paper Company, 300 Pratt Street, Luke, Maryland 21540. The permit area is located within the US Geologic Survey Kitzmiller, MD 7.5 minute quadrangle, the boundaries being as shown on the attached sketch.

The application includes plans to construct 2 ponds to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the pond will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review at the Maryland Department of the Environment (Bureau of Mines) Office, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532 during normal office hours. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to: Robert L. Dugan Jr., DUGAN ASSOCIATES, 301-689-1568 or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section 301-689-6405. A public hearing will not be held on this activity unless requested. PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on the 5th day of February 2007, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the "Northern Annexation," and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" (TC), a zoning category defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance, a copy of which is available at Town Hall. The full Resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

RESOLUTION NO.: R2007 (ANNEXATION NO. 01 - NORTHERN ANNEXATION AREA)

"WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, being the area known as the Northern Annexation Area, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated December 2006, prepared by Highland Engineering & Surveying, Inc., surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Northern Annexation Area, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 7 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying north of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to US Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning for the same at a caiculated point on a line of the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland and on the western limits of the US Route 219, thence three courses with said limits of US Route 219 North 32°00'47" East 1981.65 feet to a point, 588.57 feet along a curve to the left, said curve having a radius of 5699.58 feet and a long chord of North 29°03'17" East 588.31 feet to a point, North 26°05'47" East 1172.93 feet to a ½" capped rebar, set, hereinafter referred to as an IPS, thence four courses through lands of Glotfelty Farm Partnership (Liber 639, page 597) North 64° 23'52" West 492.43 feet to an IPS, North 25°36'08" East 225.00 feet to an IPS, North 64°23'52" West 505.70 feet to an IPS North 25°36'08" East 617.49 feet to an IPS on a line of lands of MD State of Game and Inland Fish Commission (Liber 197, page 436), thence with said lands North 56°23'26" East 543.07 feet to a 5/8" rebar found, hereinafter referred to as an IPF, thence two courses with lands of Michael W. Trickett (Liber 711, page 470) South 51°46'11" East 362.86 feet to an IPF, North 24°51'19" East 204.45 feet to an IPF, thence with other lands of Michael W. Trickett (Liber 555, page 371 and Liber 590, page 714) South 63°13'37" East, passing through an IPS on the western limits of said US Route 219 at 381.11, crossing said US Route 219 in all 441.11 feet to a point on the eastern limits of said US Route 219, thence three courses with said limits South 26°05'47" West 2598.62 feet to a point, 594.76 feet along a curve to the right, said curve having a radius of 5759.58 feet and a long chord South 29°03'17" West 594.50 feet to a point, South 32° 00'47" West 1885.84 feet to a point, thence with the aforementioned Corporate Limits. North 63°30'35" West 60.28 feet to the beginning, containing 33.795 acres, more or less, as shown on a Plat of Northern Annexation Surveyed for the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland dated December 2006 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Plat Case DKM 2.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. The extension of town services is more fully described and detailed on the Annexation Plan, prepared by the Mayor and Town Council pursuant to the requirements of Article 23A §19(o), said plan being currently available for review at the Oakland Town Hall; the Annexation Plan will also be available for review and discussion at a hearing on this resolution as provided for herein.

ZONING

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "Suburban Residential" and that at this time there is no county-wide zoning, and no Zoning Ordinance adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as other adjacent areas are zoned "Town Center," and include a number of businesses as well as residential uses, and inasmuch as the "Town Center" zoning category as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland allows residential uses such as the "Suburban Residential" use for which this property is designated on the County's Development Plan, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the provisions and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted on December 2, 2002, and as subsequently amended, and the said area shall be designated as such on the official Zoning Map for the Town of Oakland as the said category is most compatible with the character of both the area to be annexed and with the adjacent area.

NOTICE, HEARING AND ADOPTION

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that at the time the Mayor and Town Council conducts a public hearing on this Resolution of Annexation, it shall also, simultaneously, conduct a public hearing on the zoning of the property to be annexed as "Town Center," and the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice of the said Zoning Hearing in accordance with the requirements of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance and Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of March 2007, which date shall not be less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 5th day of February 2007.

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 5th day of February 2007.

ROBERT E. WATSON
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, which shall include a public hearing on the zoning of the property, on the 19th day of March 2007, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 7:00 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on the 5th day of February 2007, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the "Bernard Annexation," and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" (TC), a zoning category defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance, a copy of which is available at Town Hall. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

RESOLUTION NO.: R2007-03 (ANNEXATION NO. 02 - BERNARD ANNEXATION AREA)

"WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, being the area known as the Bernard Annexation Area, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated December 2006, prepared by Mountain View Engineering & Surveying Inc., surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Bernard Annexation Area, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying northwest of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to US Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a six-inch diameter concrete monument with a bronze disc stamped "TOWN OF OAKLAND, TOWN CORNER," found at the end of the twenty second line of the description of ROUTE 219 NORTH ANNEXATION (RESOULTION NO.: R99-02, AS CORRECTED IN RESOLUTION R99-09), filed and recorded June 17, 1999, by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland, in the northwesterly right-of-way limits of US Route 219 at the southeasterly corner of an easement for Parcel 82 granted in Liber 774 at folio 587; thence, two courses with said limits of US Route 219, and the existing Oakland Corporate Limits as adopted in the aforesaid resolution, reversed, South 50°08'22" West, 83.34 feet to a PK Nail (set) in payment; thence, South 48° 39'43" West, 555.11 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set) at the southeasterly corner of property of Eric L. Tribbey and Margaret A. Kaiser (Liber 513 at folio 425); thence, with the northeasterly lines of Eric L. Tribbey and Margaret A. Kaiser and Thomas D. & Nancy F. Kight (Liber 282 at folio 155), North 53°11'20" West, 190.23 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set); thence, North 21° 47'04" East, 325.39 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set) at the southeasterly corner of property of Lakeside Commercial Properties, LLC (Liber 1087 at folio 414 and Liber 1040 at folio 279); thence, with the southeasterly lines of Lakeside Commercial Properties, LLC, and the existing Oakland Corporate Limits as adopted in the aforesaid resolution, reversed, North 48° 49'52" East, 151.18 feet to a ½ inch rebar (found); thence, South 40°55'57" East, 85.77 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence, North 44°44'14 East, 112.00 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence, North 54°23'37" East, 81.51 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence South 51°20'00" East, 252.57 feet to the beginning, containing 4.03 acres, more or less.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. The extension of town services is more fully described and detailed on the Annexation Plan, prepared by the Mayor and Town Council pursuant to the requirements of Article 23A §19(o), said plan being currently available for review at the Oakland Town Hall; the Annexation Plan will also be available for review and discussion at a hearing on this resolution as provided for herein.

ZONED

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "Suburban Residential" and that at this time there is no county-wide zoning, and no Zoning Ordinance adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as other adjacent areas are zoned "Town Center," and include a number of businesses as well as residential uses, and inasmuch as the "Town Center" zoning category as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland allows residential uses such as the "Suburban Residential" use for which this property is designated on the County's Development Plan, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the provisions and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted on December 2, 2002, and as subsequently amended, and the said area shall be designated as such on the official Zoning Map for the Town of Oakland as the said category is most compatible with the character of both the area to be annexed and with the adjacent area.

NOTICE, HEARING AND ADOPTION

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that at the time the Mayor and Town Council conducts a public hearing on this Resolution of Annexation, it shall also, simultaneously, conduct a public hearing on the zoning of the property to be annexed as "Town Center," and the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice of the said Zoning Hearing in accordance with the requirements of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance and Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of March 2007, which date shall not be less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

Position Announcement
Garrett College - Dean of Student Affairs
Garrett College is seeking a Dean of Student Affairs. The Dean reports to the President and serves as the Chief Student Affairs Officer of the College. The Dean is responsible for the leadership of Student Affairs which includes enrollment management, student life, residence life, admissions, financial aid, records, and registration. This position supervises several area directors. Other organizational structures are being examined to better meet the needs of students.
Garrett is a small, public, two-year college in rural Western Maryland approximately a two hour drive from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and a three hour drive from Washington, D.C. and Baltimore, Maryland. The area enjoys a four-season climate with many recreational opportunities in the community. The College employs 17 full-time faculty, 35 part-time faculty, and approximately 45 full and part-time staff. Garrett enrolled 740 students in the fall of 2006 for 540 FTE; 20 students are from other countries and approximately 125 are from states other than Maryland; 90 students live in campus housing. Natural Resource and Wildlife Technology, Adventure Sports, and Juvenile Justice are signature academic programs. The College is part of a national study on Learning Communities and is a learning-centered college currently building a new 124-bed residence hall and new library/learning resource center. Also, a new Athletic and Community Recreation Center will be built on campus with a targeted opening date in 2009.
Required qualifications include a master's degree, a record of leadership and accomplishment in a combination of student services, enrollment management, and/or residence life. Also required are three years of full-time experience in student services, enrollment management and/or residence life, experience with technology and computer literacy. Desired qualifications include an earned doctorate, experience in forging partnerships with four-year institutions, a global perspective, and experience with international student recruitment and services.
Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter not to exceed three pages, and a list of five professional references with telephone and e-mail contact information. Application materials are to be sent to Linda K. Fike, Director of Personnel, Garrett College, 687 Mosser Road, McHenry, MD 21541. Closing date for accepting applications is March 2, 2007 with an appointment expected to be made in early June 2007 and a start date of July 1, 2007. The non-negotiable hiring salary range is $51,741 - $69,104, depending on experience and education. Please visit our website at www.garrettcollege.edu to view a complete job description and to learn more about Garrett College and the surrounding community.
Should you need assistance with the application process, please telephone Linda Fike at 301-387-3049 or email her at lfike@garrettcollege.edu. Garrett College is a tobacco-free campus. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. EOE

ACCIDENT

The annual town meeting was held on Tuesday, Feb. 6, at the town hall.

• Mayor Carlson and council members Tom Georg and Chuck Hahn were nominated each to serve another two-year term.

• The town election will be held on Tuesday, March 6. The polls are located at the town hall and will be open from 4 to 8 p.m. Any Accident resident who is a registered voter in Garrett County is eligible to vote in the town election.

• The monthly town meeting was held immediately following the town convention.

• Cpl. Dan Duggan from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office was present to talk with the mayor and council.

• Olen Beitzel was present to accept the Accident Community 2006 Volunteer of the Year award. Beitzel Corporation has donated a truck and driver for the past five years to help put up Accident's Christmas decorations.

• The county commissioners are scheduled to attend the March meeting.

• The next Accident Revitalization Task Force meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 20, at the town hall. Four businesses have shown interest in façade money to improve the appearance of their businesses.

The next town meeting will be held on Thursday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Snow Plowing – Now that snow has arrived, residents and visitors are reminded not to park vehicles on the streets or to place items on or adjacent to the streets, as such items may interfere with or be damaged by plowing.

Oakland Drive Community Safety & Enhancement Project – This project calls for the installation of a sidewalk on the north side of Oakland Drive from Jamison Lane to the east side of the intersection of Deer Park and Baltimore avenues; and, the installation of a sidewalk on the south side of Oakland Drive from Weber Road to D Street. The design includes enhancements to the roadway; a closed curb and gutter storm water management system; and landscaping and various other elements to enhance the safety and aesthetics of this roadway which serves as an important pedestrian corridor for Southern High School and businesses along Weber Road.

The State Highway Administration presented a final conceptual design for this project at Taskforce Meeting #4 at Town Hall on January 8. Both the taskforce members (elected officials of the town, town staff, Board of Education representatives, county agency representatives, and town residents) and the mayor and town council have approved the conceptual design, opening the way for the project to move to the public hearing stage. It is expected that a public hearing will be held within the next several months. After public input, the final design stage will begin. Construction of this project will be subject to the availability of SHA funding.

Black Bears To Be Next Topic For Garden Club

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club will meet Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 10:30 a.m. at Cabin Run Lodge Conference Center, Deep Creek Lake. After the business meeting, the event will feature guest speaker Clarissa Harris, wildlife response manager for the Maryland Department of Natural Resources

The program by Harris will be followed by a luncheon. The public is invited.

Harris graduated in 1986 from Garrett Community College with an A.A. degree in wildlife management, and received a B.S. degree in wildlife and fisheries in 1989. She has worked for the Maryland DNR since the early 1990s in many capacities, including park naturalist and crew supervisor for the Maryland Conservation Corps. She was hired as wildlife response manager for the four western region counties in 1997. Her job includes supervising three technicians and addressing wildlife/people conflicts, such as bear problems, deer crop damage, sick and injured wildlife, data collection, hunter safety, and information and education.

Harris and family live outside Oakland. Her hobbies include hunting and promoting sports to children.

Garden Club members will be contacted for lunch reservations. Non-members interested in attending the meeting, making a lunch reservation, or receiving further information about the Mountain Laurel Garden Club may contact Ginni Neff at 301-387-7387 or Jackie Johnson at 301-334-4420.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is a member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc. and the National Garden Clubs Inc. Affiliated clubs provide education, resources, and national networking opportunities for members, as well as promote gardening, floral design, and civic and environmental responsibility.

Delegate Beitzel Co-sponsors "Jessica's Law"

Delegate Wendell Beitzel (R-1A) announced Monday that he is a co-sponsor of legislation commonly referred to as "Jessica's Law," which was introduced by House Minority Whip Christopher Shank (R-2B).

This bill (HB 930) significantly strengthens the penalties for those convicted of sexually abusing a child while eliminating the possibility of parole, according to Beitzel. Last week, Senator Nancy Jacobs (R-34) introduced the equivalent bill (SB 413) in the Senate.

"As a father and grandfather I cannot see how such important legislation can be overlooked," said Beitzel. "This legislation allows the courts to enforce stricter penalties on those who have committed the most egregious crimes against our children."

A similar bill was passed into law last year that increased mandatory minimum sentencing for convicted sex offenders. The bill being introduced this year would eliminate the possibility of parole, Beitzel noted.

States across the country are in the process of passing similar laws as the result of a growing grassroots effort being organized by a multitude of child advocacy groups, he added.

"As a newly elected member of the Maryland General Assembly, I have put a great deal of thought into the legislation that I will be supporting this year," Beitzel said. "I, along with my Republican and Democrat colleagues, have agreed to put politics aside and to do what is right for our children."

Beitzel also announced that the hearing for HB 376, Environment – Bay Restoration Fund – Users, has been rescheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 21, at 1 p.m. The bill has been asigned to the Environmental Matters Committee.

This legislation seeks to exempt septic and onsite sewage disposal system users outside the Chesapeake Bay watershed from paying the septic user fee.

The public can submit both written and verbal tes-

SNOW-PEOPLE CAN LIVE A LONG TIME these days, with the temperatures hardly ever rising even close to 20 degrees. A several-week siege of frigid weather continues in Garrett County, along with much of the East Coast, causing the public schools to be closed three days in a row, the roads crews to be on the job 24 and 7, and everyone to be donning their long-johns. This family of snow-people currently reside at the Glotfelty residence, located along Rt. 219 near Glotfelty Tire. The four snowy folks have been there for quite some time, enjoying the long life afforded them here on the mountaintop in February. Photo by John McEwen.

MLP Man Handed 10-Year Sentence For Child Abuse

A 41-year-old Mountain Lake Park man was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday for two charges of child abuse by sexual exploitation. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Glenn Kennard Ellifritz to 10 years in the Division of Corrections for the two charges, with sentences of five years, imposed in each case. The sentences will run consecutively.

Seven years of the sentence was suspended, and Ellifritz will serve the remaining three years in the Garrett County Jail. He will be on supervised probation upon his release, with conditions that limit his contact with persons under the age of 16. He will also have to register as a child sex offender, noted the state's attorney.

Ellifritz was arrested and charged by officers with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation last June after they learned that Ellifritz had engaged in inappropriate activities with teenagers in

DNR Issues Deep Creek Lake Public Safety Warning

The Maryland Park Service has issued an alert for snowmobilers for potential unseen safety hazards on Deep Creek Lake, particularly at night.

"Road salt and abrasives plowed from highway bridges may affect the quality of the ice underneath and unseen snowdrifts can act as ramps and cause sleds to become airborne, leading to a loss of control and accidents," said a Department of Natural Resources spokesperson.

In addition, ice will be removed near Uno's to open water for the Deep Creek Dunk starting on Wednesday, Feb. 21. This area will remain unsafe for quite some time, and it will be marked with reflective traffic cones, noted the spokesperson.

Deep Creek Lake is a part of the designated ORV trail system permitting use by registered snowmobiles only. Permits are available by mail or at any of the local state park offices during normal business hours.

Snowmobiles may operate at night if equipped with working head and taillights. Access to the lake may be made at Deep Creek Lake State Park or with permission from a private landowner adjacent to the lake.

Ice fishermen, hikers, and cross-country skiers traveling on the lake should also exercise caution.

"The wearing of or having a readily accessible personal flotation device could prevent a tragedy," said the

December Bird Count Results Are Announced

Results of Garrett County's Christmas Bird Count for the National Audubon Society, held Dec. 16, were announced this week by count compiler Connie Skipper, who reported that 18 field observers and eight feeder watchers counted a total of 71 species.

Only three times in the 36-year history of the count has Garrett County reported more species in a given count. There were also four additional species seen.

Among the new sightings was a long-eared owl, discovered by Mikey Lutmerding, Scott Carr, and Jo Anne Leachman in the Cranesville area.

Also new to Garrett County's list was the eastern phoebe, discovered by Peggy Brown, Jeff Opel, and Skipper. The species is commonly found in the county in the spring, summer, and fall months, but rarely in December, Skipper said, adding that it was likely still here because of the unusually warm temperatures this past December.

Also present in higher numbers because of the Commissioners Hear Roads Dept. Update Report

The Garrett County commissioners heard an update report on Tuesday from the county roads department. General superintendent Fred Polce reported that as of Feb. 10, the county had received 72 inches of snow this winter.

"Crews have been out, counting today, 42 days, including 12 out of 13 days in February," Polce said about snow removal. He added that crews would be out all this week because of the snow storm.

"Everybody's been busy even though it's been a light winter," he said "We're making up for it in January and February, working on overtime."

During the milder part of this winter, road crews were able do shoulder work, dig ditches, and cut brush.

Polce also reported that his department had purchased 120 tons of salt from the state since October.

Engineer Dwight Emory presented the commissioners with an updated schedule of the Wisp Resort Road extension project. The road will lead to the Adventure Sports Center on Marsh Hill.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt said the project, also known as the Adventure Sports Center Access Road, has been in the county's capital budget plan for some time. The road will help alleviate traffic congestion on Marsh Hill Road, especially with all the development that is planned for that area.

The county has tentatively earmarked $1.5 million for the project in the fiscal year 2008 capital budget, which will be adopted in June. DC Development LLC, however, will pay for a portion of the project, about 1,100 feet, and is overseeing the construction of that part. Karen Myers of DC Development told the commissioners paving would begin this spring. The total length of the road is about 6,673 feet, Emory said.

Once the project is completed, Pagenhardt said, DC Development will turn its portion of the road over to the county, and the county will own and maintain the entire road.

Emory and the commissioners noted that the roadway will meet county standards, including the grade specification.

Emory said the final documents for the road were prepared in October. DC Development is working on a stormwater management plan and will apply for permits in April. The final cost of the project will be known after the corporation submits its cost estimate

MSP Deep Creek Dunk 2007 Set For Saturday, Feb. 24, At Uno's

The 9th annual Maryland State Police Deep Creek Dunk for Special Olympics Maryland will take place Saturday, Feb. 24, at Uno's at 2 p.m.

Based on the success of last year's fundraiser and initial registration numbers, event organizers are optimistic that this will be the biggest dunk yet, with the count at more than 500.

In order to join the event participants must raise a minimum of $50 in pledges. For that contribution they will receive a complimentary meal from Uno Chicago Bar & Grill, a commemorative event sweatshirt, and a group color photo.

Special prizes will also be awarded for the top three fundraisers, the top law enforcement fundraiser, the best costume, and the top fundraising team.

For those not registered before the day of the dunk, registration begins at noon on Saturday, with the dunk at 2 p.m. There is no fee for spectators, and dunkers of all ages are welcome.

Participants under the age of 18 will need signed parental consent.

Persons interested in pre-registering online should visit www.somd.org and click on the Dunk logo. Maryland residents may register also by contacting the 24-hour Dunk Hotline at 1-800-541-7544, ext. 503. Any person not a Maryland resident should contact the hotline using 410-789-6677, ext. 503.

"The Dunk represents the best of all worlds," said Tom Schniedwind, executive vice president of sports marketing for Special Olympics Maryland.

"You get a fun group of people to come together in a beautiful winter wonderland setting, and at the end of the day, all the chills and thrills result in substantial funding for some of the coolest people on earth. It really doesn't get any better than this event."

The day's activities will include music by DJ Jonny Rock and radio station WKHJ, food, and a costume contest.

Black Bear Tavern is hosting a post-dunk party from 6 p.m. until closing, with live music by Poison Whiskey. A suggested $5

Robotics Team FIRST To Host Open House

FIRST (For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) Team 1629, the Garrett Coalition, Garrett County's high school robotics team, is hosting an open house on Sunday, Feb. 18.

Any person interested in learning more about the team or in seeing the robot Meshach 3.0 demonstrated firsthand may join the team at the Garrett Engineering and Robotics (GEARS) building in Accident. The open house is scheduled to run from 1 to 5 p.m.

Team 1629 comprises students, both male and female, from Northern and Southern high schools, as well as mentors from various sects of the community. Meshach 3.0 is the team's third robot built for competition.

Founded in 1989, FIRST operates the FIRST Robotics Competitions in which teams of high school students, sponsored and assisted by local companies and volunteers, design, assemble, and test a robot capable of performing a specified task in competition with other teams.

For more information persons may contact team leader Chuck Trautwein at 301-616-3231 or via e-mail at ctrautwein@ga.k12.md.us.

Blaze Damages Another House Near Deer Park

For the second time in two weeks another house near Deer Park sustained major damage from accidental fire.

Volunteers from the Deer Park, Oakland, Bittinger, and Kitzmiller fire departments were summoned at 10:32 a.m. Tuesday to 141 Truesdale Road, where they found heavy smoke coming from a split-level house.

According to Kenny Collins, chief of the Deer Park Community VFD, the fire had nearly burned itself out by the time the alarm was received. Most of the fire damage was confined to the basement of the house, but the upstairs sustained extensive smoke and heat damage, Collins said.

Collins added that the cause of the fire was electrical in nature and involved an electric blanket. Fire units and personnel remained on the scene for approximately two hours.

The name of the family residing in the house was not received; however, Collins said that the four members of the family who lived there were receiving assistance from the American Red Cross.

The Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the scene. There were no injuries reported.

The house was located relatively close to another two-story structure along Rt. 135 near Deer Park that was gutted by fire the previous week.

THE CALM BEFORE THE STORM was captured a few days ago in this photo of Mill Run taken by Bill Gumbert of Friendsville before the serenity was interrupted by the snow/sleet storm that hit the Mountaintop, closing schools three straight days this week and making travel rather treacherous. The county was, however, spared the freezing rain that wreaked havoc in many other parts of the state. A moderation of temperatures is expected sometime the middle of next week.

"WINNING" THE COUNT — Results of the Christmas Bird Count, held in Garrett County back in December, were released this week and showed that the Canada goose "won" the count in terms of total numbers. Field observers tallied 1,429 of this particular species, which was one of 41 species identified in the county that day. Fran Pope of Mtn. Lake Park counted 568 of the Canada geese, and also spotted one "look-alike, but miniature version," a different species called the cackling goose. This photo was taken by Neal Blizzard, also one of the local field observers. Among four new species sighted was a long-eared owl. See story for count details.

Domestic Violence, Drug, And Alcohol Crimes Dominate District Court News

In recent District Court news, Bernadette T. Pigeon, 20, Trappe, Pa., Jason Allan Nickel, 26, Schwenksville, Pa., Sarah N. Grupp, 24, Mont Clare, Pa., and Benjamin Michael Haines, 21, Mont Clare, pleaded guilty to various drug related charges arising from a July incident in which the four defendants were arrested after a traffic stop, according to court records.

Pigeon was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ), a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and a $200 fine after pleading guilty to CDS possession of marijuana. She was given credit for serving 27 hours in jail.

Pigeon was driving a 1997 Mitsubishi in July when she was pulled over for a traffic violation on I-68. A K-9 scan indicated the positive presence of drugs and the vehicle was searched after the defendants were given their Miranda rights. A glass container containing the residue of marijuana was found in the defendant's pocketbook, and a smoking pipe was found in the defendant's backpack. The state's attorney did not prosecute Pigeon for the charge of possession of paraphernalia.

Nickel pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a $400 fine of which $300 was suspended, and one year of unsupervised probation. Court records indicated that the police found a bag of marijuana, a smoking pipe, a set of hand scales, digital scales containing the residue of marijuana, two cigarettes dipped in hashish oil, and a mirror containing the residue of suspected cocaine in the defendant's backpack. The state's attorney did not prosecute the defendant for the charges of CDS possession of cocaine and two counts of possession of paraphernalia.

Grupp pleaded guilty to the CDS possession of marijuana and was given a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and a $200 fine. Grupp was given credit for serving 27 hours in the Garrett County Detention Center. The state's attorney did not prosecute Grupp for the charge of possession of paraphernalia.

Haines pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and a $200 fine. Haines was given credit for serving 27 hours in jail.

In other court news, Amy Lynn Russo, 37, Bayard, W.Va., pleaded guilty to telephone misuse and received a 60-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $100 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation. The charges were the result of repeated phone calls made last year by the defendant to her former supervisor at the Long Branch Saloon. The state's attorney did not prosecute Russo for two charges of using obscene language over the telephone.

Miguel Angel Marquez, 18, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty to the charge of second-degree assault and was found not guilty. The charge stemmed from an incident at the Meadow Mtn. Youth Facility involving a youth to youth assault.

Michael Lee Livengood, 54, Kingwood, W.Va., pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, one day of unsupervised probation, and $257 in fines and court costs. Livengood was stopped for a traffic violation in August and subsequently arrested and charged with CDS possession of marijuana and paraphernalia after the police conducted a probable cause search and found a bag of marijuana, a smoking pipe containing the residue of marijuana, a metal container with traces of marijuana in it, and rolling papers. The state's attorney did not prosecute Livengood for the charges of CDS possession of paraphernalia.

Scott Joseph Grant, 21, McHenry, pleaded not guilty to charges of CDS possession of marijuana and paraphernalia and was found guilty on both counts. Judge Ralph Burnett merged the sentences of both verdicts into one sentence, handing the defendant a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended except for two days, one year of unsupervised probation, and a $200 fine. Grant also pleaded not guilty to two charges of turning a vehicle without giving an adequate signal, but was found guilty by the court on both counts. Grant received a PBJ and a $40 fine for each of the charges. In addition, Grant pleaded not guilty and was found not guilty to charges of driving a motor vehicle on a suspended license, turning off lights to avoid identification, and violating a license restriction.

All the above charges were the result of a July traffic incident in which the sheriff's deputies stopped Grant after he failed to use a proper signal when making two different turns. The defendant passed a sobriety test, but the police found marijuana and paraphernalia in a subsequent search of the vehicle and the defendant.

Gary Francis Shultz, 56, Forest Hills, Pa., pleaded guilty to the possession of fireworks without a permit and was handed a PBJ, one day of unsupervised probation, and $108 in fines and court costs. The Maryland sate fire marshal charged Shultz with the above misdemeanor when he investigated a report that the defendant had set off illegal fireworks from his home on Sang Run Road.

The court handed down stet rulings in the following cases:

Charles Clinton Cole Jr., 26, Grantsville, received a stet ruling for a second-degree assault charge with the condition that the defendant have no further violent contact with the victim. The charges stemmed from a November domestic abuse incident in which the defendant allegedly used physical force to restrain the victim after an argument over money.

Ellis Bryan Garlitz, 74, Frostburg, was handed stet rulings on two charges of second-degree assault with the condition that the defendant begin counseling at the Dove Center immediately. Court records indicated that Garlitz had a history of spousal abuse, and when his daughters tried to remove their mother from the home because of Garlitz's alleged mental and physical abuse of his wife in November, the defendant became violent and threatened to kill them.

Keith Franklin Douglass, 27, Westernport, was handed stet rulings for the charges of theft of property valued at more than $500, conspiring to commit first-degree burglary, and conspiring to commit theft of property in excess of $500. A first-degree burglary charge was dismissed. All charges stemmed from an incident in which the defendant and an accomplice allegedly removed a chain saw and two Winchester rifles from the victim's home in McHenry between Aug. 30 and Sept. 1.

Patrick Michael Vanderbilt, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, received stet rulings on charges of second-degree malicious burning, malicious destruction of property valued in excess of $500, and theft of property valued at more than $500 with the condition that the defendant have no contact with the victim. The court dismissed a charge of first-degree burglary.

The defendant was charged after a September incident in which the defendant allegedly set fire to and burned approximately $1,000 worth of clothing and personal property belonging to the victim, broke into the apartment of the victim with the intent to commit theft, destroyed more than $500 of the victim's personal property, and stole property and money valued at less than $500 from the victim's residence.

Ricky Eugene Nugent, 47, Friendsville, was handed a stet ruling by the court for the charge of second-degree assault with the condition that the defendant have no violent contact with the victim. The charge stemmed from a September domestic incident in which the defendant allegedly punched his daughter in the face while she was holding her infant child.

Charissa Christina Hankins, 32, McHenry, was given a stet ruling for the charge of theft of property less than $100 in value. Hankins was charge with the misdemeanor after she allegedly stole the registered license plates off two cars — one belonging to her husband from whom she is seperated, and one belonging to one of his friends. She said she stole the plates so she could see her kids, according to court records.

Debbie Jean Wilt, 32, Grantsville, was handed a stet ruling for second-degree assault with the condition that the defendant have no violent contact with the victim. The charge stemmed from a November incident in which the defendant physically restrained one of her two daughters after the two girls had a fight. In restraining her daughter, the defendant allegedly used inappropriate physical force, according to the court records.

Travis James Dixon, 20, Frostburg, and Jordan Vincent Hanna, 21, were both handed stet rulings for charges stemming from an August incident in which the both men were charged with harassment and misusing the telephone by making repeated calls to the victim. In addition, Hanna was charged with making an arson threat. The court ordered both men to have no further inappropriate contact with the victim.

Michael Christopher Auvil, 26, McHenry, was handed a stet ruling for the theft of property of less than $100 in value. Auvil was charged after he left a Dodge Neon in August at the complainant's business for repairs. It was later discovered the car and the plates were stolen.

Shannon Jean Elliot, 26, Accident, was handed a stet ruling for theft of property in excess of $500 with the condition that the defendant have no further contact with the victim. Elliot allegedly stole a queen size waterbed and a wooden end table with glass from a Mtn. Lake Park residence.

The following cases were not prosecuted by the state's attorney:

Clementine Sainty, 19, New York, N.Y., was not prosecuted for the CDS possession of schedule II drug known as Aderall. Sainty was charged after a traffic stop in July in which police recovered the illegal pill as well as a bag of marijuana.

Terri Ann Lapp, 33, Grantsville, was not prosecuted for the charge of theft of property less than $500 in value. Lapp was accused of stealing the wallet and $200 from a sleeping friend who had placed the items on the top of a bedroom dresser.

Kathleen Louise Meyers, 45, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of CDS possession of marijuana and paraphernalia, stemming from an October incident in which her house was searched and a bag of marijuana and a smoking pipe containing the burnt residue of marijuana were seized.

Richard Lee Norwish, 48, Eglon, W.Va., was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for charges of second-degree assault and harassment. The charges stemmed from the defendant's alleged harassment and assault of a married female tenant.

Salliann Abes Summerville, 49, Oakland, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the CDS possession of Clonazepan (Klonopin), a schedule IV drug. The pills were found by the police in the room of the defendant and her partner.

Lawrence Denver Wilburn, 44, Grantsville, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for two charges of animal cruelty.

Richard Bevan Orr II, 28, Oakland, was not prosecuted for the charges of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace. The police charged the defendant with the two misdemeanors after finding him allegedly breaking into an apartment building and causing a disturbance last October.

Christopher S. Tasker, 23, Oakland, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for two charges of violating an ex parte protective court order, one count of harassment, and one count of misusing the telephone by making repeated calls to the victim. All charges stemmed from July incidents in which the defendant allegedly twice failed to obey a legal court order by approaching the victim at her dwelling with the intent to harass, and calling the victim on the telephone repeatedly to annoy, abuse, harass, and embarrass.

Esmail Rasouly Monazam, 48, Morgantown, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of CDS possession of marijuana and paraphernalia.

DUI AND DWI

George Joseph Bray, 36, Md., pleaded guilty to driving while impaired by alcohol (DWI) and was handed a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except for 96 hours, one year of supervised probation, and a $400 fine. Bray was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for charges of driving while under the influence (DUI).

A new $10,000 bench warrant was issued for Anthony Ray Cogley, 19, Md., for failing to appear on his court date for the charges of DUI, DUI per se, and DWI.

David Carter Hardesty II, 26, W.Va., was not prosecuted for the charges of DUI, DUI per se, and DWI.

John William Shoemaker, 21, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 60-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except for 96 hours, two years of supervised probation, and a $500 fine. The state's attorney did not prosecute Shoemaker for the charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Jason Ray Speicher, 31, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was ordered to serve 60 days in jail, all of which was suspended except for 14 days, a $500 fine, and two years of supervised probation. The state's attorney did not prosecute Speicher for the charge of DUI.

Clifton Bevan McCue, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 30-day sentence of which all was suspended, a $500 fine with $100 suspended, and one year of unsupervised probation.

Woman Arrested For DUI, DWI After Traffic Stop

The Oakland Police arrested and charged Christina Lynn Bolyard, 41, Kingwood, W.Va., with alcohol-related violations after a traffic stop in Oakland last Sunday at 2:20 a.m., according to the police.

The police stopped Bolyard on South 3rd Street for reportedly driving without headlights and subsequently charged her with driving while under the influence of alcohol, driving while impaired by alcohol, and consuming an alcoholic beverage in the passenger area of a motor vehicle on a highway.

Bolyard was transported to Garrett County Detention Center and was later released.

Good Things Happening...

One can always come up with a list of negative things – or at least things deemed by some to be negative – that are happening in Garrett County, ranging from the proposal to construct the Oakland bypass, to the plans to erect wind turbines, to potential over-development at Deep Creek Lake, to the presence of too many crows in Oakland. Concerning these particular issues and others, there are definitely at least two sides, many of which have been debated on the pages of this newspaper, and in this column in particular.

But even for those of us who are against some of the aforementioned intentions, and have concerns and doubts about others, there are many good things that are going on here on the Mountaintop, thanks to the efforts of a number of elected officials, business leaders, and agency heads.

A list of some three dozen facts about the status of Garrett County's economy, infrastructure, and progress over the past decade or so, written by county economic development director Jim Hinebaugh, was shared with our office by the county commissioners. Following are some of the items on the list:

The county's assessable tax base tripled from 2001 to 2006. The county's average annual unemployment rate decreased from 13.7% in 1997 to 4.8% in 2005/6. The county has invested over $100 million in economic development over the last 10 years, during which time industrial park acreage has tripled. The county commissioners eliminated the business personal property tax, and just last year implemented the scholarship program which provides two years of free tuition at Garrett College for every local high school graduate. New construction either under way or scheduled for the next year or two include a $26 million community athletic and recreation center, a 120-bed dormitory, and a new learning center at Garrett College. Plans continue for construction of a 30,000-square-foot exhibit hall and an 800-seat performing arts center. In the area of business, ClosetMaid Corporation opened its facility last month and will employ 250 people, American Woodmark will build a facility at Keyser's Ridge that will employ 250, and Lowe's will break ground this spring for a new store near Oakland that will employ about 100. There will be a new $60 million water park and hotel constructed at Deep Creek Lake, as well as a new marina and two new 18-hole golf courses. Adventure Sports/the Wisp will open its $20 million whitewater course this spring.

It is recognized that with development comes some negatives. But among the complaints heard ad nauseam is that there are not enough job opportunities for our young people to remain in Garrett County. It appears that Mr. Hinebaugh, our commissioners, and others are working extremely hard to provide such opportunities.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Your editorial about Polly Johnson Hanst was so accurate and heartwarming, even those who did not have the privilege of knowing her could get a sense of her warmth and can-do attitude. As two of those who counted her as a friend and mentor, thank you.

(By the way, it is apparent the great-nephew has inherited editing and writing talent from both Hansts.)

Roger and Carol Craver

To the Editor:

I would like to send out a thank-you and a commendation to the Garrett County road crews. Underwood Road south of Oakland is notorious for ice and blowing snow drifts, but this morning coming into work it was as clear as could be expected after the recent weather. Well done!

Melodee Hill
Oakland

P.S. Now if we could just convince the commissioners and developers that trees and grass are not the impediments that snow is, Garrett County would be in great shape.

To the Editor:

The Robinsons are friends of the Polly Hanst family, beginning with John and Martha Robinson in the 1930s, Felix and Lucille, their children, Ariel, Muriel, Heather, and Monica, the next-door neighbors. Polly and George were omni-present companions in life writ large.

Encomiums directed toward our late friend Polly can never be excessive. Generosity of spirit and deed, magnificent forbearance toward fractious friends, outright expression of love, earned and unearned, were hallmarks of Polly's character.

I shall miss her.

Ariel Robinson

To the Editor:

I would like to continue the eulogy for my former teacher and friend, Polly Hanst. How appropriate, the picture with her holding a rose. I graduated from Northern High in 1960. We picked Polly up for our 40th reunion and I presented her with a framed picture titled "One Rose."

Also, I read the letter which I still have that was one of our projects in her home economics class. It was titled "What we expect to be doing with our life 20 years from now." Amazing enough, some of the things I said I would be doing I am or have done. This is exactly what she said.

In these last few years, I have had the opportunity to talk to her, see her, hold her, and show her my love, as the third Thursday of every month our church, the Sand Spring Church of God, does ministry at the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home. Until the last few months, she always sat in the front row near the piano, which I played, and she would always give me compliments on the program – always positive! I could go on and on but I will end with:

One Rose

Just one, but I am one.
Just one, a reflection others see.
Just one, a blossom as he pictures me.
Just one, as I look at you.
Just one, seeking the other.
Just one, there's always one left to love.
Just one, as it's been said, will become two.
Polly Hanst was that rose.

To the Editor:

I have been reading about the crow controversy for quite a few weeks now. There have been several explanations offered for the excess of crows in downtown Oakland, including a theory about the horned owl. But, I am wondering why something obvious has been overlooked.

Where do the crows congregate? I've noticed quite a few of them over the fast food restaurants in town. All of those restaurants have large vent fans installed over their ovens and frying vats. Those vent fans suck up fumes and oils to remove them from the restaurant. They then blow them into the air. The smell from the cooking food travels up with the exhaust and hovers in concentration in the air above the restaurant before finally dissipating.

Next time you are in town after the sun goes down and there is not as much traffic on the road, roll down your window as you pass by McDonald's, Sheetz, Pizza Hut, Burger King, etc. What do you smell? Sometimes it smells pretty good.

Now, if I were a hungry crow who smelled the "luscious" aroma of McDonald-land fries waffling in the wind, I'd probably be circling the area too. After all, it would be my guess that the crows probably don't know that the smell is coming from exhaust fans, and the crows, being a rather tenacious species of bird, probably think that if they just wait long enough and try hard enough, they'll find a way to get their beaks on a some of that tempting smorgasbord.

Maybe the problem is that the crows are hungry.

To the Editor:

Thank you for encouraging Garrett County residents to participate in the life of our community.

I am writing to follow up on Michael Bell's letter of February 8, 2007, which addressed the new Comprehensive Plan being developed by the county planning office. As Mr. Bell says, the plan will outline the goals and objectives for land use and development over the next 15-20 years. The Planning Commission has invited county residents to two open meetings to discuss the points of the new plan, February 26 (auditorium) and 27 (Rm. 224) at Garrett College (7 p.m. both nights). It is important to go to the meetings and listen to the proposals and voice our opinions, but it is more important to write to the Planning Commission and state our positions.

The new plan will set policies for land use, roads, and community facilities and services. Whether you are interested in preserving your farm or selling it to a builder, in using forest lands for recreation or timbering, or in creating parks and preserving natural areas, in building heritage routes or truck routes; whether you are for or against zoning residential areas, or whether you approve of current designs for our county or not, whatever your concern or interest, it is essential for the commission to have your opinion in writing. Please attend the meetings, but please also write John Nelson, Director, at Planning and Land Development, 203 South 4th Street, Rm. 210, Oakland 21550, or e-mail the office at: planninglanddevelopment@garrettcounty.org Our input matters and will have an impact on the commission's decisions.

Thank you,
Natalie Atherton

To the Editor:

The safest fluoride is the pharmaceutical-grade in dental products such as toothpastes, which are regulated by the FDA; however, they now require warnings on the labels not to swallow even a pea-size amount or call Poison Control immediately.

The fluoridation agents are all commercial-grade, regulated by EPA. The local county health department will provide the American Water Works Association, AWWA Standard for Fluorosilicic Acid B703-06, the latest update. The foreword gives source and process evolving the agent, and page ix notes: "The transfer of contaminants from chemicals to processed water or the residual solids is becoming a problem of greater concern." Then there is an entire page of contaminants, low levels to be sure, but may be cumulative in the body. Diet is one of the important factors, noted in the U.S. Dept. of Health & Human Services' book: Toxicological Profile for Fluorides, Hydrogen Fluoride, and Fluorine (F), 1993, pages 112, 125 and 128, all noting that calcium is important to offset the toxic effects of fluorides. Calcium gluconate is the antidote for fluoride poisoning noted on page 128. So, don't think you can gag at gnats and swallow camels, and be safe!!

One other government report: "Health Effects of Ingested Fluoride," 1993, National Academy of Sciences' report for Congress, is an important source of information.

There are color pictures of dental fluorosis, and notes about diet, soft drinks and processed foods being major sources of fluorides since heating will cause the fluorides to accumulate, not evaporate. See online, pages 5, 11, 34, 41, 44-45, 128 and 129.

Check the Periodic Table of Elements in chemistry books like CRC Handbook of Physics and Chemistry to read the history of the element fluorine, which is a halogen gas that forms fluoride compounds with most all the other elements.

To the Editor:

President Bush has a clear plan for victory in Iraq that begins with training Iraqi forces so they can defend their country and fight the terrorists. We are making tremendous progress towards this objective.

Earlier this year, Iraqi forces led the fight in clearing out terrorists during the crucial battle of Tal Afar, with U.S. troops in a supporting role, and every day, Iraqis are taking more control of the situation on the ground. Withdrawing from Iraq, as some Democrats in Washington propose, would send a dangerous signal to our enemies that we cut and run when the going gets tough.

President Bush is offering a clear strategy to win, not a political quick fix. I encourage support of the troops and of President Bush. America can accept no less than total victory and democracy for the Iraqi people. A plan of cut and run is no plan at all and is not an option.

Sincerely,
Harry M Neilson Sr.

Two Arrested After K-9 Makes Positive Alert

Sheriff's deputies initiated a traffic stop on Kendall Drive in Crellin on Monday, Feb. 12. A K-9 scan of the vehicle was conducted and a positive alert given.

A search of the vehicle produced a metal marijuana smoking pipe and several prescription pills.

Mckella Duckworth and Jessica Gaither were both charged with CDS possession and paraphernalia. Both were housed in the Garrett County Jail to await bond hearings.

Accident Caused By Deer And Snowy Roadway

A Garrett County sheriff's deputy responded to Garrett Highway near Cash Valley Road on Monday, Feb. 12, for a single vehicle accident.

The deputy's investigation discovered that Wilma Marie Armstrong, 61, of Eglon, W.Va., was traveling southbound on Garrett Highway and swerved to miss several deer that had entered the roadway.

Her vehicle then traveled off the roadway, struck a snow embankment, and rolled over.

Armstrong was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue. The Gorman Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the accident. No charges were filed.

Humane Society Keeps Busy With Animal Rescues

The Garrett County Humane Society is reminding residents that state law requires that they provide all their animals with adequate space and shelter, plenty of fresh water and food, and sufficient medical care at all times, but especially during the winter months.

Even when water is supplied, it can freeze quickly in cold weather, leaving an animal without a water source. This can lead to dehydration and death.

Last week, for example, four Humane Society members – assisted by a horse rescue group, a state veterinarian, an animal control officer, a Garrett County Sheriff's Office deputy, and a state trooper from Barrack W – seized and impounded seven horses from an Oakland area man.

"The horses had no source of water," said Bernadine Friend, executive director of the GC Humane Society. "They were eating snow and a small bit of a round bale of hay. All the horses' ribs were showing, and one horse was dead. The man has been charged in Garrett County District Court with animal cruelty."

The horses are now housed in a warm barn with plenty of fresh hay, grain, water, and rehabilitation, and a second veterinarian is caring for the emaciated animals, according to Friend.

The director stressed that any law enforcement officer or animal welfare officer (such as a Humane Society official) may take an animal from a property for the sake of its health and not be held liable for the entry.

"During this cold weather, many dogs and cats, as well as a pot bellied pig, have also been rescued through the group's effort," Friend said about those who participated in the horse rescue.

The public is encouraged to report animal abuse and neglect by calling the Garrett County Animal Shelter at 301-334-3553 or Friend at 301-746-5725.

Grantsville Man Trapped Under Sliding Vehicle

An 84-year-old Grantsville man was injured after being trapped under the front wheel of his sliding car last Thursday at 5:30 p.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

Edgar Allen Bender, 84, was scraping the ice from his 1996 Ford F-150 when it began to slide on the frozen ice-covered driveway. Bender was trapped under the front wheel, and was later transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries.

Vehicle Stuck In Snow Reveals Intoxicated Man

Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to Sand Flat Road in the area of Pergin Farm Road on Saturday, Feb. 10, to assist a motorist.

Dustin Hoffman, 19, of Oakland was found inside his truck, which was stuck in the snow off the southbound shoulder. Through investigation it was determined that Hoffman was intoxicated, and he was subsequently arrested.

He was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

Corrections Noted In Story Of Auto Accident, Injury

In a story reported in last week's edition of The Republican, it was reported in error that Melinda Elliot, 41, Swanton, and her passenger, Brandy Lipscomb, 21, were treated for minor injuries after the car they were traveling in ran off the road and down an embankment at midnight on Wednesday.

According to Lipscomb, the time of the accident was between 8:30 and 9 a.m. on Friday not Wednesday, and the injuries to both women were not minor.

Elliot sustained a broken collar bone, and doctors had to perform an emergency C-section on Lipscomb, and placed her in the intensive care unit of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she remained under observation for two days.

According to Lipscomb, she suffered massive contusions to the face and a severe neck injury. The hospital specialists, she said, were also concerned that she may have sustained severe head trauma from the accident. She was later released, and her neck was secured with a neck brace.

The errors are regretted.

BOE To Hold Annual Kindergarten And Pre-K Registration

The Garrett County Board of Education announces that the annual comprehensive preschool registration program will be held again this year.

This program is for all children entering kindergarten or first grade for the first time in August. Those who will not be 5 years old by Sept. 1 are not registered for kindergarten through this program.

This program, which will be held in all elementary schools during April and May, has been developed to help identify strengths and needs of children. It also helps to identify early any problems that may interfere with a successful start in school.

Parents must register any child who will be 5 years old by Sept. 1. The law allows exemptions to the school attendance requirements as follows:

•Permits compliance through the home school instruction regulation.

•Grants a one-year immaturity waiver if the parent or guardian makes a written request to the local school system.

•Allows a 5-year-old to be enrolled in one of three alternative program settings: a full-time licensed child care center, a full-time registered family day care home, or part-time in a Head Start program.

Parents of children who meet the above qualifications are asked to fill out a registration blank that can be picked up at any local elementary school or at the Garrett County Board of Education building, and mail it to the designated address.

All parents registering children for school will receive a registration appointment. However, parents who choose to use one of the exemptions from the required attendance must request the appropriate exemption from the Department of Pupil Services at 301-334-8939.

State regulations require parents to provide their child's birth certificate, an official immunization record, and documented proof of current residency.

Documents accepted by the state of Maryland as proof of residency include: deed or mortgage agreement, current property tax bill, current rental lease or agreement, or current utility bill with applicant's name and address.

Parents must also complete an Affidavit of Disclosure to verify the residency of the student. Social Security cards are also requested at registration.

As part of the comprehensive registration program, each child registering for school will receive a general health and dental screening. Immunizations will also be available.

donation to Special Olympics will be accepted at the door.

The Maryland State Police Deep Creek Dunk, presented by Uno Chicago Bar and Grill and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, is coordinated jointly by the Maryland State Police and Allegany and Garrett County local law enforcement agencies.

The Dunk, which last year raised $126,000 and boasted 509 dunkers, follows the MSP Polar Bear Plunge, scheduled for Jan. 27 at Sandy Point State Park in Annapolis.

The Dunk is the beginning of a full weekend of activities for Special Olympics Maryland, with the annual SOMD Winter Games beginning the following evening, Feb. 25.

Winter Games feature competition in alpine skiing, modified alpine, cross-country skiing, and snowshoeing. About 250 athletes from around the state will travel to Garrett County for this state-level event.

The opening ceremony, to be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m., will be followed by a full day of competition Monday and a half day Tuesday.

To volunteer, interested persons may call 410-789-6677, ext. 111, or visit www.somd.org for more information.

To Our Patients and Friends:

As most of you know, we travel to Honduras once and sometimes twice a year volunteering our time as part of the medical team for CAMO (Central American Medical Outreach). CAMO brings lifesaving medical education, supplies, equipment, and capital improvement projects to impoverished regions of Central America. This year, we will be leaving February 23, 2007 and will be returning March 23, 2007.

We want to thank each person who in any way, shape or form has helped with raising money, donating equipment, medical supplies, candy, toys, backbone for moving and storing of equipment, and especially your time. We and the poor people of Honduras greatly appreciate all your efforts. CAMO raises money all year long to assist with many projects and in providing transportation of donated equipment and supplies to Honduras. If you would like to donate money, which is tax deductible, please contact my office at 301-334-1034.

If any patient of Dr. Fridkin or Dr. Alvarez has an emergency, please proceed to the Emergency Department at Garrett County Memorial Hospital or call the hospital at 301-533-4000 to speak with the covering surgeon or speak with your family physician. Our office staff will be available periodically throughout this time at 301-334-1034.

JAMES E. McEWUEN

James Edward McEwuen, 82, Morgantown, W.Va., (Brookhaven) died on Friday, Feb. 9, 2007, at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, after a short illness.

Born on Oct. 12, 1924, in Weston, W.Va., he was the only child of the late Edward and Lena (Cannon) McEwuen.

He was a veteran of World War II, serving with the 6th Army Group in Africa, Sicily, Italy, Germany, and France.

He moved to Morgantown with his family in 1956 to work as an engineer and announcer at radio station WCLG. He returned to Lewis County in 1961, where he worked as the chief engineer to build the stationhouse for WJPB-TV Channel 5 (now WDTV) and then to launch the station. He worked at the station as engineer, newscaster, and cameraman for three years. He returned to Morgantown in 1963 and was hired as an electronics technician at WVU Hospitals, and then as a civilian employee of the U.S. Navy, also in the field of electronics. He retired from the Navy position in December 1985, but continued work as a teacher for the Monongalia County Schools Adult Education program at M-TEC, where he taught Introduction to Computers for 23 years, retiring in May 2006.

James was an amateur ("ham") radio operator (W8GUL), and a member of the Monongalia Wireless Association (MWA). He was also a member of the Navy MARS (Military Affiliate Radio System), an organization of hams who provide auxiliary communication for Navy personnel. In this organization, he held positions of training officer, emergency communications officer, West Virginia state director, and district emergency communications officer for the fourth Navy MARS District, which included eight states and the District of Columbia. He remained active in Navy MARS up to his death, serving for more than 43 years. He also served the area's ARES (Amateur Radio Emergency Service) for as many years.

The MWA named him the Amateur of the Year in 1981 and '82, and he was chosen as the West Virginia Amateur of the Year for 1989.

After the flood of 1985 which affected much of West Virginia, he became the Monongalia County flash flood coordinator for the Integrated Flood Observance and Warning System (INFLOWS), launched by Sen. Robert Byrd. He collected rainfall data for the project for several years.

As a member of Partners of the Americas, a private international organization, James worked with West Virginia University personnel in an effort to build cooperation between states in North and South America. He communicated with individuals in South America on a regular basis, and in 1991, the Partners organization sent him to Brazil to share information about flood mitigation.

He is survived by his wife of 54 years, Alice (Dessent) McEwuen; one daughter, Mary Faye McEwuen Williams and husband Greer Williams, Helena, Mont.; three sons, Richard McEwuen and wife Sherry, and Charles McEwuen and wife Sylvia, all of Morgantown, and John McEwen and wife Mary, Oakland; seven grandchildren; three step-grandchildren; and four step great-grandchildren.

Cremation services were provided by Hastings Funeral Home, Morgantown, where a visitation and service were held on Tuesday.

The family requests that memorials may be made to Rock Forge Neighborhood House, P.O. Box 847, Dellslow, WV 26531, or the Brookhaven Volunteer Fire Department, 506 Brookhaven Road, Morgantown, WV 26508.

Online condolences may be extended to the family at hastingsfuneralhome.com.

PETER P CARDARO

Peter P. Cardaro, 85, of Moose Creek, Alaska, died Tuesday, Jan. 23, 2007, at his home.

Born Dec. 28, 1921, in Kitzmiller, he was a son of the late Carl and Cindy (Pratt) Cardaro. He was also preceded in death by his sister, Rose Vauken of LaVale; and brother Thomas Cardaro, Charles Town, W.Va.

After graduating from Kitzmiller High School in 1939, he enlisted in the U.S. Army Air Force, where he spent the next 24 years before retiring from the U.S. Air Force in 1963 as a senior master sergeant.

He was with the first AAF Group to go overseas after war was declared in 1941, seeing action in the CBI (China-Burma-India Theater of Operation). He became a highly decorated flyer of World War II and Korea. Among his many decorations are the Silver Star, Distinquished Flying Cross, Air Medal with clusters and the Air Force Commendation medal. During his career, he flew over 13,500 hours in transitioning from B-17s to becoming flight engineer on B-29s, WB-50s, B-36s and RB-57s.

After retiring from the Air Force in 1963, he became a successful businessman in the Moose Creek area.

A memorial service was held at the North Pole VFW on Monday, Jan. 29.

He is survived by his wife Barbara of Moose Creek; one brother, Charles Cardaro, of Hampton Roads, Va.; one sister, Inez Foley of Annapolis; one stepdaughter, Rita Outler of Fla.; and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

At his request, his body was cremated, and his remains will be shipped back to Kitzmiller for burial along side his parents.

A memorial service is planned for a later date.

CHILDREN'S DENTAL HEALTH MONTH

ORAL HEALTH AND YOUR NEW BABY

by Cynthia Heselbach, RDH
Garrett County Health Department

Most new parents are overwhelmed with the information about how to care for their new baby. They are told how to dress and bathe them, and are probably instructed on the importance of breastfeeding for their baby's health. Many people may be told that breastfeeding is important because it helps to boost immunity or that it lowers the risk of ear infections in children. However, most new mothers are probably not told that breastfeeding will also help improve their child's oral health.

One of the most devastating oral health problems faced by small children is baby-bottle tooth decay, also known as early childhood caries. This type of decay is typically caused when a child is put to bed with a bottle containing juice or any other liquids besides water. When a child sleeps with a bottle in his mouth during the night, the liquid will rest around his teeth while he sleeps. Bacteria in his mouth will feed on the sugar in the liquid, causing tooth decay. This type of decay usually starts in the front of the mouth, but will continue to decay the back teeth. Tooth decay can cause intense pain and emotional distress to the child. Breastfeeding your child for at least the first four months can decrease the risks of tooth decay. Breast milk is much less likely to cause tooth decay.

Another way to prevent tooth decay in your young children is to wipe their gums after they nurse or have a bottle. By wiping the gums with a soft cloth, you are removing liquid that may rest in the mouth and cause decay. When teeth start to appear, talk to your pediatrician about when to take your child to the dentist. Be sure to use a toothbrush and toothpaste that is approved by your pediatrician.

Remember, by never putting your child to bed with a bottle and by wiping his gums, you are helping your child to build a healthy smile for life!

For more information about children's dental health, please contact the Garrett County Health Department's Dental Care Center, 301-334-7660

DEEP CREEK SALON SUPPORTS CINDY'S FUND – In honor of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the employees of Deep Creek Salon donated $5 of every hair color service the shop provided in the month of October. Those customers participating also were entered in a drawing for a free hair color service and a Breast Cancer Awareness bear. The salon staff members are pictured as they present their donation to Kasey Bell representing Cindy's Fund. From left are Bell, Richard DeBerry, Joni Kosanic, Tracy Slagle, Diane Wampler (owner), and Tina Tracy.

The births of six area babies, including a set of twins, were announced this week.

A daughter, LaDawn Rachel, was born to Lynford and Lashell (Orendorf) Maust, Accident, on Feb. 9 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A daughter was born to Mark and Jenny (Reams) Harsh, Oakland, on Feb. 4, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son was born to Jessica Bowman, Friendsville, on Feb. 6 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son was born to Josh and Jennifer (Davis) Wright, Terra Alta, W.Va., on Jan. 26 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Twin boys, Steven Wade and Michael John, were born to Steven "Mike" and Rhonda (Harvey) Sweitzer, Swanton, on Feb. 10 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The maternal grandparents are John and Rosemary Harvey, White Church, and the paternal grandparents are Steven and Debbie Sweitzer, Swanton.

Shepherd Of The Hills To Host Lenten Services

The public is cordially invited to attend the Lenten worship services of Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church held at Will O' the Wisp, Sitzmark Room, each Wednesday at 7 p.m., beginning on Feb. 21, Ash Wednesday.

Rev. Ralph W. Dunkin, bishop of the West Virginia/Western Maryland Synod of the ELCA (Evangelical Lutheran Church in America), will preside at the Ash Wednesday worship, which will include the Holy Communion and the imposition of ashes.

Lenten services on Feb. 28 and March 7, 14, and 21 will be officiated by Rev. Matthew Riegel, Lutheran campus minister from West Virginia University. On the final Wednesday, March 28, Rev. Torben Aarsand will officiate.

The Lenten theme chosen for 2007 is "faith with hope of salvation" as demonstrated in the moving Old Testament accounts of the creation, the flood, the testing of Abraham, the crossing of the Red Sea, and the "raising of the dry bones."

Visitors are welcome to attend all worship services of Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, a congregation under development of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

For further information, persons may call the church office at 301-387-0400. Messages are returned daily, a spokesperson noted.

State Lawmakers Propose Prostate Cancer Screening Pilot Program

by Sharahn D. Boykin
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – A Baltimore legislator is proposing a two-year pilot program to screen some 500 men who have no health insurance for prostate cancer, which for Maryland men is the most common cancer and the third leading cause of cancer death.

Under the bill, the pilot program would screen men over 40, and would provide referral services and treatment for those found to have the disease. The program would operate in the two jurisdictions in the state which have the highest rates of prostate cancer.

"To receive either no treatment or treatment that does not meet currently accepted standards of care and to die of prostate cancer, which is generally a curable disease, is really and truly something that should never happen in the state of Maryland," said Del. Shirley Nathan-Pulliam, D-Baltimore, the bill's lead sponsor.

Early detection through screening has long been advanced as the best way of treating prostate cancer, which will strike one of six American men. African American men are 60 percent more likely to contract the disease than Caucasians, and more than twice as likely to die from it, according to the Prostate Cancer Foundation.

"Prostate cancer screening has not gotten enough attention yet," said Eric Gally, a spokesman for the American Cancer Society. "We have been very aggressive in [Maryland] about colon cancer screenings. It was a good idea to concentrate on that first because of how deadly it is. That doesn't mean we shouldn't seriously start working on prostate cancer."

While the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene supported the proposal, officials expressed concern that additional resources would be needed to run the pilot program. Most counties use their allotment from the cigarette restitution fund to screen for colon cancer, said Dr. Marsha Bienia, director of the cancer program at the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

Bienia said that if counties were forced to provide prostate cancer screenings, they may not be able to continue providing colon cancer screenings without additional resources. The problem, said Bienia, is that there is no scientific evidence that shows that prostate cancer screenings reduce the number of deaths, whereas there is research that shows that colon cancer screenings reduce the number of deaths.

According to an analysis of the bill, the measure if passed would cost slightly less than $500,000 over the two-year pilot program.

Grantsville VFD To Hold Dinner

The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department will hold a "shrimp and wing night" on Saturday, Feb. 17, from 4 to 8 p.m.

Items will include a shrimp dinner with fries for $6, wings for $.50 each, and french fries for $1.25.

The wing choices will include plain, honey barbecue, butter garlic, old bay, mild, and hot.

There will be eat-in and take-out available. All proceeds will benefit the new fire hall.

St. Mark's To Hold Ash Weds., Lenten Services

St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland will host special services and soup suppers for the season of Lent, beginning on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 21, and continuing each week on Thursday evenings.

On Ash Wednesday, the soup supper will begin at 5:45 p.m. in the fellowship hall downstairs. The service will follow at 7 p.m.

In the following weeks throughout Lent, the soup suppers and services will be held on Thursdays at the same times.

The worship theme is "Faith in Daily Living," and the contemplative evening prayer services will feature a short talk each week by a member of the congregation, according to Rev. C. Scott Robinson, pastor of St. Mark's.

The services are open to the public.

For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2668.

Proposed Crow Shoot In Oakland Now Canceled

A proposed organized shoot of crows in Oakland has been canceled, according to Jay Moyer of the town council. The process of obtaining the proper permits to allow shooting within the city limits is too complicated and would most likely fail.

"We would have to obtain written permission from every property owner from within a 150-yard radius. We also cannot shoot across roadways," Moyer said, mentioning just two of the hurdles the town would have to clear in order to hold the shoot.

The crows have been roosting along Center, Second, Pennington, and Liberty streets for months. They number in the thousands, and produce a great amount of droppings, feathers, and other debris. They have also been damaging crops, Moyer said, by pecking through the covering on the large round bails, which exposes the grasses to the elements and starts the rotting process.

The cold temperatures of late have apparently affected the birds.

"We think the really cold weather has helped decrease their numbers a little bit," Moyer said.

The town council will continue to explore ways of decreasing the number of the birds, but the shoot is canceled indefinitely.

Bird Count

warmth were Canada geese, American kestrels, Wilson's snipes, and red-breasted nuthatches.

The open water yielded a high number of waterfowl species – 30% of the total species seen.

"Because of the mild winter prior to December 16, we had a few lingering species – American robin, cedar waxwing, eastern phoebe, Wilson's snipe, killdeer, and some of the blackbirds," Skipper said. "The red-bellied woodpeckers and Carolina wrens continue to be present in good numbers."

The top 10 species counted, in terms of total numbers, were: Canada goose, 1,429; mallard, 646; American crow, 576; black-capped chickadee, 268; dark-eyed junco, 225; American coot, 210; European starling, 192; ruddy duck, 131; mourning dove, 108; and American goldfinch, 99.

Field observers, other than those already noted, were: Jamie Alvarez, Caroline Blizzard, Neal Blizzard, Josephine Cox, Kevin Dodge, Courtney Englar, Barbara Gaffney, George Gaffney, Aaron Holochwost, Glen Johnson, Fran Pope, and Becky Wilson.

Feeder watchers who participated in the count were: Kathy Brown, Frances and Harold Hoecker, Penny Proudfoot, Barbara Skipper, Mike and Carol Speranzella, and Kathy Vitek.

SINGIN' THE GOSPEL – A local gospel bluegrass group, the Savage Family, has just released its first CD, Singin' the Gospel. This project was produced by Ron Beitzel Production and is a collection of some of the family's most requested songs. This group sees its music as ministry and travels to various churches and festivals. Pictured above, left to right, are members Mike Saturday, and Jacob, Scott, Collette, and John Savage. For more information the group can be contacted at 301-387-7163. CDs are available at Emmaus Road Christian Store, Garden Center Plaza, off Garrett Highway.

THE REMEDY TO PERFORM AT LIONS FUNDRAISER – The Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club will hold its third annual dance/concert fundraiser on Saturday, April 21, at the Oakland Elks Lodge from 8 p.m. until midnight. The Remedy will provide the music. The cost is $15 per person, which includes soda, coffee, iced tea, pretzels, chips, and popcorn. There will also be cash bar. The Lions will use the proceeds from the dance to purchase eyeglasses for local vision-impaired residents. Tickets can be purchased at Gregg's Pharmacy, Brian Boal CPA, the Vision Center, Proudfoot's Pharmacy, the Elks Lodge, the American Legion, any Lion Club member, or at the door. Pictured from left in the front are Kim Grimm-Weimer and Jana Brown. Seated at the drums is Dr. Charles Walch. Standing are Dr. Dave Paolini, Rodney Glotfelty, Gino Mauricci, Dr. Fred Hazelwood, Greg Was, Bob Browning, and Monty Pagenhardt.

Photography Of Gudelis Now On Display At Garrett

The Art Gallery of Garrett College is currently hosting, through Feb. 28, an exhibition of young Lithuanian photographer Arvydas Gudelis. The exhibition presents color photographs taken by Gudelis during his latest expedition to the mountains of Tien Shan in Central Asia.

Arvydas is a son of Lithuanian photographer and cameraman Algimantas Gudelis, whose works of digital photography were exhibited at the college gallery last year. Unlike his father's abstract technique, Arvydas focuses more on the tangible side of the world, capturing nature at unique angles, in the different times of the day, and from different points of view, according to Ron Skidmore, professor of art at the college.

"I attempt to look 'behind' the forms of the objects and tap into the essence of nature, combining two worlds of spiritual and physical," Gudelis said.

This exhibition is titled "Between the Ice and the Sky," and it presents the "cold beauty" of the Tien Shan Mountain range that lies to the north and west of the Taklamakan Desert in the border region of Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, and the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region of western China. The Tien Shan Mountains is a remote tourist spot, offering a challenge to many mountain climbers, and several peaks in this mountain chain remain unexplored today.

"I have never thought of how small and fragile a human being is when faced with nature in its pure, untouched form. A group of my fellow climbers in the distance looked like an ants, forever lost between the ice and the sky." These are the words written in the diary by the young photographer during his expedition, at the elevation of 14,355 feet. "There is something about the mountains. Among the climbers it is called 'Mountain Bug.' Once you pick it up, you cannot help yourself but to come back again and again to the mountains. The mountains are never the same to me. They keep changing every minute, together with the daylight, weather, and elevation. A camera helps me to catch that unique moment of beauty of the ice, the rock, and the sky."

Gudelis was following the steps of his father when he decided to take a first look to the world through the lenses of the camera. He also followed the footsteps of his mother and his older brother when he decided to go mountain climbing. Today, being a professional architect, Gudelis spends his free time combining these two favorite hobbies of mountaineering and photography, Skidmore said.

Curators of the exhibition, international student Vita Pagrizauskaite and the artist's brother, Mykolas Gudelis, hope that weather will not discourage anyone to come see the exhibition, especially those who are interested in photography and in "the mountains other than their own."

Gallery hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The gallery is also open Wednesday evenings from 7 to 10, and on weekends during special events. For more information, persons may call 301-387-3024.

Tickets To See Musical Grease Still Available

Tickets to see this weekend's production of the musical Grease (The School Version) at Broad Ford Elementary School are still available, according to Kim Weimer, director.

The show will be presented on the school stage Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m., and Sunday at 4 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door and/or at Get 'N Go Market in Oakland.

GLAF PLANS ROAD TRIP TO HEAR PSO — The 2007 season of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will be launched on Saturday, March 24, with a trip to Heinz Hall in Pittsburgh to attend the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra's (PSO) Mellon Grand Classics Series. Several key players of the PSO are pictured. This trip will include roundtrip coach transportation, an orchestra level seat, and a post-concert reception with members of the PSO, their management, and board of directors. The coach will depart from Garrett College at 5 p.m. and return at approximately 1 a.m. See story for details.

GLAF To Host Trip To Heinz Hall For Pitts. Symphony Orch. Concert

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will kick off its 2007 season on Saturday, March 24, with a trip to Heinz Hall in Pittsburgh to attend the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra's (PSO) Mellon Grand Classics Series. This trip will include roundtrip coach transportation, an orchestra level seat, and a post-concert reception with members of the PSO, their management, and board of directors. The coach will depart from Garrett College at 5 p.m. and return at approximately 1 a.m.

"This is a perfect opportunity to get to know the PSO musicians personally before their July visit to Garrett County," said Lucinda Williams, executive director of GLAF. "It's a whole evening of camaraderie starting with the bus ride with fellow neighbors and visitors and then meeting the musicians. It's also a new venture for GLAF, and we're thrilled that this community can feel like they are a part of our season of excitement."

The PSO will be in the Deep Creek Lake area presenting a concert of classical music on Friday, July 13, featuring assistant conductor Larry Loh. Marvin Hamlish, principal Pops conductor, will then lead the PSO in presentation on Saturday, July 14. Both performances are at 7:30 p.m. in the Lodge at Wisp Resort.

The PSO Mellon Grand Classics Series concert will feature Sir Andrew David as conductor and Jonathan Biss on piano. David will conduct Stravinsky's Suite from Pulcinella, Schumann's Piano Concerto, and Symphony No. 5 by Sibelius.

Tickets for transportation, the concert, and reception are $55 per person. For reservations and/or more information about this program and the 2007 GLAF performing arts season, persons may visit www.artsandentertainment.org or call 301-387-3082.

GLAF season sponsors this year are Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, First United Bank and Trust, Total Biz Fulfillment, Sincell Publishing Co./The Republican, and Wisp Resort. PSO event sponsors are Robert and Marcene Huebner, David and Irene Eyer, Fred and Diane Thayer, Dr. Ihor Zakaluzny, Dr. Alan and Sue Arnson, the Halmos Family Foundation, Doug McClive and Ed King, Gary and Luanne Ruddell, Long and Foster, Pat and Chris Tighe, Brad Stewart, Dr. David and Dorothy Tuel, Steven Richards, and NewPage.

GLAF To Hold Auditions For Talent Show

Auditions for Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's (GLAF) annual "Garrett County's Best...The Ultimate Teen Talent Show" will be held in the auditorium of Garrett College on March 2 at 7 p.m. The event is being sponsored by Total Biz Fulfillment of Grantsville.

The age categories for performers are 13 to 15 and 16 to 19. Competition categories include singing, dancing, instrumental, drama, and variety. The Battle of the Bands will also again be included in this year's show.

The application fee is $5 per audition, with a two to three minute performances per person.

A maximum of 25 artists and groups will be selected to perform to the public on Friday, March 16. The audience will then vote on category winners, who will each receive $100 in prize money.

Audition applications are available at the Northern and Southern high and middle school offices, or online at www.artsandentertainment.org.

Applications, along with appropriate fees, are due to the GLAF office or at the schools no later than Feb. 23. The GLAF office is located at 687 Mosser Road, McHenry.

The talent show committee members are Leslie Warnick, chairperson; Mary Callis, GLAF education committee chairperson; Lucinda Williams, GLAF executive director; and Sue Lisantti, Southern Middle School teacher.

Rescue Men
by Charles Kenney
c. 2007, Public Affairs, $26, 331 pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Just about every little boy over the age of 2 is thrilled by the sight and sound of a fire truck in action. The lights catch his eye as they flash 'round and 'round, demanding attention. The brightly colored truck makes a boy's heart pound as it hurries down the street on the way to heroism. The brave firemen in their bulky uniforms make him long to be one of them, just as soon as he grows up.

Then he grows up.

And sometimes, he follows in the footsteps of his father, the fireman. Other times, like in the new book Rescue Men by Charles Kenney, he's fiercely proud to tell the story of several generations of firefighters in his family.

It was a cold November night in 1942 when Charles "Pops" Kenney and his crew from Rescue 1 of the Boston Fire Department responded to the call at the Cocoanut Grove night club. The Cocoanut Grove was definitely the hottest hotspot in Boston at the time, and the place was packed – by some estimates, nearly three times fuller than the legal limit of occupants. It was a disaster waiting to happen.

They say the fire started in the Melody Lounge. Later, people would blame a 16-year-old scapegoat. The National Fire Protection Association calculated that in one minute, the fire raced 400 feet, faster than anyone could out-run the flames.

When Pops Kenney and his crew arrived at the scene, the bodies were already piling up. People were desperately trying to save themselves, and Pops helped as many as he could before he was overcome by smoke and toxic gases.

In the meantime, Charles "Sonny" Kenney, age 17, was stationed the Navy and awaiting deployment for submarine duty in the North Pacific. When he heard about the fire, he figured Pops was safe, but "something" sent him AWOL and home. There, he found his father, injured and shocked.

What could cause a fire to spread so quickly? That question haunted Sonny – and his family, including two future rescue men – for much of their lives.

Okay, I'll admit it. It's not just little boys who thrill to the sight and sound of fire engines. I would have bought this book just for the cover, so enticing it was. But what's inside is better.

Author Charles Kenney says that his father, Sonny, wasn't a writer, but that he managed to publish a small book on his Cocoanut Grove findings. This book goes beyond Sonny's book, not only to explain further findings, but also to tell the story of three generations affected by one cataclysmic event, culminating in another fiery national disaster nearly 60 years later. Rescue Men is filled with drama, love, blistering frustration, and a blast of respect, and I think it's a book you'll want to read.

If a fire truck in motion gives you a burning desire to watch heroism in action, then read this book. For "sparks," firefighters, and anyone who wants a good story, Rescue Men gets a glowing recommendation from me.

Frazee Competing For Miss Western Md. Crown On Sat.

CARESSA FRAZEE

The Miss Washington County and Miss Western Maryland pageants will be held this Saturday, Feb. 17, at 7 p.m. at the Kepler Theater on the campus of Hagerstown Community College.

Competing for the two Miss titles will be 15 young women, including one from Garrett County. She is Caressa Frazee, 18, of Grantsville. Caressa is the daughter of Brian and Carol Frazee and a student at Frostburg State University.

She will sing for the talent portion of the competition. Her platform is "LOVE: Lowering Obstruction of Veins Every Day," which pertains to cholesterol.

The winners will represent the area at the annual Miss Maryland pageant in June in Hagerstown. More than $12,000 in cash and in-kind scholarships will be available to those competing.

Giving their farewells and entertaining at the pagent will be Miss Washington County 2006 Carrie Shank, Miss Washington County Outstanding Teen 2006 Karly Logsdon, and Miss Western Maryland 2006 Autumn Smith.

In order to compete for the Miss Washington County title one must have been a resident of Washington County for the past six months. In order to compete for the Miss Western Maryland title, one must live, work, or attend school in one of the four western counties: Garrett, Allegany, Washington, or Frederick.

A contestant at the Miss Level must be between the ages of 17, as a high school senior, and 24. Some contestants are eligible for one title, and some are eligible for both titles.

The new Miss Washington County and Miss Western Maryland will each receive a $2,000 cash scholarship. Each first runner-up will receive a $600 cash scholarship, and each second runner-up will receive a $400 cash scholarship. Many other scholarships will be awarded in various categories, as well as numerous gifts and certificates from area merchants. All Miss contestants will receive at least a $50 scholarship.

In addition, the contestants will have the opportunity to compete for in-kind scholarships from Hagerstown Business College. An award of $2,500 will be available to those competing for the Washington County title, and $2,000 will be available to the young women competing for the Western Maryland title. This award is based on the judging of an essay written about their community service. Award Beauty School is also offering a scholarship.

Several teens will also be competing for the title of Miss Western Maryland Outstanding Teen 2007. The same residency requirements pertain to these contestants who are between 13 and 17 years of age, but not a high school senior. The contestant winning the local teen title will receive a $125 cash scholarship and several other gifts. The teen titleholder will represent the area at the Miss Maryland's Outstanding Teen Pageant to be held in June in Hagerstown.

Tickets for the Feb. 17 pageant are available from the contestants, board members, at the door, or by calling Andrea at 301-790-4923 after 5 p.m. Tickets are $15 for adults, which includes a program book, and $6 for children 10 years of age and younger.

Adorable Adoptables

The Garrett County Animal Shelter was closed yesterday because of inclement weather, so no "Adorable Adoptable" pictures are available this week. But pets are available at the facility.

They include a black/white beagle mix that was picked up as a stray in Jennings. The canine will be up for adoption after the three-day reclaim period ends.

"There also was a big intake of cats, so if you want to find a new companion to keep your lap warm this winter come to the shelter and see all the kinds we have available," said a Humane Society spokesperson.

"Be sure your outdoor pets have fresh water to drink at least once a day; snow is not a substitute for liquid water," she added. "Pets also need a place to lie off the snow so that their foot pads do not freeze."

Last week's adoptable, the yellow Lab mix, has been adopted.

For more information, persons may call the GC Animal Shelter at 301-334-3553.

14th Hospice Teleconference To Focus On "Living With Grief"

Hospice of Garrett County will join with other organizations across the United States as a host for the Hospice Foundation of America's 14th annual Bereavement Teleconference on Thursday, March 22, from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Department, Oakland.

This year's teleconference focuses on "Living With Grief: Before and After the Death." A panel of ethicists, educators, and hospice experts will explore the most current theoretical perspectives on loss and grief as experienced by persons throughout a life-limiting illness and by survivors after the death.

The event will be moderated by Frank Sesno, professor of media and public affairs at the George Washington University and special correspondent with CNN.
